WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY JUBILEE

Meetings Held in Fulton Successful From Every Standpoint—Over two Hundred Attended Banquet and Heard Delightful Toasts.

Th Woman's National Foreign Missionary Jubilee held in this city on Friday of last week was a superb success from every standpoint. The meetings were largely attended by enthusiastic workers and the financial result was most satisfactory.

The afternoon session was held in the Presbyterian church, Mrs. Charles Olmstead presiding. Mrs. James Kempston opened the meeting with a scriptural selection and Mrs. Wesley McCully offered prayer.

The story of the Jubilee was the subject assigned Mrs. Charles L. Peck and right interestingly and eloquently did she tell the history of achievement and advancement. She spoke of the conditions that lead to the organizing of the women into a Board to direct the foreign missionary work. This was done about fifty years ago, at the time of the civil war. The parent organization was interdenominational and the speaker likened its growth to the birth of a family of daughters—first the Congregational daughter; then the Methodist daughter and so on until there was a large and influential family. Mrs. Peck also gave a picture of the present scope, magnitude and influence of the women's organization. The paper was one of the best ever heard in Fulton.

The Denominational Boards were next on the program. Mrs. C. W. Streeter for the Baptist society gave a history of A. Judson, the first and foremost missionary of the Baptist church and she also spoke instructively of the Baptist work in their especial field in Burmah. The magnificent training school recently erected in Chicago by Baptist women for the training of young women for missionary work, is the greatest achievement of the Baptist women in later years.

Mrs. F. J. Switzer represented the Congregational society. She spoke of the organization of the Congregational Women's Board in 1868. She paid a tribute to Mrs. Mary K. Edwards, their first missionary sent to Africa by the Boston churches. Since that time 313 workers have gone forth and at present there are 125 workers in the field in different countries.

For the Episcopal society Mrs. W. H. Cushman gave a detailed account of their denominational missionary organization, speaking of the management and plan of the work. E ach mission field was divided into dioceses modelled after the mother church in Europe and America. The first organization was in 1820.

Mrs. V. W. Shattuck spoke for the Methodist society and its work. The first woman's organization was perfected in Tremont Temple church, Boston, in 1869, at which time a pledge was made by each member to give two cents a week and a prayer—the prayer being the more important. Now the Methodists have branches in China Japan, India, Hawaii and Africa with a membership of 267,420. Special mention was made of the medical work and its importance in missionary work. Mrs. Shattuck spoke of the exceedingly urgent appeal for more missionaries, teachers, schools and hospitals. A call had come for 90 more missionaries for China this year.

Mrs. J. Mahlerwein for the State Street Methodist society, took up the home misston work in the Methodist denomination, giving the scope and the needs. She called especial attention to the young women's work, their membership totalling over 37,000.

For the Free Methodist society Mrs. W. E. Sitzer spoke of the recent celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of their denomination. The women's work was not organized until 1882. In the first ten years of its existence they sent forth 82 missionaries into foreign countries. One fact well worthy of emulation by others was that the society gave to missions each year, $1.50 for each member.

Mrs. G. C. Webb represented the Presbyterian society and she said in part: "Our Presbyterian [illegible] confidently believe [illegible] 'Let your wom[illegible] silence in the churches,' and it was with considerable doubt that the women were allowed to organize themselves into a Board for Foreign Missionary effort in 1870." Now the women's board have missionaries in 17 countries, support 568 missionaries, maintain 16 hospitals with 38 women physicians. The women of the Fulton church support one hospital.

Deaconess Theresa Brown conducted the service of intercession which was very impressive and inspiring.

Miss Calder gave a short talk on what she had seen in Jubilee meetings in other places. No thought of making the Jubilee a financial effort was indulged in until the voluntary contributions poured in upon the workers and they then set a standard of one million dollars to be raised for missions during the period.

At 5:30 o'clock about 300 sat down to the artistically decorated tables in the Presbyterian church parlors. Green ferns were used in profusion in the decorative scheme and the color scheme of green and white was skillfully carried out in the menus. At the close of the supper a most delightful toast list was presented as follows, Miss Alice M. Gardner presiding in charming manner.

Invocation (All Standing)

"Be present at our table, Lord,
Be here and everywhere adored,
Thy people bless, and grant that we May feast in Paradise with Thee."

Our Inheritance, Mrs. John Hunter.

"The generations before you hold their breath to see if you do less with certainty than they have done with faith.' —Cornelia A. P. Comer

Our Inspiration, Mrs. Charles Olmstead.

"A Christian has no right to be any thing but an Optimist. We may out of perplexed hearts cry 'Watchman what of the night?' But faith answers, 'The morning cometh'."

—Bishop Whipple

Our Unfinished Task in the Homeland, Mrs. E. R. Redhead.

"Home Missions does not mean home missions for home alone. We want America for Christ because we want America to help win the world for Christ." —Dr. Henry Van Dyke

Our Unfinished Task on the Foreign Field, Mrs. William Sylvester.

"I have seen in the morning sunlight the smoke of a thousand villages where Christ has never been preached." —Robert Moffat.

Our Equipment, Mrs. Helen B. Emens

"God summons us to tasks infinitely beyond our power; he summons us to tasks according to our strength re-inforced by the Holy Spirit."

—Phillips Brooks

Our Gifts and Our Offering, Mrs. H. J. Wilson.

"What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?"

"I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord." — Psa. 116: 12, 13

Hymn

The responses were given in an enthusiastic manner, each one being especially fitting to the sentiment treated.

At 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church Miss Helen B. Calder gave a most inspiring and instructive talk on the work of women in the mission field in whatever capacity and also of the work done by the home bodies laboring to make possible the sending of missionaries and the maintaining of hospitals, schools, etc., in the distant lands. The service was well attended. Miss Calder gave as the slogan of the Jubilee movement, "The ending of the convention is the beginning of the campaign."

The Jubilee offering from the Fulton churches was over $215.

LOSE VALUABLE WORKER

Phillip V. Danahy, of Albany direct or of the labor department of the tuberculosis committee of the State Charities' Aid association and former member of the immigration commission appointed by Governor Hughes, died Saturday from pneumonia. Mrs. Danahy was with her husband at the time of his death. A three weeks lecture tour covering all the towns in Madison County was interrupted about two weeks ago by the illness which caused his death.

He took a leading part in the anti-tuberculosis campaign having been especially active in the campaigns carried on in the twenty-five counties last fall. He was born in Glens Falls 44 years ago and leaves a wife and four children.

News of the death of Mr. Danahy will be received with profound regret in Oswego County. He had been a frequent visitor to Fulton. It was largely through his efforts that the proposed tuberculosis hospital was secured for Oswego county. He conducted the campaign before the Board of Supervisors and organized union labor for the cause. Mr. Danahy made several speeches before the Board and it was his earnestness carried the cause to victory.

Massachusetts may raise a few dollars by a bachelor tax; but think of the enormous amount it could get by a tax on old maids.

The Tiny Shoes She Wanted.

"Now, madam, what size shoe will you have?" asked the salesman as soon as he was at liberty.

"The smallest and shinlest, you have," she said.

The other women buying shoes sniffed.

And when the clerk returned with a pair of the tiniest imaginable the woman accepted them with the remark, "I guess baby's eyes will open when she sees these on her feet."—Buffalo Express.

DEATHS

Georgiana Fletcher, aged 75, wife of Mr. A. B. Fletcher, died on Monday evening at the Lee Memorial hospital. Beside the husband, two sons, Messrs. Willis and Frank Baker of Syracuse, survive.

The remains of Mary A., aged 81, widow of the late Henry Adsitt, were brought to this city from Boston, Mass., on Sunday and taken to the Case Memorial chapel where the services were conducted by the Rev. C. L. Peck. Mrs. C. L. Foster is a granddaughter of the deceased.

The death of George C. Sawyer, of Syracuse a graduate of Falley Seminary and a law student in the offices of S. N. Dada, this city, occurred in Summerville, S. C., last week. He was one of the most prominent insurance men in this section and enjoyed a wide acquaintance. He was one of the organizers of the Thousand Island Park Association an had held many positions of trust and responsibility. He had many friends in this city who learned of his death with regret.

The death of Mrs. Eliza A. Richardson, aged 82, occurred at her home in Rochester street on Sunday evening after a long period of ill health. The deceased had been a resident of Fulton for over sixty years and enjoyed a wide acquaintance. The funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late home, Rev. J. G. York officiating. Burial will be made in Mt. Adnah. One daughter, Miss Alma Richardson, and one son, Mr. Frank W. Richardson, survive.

After a long period of ill health, the death of Mrs. Jane E. Waugh, aged 77, widow of the late William Waugh, occurred at the home in Seneca street on Sunday. The deceased was born in Ireland but came to this city, when a girl and she has since resided here where she had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, having been for years an active worker in the First Methodist church until failing health prevented her participating in church or social work. In 1853 she was united in marriage with William Waugh, who held during his life time many positions of trust and responsibility, being at one time president of the then village of Fulton. The funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. C. L. Pack, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating. The immediate surviving relatives are one son, Mr. Edgar E. Waugh of the Excise Department, Albany; an adopted daughter, Miss Hazel Waugh, and a granddaughter, Miss Jane Waugh.

SHAREHOLDERS OPPOSE PLAN

Opposition has developed among some of the preferred stockholders of the American Woolen Company to the proposition of the directors that $10,000,000 of the common stock be retired. In a circular issued a few days ago the board advised the stockholders that they had purchased in the open market 95,011 shares of common stock, which, with the 4,989 shares in the treasury, a total of 100,000 shares, it was purposed to retire, with the object of paving the way for payment of dividends on the common and also of strengthening the position of the preferred stock. The authorized common stock is $30,000,000, of which as already noted all except $498,900 is outstanding.

The annual report of the company for the year 1910 showed earnings of $656,646 applicable for dividends on the common or a little over 2 per cent, after payment of the 7 per cent. cumulative dividend of $2,8000,000 on the preferred and deduction of $538,664 for depreciation.

In 1909, when the depreciation allowance was $1,618,537 and the preferred dividend was $2,610,417, the surplus for the common was equivalen to 5 per cent. The dissatisfied preferred shareholders feel that the proposed action is rather for the benefit of the common stock than of the preferred, and some of them are asking at what price the purchased common stock was acquired, and whether or not any of the funds for the purpose were derived from the last sale of preferred shares.—Tribune.

Democrats May Select Candidate Before Noon—Murphy Prefers D—Cady Herrick

Albany, March 29.—(Wednesday.)—Shortly after midnight it was reported that Mr. Murphy indicated a preference for D—Cady Herrick and that negotiations were resumed with the insurgents to ascertain if they would support him if made the caucus nominee.

Albany, March 28.—After four fruitless ballots the Democratic caucus adjourned at 12:50 o'clock to-night until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning without having named a candidate for United States senator.

In announcing the adjournment, Senator Wagner, the presiding officer, apologized for the delay on the ground that the leaders were doing everything possible to bring about harmony within the Democratic ranks.

Senator Cullen emphasized, in moving recess, the importance of every Democratic member being on hand promptly at the hour named for the reconvening of the caucus.

When the caucus adjourned it was understood that the choice had been narrowed down to three men, D-Cady Herrick, Martin H. Glynn and Isidor Straus. Others who had not been eliminated from a list of ten names submitted by the insurgents were Herman Ridder, Morgan J. O'Brien and Justice James W. Gerard. The report that the Republicans might cast their votes to-morrow for T. M. Osborne and that seventeen of the insurgents would also support him is believed to have hastened a determination on the part of the organization leaders to end the deadlock.

Hon C. M. Depew on Monday resigned as the Republican choice for Senator and it is believed that the Republicans and insurgents will name a candidate if the Democrats do not hasten.

FIGHTING NATURE.

What One Man's Patient Effort Wrung From a Desert in France.

In the southwest of France, between the rivers Adour and Garonne, are long stretches of pine woods, green and cool.

Where these pines now stand was a barren waste in the middle of the last century. Sun and wind vied with each other in making the land drier and dustier. Over the stormy bay of Biscay came winds that set up great sandstorms and sometimes buried whole villages. The whole region was one of hopelessness and despair. Fate was against it.

But finally there came a man who acknowledged fate only as something to be overcome. This man, one Bremontier, was an inspector of roads. He began fencing in the desert. He built a fence and behind it planted broom seeds. Behind the broom seeds he put seeds of the pine. The fence protected the broom seeds, and the broom grew. Then the broom in its turn afforded shelter to the delicate pine shoots.

Soon the pines spread, and their tough roots bound the sandy soil together. The first step was accomplished. Then canals were made to drain the wet parts and carry water to the dry.

Thus did one man by patient effort turn a dreary desert into a home for an industrious and healthy population. It was an instance of triumph over fate.—New York Tribune.

A Pretty Compliment.

His incessant work, his avoidance of all rest and recreation and his rigorous self denial made Joseph Pulitzer in his days to harness the despair of his family.

In this connection a pretty story is told about the famous journalist's son Ralph. Mr. Pulitzer had refused to take a holiday, and Mrs. Pulitzer exclaimed:

"Did you ever know your father to do anything because it was pleasant?"

"Yes, once—when he married you," the young man gracefully replied.—Washington Post.

The Donkey's Head.

Among the most extraordinary pieces of symbolism known to have been used by the early Asiatics was a figure of a donkey's head used as a representative of the deity. There is no doubt whatever that the same emblem was once used among the Hittites, the Egyptians and one or two other nations as a symbol of their red god. Set. The superstition of the yellow donkey of India, the story of the swift ass of eastern Asia and the ass of Dionysius and many other marvelous ass stories are all survivals of that curious form of religious worship the adoration of the ass' head.

TOLD IN PANTOMIME.

The Worth of a Chinese Royal Gift to Li Hung Chang.

The late empress dowager of China was something of a humorist. The author of "Behind the Scenes in Peking" tells a story of how Li Hung Chang, after concluding the treaty of Shimonoseki, was presented by the empress with a cloth of gold bag containing some heavy article. The treasure turned out to be a large vase, and Li, who was an enthusiastic collector of Chinese ceramics, at once sent for his secretary, Mr. Pethick, to come and examine the new acquisition.

Some time was spent in a careful examination to determine the dynasty during which this treasure was produced, but the date of this especial paste was lost, with its other technical classifications. After a long time Mr. Pethick lifted it gingerly, placed it on a table, put himself in front of it, drawing a wrap round his shoulders, and slowly, very slowly, held his hands up to it, turning them in the attitude of warming at a fire.

Chinese need few words. Li understood and was heartbroken. The pantomime indicated to him that the supposed priceless vase was only a clever reproduction made in Paris, and the secretary, warming his hands before it, meant it was so fresh from the pottery furnace that he could still notice the warmth.

THE FLY ON THE PANE.

It Will Crawl to the Top, but Will Fly Back to the Bottom.

A fly on a window pane will crawl to the top, fly back to the bottom and crawl up again. This order is seldom reversed—why no one knows. It is on record that a fly crawled up a window pane thirty-two times, returning each time a-wing.

Hens scratch for food with the sun behind them, the reason being that the rays reflect on the minute particles. A blind hen will pick grain and not miss a kernel.

Cats seldom lie with their feet to the fire. Usually they lie on the left side. Dogs lie with their fore paws to the fire.

A mouse will ignore a food supply sufficient for a meal and run great risks to nibble at a wholesale supply. It will hide at the source of food supply and not depart therefrom until actually disturbed. It isn't true that a mouse runs to his hole at the first alarm.

Goldfish usually swim around a globe to the right. They can be taught to take a fly out of the hand in six weeks' time. The presence of other fish in the globe is generally ignored by goldfish. Drop a piece of chip on the surface of the water and it will frighten a fish.

Those Newspaper Yarns.

A worthy old dame of New England once invited her husband's attention to what seemed to her a curious item in the journal she was looking at. "Listen to this," said she, reading:

"The Mary H. Barker of Gloucester reports that she saw two whales, a cow and a calf, floating off Cape Cod the day before yesterday."

"Well, what about it?" asked the husband.

"Only this," replied his spouse. "I can understand about the two whales, but what bears me is how the cow and the calf got way out there."—Lippincott's.

CURRENT EVENTS CLUB'S BANQUET

Hon. and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan Feted in Farewell Before Leaving for England—Delicious Menu Served by Presbyterian Ladies—Most Delightful Toast List Given.

Wednesday evening the Current Events club tendered a farewell banquet to Hon. and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan and daughter, Miss Louise, in the Presbyterian church parlors, the menu being served by the Presbyterian Aid society. Mrs. E. R. Redhead, Miss Daisy Lounsberry and Hon. S. B. Mead were the committee selected by the club to perfect arrangements for the farewell and right well did they discharge the responsibility entrusted to them. So faithfully that no more enjoyable function has ever been given an honored guest in Fulton.

The color scheme carried out throughout the decorations and menu was pink and white, pink roses adorned the table of honor and pink tulips graced the other tables. At each plate was a pink carnation and pink candelabra also added to the attractiveness of the tables. Exquisite music was furnished by piano and violin. In the wall decorations the American flag and the Union Jack were intertwined.

The guests were received upon their arrival at 6:30 o'clock by Hon. and Mrs. Stranahan, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter and Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Fairgrieve. At 7 o'clock the guests repaired to the church parlors where the following menu was served.

Prof. J. R. Fairgrieve presided as toastmaster in pleasing manner, his introduction of each speaker being replete with wit and humor. He called in turn upon the following guests who respond in fitting manner to th topics assigned them:

Our Current Events Club
. . Rev. Charles Olmstead

"They are so full of pleasant anecdote;
So rich, so gay, so poignant in their wit
Time vanishes before them as they speak."

"Dear Friends: It is hardly fitting that one of the newer members of this renowned and august body should be called upon to give an account of its pedigree and performances, but as this task has been assigned to me I will attempt, like the Southern preacher, to decompose myself, remembering in the words of another, that if I keep my head I shall have a soft thing. Grateful that the ice has already been broken, I will endeavor to remember that I am asked to toast this organization, not to roast it. I shall not attempt to dwell upon its appearance or its accomplishments, the politics or preferences of its individual members or to discourse upon their tastes, habits or proclivities.

"After the fashion of a class statistician I may say at the outset that according to Carlyle, among the sixty members in the club, three sexes are represented. There are twenty-eight men, thirty-two ladies and five ministers. It will be seen that the better half is also the larger half, at least in numbers.

"Four states are manifest in our constituency. Fifty have entered the state of matrimony, there are five maidens, three widows and two bachelors. By alliances duly arranged on the part of these latter sections we might be able to re-inforce our body throughout its entire extent. Some of these are already closely connected with the benedictine state; but being young, could not take the course of an elderly gentleman who pressed his suit on the ground that he was aged and had a faint heart which needed comfort for the brief remainder of his days, and was accepted despite the adage that a faint heart never won a fair lady. I have not consulted any of my clerical brethren but I presume we would all be ready to help out by offering a slight discount from usual rates.

"Of the ages represented I cannot speak with precision. Shakespeare mentions seven ages of man. The speaker has been variously called an old man and a young fellow, but I presume the men might average about twenty-one. Of the ages of the ladies I do not feel that I carry sufficient insurance protection to speak explicitly. An Englishman who visited Paris was asked how he liked the appearance of the French belles and he replied that he was'nt

DARING BURGLARY

During the absence of Miss A. M. Gardner and her caretaker from the house in First street at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, a burglar pried open a window in the rear of her house and entering stole several articles of more or less value, the thing taken most highly prized by Miss Gardner being a cameo brooch set with pearls which was an heirloom. The cameo will undoubtedly be the undoing of the thief as it was very rare, having been cut in Rome many years ago, and offering it for sale will lead to his apprehension as it will be easily identified.

The house had been ransacked, the thief using matches to aid him in his work, and he made his escape when Miss Gardner entered the house at 8 o'clock, through the same window by which he gained an entrance. The police department was at once notified of the occurrence and expect soon to land the culprit who is suspected of having participated in several cases of sneak thieving recently.

MODERN FARM HOUSE BURNED

Mr. Almon Osborne and his son, who were alone in the home, were awakened at an early hour on Friday morning by their dog which refused to leave them until they were so thoroughly aroused as to smell smoke and upon investigating the younger man found the house in flames and no opportunity to save anything except the lives of himself and his father. In fact, the occupants of the house escaped with but scant allowance of wearing apparel.

MAY BUY BLOCK

Hiram Lodge, F. & A. M., and also Mr. A. DeBarber, are looking at the Sullivan house property in Oneida street with a view to purchasing the same. The Masonic order, if they decide to purchase, will use the first floor for store purposes, the second for offices and the third for lodge rooms.

Another real estate deal discussed is the purchasing of the Mason property in First street adjacent to the City Hall, and the erection thereon of a modern store and office building. It is reported that Max Katz has offered to take a 20-years lease of such a store. Neither proposition has reached other than the talk stage as yet.

BODY OF ABBOTT FOUND

In the fire which did such damage to the Capitol at Albany on Wednesday morning, Night Watchman Abbott, who was over 70-years of age, lost his life trying to find a place of safety. His burned body was found within five feet of the door through which he could have passed to safety. The deceased was the father of Mr. George Abbott of Boston, Mass., who is well know in this city, having married Miss Eleanor Youmans.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DEAD

Henry J. Orton, 78 years old, a civil war veteran and well known in Oswego county, where he had been a resident for more than sixty years, died last week at his home about a mile and a half north of Pulaski. Mr. Orton had been in failing health for nearly three years, and six weeks ago was compelled to take to his bed with the illness which caused his death.

Mr. Orton was born in Williamsport but was only 14 years old when he removed to Pulaski, where he had been a resident ever since. Shortly after the outbreak of the civil war, Mr. Horton enlisted in Company C of the One Hundred and Forty-seventh New York Volunteer infantry and served throughout the entire war, being present in nearly all of the more important battles. In one battle his life was saved by a small testament which he carried in his breast pocket and which so deadened the speed of a bullet by which he was struck that his only injury was a slight flesh wound. The bullet passed completely through the Bible and entered his chest directly over his heart.

Mr. Orton was well known as a church worker in Pulaski having presented no less than four bells to churches in that vicinity. He was a member of the local post of the G. A. R. Besides his widow, Mrs. Marie Wood Orton, with whom he had been married for fifty-six years, he is survived by one son, Jacob Orton of Pineville; four daughters, Mrs. Betts Wellington of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Fred Dean of Mexico, Mrs. Burdette Frary of Pulaski and Mrs. E. S. Miller of Syracuse.

DEATHS

Sunday at the home of her son, Dr. E. J. Cusack, Mrs. Ellen Cusack, aged 80-years, passed to rest. The funeral services were conducted from the Clifford Methodist church on Tuesday, a prayer service having been conducted at the home in Oneida street. The deceased is survived by six sons, Dr. Cusack, Frank and Clifford of this city; Howard of Carrollton and William and George of Granby.

The death of Mrs. Charles Hart, aged 53, occurred at the Lee Memorial hospital on Thursday after a severe operation. The funeral was held on Saturday, the Rev. Charles Olmstead officiating. The husband, two sons and one daughter survive.

Suddenly on March 20, 1911, at her home, 463 East Thirty-first street, Paterson, N. J., Mirmie G., beloved wife of Albert B. Cook, passed to rest. She is survived by husband, a son and two daughters. Interment at Cedar Lawn, Paterson. The many friends of Mr. Cook in this vicinity extend sympathy.

When Sherman made his now famous remark about war he had no idea that Mexico could make joy rides out of it.

BAR TO BANQUET STRANAHAN

Members of Fulton Bar to Hold Banquet on Saturday Evening—Orchestra Engaged—Splendid Toast List.

The members of the Fulton Bar are planning to banquet the Hon. N. N. Stranahan at the Clark House on Saturday evening of this week at 8 o'clock. Attorney C. E. Guile, who was at one time a member of the firm of Mead, Stranahan & Guile, is secretary of the organization which is acting as a committee of the whole in preparing the farewell to their illustrious member. The invitation list has been restricted to the members of the Oswego County Bar Association. Buell's full orchestra will furnish music during the banquet hours and a most delectable menu will be served.

Hon. S. B. Mead will officiate as toastmaster and the following legal lights will respond to the following topics: Attorney G. S. Piper, school days; Attorney Udelle Bartlette, the public prosecutor; Attorney F. E. Cullen, the younger lawyer; Attorney D. P. Morehouse, the older lawyer; Attorney I. G. Hubbs, the country lawyer; Attorney C. N. Bulger, auld lang syne; response, Hon. N. N. Stranahan.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES

The Evangelical churches of the city will hold special union Holy Week services on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening of next week. The service on Wednesday evening will be held in the Congregational church and the Rev. J. G. York will preach on "Love's Memorial." On Thursday evening the Rev. C. L. Peck will speak at the Presbyterian church on "The Cup of Blessings." The service on Friday evening will be held in the State Street church and the Rev. Charles Olmstead will preach on "A Word from the Cross." The services will commence at 7:30 and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

DEMOCRATS ELECT SENATOR

The sixty-fourth ballot taken at Albany prior to the electing of a United States Senator to succeed the Hon. C. M. Depew, resulted in the election of Supreme Court Justice J. A. O'Gorman, a Democrat, a loyal follower of Tammany but withal a brilliant jurist and a man without a flaw in his personal or political character. In his election the party has done itself credit.

Of the faithful band of insurgents who withstood Sheehan for so many weeks, it can only be said that Murphy was wiser than even they voted and he presented them a man against whom they could not vote. Thus is Murphy triumphant, and at the same time decency and Democracy.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR STEALING STAMP COLLECTION

Was Owned by Harry Ould and valued at $250

Two boys, aged, respectively, 13 and 16 years, were taken into custody by Chief Richardson and Patrolman McCarthy today on a charge of stealing a stamp collection valued at $250 from Harry Ould of Ould & Company. Mr. Ould claims that the stamps were taken from his home at Seventh avenue and Seneca street opposite the canning factory.—Palladium.

THREE CANDIDATES

Under the direction of the Board of Civil Service Examiners, an examination to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of Orla B. Reed, the Postmaster at Richland, was held in Oswego last week. The position last year paid $793, and three candidates applied to take the examination. They were Mrs. Mabel E. Jewell, Frank D. Reed and Frank A. Kenyon, all of Richland. The result will not be known for two weeks.

THE WEEK

Business looks better in prospect than in actual performance, for confidence in the future is greater than present activity. Weather conditions are retarding retail distribution, but the rain and snow in the Northwest have improved the wheat outlook there, and altogether the crop prospects are generally very favorable and if these prospects are confirmed the new wealth thus created and the exportable surplus thus supplied will make for national prosperity. The hopeful crop outlook, together with the notable increase in exports and the creation of large credit abroad, are responsible for the increased confidence that generally prevails, and that has served to bring about the improvement shown in the first quarter of the year. The lower price for cottons has not materially expanded activity, but the market is somewhat firmer. There have also been some large transactions in domestic wool. Overproduction is still the dominante factor in copper. There is a lessened demand for pig iron, but trade in finished iron and steel products, and particularly wire, is of fairly satisfactory dimensions, although of course production is still much under full capacity. Some improvement is noted in boots and shoes, but prices show slight recession. Railroad earnings during three weeks of March show a decrease of 2.8 per cent., but recent statements indicate that railroad economies are working for better results in net earnings. Bank clearings continue on about the same lines as in the recent past. There were during the latest week decreases of 3.9 per cent. outside New York and of 13.6 per cent. in New York, as compared with 1910, while as compared with 1909 they declined 15.9 per cent. in New York and gained 4.4 per cent. outside. Exports from New York in the most recent week were $16,410,490, against $16,036,487 in 1910 and $12,526,568 in 1909. Imports were $21,314,761, comparing with $22,565,909 in 1910 and with $17,549,234 in 1909.

Some lull appears in the demand for pig iron, and in the markets for finished products new orders are developing with less rapidity. However, business as a whole is of satisfactory proportions, and in the wire trade particularly spring contracts have exceeded expectations some manufacturers having enough on their books to keep them busy up to the end of the year. Reduced operations are in effect at the plate mills, which are now running at from 55 to 60 per cent. of capacity, but the 72 per cent. rate of pig iron production of the leading interest is maintained and additional furnaces have been blown in during the past month. Equipment orders from the railroads come out slowly, but one bridge project will require about 60,000 tons and considerable other work is pending. No active buying of pig iron is in evidence, yet quite a fair business has been transacted in a quiet way, although in certain instances price concessions have been granted. The tin plate mills are enjoying much activity, one company operating at 90 per cent. of capacity, and some contracts have been placed as far ahead as the third quarter.

The primary cotton goods markets are somewhat steadier at the new low level reached on domestim bleached cottons, and revisions in other lines have not started. Trade has not yet been much stimulated by the more attractive figures, although it is understood that some leading tickets have attracted buyers. The falling away of profits consequent on the lower prices on goods and the sustained values on cotton is forcing additional curtailment. Export shipments to date this year are nearly double those of a year ago. Jobbers report a limited trade, with retailers especially cautious on cotton goods lines, and the same feeling is noted among buyers of woolens and worsteds, and some of the dress goods mills have been releasing employes. Knit goods associations are cautioning their members to curtail production and thus avoid accumulations.

Trading in footwear continues back ward, but the situation shows improvement, notwithstanding the fact that the volume of business is not what it should be at this season. Some recessions have been noted in prices and manufacturers have reduced asking rates 10c. per pair on men's calf and kip goods and also on women's satin shoes. Weather conditions are a factor in retarding up new business to some extent. There is some increase in the demand for domestic packer hides, though no activity exists. Tanners are giving more attention to the superior quality April take off ahead and are paying a proportionate advance over rates ruling for February and March skins. Prices generally for domestic raw stock are well sustained which is due to short supplies in all markets; but some weakness is reported in February, March packer kill in the varieties chiefly offered, such as native steers and heavy native cows. — European hides and skins are firm and advancing, and unless the domestic market improves in price the call from this country is likely to be soon curtailed. Latin-American dry hides declined 1-4c. this week, but no material weakness exists and the market is considered steady at the decline. Shoe leathers generally are still quiet, but some western tanners are more optimistic in their reports and are experiencing a good call for colored upper stock, both in calfskins and side leathers.

New low records for the year were made in domestic wheat markets, prices being further depressed by recent rain and snow in the Northwest. This has improved the outlook for spring wheat and, while a few dubious reports are still received regarding winter wheat, prospects as a whole appear very favorable. Conditions in the flour trade continue unsettled, although the production of the Northwest was moderately increased this week. Western receipts of 2,263,943 bushels compared with 3,241,291 last year, while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 2,383,097 bushels against 1,280,714 in 1910. Corn ruled firm in the early trading, but later reacted on liquidation and in sympathy with the decline in wheat. Arrivals of 3,533,174 bushels at primary markets were larger than 2,425,434 received a year ago, and Atlantic coast exports were 1,470,320 against 766,727 in 1910. Considerable pressure was directed against cotton but prices recovered after early weakness, support being furnished largely by bullish foreign advices. —Dun's Review, Saturday, April 1, 1911.

WILL BREAK GROUND FOR ODD FELLOWS' TEMPLE

Baldwinsville.—D. E. Wadsworth of Fulton, who has the contract for the erection of the new Odd Fellows Temple on the east side of Oswego street, just north of the State Bank, expects to begin excavating for the foundations this week. The new building will be three stories and will have a frontage of 55 feet on Oswego street and a depth of 73 feet.

There will be two large stores on the first floor and the second floor will be used by the Odd Fellows as club rooms and the lodge rooms will be located on the third floor. The contract price for the building is $22,000 and it is expected to be completed October 1.

Mr. Wadsworth plans to employ Baldwinsville workmen on the construction work and buy all materials and supplies possible from local merchants.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

Lack of Milk Forces Wall Known Butter Factory to Discontinue

After fifteen years of business, in which they commanded the banner market prices for their articles, the Wales Brothers' creamery and butter factory will go out of existence.

The reason is one which will provide much food for thought. Mr. W. H. Wales, the only living member of the firm, said that he has been unable to buy enough milk from the farmers in the county to keep the factory going and for that reason tomorrow will see the wind-up of the business, which has been one of the most prosperous and best known in the county.

For years the name Wales has been synonymous with the best in butter and every year 75,000 pounds were marketed from the Wales factory. The also sold milk and caseine, which business is also discontinued.—Palladium, Friday.

POVERTY TO DISAPPEAR

Gold, Edison Says, May be as Cheap as Old Iron

Gold will not much longer lure men, according to thhe belief of Thomas A. Edison. He considers it only a question of time before a way will be discovered to manufacture gold. Then it may be left out at night as safely as any old iron is now; nobody who works will accept gold as wages; and no government will issue gold as money.

On the other hand Edison forsees radical changes in the use of iron and steel. Steel, he says, is destined soon to fall from its high pinnacle as the skeleton of skyscrapers, to become the material of which furniture is made. Even the pages of books may be made of steel though Edison regards nickel as a better substitute for paper.

"Why not?" queries Edison. "Nickel will absorb printers' ink. A sheet of nickel one twenty-thousandth of an inch thick is cheaper, tougher and more flexible than an ordinary sheet of book paper. A nickel book, two inches thick, would contain 40,000 pages. Such a book would weigh only a pound. I can make a pound of nickel sheets for $1.25.

"One New York firm is already making steel office furniture. No tubing is used. The various parts of chairs, tables and desks are stamped out of sheet steel and then bent into shape. The legs, arms and backs of chairs are cut out as rapidly as the big wheels of stamping machines can revolve. The steel required for a given piece of furniture costs only one-fifth as much as wood.

Re-enforced concrete is not only cheaper than brick and steel, but it is fire-proof. Within 30 years all construction will be re-enforced concrete, from the finest mansions to the tallest skyscrapers.

Invention is in its infancy. Infants have to creep before they can walk. Inventors had to begin by inventing machinery to make only the parts of things. They have made great progress in this line. But the time has now come to take the next step and invent machinery that will not only make the parts but put the parts together. It is all a matter of brain power on the part of the inventor, and the world is already developing such brain power.

There will be no poverty in the world 100 years from now. There is no limit to the cheapness with which things can be made. The world will soon be flooded with the cheap products of machinery—not the poor products, the cheap products. Why should we expect poverty to continue? Poverty was for a world that used only its hands. Think how long the world has stood, and then recall that, practically, we have learned everything within a century. We have only just begun to use our brains. What we know is but an atom of what there is to know. But we are learning how to control the forces of nature. As we learn we shall transform the world. The most wonderful changes are coming—changes about which no one can today more than dream."

LOCAL FULTON MEN INTERESTED

Assemblyman Farrel of Kings County has introduced a bill in the Legislature which will prove of considerable interest to the hotel men and the liquor dealers of the City of Fulton. It provides that the basis for the assessment of the excise taxes for the year beginning October, 1910, shall be the State census of 1905. Any person who has paid an excise tax in excess of this assessment shall be entitled to a return of such excess upon application to the State Excise Commissioner.

The City of Fulton went over the 20,000 mark and it meant a marked increase in the cost of all licenses for the sale of liquor. Under the old standard the regular cost of a license was $450 but under the 1910 United States enumeration the cost went up to $525. Between 25 and 30 places were affected by this increase and there is no doubt but that every one of the local dealers would be glad to get back his $75.

Mr. Woodrow Wilson having dined with Mr. Bryan may expect to be under suspicion of having borrowed ideas, which he may hereafter promulgate.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR THE GOVERNOR'S BOULEVARDS

Governor Diz, who expressed himself as afraid that the present Highway Department has been building boulevards, must welcome the introduction of the Lansing Bill, which proposes "for the purpose of improving, developing, increasing, and further diversifying the productions the agricultural sections of the State, its market facilities and its desirability as regards residence," to build street railroads, operatde by electricity, and pay for the same out of the $50,000,000 bond issue. These street railroads, operated by electric at the expense of the State, counties and towns, so that any loss in operation would be borne by them. In order to secure home rule, the town board of the town, or the town boards of the different towns through which the road shall pass, are to be the board of directors, and may lease the same to be operated under conditions which will safeguard the interests of the town through which the road passes. The directors can hire the road operated, the cost of operation to be a charge against the respective towns through which the road runs, which shall be paid as other town charges. The profits shall be divided, 50 per cent. to the State treasurer, 35 per cent. to the county treasurer, and 15 per cent. shall be paid to the supervisor of the town wherein the road is situated. Of course, if there are no profits, the losses are sharsd in the same ordre.

We have no doubt that Mr. Lansing is in earnest, and has given much thought to the bill. He requires that it be put in operation only on a petition being signed by 51 per cent. of the taxpayers of a town. This limitation would, of course, make the law inoperative. Street railroads electrically operated cost to construct from $18,000 to $25,000 a mile, according to the grades, and the values of the right of way which must be secured. As the very best bitulithic roads are costing the State $13,500 a mile, and as a greater mileage is constructed will cost less for the same quality of road, we might suggest that a freight motor truck operated on these well constructed roads would cost the State, counties and towns less and be more convenient in the carrying of freight to and from the farms to the consumers. Mr. Lansing's bill is interesting, but not practical.

FOR CONSTIPATION

Mr. L. H. Farnhalm, a prominent druggist of Spirit Lake, Iowa, says: Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are certainly the best thing on the maarket for constipation." Give these tablets a trial. You are certain to find them agreeable and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. For sale by all druggists.

MR. CAHILL APPOINTED

Frederick T. Cahill Friday received notice of his appointment as attorney for the Comptroller in Oswego county to succeed Udelle Bartlette, who was appointed in place of W. B. Baker, when the latter left the city. Mr. Cahill will represent the Comptroller in all matters arising in Oswego county, but most of his work will have to do with the assessment of transfer tax in estates. The pay is in fees and ranges from $250 to $500 a year, depending largely upon the size of the estates assessed.

Be patient with the weather. We'll soon be eating early peas.

BARGE CANAL LITIGATION

Action Arising Over Fulton Contract in Court of Appeals.

Albany, March 31.—The Court of Appeals has just heard arguments in the case of Charles Mosier and William Summers, plaintiffs-respondents, agt. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., defendant-appellant. This appeal is from a judgment and order of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, in favor of the plaintiff for $7,100.87 and $247.36. The complaint alleges the execution of a certain contract between the parties dated August 12, 1905, with reference to the execution of such bonds as might be required by the plaintiff from the defendant surety company and asks damages for reason of the failure of the defendant to execute a bond upon a canal contract secured by the plaintiffs from the State of New York. The answer denied the execution of the contract as allegde and held that the same was ambiguous and uncertain and that it does not set out fully the agreement between the parties. The answer also alleged that it could not legally execute under the laws of the State of New York a bond in the sum of $280,000 as set out in the complaint as sole surety, and therefore any contract on is part to furnish the same would have been ultra virus. Plaintiffs asked that the contract be reformed so that the premium rate as stated in the contract should read 15 cents per 100 per annum instead of 1 cents p6er 100, and the second, that the complaint be dismissed as no damages had been shown. The plaintiffs were copartners in business carrying on a general contracting business at Buffalo, and in May, 1906, were the successful bidders for the work of improving a portion of the Oswego canal at Fulton, this state. The contract amounted to $1,126,726. Argued by George F Keating for appellant; Lincoln A. Grant for respondent.

DO GHOSTS HAUNT SWAMPS?

No. Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous and low lands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," write Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy, only. 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

ADIEU TO FRED

It is with regret that the Times parts with City Editor Fred J. Meagher, and if there has been ever in this town another city editor more genial, generally popular and loyal to his trust, memory does not now suggest the time or the name and there have been some crackajacks on the list, let nobody doubt.

He has held down his chair with the best, and whatever storms may have raged in the news department, over them all has beamed the face of the scribe, who could be just to all and whose matchless serenity and imperturbability nothing could disturb.

"Fred," always and ever "Our Fred," goes hence to a larger field as the Secretary of Congressman Luther Wright Mott, and Congressman Mott, it is no hazard to say, will have the most popular secretary in Washington and be envierd by all the other M. C.'s because of it. He will have to watch out, will "Luther," lest he lose his secretary before he fairly land him there; Champ Clark may be pardoned for requisitioning him on sight, for three's nothing like Fred, no, not in all Missouri.

And here's luck to you, Fred, wherever you may be and always and this is the Times' Godspede, and in it all of the your loving and admiring associates join.—Oswego Times.

There may be hope of depleting the Japanese forces by getting that country interested in aviation.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. Every woman need have a clear skin, bright eyes, no blotchy complexion, who gives proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

DONATION TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Victorine Lee Gives New Tile Floor to Operating Room in Memorial Hospital—Old Concrete Floor Not Considered Sanitary.

During a recent visit to New York city, Mr. H. L. Paddock called upon Mrs. Victorine Lee who gave Fulton its magnificent hospital as a memorial to her deceased husband, General Albert Lindley Lee. Mrs. Lee expressed the keenest interest in the hospital and asked Mr. Paddock many questions, showing that she was perfectly conversant with the institution and its workings, although she had not been in Fulton since the dedication ceremonies.

Before Mr. Paddock left, Mrs. Lee inquired what the hospital needed and Mr. Paddock told her that the operating room floor was not considered sanitary by the doctors. She immediately instructed Mr. Paddock to have a tile floor installed and informed him that she would assist in paying the obligation. When the floor was completed Mr. Paddock told Mrs. Lee, who most generously sent her check for $432 to cover the entire cost of the new and greatly appreciated floor.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Croghan, March 29.—George Nortz, proprietor of the Nortz House at Belfort, was the victim of rather a peculiar accident while at Lowville yesterday afternoon. He was going around the corner at Doig's drug store on his way to the railroad station during the wind and rain storm, when one of two young women coming towards him with an uplifted umbrella and who evidently did not see him, ran the end of the umbrella through his cheek into the mouth, lacrating it badly. As soon as he reached Croghan he had the injury dressed and does not anticipate any serious results.

SHEEHAN SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

The following telegram was received Saturday afternoon by Senator-elect O'Gorman from William F. Sheehan:

"I congratulate you and the party upon your election as United States Senator. The State and the Nation have secured the services of an honorable, conscientious and able representative."

The telegram was sent from Hot Springs, Va., where Sheehan is recuperating from the effects of his unsuccessful campaign.

CLEAN UP

Fulton Should be Cleanly and Sanitary Before the Warm Weather Comes to Stir up the Disease Germs—Epidemics Averted by Attention to Cellars, Out-houses and Back Yards.

Fulton residents should make haste to clean cellars, alleys, back yards and out-houses before the warm weather sets in to liberate thousands of disease germs. The bright sun since of the past few days has revealed many plague spots in our city which should be eliminated by the property owners, and at once. Make April 15 the annual clean-up day, not May 1, as heretofore.

It behooves the city fathers to step spry anent the matter of the broken sewer pipe in the rear of the business houses adjacent to Rochester street. Last Summer the canal was an open sewer and a breeder of disease and horrible odor. As soon as cold weather set in in the Fall the contractors on the canal work ordered the tenants to stop using the sewers and filled in the cut. At present the annoyance is indescribable and when warm weather comes the conditions will be as for two Summers past, so far as health is concerned, unless the sewer pipe is replaced at once.

That the condition has existed as long as this is a disgrace to the city and a reproach to the property owners.

NEW LAW FIRM

Attorneys Herbert J. Wilson and Arvin Louis Rice have formed a copartnership for the practice of their profession, the new firm becoming a reality on April 1, and their offices being located in the Church block, in First street, over the MacNamara store. The members of the firm are too well known in this city to need introduction from the Times.

The senior partner, Mr. H. J. Wilson, was the first city judge of Fulton, and was a former partner in the law firm of Piper, Rice & Wilson. For business reasons he removed to his father's home in Constable several years ago but over a year ago he returned to Fulton where he formed a co-partnership for a year with Attorney A. T. Jennings. Since the expiration of the co-partnership, Mr. Wilson has been in business by himself.

Mr. Rice, the junior member of the firm, is a son of Attorney Arvin Rice, and was admitted to the New York State Bar two years ago. Since this time he has been connected with the law firm of Pipre, Rice & Pendergast. Mr. Rice is a very popular young man with a reputation for ability and integrity which will recommend him to the conservative business interests of the city.

The new firm starts out with a brilliant outlook for success in their chosen field of labor. The Times extends felicitations.

President Taft has just scored one of the greatest triumphs in the fine art of statesmanship that has been recorded in 40-years, namely the affirmation of the tax, on the net income of corporations. This law was sustained by the Supreme Court last week and brings in twenty-seven millions of revenue per annum—all out of the rich. WHIST CLUB BANQUET

The Phoenix Birthday Whist Club held their closing meeting for the year on Wednesday evening in the private parlor of the Howard House Hotel. The club choose sides a year ago for a contest for points during the year, one side being captained by Mrs. F. A. Carter and the other side by Mr. J. A. House. The Carter side having scored the greater number of points, it fell to the House side to furnish the entertainment and arrangements were made with Landlord Carey to serve the club a banquet Wednesday evening.

The table was handsomely decorated, color scheme being red and green and place cards consisting of a five pointed star decorated to match were provided at each plate. At eight o'clock the members were seated and for the next hour and a quarter were served with one of the best banquets ever served in Phoenix. At the close of the banquet the members adjourned to the private parlors of the hotel and organized for another year. Mrs. H. D. Merriam will captain one side and Mrs. W. N. Dutcher the other side for the other six months as this year the club proposes to have two banquets instead of one.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5, 1911.

It is expected that there will be no little presendtial electioneering and maneuvering in Washington during the present extra session. It is significant that the Bryan influence has been considerably strengthened in both houses of Congress, both by elimination and addition since March 4th. Many of his friends have been added to both the House and the Senate, while some who are opposed to him are no longer in power in Washington. It is not thought that Mr. Bryan expects to do more than influence the nomination of a Democratic candidate. It is thought that he favors Wilson of New Jersey. It is known that he does not favor Harmon of Ohio. Champ Clark, the Democratic Speaker, has been talked of as a presidential possibility, but he has talked so much himself and so imprudently in his long and mediocre political career that it is doubtful if he will be considered as an available candidate by those of the party with whom judgment prevails. La Follette of Wisconsin is much talked of as the probable Republican nominee for the presidency, and the race now is supposed to lie between him, Taft and Roosevelt. Senator La Follette is conspicuous for his criticism of the transfer of the army to the Mexican border. He denounces it as unnecessary and as an extravagant waste of public funds, but it is probable that the figures will demonstrate that the army can be as easily maintained along the Rio Grande as at the various stations from which it was entrained, and surely the experience of mobilization and the exercise of camp life cannot do otherwise than improve the efficiency and esprit du corps of a force doubtless enervated by long inactivity. There was the same necessity for moving the army that there was in the last year of Roosevelt's administration to send the navy to sea and around the world, and possibly other reasons that Senator La Follette and some others have not yet found out.

The national Congress is again in session, the second extra session of the present administration. Speculation as to what Congress will do is varied. It is thought that the administration would be more than pleased if the Congress would ratify the reciprocity agreement with Canada and adjourn, but the Democrats, who now control the lower house, have a much more ambitious program and indeed there are tariff reforms that cannot be enacted too soon. The period between the adjournment on the 4th of March and the 4th of April has been full of interest. The sudden mobilization of the army and its establishment on the Mexican border has been the subject of discussion throughout the length and breadth of the land. The ultimate purpose of the administration is not known, but preparation for any emergency is the highest wisdom in national affairs. It is reported that a large contingent of the force now on the Mexican border will sail in a few days for Honolulu. It is known that American interests in Mexico demand a strong American force near that perturbed territory.

There is again discussion of a peace pact between Great Britain and the United States and between France and the United States. With reciprocity with Canada and peace agreements with Great Britain and France, there would be little reason for the continuous expensive naval preparation of the last decade; but there is no assurance that the Senate will ratify such peace agreements as the two great Anglo-Saxon governments may arrange with each other. There are some Senators that are very jealous of their Constitutional privileges to vote separately and distinctly in every matter of international relation. Still, the world moves. Civil service reform was looked on as Utopian thirty years ago, and many measures looking toward the purification of governmental and commercial relations have been accomplished even in the last ten years.

There is much speculation with reference to coming legislation and to the length of time that Congress will be in extra session. It may be that there will not be an adjournment until late in the summer. The situation is full of interest and expectation is on tiptoe awaiting events.

FORGOT HIS ORGAN.

So Filkins Had a Little Talk With the Customs Inspector.

Filkins had just returned from a six months' tour of the continent, and his trunks and boxes were numerous. With considerable anxious care he had prepared his declaration, but when he saw the eagle eyed inspector plunge into his work a wave of fear spread over him. Could he by any possibility have forgotten anything? And if so and it was brought to light would he have to suffer the pain and humiliation of arrest? Rapidly he ran over in his mind the dutiable objects that he remembered having heard that others had brought in—clothing, objects of art, books, bric-a-brac, jewels, musical instruments—ah, his heart stood still—musical instruments—pianos, violins, flutes, organs—

With beating heart he approached the inspector.

"Is there any duty on organs?" he asked in a trembling voice.

"There is," said the inspector, fixing a cold, steely eye upon him.

"Then," said Filkins, "I desire to withdraw my declaration for a moment."

"What for?" demanded the inspector.

"I wish to amend it," said Filkins. "I've had my nose repaired and made over on the other side, and I'd hate to have that organ seized because I'd overlooked it."—Harper's Weekly.

Stopped the Stealing.

The Rev. Joseph Erskine of Edinburgh at one time in his life lost handkerchief after handkerchief. He found on investigation that it was on Sunday these losses occurred, and accordingly Mrs. Erskine sewed his handkerchief in the tail pocket of his coat.

"Noo," said she—"noo let us see what will happen."

Mr. Erskine, with the sewed in handkerchief, passed down the aisle of the church that morning, as usual, to ascend to the pulpit, but as he sailed by the amen corner he felt a gentle tug behind, a delicate nibble among his coattails. Thereupon he turned on the disappointed old woman in the corner and said, with a triumphant smile:

"No' the day, honest woman; no' the day."

Ingratitude is monstrous, and for the multitude to be ungrateful were to make a monster of the multitude.—Shakespeare.

CONVENTIONS IN MUSIC.

Rules Which Song Composers Seem to Feel They Must Follow.

Why is it that all our musicians in writing a nautical song invariably use a portion of the best known hornpipe as the introduction, "ramp," or counter-melody? Why do the open fifths in the bass always appear in rustic songs? Because it can't be helped, it seems. Our popular Irish songs always have a bar or two of a well known old Irish melody or a drone bass, otherwise they wouldn't be Irish. The exhausted old Turkey and his partner, the straw, come to the rescue of every "rube" song or dance that is perpetrated, and our national airs must run all through the accompaniment of patriotic songs to give them "flavor."

Because all of these things are "set" they are conventions. Why must every song end on the tonic note, with the preceding tone either the second or seventh of the scale, unless we except the detestable third or the hollow fifth? Because our audiences expect it.

Should one of your composers in a moment of bravery or recklessness produce a score in which he disregarded these many conventions his first night hearers would go away remarking that the music was crazy. They do not realize that they expect to hear the same old thing, served up a trifle differently, of course, but still the same.—From "Where Have I Heard That Tune Before?" in Metropolitan Magazine.

TELESCOPE LENSES.

The Small Glass Magnifies the Picture Made by the Large One.

People sometimes wonder why a telescope has two glasses, one at the big end and one at the little end, and they want to know the difference. The glass at the big end is to gather light. It is simply a big eye. If it is a hundred times bigger than the eye in your head it will gather a hundred times more light. It gathers the rays of light coming from a star and bends them all into a common meeting point called a focus, which is a picture of the star. You can look at this picture of the star with your naked eye if you like. But you can see it better and examine it more closely if you look at it with a small magnifying glass. And this is the glass at the small end of the telescope. It magnifies the picture made by the big glass at the other end of the instrument. All telescopes are built on this principle. Sir William Herschel was the first to arrange matters a little differently. He took away the glass from the big end and admitted the rays coming straight into the tube in parallel lines. Then at the bottom of the big tube he placed a bright concave mirror made of burnished metal. When the entering rays fell upon this mirror they were again bent to a point called a focus, which was the picture of the star. To look at this picture he had to place the little magnifying glass at the side of the tube because the mirror had stopped up its lower end. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Something Blind.

In one of the crowded streets of New York a beggar was in the habit of taking his stand every day and appealing to the charity of the passers-by. By means of a short string he held a dog, around the neck of which a card was fastened with the words, "I Am Blind." A very kind old gentleman, who had been in the habit of dropping a penny into the beggar's hat, passed rapidly one morning without doing so. Instantly the beggar rushed after him and asked for the penny to be given, as usual. The gentleman, turning in surprise, said:

"Why, I thought you were blind?"

"Oh, no, sir!" was the cool reply. "It is the dog that is blind, as the card says."

Why a Horse Rolls.

Horses are fond of rolling on the ground, and no animal more thoroughly shakes itself than they do. After a roll they give themselves a shake or two to remove anything adhering to the coat. The habit is of much service to horses living in open plains. On being turned loose at the end of a journey an Arab horse rolls in the sand, which acts as blotting paper, absorbing exudations from the body. A shake removes the sand, and the coat soon dries. Cavalrymen in hot climates sometimes put sand on their horses as the simplest and quickest way of drying them.—Selborne Magazine.

Untainted.

Tempted by an offer of considerably more than the property had cost him, Mr. Kreezus, who counted his wealth in millions, had parted with his suburban villa.

"You didn't need the money," said his disgusted business partner, who had just heard of the transaction, "yet for a little filthy lucre you sold that beautiful home."

"I didn't!" exclaimed the equally indignant Mr. Kreezus. "I sold it for clean cash!"—Youth's Companion.

Bell Tones.

The peculiar magic in the tones of a bell is due to its striking not a single note, but a chord, and to obtain the perfect octave entails an immense amount of calculation as well as skill. The bell caster, therefore, has to be not a mere mechanic, but a highly trained specialist.

Regular Turn.

"What? You're engaged to Mr Brown? Then you won't marry Mr Jones, after all!"

"No, not after all, but perhaps after Mr. Brown."—Milwaukee News.

A STARTLING BILL.

Five Thousand Reis For Two Meals in a Brazilian Hotel.

Hotels are few and ill conducted in the Brazilian coast towns, although an occasional good one is met with. Americans who patronize a Brazilian hotel or restaurant for the first time are generally treated to a surprise when the bill is presented. Two young sailors had dinner one day in Pernambuco, and, to their horror, the bill was 5,000 reis.

They nearly fainted and would have fled without attempting to settle; but, there being no chance of escape, they clubbed together all the money they had, about $12, and humbly offered it to the proprietor. Instead of having them thrown into jail, he laughed and explained that their bill in American coin was $2.50.

He furthermore explained that the basis of Brazilian currency is an imaginary coin called a reis, 1,000 of which make a milreis. Everything is counted in reis, and the figures have a very imposing sound—200 reis for a ride on a street car, 100 reis for having your boots blacked, a million reis for a house, and so on. It is a silly system, but the Brazilians seem to think it perfection.—Exchange.

much of a judge of paintings. On returning home he was smitten and a friend warned him not to be taken captive by an English brig sailing under French colors. A kid of my acquaintance had the audacity to call a stately maiden an old maid. Meeting her again he said, 'My mother whipped me for calling you an old maid, but you are one, aren't you?' Rather let me say of our lady membership, the dew of youth is on her brow, the due of the shop is seldom on her bonnet; she knows where she is going and whom she would like to have go with her; and, if she doesn't mind, we'd like to be going that way about the same time. Of us all I think it can be said that we are not too old to learn, or too young to know how we ought to behave.

"In the matter of occupation, twenty-five are at home, there are nine manufacturers, eight lawyers, six teachers, five ministers, as we have noted, two physicians, two city officials, one government official, one banker and one civil engineer. We are a busy company. We are not much given to easthetics. We work 'like sixty'. It will be seen that in the membership of our club the law, to which our honored friend belongs, outweighs [redacted] ministers we [redacted] all the week [redacted] up'. The activity of lawyers is proverbial. The ladies have not been so active in our meetings. Some one has said, 'Speaking of women in general, women are generally speaking.' We men are quite ready to have them take the floor while we fly to the rafters and tell them how to meet brium, but there are some things a woman cannot do. She cannot play ball, she can make a hit and loves the diamond, but she cannot make the home base. She doesn't like flies and she cannot catch a fowl. But there are somethings she can do. She can hold up her train, carry an umbrella and ten parcels, lead twins, read the Ladies' Home Journal, the Post-Standard and Fulton Times and get on a street car simultaneously. The men can't even keep off her train in going down a church aisle. I suppose it is due to the drawing power of the train.

"The matter of dress is too large a subject for me to take up, especially the hats. I will pass this item with the simple reference to an incident which shows a degree of intelligence on the subject similar to my own. A young man asked Mrs. Jackson if she knew anything about Melinda Jane's whereabouts and she replied, 'I don't know, I 'specks she's got 'em on.'

"I do not need to call attention to the fact that we are a club, not a big stick; but there is some thing going on when we meet. The one portentous matter is that the women are in the majority. We do not know at what moment they will rise and outvote us. Still, it is well that we are a co-educational organization. It is better that the ladies should attend than that we should creep into our homes, shoes in hand, to be asked where we have been; and it is pleasant to have such wealth of beauty, brilliancy and benignity thrown about us. I regret that some, whose flowery names I might call, have been grieved over the presentation of various arguments in debate, but this occasion, with generous use of the salt shaker is having a benign effect. For any who have felt aggrieved I might refer to the magnanimity of Rufus Choate, who at a New England dinner, proposed a toast to the Pilgrim mothers, on the ground that they had endured all that the Pilgrim fathers endured and the Pilgrim fathers themselves. Or I might remind such of the perturbed preacher who confronted his wife and others who cut off his retreat in the aisle, that she was blocking the way like the long-eared creature on which Balaam rode. Whereupon she modestly retorted that the accuser was at see on his information. It was an angel that blocked the way; it was the long eared creature that spoke.

"It would be a pleasure to dwell upon other matters the subject suggests, but the next speaker may affirm that all Gaul is no longer divided into three parts, since I have used all there is, and I will consider my toast to be at an end.

Our Legal Profession

Hon. S. B. Mead

"A lawyer without history or literature is a mechanic, a mere workman, to be sure, but a workman still. If he possesses some knowledge of these he may venture to call himself an architect."

—Scott

Mead Toast

Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen: It was with the utmost reluctance that I consented to respond to the toast assigned to me this evening. I very well know that personal allusions are mal apropos at a function of this character, but after twenty-seven long years of close business and personal relations with the guest of the evening, and a corresponding period of acquaintanceship with his family, I feel that I, more than any other citizen of Fulton, am to be bereft by the parting so soon to occur. No words of fulsome flattery I could utter would raise our honored guest one fraction higher in your esteem than he now stands, nor would such words in the slightest degree enlighten him or his family as to my personal feelings in regard to the coming separation. They know that I know them, and that I love them. I would make almost any personal sacrifice to insure their health, comfort and happiness, and yet, while stern fate has, in a measure, accustomed me to see my old friends, one by one, fade out of my sight and out of my life, this parting, to you a misfortune, is to me almost a tragedy.

Speaking for the legal profession of which our guest has for nearly thirty years been an honored member, I regret to say that he was, to all intents and purposes, lost to the Bar of Oswego County when President Roosevelt called him to a position that gave him national prominence. Admitted to the Bar in 1884 he was destined very soon to be drafted into the public service, and as Assistant District Attorney and District Attorney of his County, Member of Assembly from the First Oswego District, State Senator from the Thirty-Seventh Senatorial District and Collector of the great Port of New York, he has devoted twenty years of his life and his talents to the service of his fellow citizens.

That his career closed with the term of his last great office incompleted was due to temporary illness; that it was not resumed on his recovery was owing to his own volition. Had he consented to re-enter public life he would have been called to higher and more responsible stations in the service of the State or National Government. Had he chosen to resume the active practice of his profession upon his return to Fulton I am sure the Bar of Oswego County would before long have selected him for a position to which every lawyer has a right to aspire, a position on the Supreme Court Bench.

It would be idle for me, and wearisome for you to portray the success and popularity attained by him in every position of trust he has been called upon to occupy, as lawyer, prosecuting officer and statesman, or while sitting at the receipt of customs at one of the greatest ports of entry in the world. His life has been an open book and you as well as I have watched his career with pride and with pleasure; you as well as I know the fidelity with which he has discharged every trust; you as well as I know the full measure of success and popularity achieved by him in every position of public responsibility.

His strong well balanced mind, a mind whose powers sickness could not and did not diminish or impair, his sound judgment, keenness of intellect and legal and literary attainments have been, not only valuable assets to him, but a lasting benefit to all with whom he has come in contact in every walk of life. His loss to the legal profession has been a misfortune. The loss of himself and family to the social, literary and business life of Fulton will be a calamity. Friends will flock to them no matter where they may choose to fix their abode. But I opine that they will discover that the old friends are the best and truest, and I have an abiding presentiment, that with the object of this change of residence happily accomplished it will not be so very long before the Current Events Club will be again called together, perchance at a function similar to this, to bid the Stranahan's a hearty welcome home, even as we are this evening to bid them a fond farewell.

Our Financial Interests

Mr. E. R. Redhead

"Business is the salt of life."

—Feltham

"My subject, 'The financial interests of Fulton'. What shall I say? Whole columns of statistics might be written on the theme, but what can I say that shall be appropriate to this occasion? The sentiment as printed on the toas list says: 'Business is the salt of life.' Now, we have had a fine dinner as prepared by the ladies. There is no mention, however, of salt on the menu, and yet it is a very important ingredient and without it all these tempting viands, which we have so much relished, would have been insipid and tasteless. The salt, therefore, though not mentioned, unseen in some of these dishes, is nevertheless an important element. In like manner the financial institutions of a city like ours play a very important part in the life and progress of the community. It is not true, however, that they are unmentioned or unseen. Our Savings Bank has just finished and occupied an elegant new building and thousands have already thronged its corridors to inspect it and thousands will enter its doors in the years to come to do business at its counters. Who can measure the value of such an institution to our city during the 40-years already of its existence, having at the close of the first year of its organization $27,000 in deposits, and January 1, 1911, $1,750,000? The value cannot be reckoned entirely or chiefly in dollars or cents, vast as the sum may be. Hundreds and thousands of our people, especially our young people, have been taught by its presence and help the lesson of saving—a pretty difficult lesson for most people, and yet a very important one; and hundreds of others have found in its loans the very help that they needed in time of extremity, or to take advantage of some promising enlargement or development. Then there are our two National Banks, I will not make an invidious distinction between them. They are both sound well managed and doing as commercial and saving institutions work of great benefit to the community. They may not have as pretentious homes as our ambitious Sovings Banks, but both are planning for larger and more elegant quarters to accommodate their increasing business.

"These banks are an indispensable factor in the business and commercial life of any municipality and without them there would be great loss and privation. I need not stop to emphasize their value. It is too well recognized and banks managed on broad business-like and liberal principles will always take high rank in any community as powerful and influential forces in promoting its growth and development. But a bank is not an animate thing. If it has mechanism it has something more. Back of all the material appointments of a bank must be men or women (and we have some women in Fulton gifted in finance) who have honesty, integrity and business capacity. Persons in whom the people have confidence. The Boards of Trustees and Directors must be chosen with great care. Why do I refer to this matter here? Because Mr. Stranahan whom, we seek to honor to night in this farewell banquet has been for a number of years a director and officer of the First National Bank and though he may not have taken the most active part in its affairs, still his name and his counsels have added strength to the bank in its advancing career, and in helping to build up the bank he is helping to build up the community. In plain words he is a builder, and in every city and village there are too few builders. There are many who can pull down, some who have a special aptitude for this kind of work, and who even delight in it. There are many more who either from choice or lack of ability or energy or otherwise never help to build up. If they are not too destructive or to slothful or to pessemistic in character they may help to hold things as they are. But there are few real builders, those who contribute to the material or intellectual or moral welfare of the community. I do not wish to flatter, I wish to be very moderate in what I say to night but having lived here now for over thirty years I think I am qualified to say that in this time I have found few persons among our citizens, who have done more for our municipality than Mr. Stranahan. As A public spirited man he has stood in the front rank of progress and has helped by voice and deed to promote every public improvement. I must not encroach upon the subjects of others who are to follow me, and who will refer to what Mr. Stranahan has done in the civic and intellectual life of our city. As the representative in the legislature, first in the Assembly and then in the Senate, he brought honor and credit to himself and his constituents, and in the office of collector of the Port of New York, he became a prominent figure in National life. And as a gifted public speaker, he has been heard again and again by our people to their delight and profit, even sometimes when they did not agree with him. Personally I do not remember in all this time but one address when I radically differed from him. He has been invariably earnest, eloquent, instructive and persuasive. What he has been to the community, I may say his wife has been also, but in a less public way. Their going from us will be a great loss to us. We sincereln hope that it is not permanent, only a temporary absence for rest, study and recreation and in a few years at the most (we wish we could say a few months) they will come back to us with health restored, with the vigor and optimism of youth, enriched and broadened by travel and study to lead us in the things that build us up and make us better in all the varied activities of life."

Our Schools

Mrs. John Hunter

"Education is a better safeguard of liberty than a standing army.

—Everett

The subject assigned Mr. Hunter was one very near to his heart and into his response was woven much of interest and instruction. The fact that Mr. Stranahan was a member of the Board of Education of which Mr. Hunter is president, and that in the going away of the former, Mr. Hunter felt that the cause of education and our local schools, as well as the members of the Board, were suffering an irreparable loss, made his remarks very pointed and even added pathos to the lighter vein in which he tried to keep. The following original poem by Mr. Hunter was greeted with much merriment by the club and their guests and caused Mr. Hunter to be hailed as Fulton's poet laureate:

Should you ask me why this story,
Why these lines and ancient legend,
With their freight of joy and sorrow
With the boyhood cares and worry,
And the manhood's strenuous duties
With the older years of comfort,
Then I'd tell you and make answer
I should answer, I should tell you.

In the valley of the Oswego
Known from Eastland to the West land,
From the Northland to the Southland,
As a valley the most lovely,
Valley clothed in nature's verdure,
Sweetest nature's richest handwork
Viewed from Westland to the East land
From the Northland or the South land.
Still piled up in nature's grandeur,
Grandeur sung in muse and story,
In this nature's blessed valley
Ran the pleasant water courses,
Water courses in full richness.
You can trace them through the valley
By the rushing in the Springtime,
By the willows in the Summer,
By the white fog in the Autumn
By the black line in the Winter.
Under bridges ran the water,
Over dam by Nature builded,
Nature's handwork the most lovely
Ancient with the aged mosses,
Mosses grown on stone and timber
Through the cat tails and the willows
Ran this river, the Oswego.

Almost beside the water courses,
Courses swift and courses mighty,
Lived a boy by name of Nevada Northrup Stranahan,
Stranahan the mighty, many called him
In the homeland.
Others, soft voiced like the waters,
Called him Vadie, dearest Vadie.
Vadie, Strany, the great hearted,
While his friends of good old school days
School Days not to be forgotten,
School Days long to be remembered
Called him "Stran" the good old comrade.

"Stran, my boy" was always ready
Ready for a swimming party
In the waters of the Oswego
Limpid, mighty rushing waters.
And in winter when the snow came
Snow piled high as tree-top mighty,
Mighty snow in Volney's Winter,
Nevada the most valiant,
Rescued many a sweet voiced lady,
From the dangerous stormy Winter.
Where the snow-balls flew the thickest
There was Stran, the mighty hearted,
Beating back the fiercest enemy,
Lest perchance a flying missile
Missile by a strong hand throwing
Should bring harm to sweet voiced lady,
Ladies dear in Strany's heartlife
Hearthife dear to every boyhood,
Boyhood sweet to be remembered.

Vadie Strany with his ribbons
And his pants out to his shoe tops
Made a mark for all the girlhood,
Girlhood famous out in Volney,
Girlhood sweet and girlhood pleasant,
Or at least so thought Vadie,
"Vadie Strany," called the masher,
Brown eyed, soft voiced, modest,
Vadie.

And the boats upon the river,
Mighty, rushing, nature's river,
Most attractive were to Vadie
When to manhood's fuller stature,
Stature broad and stature mighty,
He had grown, this valiant Vadie.
And the horses by him driven,
Chestnut fiery and bay all action,
Won the ladies by the dozens,
Ladies fair, the sweetest ladies,
Until Mother in her wisdom,
Wisdom old and wisdom mighty,
Cautioned Vadie, the strong hearted,
"Moon struck, dear," so said mother,
"Might to you come swift and often
If you stop to hear the ladies,
Ladies sweet and ladies pretty,
Young love, now my dearest Vadie,
Is not to be trusted always,
So be courteous and most cautious."
Said the soft voiced, wisest mother.

Pants now grown to fullness lengthwise
Not much gorwth in sidewise fullness
Causing Vadie many a sorrow
Many a heartache, serious sorrow,
But those brown arms, strong and lusty,
Won upon the farmland yonder,
Farmland rich and farmland luscious
Caused the dandies from the city
City near and city mighty,
Even Fulton, all attractive
To sink away into nothing
For was not Vadie the mighty
Valiant, swarthy, lusty Vadie,
Better than all the dainty dudelets,
Dudelets from the city contingent
So said ladies, charming ladies,
Girl friends all of mighty Vadie.

But "Worth tells," so says the story,
Story told in ancient legend:
Legend whispered in the forest
In the tree-tops softest whispers
And when Strany grew to manhood
Noble manhood's fullest stature
Five feet ten in cotton stocking
Stockings knit by patient fingers,
To do much was his ambition.
To accomplish for his homeland
Homeland dear and homeland mighty
And when calls came to this Vadie
"Always ready" was his answer,
Answer true and answer mighty,
So this was the great beginning
And into the distant future,
Future fraught with many a danger
Stepped this Stranahan the valiant,
Mighty, valiant, courageous Strany.
But with him there was another,
Soft-voiced, winsome, blue-eyed Elsie,
"Sweetheart," Strany really called her,
Called this dark-haired, lithesome Elsie.
"What's the use?" so said Nevada,
"Going alone holds no pleasure,"
So together they turned their faces,
Towards the future full of promise,
Promise rich and promise joyous.

Brown eyed, strong armed, mighty Strany
Never told the willows even,
Willows marking water courses,
What he said to blue-eyed Elsie,
And with equal mighty wisdom
Never to this Elsie sweetheart
Did he tell the ancient story
Story old and story lovely,
He'd repeated, Oh so often,
To the ladies out in Volney,
Ladies many, sweetest ladies,
In the early days of manhood,
Manhood young and manhood thoughtless.
But this blue-eyed, trustful Elsie,
With a heart all full of glory,
Glory dimming eye and reason,
Said, "I will," and then together
Hand in hand into the future
Went these two with hope all trustful.

Poets say, and they say truly,
Years are fraught with many a burden,
Burden light and burden heavy.
Thus the life work spans the chasm
Into future full of fancies,
Fancies real and fancies varied.
So on this evening full of pleasure,
Pleasure long to be remembered.
We would show this mighty Strany,
Nevada Stranahan, the honored,
Our appreciation of his workings,
Work done in Oswego County,
County old and County famous,
In our State, our own loved Homeland,
Homeland loved by many people.

Now to thee, thou soft voiced Elsie,

And to thee, our respected Strany,
Take this token of our friendship,
Token of our love and friendship,
Friendship tried by many a battle,
Battle strong and battle valiant,
And when you reach the other Homeland,
Homeland loved by English people,
May this friendship's sweetest message
Carry with it our best wishes,
Wishes honest, wishes plenty,
Bounteous in their rich proportions.
And when health in Devonshire bonnie
Comes again to blue-eyed Elsie,
Come again to sweetest Homeland,
Homeland dear and Homeland plenty,
Latch string out on every corner,
Latch string bidding you a welcome.
Pull the string. A fireside welcome
Waits you both on every corner
In this city on the river
In the valley of the Oswego.

Our Churches, Rev. G. W. Wellburn

"From generation to generation the spiritual church is rising upwards towards its perfection; and, though one after another the workman pass away, the fabric remains, and the Great Master-builder carries on the undertaking." —Wm. M. Taylor

Mr. Wellburn opened his remarks by referring to the homelike appearance of the room. He said that he could not recall any banquet, political gathering or similar function which he had attended in England where the Union Jock and the Stars and Stripes had not been intertwined in friendship. Doubtless some blunders had been made by the Mother Country, but present day conditions indicate that the two nations are seeking closer fellowship. The speaker then suggested that he had been asked to respond for the churches because he personally had done so little for them in Fulton. The Christian religion inculcates modesty as a virtue and therefore he could speak with greater freedom of the Fulton churches because he was telling of the good deeds of others. The toast to which he was responding surely had a good right to a position on the list. He did not suspect that the committee had included it as a mere compliment to the Ladies Aid Society who had provided them with such a delightful banquet or because they were met in the Presbyterian parlors. He rather thought that the churches of Fulton were represented on the toast list because they were a part of Fulton. They had grown up naturally with the town and were as essentially a part of its life as the baking of banquets and the business of banks of which they had been hearing. In the first place he had to express his pleasure in being in a country where the churches were free from State control and patronage, in that sentiment he knew that the toastmaster and his rector would heartily agree. The speaker then acknowledged his admiration of the dignity and the learing of the Angelican church in England, but declared that many of the leading clergy, as well as a great number of influential laymen in the old country, heartily desired that the State connection might be dissolved. The American Constitution and the development of the country had given the people the great privilege of making every church vindicate its own worth and influence by reason of its own service value to the community. Thus every denomination in Fulton has its right here, for it was an expression of the faith and religion of a section of the citizens. He hoped that this privilege would be appreciated by the American people and that the other older nations of Europe would come to the same happy position of having religious practice and worship freed from national and political complications and made the free and spontaneous expression of the genuine faith and labor of its citizens. Then he was glad to come to a city where the ministers and members of the churches could meet together in such friendship, and common action, as was the case in Fulton. The banquet given but a few days before in that room by the Women's Jubilee Missionary Committee was a practical illustration of the spirit of which he was speaking. By the way, he found that a few inquisitive men had peeped in upon the speechmaking on that date and had been simply astonished that so many ladies of so many ecclesiastical colors could talk so long and remain in such complete harmony. It surely proved that the obsolete arguments brought out against Woman's Suffrage at a recent meeting of the club would never have been advanced and that banquet preceded the debate to which he referred. The speaker then referred to the fact that they represented many types and degrees of creed and worship; but the day had passed when intelligent men had to apologize for having a religious faith and expressing that faith in a worship and a creed. If Attorney Mead would pardon the personal reference he would like to recall the brilliant address given by their fellow member and the partner and friend of their distinguished guest. He could sincerely say that his admission to the Current Events Club could have been worth while had he had nothing more from it than that one address given them by Mr. Mead on the preceding Monday's meeting. Every man who dips into scientific theories or studies nature either with the [illegible] telescope or microscope [illegible] by faced with a [illegible] perplexing questions as to origin [illegible] and the like. The questions have no certain and sufficient answer, and another being and lower outside of humanity and what is called nature is necessary even to fill up the void of their questionings. Turning to the churches' right to claim to toast their guest of the evening, Mr. Wellburn referred to the relation between church life and all the other enterprises in their local and wider activities. No man could attain such reputation as their friend had attained, no man could work for his native town or his constituents as their friend had labored, no man could stand for integrity of character and of business as their friends' honorable position indicated that he had done without having strengthened in their city —and he might add, in the state and nation—those virtues of character and those practices of civic and business life which were the practical outcome of the truest work of all the churches.

In his closing remarks Mr. Wellburn referred humorously to his own country. He said that they knew he was an Englishman and that therefore he might be guilty of a quality described in a recent meeting in their midst, viz: that when contrary he would be as stubborn as a mule. The Senator might possibly find some interesting illustrations of that when he reached the other side of the Atlantic. For instance, there was the strange fact that dialects persisted in small districts. His own county, Yorkshire, had three distinct dialects. If the Senator should meet together a Scotchman from the Highlands, a miner from Newcastle-on-Tyne, a Norfolk agricultural laborer and a London cabman the probability would be that no two of the group would understand each other perfectly. And yet this quality of conservatism had its virtues. There were strange people in England who believed that nowhere on earth had a man so much real liberty as in the "tight little island." Then he knew that the friends who were leaving them were going to a district beautiful in scenery, salubrious and equable in climate and with charming features of town and country life. On behalf of the churches of Fulton he tendered to their honorable guest and his good lady their thanks for every good service rendered to all the good works of their city. The speaker said that a prophet was said to be without honor in his own country. That public servant was doubly honored, who in his own town where he was known so thoroughly and among his own friends, could be the subject of so many sincere words of admiration and friendship as they had just heard. He sincerely trusted that Mrs. Stranahan's health might be completely restored, that in the meantime they might fully enjoy much happiness and delight in that land which, to the speaker, must still be the place on earth.

Our City Mr. E. J. Penfield

"The people are the city."
—Cortolanu

"Cities have always been the fireplaces of civilization whence light and heat radiated out into the dark cold world. —Theodore Parker

"Mr. Toastmaster, our guests and fellow club members: As I rise to respond to the toast 'Our City' it is with a strong belief that some one, who has been a resident longer than I, should have been the one selected for the honor of speaking to you to night on this subject, as such an one could doubtless have told you of more things which would be of general interest than I can; but, on the other hand, it may be that one who has had less acquaintance with the city, may be just the one who will see some things of interest which the other would miss, and so I will try to speak a few words about our city.

"You will notice that I say our city, placing as much emphasis on our as any older resident would, because it is our to me, and I am just as much pleased when anything comes along 'for the good of Fulton' as any one can be, and am as proud of what Fulton has done, is doing, and is going to do, as are those who have lived in Fulton for many years.

"All of us have reason to be proud of our city, as you will find if you in advance of most other places of its size in its volume of trade, the number and size of its banks, the large and varied manufacturing plants which line its river banks, taking advantage of its splendid water power, its fine and comfortable homes scattered in all the different directions—its splendid ward schools, and the number of its scholars, as well as the number of its High School pubils, who are demanding that we provide accommodation, without delay.

"Our city has one of the most beautiful rivers running through it of any city throughout our entire country, to my personal knowledge, and I have heard those who are familiar with the beautiful rivers of foreign countries say that our river and its scenery would compare favorably with any of the famous ones that we hear about, and besides it gives us such a great variety in passing through. We have the natural falls at the upper bridge made famous by Cooper in his 'Pathfinder', the rocks and shallow places near the lower bridge which sends the water foaming along so swiftly to the level places where the stream widens and deepens and glides along between its banks, and around the many islands which are placed so beautifully in its way, thus giving everybody an opportunity to please themselves in their own ways of enjoyment; from the small boy taking a header into the deep swimming hole, worn by the water pouring over the dam, or the young man taking a canoe ride down the quiet places with only one other beside him to enjoy it, or those who choose a motor boat which will take their friends up or down the river, viewing the varied and historic scenery as they move along either in the river or canal as may be necessar. Then for those who do not enjoy any of the ways just spoken of, there is still left the chance to talk about the trolley line crossing the river on the lower bridge, and when—

"And, now, leaving the river, we will find that one of the first things a stranger notices in coming to our city, is the splendid old trees which make many of the streets so beautiful, and it is too bad that many of them have already had to be cut down because of decay, but others should be put out to take their places, and so plan that in the future our city will be as beautifully shaded as in time past, and the city, then, will not lose any of its charms for the stranger.

"But neither river nor scenery nor buildings are all that go to make up a city and we now come to the true part which makes a successful city, and without which, any place, no matter what else they have, would only be dead, and that is, 'the people,' who have put their whole soul, health and strength into it, and by their push, and willingness to work to make Fulton a good place to live in have given to the new comers, the enterprising city we find here.

"Some of those people are still with us doing their part, as always, and some have been called to their last resting places, and to night we are gathered here to give a farewell banquet to our fellow citizens who have decided that it is best for them to spend some time in a foreign land in order to regain the health and strength which has been used up in the years which they have passed in Fulton. We are more than sorry that such a decision has been made, but as it cannot be changed, we can only express our regrets that we must lose, even for a time, one who has always been one of the foremost to give of his best in every way, to and for Fulton, and has always been the one that, when present at any gathering, has given every one there a pleasant feeling that, no matter what should come up, or be called for, we had one there who could be called upon and he would never fail us, whether he was called upon on St. Patrick's Day to tell us about Ireland and the Irish people at a moment's notice, or whether he was giving us an evening's entertainment by showing us the beautiful pictures he had gathered while, on his various trips, and describing in his own delightful way the pictures and their artists, or perchance, was telling us about the American women and how they fooled the Customs House officers in New York; no matter, I say what it was, we rested contented that it would be well done, and we always enjoyed and appreciated it.

"He has had at his side one who has been a willing and efficient helper in all the years since they were boy and girl together, and now that they have decided to leave Fulton for, what we hope will prove to be only a very short time, we all wish them complete success and happiness in their new home, and that when they return, it will be with health fully restored, and find our city very greatly improved, with our streets and parks well cared for; many more streets paved and sidewalked; fine residences springing up on every hand; more and larger factories and business houses, which will mean more people, thus necessitating a new and commodious High school, such as our High school pupils are well worthy of to judge by the report of their present work which is made by the state, even while they are in their present crowded quarters; finding also many of the present contemplated improvements an established fact; such as an elegant and commodious new Post Office Building, our Banks all in their new quarters, a good home for our young girls under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association a gymnasium or club room for our young men under the Young Men's Christian Association management, or other equally as good, a new and artistic concrete bridge across the river at Broadway with fine state and country roads completed and coming to us in every direction from the country round about, so that all the people near and far can enjoy coming to Fulton with their automobiles or horses and carriages; an increased and abundant supply of Great Bear Spring water for every one to enjoy, and the trolley matters all satisfactorily settled, and Fulton having limited trains over the trolley lines from both Syracuse and Oswego so often that both of those 'suburbs' of ours will become part of Fulton, and then we can surely arrange to have the newly destroyed State Capitol building rebuilt a 'Our City.'

Response Hon. N. N. Stranhan

"To-morrow to fresh woods and pastures new." —Milton

"Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen: I wonder if it has occurred to you people this evening that it isn't often that a man hears his own obituary read. I wonder if you have thought that it might be rather embarrassing to listen to the things that have been said of me here to-night? I do know that all these kind things which were said are more than I deserve. Seriously, I must say to you that I have never felt more honored than by this mark of your esteem to-night. As has been often said, no man would give up his old friends for the new, the old are the lasting friends. Men and women are all alike. The poets have told the story and sung the song about love and the place of your birth. 'Is there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said this is my own, my native land.' Why, my friends, now nearly fifty years have gone since I first saw the light of day within this vicinity. Here I began my earliest recollections, here my fondest thoughts are centered. The first time that I remember seeing my face or picture was on the surface of a spring on a farm near here while my mother held me in her arms. Here I grew up and went to school as you have undoubtedly learned from the poem. Here I spent my early boyhood, and here I married. Here at this altar my babies were brought for baptism. Four little mounds mark the sad emphasis the way most of them have gone. Here three generations of my ancestors have been represented. Can you truthfully believe that any other place will ever seem just like this, our home? There is to be no other home, Fulton is to be our only home.

"We wonder about England, its people, their accent and dress. A speaker asked one evening to speak on the country, did not touch upon this point, and someone observed that he was not confining himself to the toast, and in a joking way spoke of it. He replied: 'I am not going to speak of the country for she speaks for herself.' There is much to be learned of England. I believe it will not be long before a treaty of arbitration will be adopted, the longest step toward peace in my lifetime. I think it will be accomplished in the immediate future.

"My friends, I want to express to you my kind appreciation of the grand things that have been uttered and my appreciation of your coming out to see us tonight. I leave this town with a feeling of positive sadness and I want you to know, that if any of you come within hailing distance that we shall expect you to come and pull the latchstring, and we will be glad to welcome you, until we can find it convenient to come again. I want you to know that I am speaking from the bottom of my heart, and from no mawkish sentiment. I did not come here to speak. I know you simply want to hear me say 'Farewell.' I have the fondest feeling for the people here, and have thoroughly appreciated the kindness shown me tonight. I want you all to know that I have not grown cold toward this town, and that I am like every other man and love my birthplace and the community I have lived in. I wish you godspeed, each and all of you."

Reluctantly and at a late hour the happy assemblage, numbering nearly seventy five guests, wended their way homeward, all feeling that the event was both pleasant and profitable in that they had given a neatest God-speed to the most distinguished citizens Fulton had ever called her own.

Attorney Culken Announces Candidacy for District Attorney

Former City Attorney Francis D. Culkin of Oswego announced his candidacy for the office of District Attorney on Friday and he will make an active canvas for the nomination on the Republican ticket. In a statement issued by Captain Culkin he says:

"At the urgent request of many friends throughout the county, I announce my candidacy for District Attorney. I enter the field as a candidate of no faction or clique and intend to keep free from any entangling alliances with candidates for other offices. I have always supported the candidates of the Republican party and have given freely of my time and money, so far as I have been able, in promoting its policies. From the assurances of support that I have already received, I feel confident of success."

Mr. Culkin is one of the best known of the younger attorneys of Oswego. As a practicing attorney Mr Culkin has handled a large number of extremely important cases and has defended many criminal actions. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War and served a term as Junior Vice Commander of the Department of New York of the United Spanish War Veterans. He rose from the ranks in the Forty-eighth Separate company to the position of Captain. During the last campaign he was in charge of the Republican county head quarters in Oswego and worked hard and successfully for the ticket.

Attorney Culkin is confronted by an opposition of attorneys for the office; Attorneys F. J. Davis, the present incumbent, and G. M. Fanning are already in the field and working hard for the nomination. It will be a strenuous fight for supremacy until the convention is held next Summer.

She liked the diamond very much,
But didn't have the MON.
The maiden had no time to lose,
And folded up her ones and TUES.
"I've got a scheme," she coyly said,
I'll go and find a beau and WED.
She bundled up in cloaks and furs,
And lisped, "I'll charm the noble THURS.
She didn't have so long to try,
For she found him at an oyster FRI.
And on her dimpled finger fat
He slipped the diamond while they SAT.

With Total Receipts of Office for Year $600,000, Will be Given $1,000 More

With the close of the fiscal year of the Syracuse Postoffice, showing the total receipts to be in excess of $600,000, Postmaster William Cowie will have his salary increased from $5,000 a year to $6,000.

The same increase in business will eventually give Deputy Postmaster James McLusky and the supervising heads of departments an increase. Thir salaries are from 45 to 50 per cent. that of the postmaster.

Officials at the Postoffice said there was no doubt of the year's business being in excess of $600,000. The total for 1910 was $584,000 and for the first eleven months of the fiscal year which closed, the business amountd to $550,000. March, 1910, showed $55,000 and the month just ended will show an increase.

The receipts in February one year ago showed a slight falling off over the corresponding month for the previous year but March showed an increase. January, 1911, was $3,700 above January, 1910.

The estimated receipts for March, 1911, are $57,500, $2,000 more than for March one year ago.—Post-Standard.

FARM PROPERTY IN DEMAND

George Day, of Redfield, last week sold to Charles G. Potter, of the same town, his two hundred fifty acre farm in Redfield, together with eleven cows, four horses and all the farming equipment. The consideration was $3,500, but the tract is subject to an option given to Charles A. Lux, of Syracuse, for the Salmon River Power development scheme. The option calls for $3,000.

Qurin Guillaume has sold twenty-six acres of farm land in Palermo to Albert Simard of that town for $600.

Julius Baker, of Scriba, last week purchased from Byron Palmer the latter's farm in Scriba for $1,500.

CAMELS OF THE ARABS.

Various Ways the Desert Nomads Use the Animals' Milk.

Nearly 90,000 camels are used in the vilayet of Bagdad as beasts of burden, and with donkeys they form the only means of carrying goods to inland points. For a common burden camel $30 is a fair price, though the trotters, or swift messenger camels, are worth more. A young camel can sometimes be had about Bagdad for as little as $3 or $4.

Besides its use for riding and carrying purposes, the Mesopotamian Arabs depend on the camel for milk. Shoes are made from its tough, calloused hide, and in times of famine its brittle, strong tasting flesh is eaten. Condensed milk, made by boiling fresh camel milk until evaporation leaves only a hard, chalky substance, is prized among the desert nomads. By rubbing this substance between the hands it reduces to powder, and when mixed with warm water it makes a refreshing drink, highly esteemed among the desert folk. "Mereesy," as it is called, will keep in good condition for two years. When made from buttermilk it tastes sour and is prized among Arabs who have eaten much of sweet dates. Fresh, warm camel milk is also the food of many valuable horses owned by desert sheiks.

Camel calves are weaned in their eleventh or twelfth month. When a camel caravan is on the march the very young camels are often tied upon the backs of the mother animal, since they cannot endure the fatigue of a long march. Valuable dogs and Arab desert hounds, called "slugeys," also ride in the same way.—Chicago Record-Herald.

VIENNA DEATH NOTICES.

They Read Like an Extract From a Family History.

"Don't die in Vienna. You'll be sorry if you do," writes an American on his first visit to that city, "not because of the usual objections, but on account of the death notices in the papers. They appear flanked by all sorts of ads. and range in size according to the desire for notice on the part of the family of the late lamented. Every possible title is mentioned, and the name of every member of the family goes to make up the notice. A death announcement black bordered and covering half a page of the paper is nothing unusual. Here is a sample:

"Bruno Weiss, purveyor of lubricating oil to his imperial and royal majesty, and his wife, Amalie—born Horsitzky—in their own and in the names of their children—Hans, Otto, Minna, Laura and Hilde—and their sons-in-law, Military Surgeon Dr. Lola Krobinsky and Architect Oskar Jellinek; their daughters-in-law, Louise, born Ledermann, and Magie, born Anspacher, as also in the names of their grandchildren—here follows a long string of names—and their mother and mother-in-law, Frau Ernestine Winkler, relict of Commercial Councilor Anton Winkler, announce to their friends the entrance into eternal rest, after a long and severe illness, of their dearly beloved son, Arthur, in the twenty-sixth year of his age."

"This is correct except as to the names."—New York Tribune.

He Was Just Thinking.

"Mary," said a man to his spouse, who was gifted with a rapidly moving tongue, "did you ever hear the story of the precious gems?"

"No," she replied. "What is it?"

"It's a fairy legend that my grandmother told me when I was a boy," the husband continued. "It was about a woman from whose lips fell a diamond or a ruby at every word she spoke."

"Well?" said his wife as he pause.

"That's all there is of it, my dear," he replied. "But I was just thinking if such things happened nowadays I could make my fortune as a jeweler."

Love of Trees.

We find our most soothing companionship in trees among which we have lived, some of which we ourselves may have planted. We lean against them, and they never betray our trust, they shield us from the sun and from the rain, their spring welcome is a new birth which never loses its freshness, they lay their beautiful robes at our feet in autumn; in winter they stand and wait, emblems of patience and of truth, for they hide nothing, not even the little leaf buds which hint to us of hope, the last element in their triple symbolism.—Dr. O. W. Holmes.

Until 1870 it was against the law and sacred custom for any subject to look at the emperor of Japan. His political advisers and attendants saw only his back. When he first left the palace the shutters of all the houses had to be drawn, and no one was permitted in the streets. Even today, when the emperor has the privilege of driving through the streets like one of his subjects, it is not considered quite proper to cast a glance at him.

Experience.

"Experience is the best teacher," quoted the wise guy.

"Yes, but her charges are mighty high," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record.

Naturally.

"I heard he was in bad odor with her family. Is that true?"

"Draw your own conclusions. It was a cashless marriage."—Baltimore American.

Health lies in labor, and there is no earthly royal road to it but through toil.—Wendell Phillips.

FIRST AID IN FAINTING.

Lower the Head to Let the Blood Back to the Brain.

Fainting is a loss of consciousness due to the diminution of blood supply to the brain. It occurs most frequently in weak, sensitive women, but may occur also to men as well. It usually occurs in crowds or in crowded halls, theaters and churches, where the atmosphere is close and the air foul.

Fainting usually lasts only a few minutes, and the person recovers immediately when taken out into the fresh air, but there are cases in which it lasts much longer, sometimes for an hour or more. The first aid treatment of fainting is usually very simple. Take the person out into the fresh air and lay him flat on the back, with the head lower than the feet.

This can be done by grasping the feet and holding the body so that the head hangs down, or take an ordinary straight back chair, turn it over so that the back forms an angle with the floor and place the person on the back of the chair with the head hanging down. This position with the head hanging down favors the flow of the blood back to the brain.

All tight clothing about the neck and waist should be loosened. Smelling salts or aromatic spirits of ammonia applied to the nostrils and cold water sprinkled on the face, chest and hands help to restore consciousness.—National Magazine.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.

Many Changes In Its Design Since It Was First Issued.

The silver dollar has undergone a great many changes since it was put in circulation in 1794. On the face of the first dollar there was stamped the head of a young woman turned to the right and with hair flowing, as if she was in a gale of wind. But in 1796 congress came to her relief and ordered her hair to be tied up with a bit of ribbon. The fifteen stars which appeared on the first dollar were after this reduced to the original thirteen in recognition of the number of states.

In 1836 the design was again changed, and the dollar bore the figure of a woman dressed in a flowing garment. The designer forgot, however, to put in the thirteen stars, and the coin was soon called in, the new design having the woman surrounded by stars. Her air was defiant and stiff looking, and in 1838 dollars were issued which were more artistic in treatment. The first dollars bearing the motto, "In God We Trust," were coined in April, 1864, and in 1873 the era of the trade dollar began, lasting just five years.

The Liberty dollar made its appearance in 1878. Miss Anna W. Williams, a public school teacher of Philadelphia, sat for the portrait.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Sure of a Raise.

An enterprising woman who rents several apartments in a new building and sublets them furnished, room by room, has profited at the rate of several hundred dollars a year by woman's propensity for telling everything she knows. To each applicant for a room she named an exorbitant price to start with.

"Now, understand, this is a concession to you alone and must be regarded as strictly confidential. If you tell a soul in the house that I have made a reduction in your favor I shall have to charge the original price."

Within two weeks rents had gone up.

"Mrs. Smith tells me," said the astute landlady to each gossiping tenant, "that you told her you pay only $6 for your room instead of $7." And as no one was in a position to plead not guilty the additional rental was exacted.—New York Times.

The Retort Courteous.

James Russell Lowell was once a guest at a banquet in London where he was expected to reply to a toast. The speaker who preceded Mr. Lowell said many contemptuous things about the people of the United States, avowing and repeating again and again that they were all braggarts. As American minister at the court of St. James Lowell could hardly overlook this speech, so as he rose he said smilingly: "I heartily agree with the gentleman who has just spoken. Americans do brag a great deal, and I don't know where they got the habit, do you?"

Big Mouthfuls.

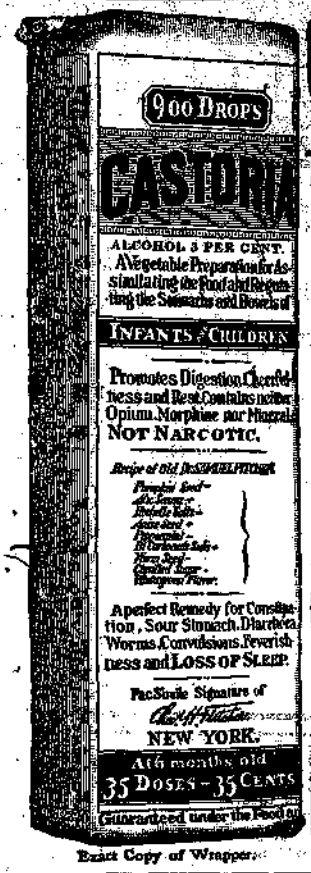
"Yes," whispered the man who knows everybody, "the big chap over there at the third table is a great gormand. He's a mountain in the financial world, you know."

"H'm!" commented the quiet observer. "Instead of a mountain he looks to me like a great gorge."—Chicago News.

Boiling Alive.

The last instance of boiling to death took place in Persia in 1890. The offender was guilty of stealing state revenues and was put into a large caldron of cold water, which was slowly heated to the boiling point. His bones were distributed as a warning among the provincial tax collectors.

Incorrigible.



"Nobody wants to play bridge with Mrs. Bean. She talks all the time."

"I suppose she's quiet when she's dummy?"

"Quiet! She talks twice as much."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Silence is Safety.

After forty years o' married life I've made up me mind it don't matter how often a man an' his wife disagrees as long as he don't let her know it.—Harper's Bazar.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE.

Five Nights Starting Tuesday, April 4. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday

The clamoring demands of the play going public of the country has forced Managers Woods, Frazee and Lederer, owners and producers of the season's big musical comedy success "Madame Sherry," to send on tour the alternate New Amsterdam Theatre Company which, with its companion organization, has been playing to overflow audiences at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, since the late summer. All New York authorities are agreed that no such sensational musical comedy success has been scored by a native production in the past twenty years. Karl Hoschna is the composer of "Madame Sherry." The book was furnished by Otto Hauerbach. In its original French form the piece was a rage in Paris, and an English version produced by George Edwardes at the Apollo Theatre, London, was the furore of an entire season. At present all New York is attending the production which bids fair to remain at the New Amsterdam Theatre, the largest of the New York Broadway playhouses, until the close of the present season and perhaps longer. The production is remarkable in many ways. The New York newspapers acclaimed it is a memorable advance in material and form over a native predecessor.

Most of its airs are already current throughout the world, reports to the publishers of the score averring that "Ev'ry Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own." The theme number of the work, is as popular today in San Francisco, London, Paris, Vienna, Berlin and Sydney, Australia, as it is in New York. Even without so remarkable a piece of property as "Madame Sherry" the company to be seen here in its interpretation should of themselves furnish values and qualities sufficient to attract all playgoers predisposed to laughs and music. Marie Flynn, Hallen Mostyn, Mortimer Weldon, Audrey Maple, Virginia Foltz, and Anna Boyd are noted among the company's principals. A feature of the production noted during the performances of the company, in New York was its feminine chorus, who depart from the traditional limitations of the fair auxiliaries of muscal productons by really, each and every one of them having a line to speak. George W. Lederer, whose stage management is credited with a considerable share of the sensational success scored by the piece, is the same George W. Lederer who gave the country "The Belle of New York," "The Whirl of the Town, "The Rounders," "The Passing Show" and a score of other musical comedy successes during the Lederer regime at the New York Casino. Seats placed on sale Friday morning, March 31st. Prices—Nights, 50c to $2.00; Wednesday and Saturday matinees, 25c to $1.50.

MAYOR HUGO SENATOR-IAL POSSIBILITY

Mayor Hugo of Watertown was a guest of the Fortnightly club in Oswego one evening last week, and when asked by a reporter if he was a candidate for State Senator to succeed Hon. George H. Cobb, made the following characteristic reply:

"That's rather remote," said Mayor Hugo with a laugh, "though I see many of my Oswego friends persist in saying that I will be the candidate of the district after Senator Cobb has retired. There is some talk over home along the same lines, but there are many things that may happen to prevent. The position is one, however, to which any man might aspire and of course I have taken the position in my public utterances upon municipal problems that every man should be ready to take an office when called upon to do so."

Senator Cobb is reported to be a candidate for Jefferson County Judge and that he will not be a candidate for re-election. In that event Mayor Hugo would be a prime favorite with Oswego County.

Alma Durfey Was Never Asked to Stop Drinking

Alma Durfey, giving also the name of Guernseey, an attractive young woman from Fulton, told Justice Shove this morning that though she began to drink when she was 15 years old, nine years ago, nothing had been done to help her.

After she had been arraigned in Police court on the charge of public intoxication, the police made inquiries concerning her record in Fulton. She has been arrested nine times in the last few years, convicted five times and kept in the jail for terms of ten, fifteen and thirty days.

Justice Shove said it was time she was given a chance in an institution where she could receive some discipline and training. He committed her to the Western House of Refuge at Albion.

Alma said her husband had been responsible for several of her arrests. Her father-in-law, she said, generally looked after her when she landed in court.—Syracuse Herald.

Desirous of Republican Nomination For Supreme Justice—Able Lawyer and Irreproachable Character.

[Pulaski Democrat, April 6.]

"The Democrat," the home paper of Hon. Irving G. Hubbs, takes great pleasure in announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Supreme Court Justice.

For some time the question as to who would be Oswego County's candidate in the next Judicial Convention has been discussed throughout the county and district. In all of this discussion Mr. Hubbs' name has been prominently and favorably mentioned. The question of securing a resident Justice in this county is one of great importance. In fact the importance of the matter and the needs of the county are so great that the question as to who shall be the candidate of the county should be determined solely with the idea of presenting a candidate who will be acceptable to the other counties in the District, for with them rests the final determination of the question as to whether or not Oswego county shall have a Justice. In spite of the manifest justice of the claim of Oswego county it is not going to be an easy matter to secure the nomination of a man from Oswego county. Justice of the claim of Oswego county it is not going to be an easy matter to secure the nomination of a man from Oswego county.

If there can be found any political or other reason for rejecting the candidate offered by Oswego there is danger that it will be done as other counties in the District will present candidates and urge their nomination. The candidate from this county should be a man who has not been conspicuous as a leader in factional fights within the party.

He should be a man of high standing in his profession, of high ideals, of calm judgment and with a judicial temperament. In short he should be a good lawyer, free from political objections, which might be urged against him in other counties.

The Democrat believes that Mr. Hubbs meets these requirements and that his candidacy will be looked upon with favor by the other counties of the District whose assistance is necessary in order to nominate a man from this county.

We have only the most kindly feeling for Messrs. E. B. Powell and Udelle Bartlett who have announced that they are candidates for the nomination.

We shall not, neither will Mr. Hubbs, have any disparaging word to say in regard to either of them personally.

We believe that the interests of the county should be considered first and above everything else and that the candidate should be the one who will appeal most strongly to the other counties of the District.

It is only after most careful inquiry as to the sentiment in the other counties of the District that this announcement is made. There has been no attempt to forestall a free and candid discussion of the availability of the candidates by the circulation of petitions for Mr. Hubbs. He is a candidate because he firmly believes that if he is so fortunate as to secure the delegates from this county that he can be nominated.

HON. IRVING G. HUBBS

He is so well known to the readers of the Democrat that little need be said about him personally. He was born in the town of Sandy Creek November 18, 1870, educated in the Pulaski Academy and Cornell University; admitted to the bar November 19, 1891, and practiced law at Parish from 1891 to 1894 when he removed to Pulaski, his former home, where he has since lived. He has been very successful in practice and stands very high in the profession. The only office ever held by Mr. Hubbs was that of Special County Judge to which he was elected shortly after he was admitted to the bar. He has a large general law practice and frequently appears in the trial of important cases in this and other counties and argues many cases in the Appellate Courts. For several years he has been attorney for many large companies and has represented them in a great deal of important litigation in the northern and western part of the State.

While Mr. Hubbs has always been an earnest and loyal Republican, he has never been an extreme partisan nor has he been engaged in factional contests in our county. We, therefore, believe that he is the most available and strongest candidate which Oswego county can present to the next Judicial Convention and we earnestly bespeak for his candidacy the earnest consideration of the electors of this District.

LYONS POSTOFFICE CLOSED ON SUNDAYS

Lyons, March 29.—The people of the village of Lyons, commencing Sunday, April 2, will either have to go without their Sunday mail or get lock boxes. There will be the usual collection and sending out of mail on Sunday, but the call window will be closed. The question of closing the local office on Sunday was put to a vote of the people some weeks ago and the people expressed themselves as willing that it should be closed.

A Fish Aids Science.

There appears to be no limit to scientific curiosity, especially in Germany. Not long ago a scientist of Leipzig, wishing to ascertain whether fish are warmer than the water they live in, stuck a needle connected with a thermoelectric circuit into a living fish in an aquarium. The needle formed one element of the circuit, while the other element was immersed in the same water that contained the fish. The latter was not seriously injured by the needle and quickly became indifferent to it. Then as the fish swam about, carrying the needle, the ingenious savant closed the circuit and kept watch of the galvanometer. It showed no deflection whatever, from which he concluded that the fish and the water were precisely equal in temperature, for had either been warmer than the other a current would have been generated in the circuit.—Chicago Record-Herald.

FULTON'S CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

M. A. Stranahan Heartily Received Throughout the County—Is Making Spirited Canvas and Outlook is Encouraging—Successful Young Business Man.

Shoe Dealer M.A. Stranahan, Fulton's candidate for Sheriff to succeed Mr. Charles W. Taft, is making a flying tour of the county and is meeting with great encouragment from every quarter. Last week a large number of Republicans in the town of his nativity, Granby, met and endorsed his candidacy in the following hearty manner:

Granby, N. Y., March 30, 1911.

Mr Myron Stranahan,
Fulton, N. Y.,

Dear Sir: We have recently learned of your intention to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff of the county.

As Republicans of your native town we assure you we shall lose no opportunity to advance your candidacy.

It would appear to us that you should make a satisfactory candidate and we hope that the just claim of this vicinity to one of the important county offices may be recognized.

Very truly yours,

VARIED HIS VIEWS.

A Broad Minded Candidate and a Patient Constituent.

Farmer Gordon was engaged for a fortnight to drive a political candidate about the county in his buggy. They traveled by day, each town being a stage, and the politician spoke every evening.

The man was honest and well meaning, but careful local partisans had tried the temper of each community in advance and reported to him with suggestions. So it happened that from his extreme anxiety to please his expressed conviction on the issue varied considerably from time to time.

"Well, Mr. Gordon," said the candidate one day at the beginning of the second week, "how do you stand on the election? How are you going to vote?"

The farmer was silent, thinking. "I really don't know," he said. "I can tell better, maybe, at the close of our engagement."

"Can't make up your mind yet! You've heard all of my speeches."

"Yes, and I like you personally, and I'm hoping to get to vote for you. Don't worry—at least, not yet."

"Not yet! Why do you say that?" asked the puzzled candidate.

"Well, you've had several points of view, and I'm just waiting and thinking maybe before the end of the week you'll get round to mine too."—Youth's Companion.

MISSED THE KANGAROO.

The Hunter Was After Meat, but Got Instead a Story.

In 1889 a hunter in New South Wales took a fancy for some kangaroo meat, so he made a trip through the mulga with no companion but his gun. He had no need of either guides or dogs, as he was an experienced bushman.

The first kangaroo sighted was wounded by him, but not badly enough to disable it. Before he could get in another shot it made off through the salt bush at a terrific pace, but leaving a plain trail in drops of blood, so the hunter followed as fast as he could.

The trail gradually grew fainter as the wounded animal bled less freely, and its pursuer was often obliged to stoop and examine the ground closely for the telltale signs. After several hundred yards had been covered without seeing any more crimson spots the hunter began to think his quarry had escaped, when he saw a single fleck of red before him.

As he bent to look for more flecks the red changed to an iridescent pale green, and he say it was a gem stone that lay before him. The kangaroo was not bagged, but the White Cliffs opal fields were discovered.—New York Press.

The Furtive Look.

Here is something worth while for bachelors to consider.

A Boston woman says she can detect a bachelor as far as she can see him. She always knows a bachelor by his furtive look. The furtive look, she explains, is something akin to that of a hunted animal, always on the watch for snares and pitfalls. Of course this may apply only to Boston bachelors, but it would be well for all other single unfortunates to take a good look at themselves in the mirror and find that telltale look. If they do there is an easy way to efface it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Does not the fact that I have proposed to you repeatedly prove that I prefer both?"—Houston Post.

CHILDREN OF UAP.

They Don't Have to Worry About Food, Clothes or Shelter.

In describing Uap, one of the Caroline islands, Dr. W. H. Furness says that children become more or less public property on that island as soon as they are able to run about from house to house.

They cannot without extraordinary exertion fall off the island, and, like little guinea pigs, can find food anywhere. Their clothing grows by every roadside, and any shelter or no shelter is good enough for the night. They cannot starve. There are no wild beasts or snakes to harm them. What matters it if they sleep under the high, star powdered ceiling of their foster mother's nursery or curl up on mats beneath their father's thatch?

There is no implication here that parents are not fond of their children. On the contrary, they love them so much that they see their own children in all children. It is the ease of life and its surroundings which have atrophied the emotion of parental love.

When a father has merely to say to his wife and children, "Go out and shake your breakfast off the trees," or, "Go to the thicket and gather your clothes," to him the struggle for existence is meaningless, and without a struggle the prizes of life are held in light esteem.

Somebody's children are always about the houses and to the fore in all excitements, and never did I see them roughly handled or harshly treated.

MASTERING A TEMPER.

The Method by Which Marion Crawford Controlled His Anger.

Mrs. Hugh Fraser, sister of the late F. Marion Crawford, tells some interesting stories of him in her book, "A Diplomatist's Wife in Many Lands." It was at the Villa Negroni, Rome, that Crawford was born, an event which so delighted his father that, as Mrs. Fraser says, "my father was beside himself with joy and showered presents on all of us to make us understand and share it."

When young Francis was about ten years old it dawned upon him that he had a violent and uncontrollable temper, and with the simplicity which marked all his character he decided to get it in hand.

"One member of the family constantly irritated him to the verge of frenzy, and he invented a form of self discipline which very few children would have thought of imposing on themselves. My mother entered his room one day and found him walking round and round it, carrying on his back a heavy wooden shutter which he had lifted off its hinges at the window.

"'My dear child,' she exclaimed, 'what are you doing?'

"'Getting over a rage,' he replied doggedly, continuing the exercise. 'When I am so angry that I want to kill somebody I come in here and carry the shutter three times round the room before I answer them. It is the only way.'"

Then She Digs the Spurs In.

"Wives are amazing helps—splendid spurs," said a senator at a dinner in Washington. "No young man should be without at least one.

"Whenever a man fails his wife tells the public that he was too conscientious to succeed. What she tells him in private is a different matter."—Exchange.

A Better Trade.

"I understand young Briefless is about to marry the daughter of old Bonds, the millionaire?"

"Yes, so I am told."

"Will he give up the law business?"

"Yes. He will give up the law business and go into the son-in-law business."

The Cock Lane Ghost.

St. John's, Clerkenwell, is a mean structure architecturally, but possesses two interesting historical associations, one romantic and the other ludicrous. It is the headquarters of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, part of the choir of whose ancient priory can still be seen in the early English crypt. This crypt was the haunt of the "Cock lane ghost," which excited all London in February, 1762, and attracted Johnson, Goldsmith and Horace Walpole. The "ghost" proved, as Dr. Johnson surmised, to be the mischievous little daughter of a parish clerk.—Westminster Gazette.

PROMPT RESPONSES RECEIVED

Postal Department Desirous of Eliminating So Much Sunday Work — Postmaster Hughes Receives Only Three Adverse Replies From Over Three Hundred Return Cards Distributed

Postmaster General Hitchcock is desirious of eliminating, as far as possible without interfering in the least with the efficiency of the service, the amount of work done in post offices on Sunday. Postmaster Hughes was requested by the Department recently to ascertain what the sentiment in Fulton was relative to this matter, so he sent out over three hundred return cards to patrons of the office and has so far received over two hundred replies, only three of which were unfavorable to the Sunday closing proposition.

The local pastors' association at their last meeting discussed the matter and took action as follows upon it:

Fulton, N. Y., April 7, 1911.

Mr. William E. Hughes,
Postmaster, Fulton, N. Y.,

Dear Sir: We, the undersigned clergymen in charge of the various churches in the City of Fulton, wish to assure you of our hearty co-operation and sympathy with those business men and others of our city, who have taken action in favor of the permanent closing of the Post Office on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday. Furthermore, it is our opinion that the closing of the local office would in no way interfere with business, but would, on the contrary be an act of inestimable benefit to many.

Trusting that you will report this matter to the Posmaser General, we are,

Yours very respectfully,
George C. Wadeworth,
John L. Lindsman,
Charles L. Peck,
John Gerald York,
Charles Olmstead,
Frederick A. Miller,
William E. Sitzer,
George W. Wellburn.

Postmaster Hughes will report to the department the result of his investigation and expects to receive a decision in the near future relative to the local office. Mail will be distributed into the private boxes at the Postoffice and in order to get mail on Sunday it will be necessary to rent one of these boxes. The General Delivery window will be open from 9 until 10:15 o'clock in the morning. The stamp window will be closed and carriers will not be required to go to the Postoffice to hand out mail.

The Post-Standard of Tuesday says relative to the Syracuse office: An order was received yesterday by Postmaster William Cowie from First Assistant Postmaster General Charles Grandfield, authorizing him to close the Syracuse Postoffice on Sundays beginning April 23. After a careful canvass of corporations receiving their mail on Sunday Postmaster Cowie sent his recommendations to Washington ten days ago.

TREMENDOUS BREAK ON HYDRAULIC CANAL

Sunday morning early about fifty feet of the concrete wall of the hydraulic canal gave way under the tremendous water pressure, and the river was allowed to flow unhindered into the raceway, entailing a great loss upon the manufacturers and millers along the canal, crippling all of them to some extent and causing some of them not equipped with auxiliary plants of steam or electricity to shut down completely. The force with which the water broke its confines can be estimated to a certain extent when it is known that a piece of concrete and rock weighing perhaps half a ton, was thrown a long distance from the section of the wall to which it belonged.

The work of repairing the wall has been given to Contractor Walter Bradley, who will repair the damage as speedily as conditions will permit. It is thought that the State will have to pay for the work of repair.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Chamber of Commerce meeting held on Tuesday evening, was well attended despite the unpropitious weather. The matter of the opening of the Oswego canal was freely discussed by all present and resulted in the following resolutions being presented and adopted:

"Whereas, the progress of the work on contract No. 10 of the barge canal through this city has been a disappointment to this chamber by reason of the length of time already consumed and the incomplete condition of the work at this date; and

"Whereas, we believe such delay results in damage to property, distress, inconvenience and annoyance to residents, and is a menace to business and industries; and

"Whereas, this chamber has been requested to favor the closing of the Oswego Canal for a third summer season, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we favor the closing the said canal, only in the event of satisfactory assurance from proper authorities that the completion of contract No. 10 will be brought about at the earliest possible moment and with as little annoyance as possible to property and industries in our city; and be it further

"Resolved, That the chair appoint a committee with power to sign for this chamber, a superintendent of public works favoring the closing of the canal during the summer of 1911, when, in their judgment, satisfactory assurance from proper authorities is in their possession."

President Penfield appointed as a committee of three, F. A. Emerick, Oswego, Thomas Hunter and Mayor Joseph Conners, Fulton;

Oswego interests are very strenuous in their opposition to the closing of the canal and they propose to use all influence to the end that the law be complied with and the canal opened to tariff during the Summer season. From the Fulton outlook it will be many a day before matters can be shaped here to permit of such an arrangement. Practically nothing has been accomplished this Spring toward preparing for the canal opening and there seems little likelihood that much can be accomplished until the season of low water.

THE WEEK

Continued improvement in wheat crop conditions, due to the widespread rains, is the most promising feature of the business situation, and this improvement is naturally accompanied by a fall in grain prices. The rains, however, have interfered a good deal with retail distribution of merchandise, and this is responsible in part for the somewhat slower movement of trade, which is revealed in most of the reports from the different sections. Fundamental conditions are undoubtedly sounder and better than in a long time past, but immediate business, while necessarily large in view of the constant requirements of an immense population, shows reduced activity for the time being, because the period of retrenchment and readjustment is not yet ended. The optimism that prevails abroad, and especially in England, is beginning to have its effect in this country, and must be counted as one of the influences working for improvement. The accumulation of copper continues. There is an active demand for wire, but otherwise the iron and steel market is quieter, with a reduced aggregate of new orders reported by the largest producer. It is one of the good points of the general industrial situation that, as domestic trade slackens somewhat, export trade quickens. Shoes and hides are quiet, with no special change in recent conditions. Railroad earnings in four weeks of March decreased 3.3 per cent.

While indications are not lacking there has been some shrinkage in net profits as a consequence of the reduced volume of transactions, a steadier and firmer tone to the cotton goods markets was given during the week by a recovery in prices from the low levels touched on wide sheetings and 4-4 bleached cottons, and also by consistent purchases for the well established needs of a larger printer. Export trade has been better than a year ago. The tariff agitation centering upon the wool schedule has naturally led to cautious operations on the part of all merchants handling dress goods and men's wear. The yarn markets, by inactivity on a broad scale, continue to reflect the curtailed output of many miscellaneous textile mills.

In footwear some manufacturers are fairly busy, but others are feeling the lack of supplementary seasonable orders and their cutting rooms are especially dull at the present time. There is more optimistic feeling prevalent throughout the trade however, and it is expected that orders will show an increase, due to the more seasonable weather which is anticipated from now on. The hide markets have ruled quiet and tanners are buying the raw stock with considerable conservatism. Values of both domestic packer and country hides are sustained chiefly because of moderate supplies. The European markets advanced sharply at the Paris auctions and are firmly maintained on a proportionately higher basis than hides in this country as evidenced by reported sales of New York side branded steers this week for export to Europe. Calf skins are steady, but quiet. Shoe leathers are slow, but curtailed production prevents the accumulation of supplies and the market is steady for about all lines. In upper leathers, chrome sides and kangaroo have been advanced in one instance and oak harness leather is also higher under a continued good demand.

With further copious rains falling over a large area of the country, wheat crop prospects continue to improve and a decidedly favorable Government condition report is expected to day. The present promising out look has been reflected by a persistent decline in prices to the lowest point in about three years, although some support was derived this week from adverse weather developments abroad. Moreover, domestic export business has revived somewhat; yet many traders still insist that there is nothing in the situation on which to base any sustained recovery in values. Western receipts have diminished, a total of 2,033,261 bushels this week comparing with 3,851,562 a year ago, but shipments of 1,519,810 bushels, flour included, from all ports of the United States exceeded the 1,255,184 sent abroad in 1910. Unsettled weather and a larger cash demand imparted strength to corn after an early recession in sympathy with the decline in wheat. Arrivals of 2,311,362 bushels at primary markets compared closely with the 2,483,614 received last year, but Atlantic Coast exports of 1,378,637 bushels were larger than the 537,718 shipped in 1910. It is still too early to make definite assertions regarding new cotton prospects, yet the weather has been more favorable than otherwise and an enlargement of the acreage seems assured. Speculative trading lacks animation, and prices fluctuate with much irregularity.

YOU! "Mister" Business Man

Are you playing safe in the matter of insurance? Could you pay, dollar for dollar, all you owe in case of the destruction of your property by fire?

In the event of a conflagration sweeping your business out of existence, and with it perhaps the savings of a lifetime, are you protected by enough good, sound insurance to put you "on your feet again?"

These are serious questions and the issue is one you cannot avoid. You cannot afford to take chances. Property losses in this country are mounting steadily upward.

Keep fully insured and charge the item into the selling price of your goods, the same as rent, interest or taxes.

We solicit your insurance business.

LECTURE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Repeated by Request on "The Orgin of Life" by Mr. S. B. Mead

The members of the Current Events club have expressed their appreciation of Attorney Mead's recent lecture on "The Origin of Life" to such an extent that a request for its repetition has been made. The Presbyterian Men's Bible class has secured Mr. Mead's consent to announce this repeated lecture for Wednesday evening, the 19th inst. The lecture is open to all, and will be given in the Presbyterian church. The meeting will convene at 8 o'clock and there will be no charge for admission. The address is commended to all the citizens of Fulton who are interested in matters of natural science or of philosophy.

DEVELOPED WATER POWER FOR RENT

Water power is universally known as the best and most reliable power for manufacturing purposes. For many years it has been impossible to buy or even rent such power in Fulton. There is now, however, an opportunity open for the right parties to rent floor space with developed power. Taylor Brothers & Co., of this city last summer installed the most complete and up-to-date power plant that could be built. They are now about to make further improvements in their factory and will have one or two floors to rent. The size of each floor is 2100 square feet. The above named firm will be pleased to quote prices to anyone interested.

AVERTS AWFUL TRAGEDY

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

NORTH VOLNEY

(Too late for last week.)

Our school closes for the Summer vacation this week.

The L. A. S. is to meet at the usual place on Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cole, of Scriba, moved into the cheese factory Friday of last week. Their former friends and neighbors of this place will be glad to welcome them back into their midst. Mr. Cole is to open the cheese factory Monday of this week.

Francis C. Smith of this place and a student at Cornell University is recovering from scarlet fever at the city hospital, Ithaca, where he will be in quarantine until May 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sikes have moved from here to where he is to work for Mr. Eugene Hunn, the coming season.

Miss Nellie Smith, who has been suffering from neuralgia the past few weeks, is improving although still confined to her bed.

STABLE INSPECTION

A Suggestion to Humane Societies

The plan of stable inspection, originated by the Boston Work Horse Parade association, has proved extremely successful. The Association offers to inspect, free of cost, any stable that may be entered for the purpose, and the stables so entered are visited, and all the details of feeding, watering, bedding, grooming, blanketing, etc., are carefully investigated by experts. A confidential report is then made to the stable proprietor, defects are pointed out, and suggestions are made. In most cases the stables are inspected two or three times, and at the annual Memorial Day Parade silver medals and other prizes are awarded, if deserved, to the owners of the horses, to foremen and to nightmen. Prizes are also awarded to the stables making the greatest improvement.

Many of the largest horse-owning corporations in the city have availed themselves of the inspection and this year at least 3000 horses will be inspected in the various stables em- The Association has found that horse-owners are almost always glad to adopt the suggestions made to them, and in some cases the expert inspectors have met the grooms and drivers, at the request of the employer, and have explained to them the necessity for certain improvements in the treatment of the horses. In one case a leading truckman gave a dinner at a hotel to his drivers in order that the president of the Work-Horse Parade Association and the man who inspected his stable might have an opportunity to meet them. The fact is that horse-owners might prevent much unnecessary wear and tear of valuable horse flesh, to say nothing of humanity, by cultivating a proper spirit among their employees.

Moreover, our experience has been —and no doubt the same thing would be observed everywhere — that in most stables the comfort of the horse can be promoted, and his workdays prolonged by making improvements in feeding, watering, bedding or grooming, the cost of which is comparatively alight.

The most frequent faults which we have found existing in work-horse stables are:

1. Scanty bedding.
2. Failure to bed in the day time, on Sundays and other days when the horses stand in.
3. Failure to water the horses at night after eating their hay.
4. Poor grooming.
5. Graining the horses before they are rested.
6. Failure to keep the feet soft.

MAYOR HUGO ON CONGRESSMAN MOTT

Mayor Hugo of Watertown was a honor guest at a reception given by the Columbian club to Mr. F. J. Meagher, city editor of the Oswego Times, who resigned his position to become private secretary to Congressman Mott. Among other things which Mayor Hugo said was: "that Congressman L. W. Mott would start his duties in Washington with a host of well wishers in Jefferson county. He said he believed Mr. Mott would make a most able representative for this district and that he would discharge his duties with honor to himself and benefit to his constituents. Going further, Mayor Hugo predicted that two years from now, if Mr. Mott desired a re-nomination and re-election that there would be no opposition to him in Jefferson county"

At the close of the evening's entertainment Mr. Meagher was presented with a handsome gold mounted fountain pen by his fellow members in the club, all of whom were delighted that their comrade had been chosen by Congressman Mott for the responsible position.

MUST DIVIDE SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Official notices have been received by the members of the Board of Supervisors from the State Department of Education through County Clerk A. F. McCarthy regarding the special session of the Board called for the division of the county into supervisory districts Tuesday, April 18. The meeting will be held in the chambers of the Board in the County Clerk's building at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The meeting will be called to order by the County Clerk and the Board and the school commissioners will then elect from their number a Chairman and Secretary for this session.

The law makes it the duty of the Board of Supervisors to divide counties into supervisory districts. The law states that the supervisor of each town in the county and the school commissioners of the several school commissioners districts of the county shall meet for the purposes of dividing the county into districts. Under the law as construed by the State Education Department the city supervisors are not entitled to membership in the body to be assembled. Only those supervisors who represent towns may act in the body as proposed.

The board will, therefore, be composed of the Supervisors from Amboy, Albion, Boylston, Constantia, Granby, Hannibal, Hastings, Mexico, New Haven, Oswego Town, Parish, Palermo, Redfield, Richland, Scriba, Schroeppel, Volney, Sandy Creek, Orwell, Williamstown, and West Monroe, and School Commissioners W. S. Gardner of the First district, W. C. Richards of the Second and L. Carl Sargent of the Third district.

The county of Oswego, according to the Department of Education, will be divided into five supervisory districts each of which will have a supervisor. No town shall be divided in the erection of districts. The territory of the districts must be contiguous and compact and towns shall be arranged in districts so that there shall be as equal division of the territory and number of school districts as may be practicable.

STATE STREET CHURCH

Upon Easter Sunday the usual prayer service will be held at 6 o'clock at the State Street church. The service will be led by Mr. Frank Palmerton and is under the direction of the Epworth League. The Easter sermon will be preached at 10:30 by the Rev. Charles E. Miller of Rome, District Superintendent of Ontario District. Special music will be rendered by the quartet.

At 7:30 the young people will render the Easter cantata, "The Captive."

DO GHOSTS HAUNT SWAMPS?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous and low lands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroy and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy, only. 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

TROUT SEASON OPENS APRIL 17

Anglers Must Not Fish on Sunday, April 16.

Albany, April 4.—As sportsmen generally are aware, the season for brook trout opens on April 16. In view of that fact State Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner Osborne has had a number of inquiries as to whether it will be illegal to fish for trout on the Saturday previous, April 15, because the opening day is Sunday. The penal code forbids fishing and hunting on Sunday and some years ago the game laws of the State provided that if April 16, came on Sunday, trout might be taken on April 15. This provision was eliminated, however, when the game laws were revised in 1908.

Sportsmen will therefore do well to remember that they are not permitted to fish for trout this year sooner than Monday, April 17. A bill is now before the Legislature, introduced by Assemblyman T. K. Smith of Onondaga, which bears directly upon this provision of the game law. It provides that when the opening date falls on Sunday, the season for fish or game shall be deemed to begin on the Saturday preceding the date set for the opening of such season. While this bill has passed the Assembly, it yet remains to be acted upon by the Senate. Even its enactment into law will not avail sportsmen this year because it could not reach the Governor in time to change the existing situation.

Prompt relief in all cases of throat and lung trouble if you use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pleasant to take, soothing and healing in effect. Sold by all druggists.

WOMEN HELPED

By Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for Kidneys and Liver.

Disorders of women are the result of general bodily weakness. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a strength builder and for women it has proved of great value. Thousands testify to this. A sick woman almost always has kidney trouble, which causes pain in the back, headache, nervousness and other distressing symptoms. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helps the Kidneys and Liver to act properly, purifies the blood and gently moves the bowels, striking at the cause of Kidney, Liver, Blood and Bladder troubles.

For over 65 years it has enjoyed steady and merited success, for it is an honest remedy and has stood the test of time. Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. Y. for a free sample bottle and valuable medical booklet. Large bottle $1.00 at all druggists.

GOV. DIX SIGNS SHERIFF'S BILL

Sheriff May Now Appoint a Salaried Matron at the County Jail

Albany, April 6. — Governor Dix has signed thhe bill of Assemblyman Sweet, amending the Oswego Sheriff's act so as to allow the sheriff of Oswego County to appoint a matron for the County Jail in Oswego, whose salary shall be fixed by the Board of Supervisors.

It provides also that services necessarily performed by any under sheriff or deputy sheriff, upon requisition of the State Department of official, which are made a county charge by law, shall be paid by the county instead of by the sheriff out of his salary as at present. The bill further provides that deputy sheriffs shall receive fees allowed by law for services in criminal proceedings before a Justice of the Peace, or a police justice and that these fees shall be paid by the county instead of by the sheriff out of his salary.

The bill also permits the supervisor to audit and allow bills of the sheriff for maintaining prisoners, at any special session of the board as well as at the annual session. Under the old law the auditing must be done at each annual session.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

EASTER is a most appropriate time for new clothes; all nature puts on a new dress then, and it's particularly fitting that men should do the same thing.

Every man of you ought to get ready with new clothes before Easter; that should be a good starting point for you. Of course, there's no reason why, if you want to, you shouldn't have your new things now; today. We're ready, of course; ready with the clothes, the hats, the neckwear, the fine shirts. We're ready also with the right spirit of service; the spirit that wants you to get what YOU want, rather than what we want to sell. Our idea is to be a "help to buying" rather than just "sellers."

Hart Schaffner & Marx fine clothes are our great special feature; new weaves, colors, patterns, wonderful in beauty and variety. See the Shapemaker and Varsity suits; the new button-through overcoats. Young men's styles are a specialty in this line.

Suits, $18 and up

Overcoats, raincoats, $16.50 and up

Special: Pure Worsted Suits at $12 and $15

We find it possible to produce an all-wool suit that's really worth buying at $12 and $15; there are a lot of men who like that price. We aim to put more value into these suits than the price usually pays for; the qualities are really such as are commonly sold at $15 and $20. We guarantee these suits absolutely; and we've got enough of them to fit anybody and satisfy every desire; $12 and $15.

ENTERPRISING BUSINESS MEN

Messrs. W. A. Butts and N. L. Whitaker Become Owners of Grand Central Block, Oneida Street

Last week Shoe Dealer Watson A. Butts and Real Estate and Insurance Agent N. L. Whitaker secured from Miss Alice May Gardiner an option on the Grand Central block in Oneida street, one of the most desirable pieces of real estate in the city. The block is in excellent condition, every available space rented to high class tenants at fair rate of rental. The street is paved, sewered and improved in every particular. The block is most advantageously situated from a business standpoint and the purchas is considered by conservative business men to be one of the best made in Fulton for some time.

The purchasers, who are among the best known business men of the city, are to be congratulated upon their valuable acquisition. No change in tenants is at present contemplated.

CITIZEN'S BANK PROGRESSIVE

Inaugurate Plan of Keeping Open Saturday Evenings for Benefit of Busy Patrons and Merchants

The Citizens National bank last week inaugurated a plan of opening their institution on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock for the benefit of their patrons who are employed during the day, and also to receive the Saturday deposits of merchants who are averse to leaving large sums of money in their safe during the Sunday holiday. The plan has been successfully tried out in the larger cities and it has met with high favor, the courtesy being apreciated by the patrons.

That the plan will become very popular with Fulton patrons of the Citizens Bank was evidenced by the number of people who took advantage of the opportunity presented last Saturday evening. When it becomes more generally known it is safe to prophesy that the results will warrant the effort on the part of the management.

DEATHS

Word has been received in Fulton of the death in Brooklyn of Mrs. F. Croak who has several relatives in this city, where she formerly resided.

Silas H. Merritt, aged 72, a native of Plainville, died at his home in Emory street on Tuesday morning. He is survived by his widow, one brother and one sister.

The sudden death of Hattie, aged 54, wife of Mr. Starr F. Hill, occurred at midnight on Sunday at the home in Oneida street. The deceased had not been in robust health for some time but was considered in her usual health upon retiring for the night. At midnight a change in her breathing was noticed and she passed away two hours later without having regained consciousness. Beside the husband, one son, Dempster Hill, one sister, Mrs. Monroe Skeel and one brother, Mr. W. H. Patterson survive. The funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Ellen H., aged 51, wife of Mr. Uriah H. Lewis, died at the home in North Fourth street on Tuesday morning from the late home on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock and from the Catholic church at 11 o'clock. Burial will be made in St. Marys. The deceased was a life long resident of this section. She is survived by her husband, two sons, Bert of Amsterdam, and Lewis, of Meriden, Conn.; seven brothers, Napoleon, David, James and George Chetney of this city, Peter Haven and William and Orany of Oswego; two sisters, Mrs. Oliver Pullen of this city and Mrs. Henry Lee of Syracuse.

The death of Mrs. Samuel B. Whitaker, aged 73, occurred at the family home in Oneida street on Friday, after an illness following a severe operation which she underwent two months ago. For some time it was believed that her life had been prolonged by the use of the surgeon's knife, but complications arose which her frail body was unable to combat and death ensued. Her demise brings genuine sorrow to a wide circle of friends who loved the gentle homekeeper and who found much pleasure in partaking of the hospitality extended under her roof. To the family in their sorrow and loneliness the deepest sympathy of these friends goes out. The deceased was born in Baldwinsville, coming to Fulton when 11 years of age and she has resided here ever since. She received her education in Falley seminary and was always very interested in the students from that famous institution of learning. Fifty-three years ago she was united in marriage with the partner who now survives to mourn the loss of a helpmeet in the highest sense of the term. To them two children were born, a son who died in young manhood twenty years ago, and a daughter, Miss Cornelia Whitaker, who is an instructor in the local schools. One sister, Mrs. Lusk, who has made her home for many years with Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker, also survives. The funeral services which were largely attended, were held from the late home on Monday afternoon, the Rev. C. G. Wadsworth officiating. Interment was made beside the son in Mt. Adnah.

CONFERENCE OF MAYORS

Noted Men Will Discuss Vital Municipal Problems at Poughkeepsie Convention

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 11.—Announcement was made today of the preliminary program for the second annual conference of mayors and other city officials of the second and third class cities of New York State, which will be held in Poughkeepsie on May 25, 26 and 27. The Mayor's Advisory Committee has decided to extend the conference this year, making it a three-day convention instead of two, the last day to be devoted to a trip by special boat and train to the Ashokan Dam where the morning and afternoon will be spent inspecting this tremendous public improvement and listening to addresses on Municipal Water Supplies and Water Resources of the State.

On the last day the Mayors' and other municipal officials will go by special boat to Kingston and from there by special train to Ashokan Dam where they will spend the day. At the session there the Hon. Seth Low, former Mayor of New York city, will preside and Mr. Walter McCulloh Consulting Engineer of the New York State Water Supply Commission will discuss "The Future of Municipal Water Supplies in New York State."

REGISTRATION OF AUTOS

Albany, April 6.—Secretary of State Lazansky today called the attention of Police Commissioner Cropsey of New York and the heads of other police departments in the state to the fact that every owner of an auto who has made application for a license under the Callen law has had his card sent to him. This also applies to chauffers. This notice means that it is now up to the police chiefs to enforce the provisions of the law, Secretary Lazansky in his notice also says: "It will interest you to know that 46,468 owners have registered. Under the first registration in 1910, over 60,000 owners were registered.

"At the present time 20,421 chauffers have been licensed while under first registration there were over 27,000 chauffers registered."

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

It is interesting to see the number of people who daily start up the old Savings Bank steps in quest of either the depository or the law firm for years occupying a suite of rooms in the building. When recollection dawns the person looks about, smiles quietly, hopes no one saw the mistake and proceeds to the corner of First and Rochester streets to transact the business. Have you made the mistake yet?

The Haystack Mission band met on Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. Grove Gilbert. Miss Cathryne Gilkie had charge of the program. Reports were read by the secretary and treasurer. Rev. G. W. Wellburn gave a description of "The Orient in London;" the great missionary exposition of 1908. HANDSOME CANE PRESENTED TO MR. STRANAHAN

Hon. N. N. Stranahan has become accustomed during his many years of public life, to meeting unexpected situations "head on" as it were, but St. Joseph's Council, K. of C., had him rather staggered on Wednesday evening when, upon accepting an invitation to become their guest, he was escorted to the lodge room by Mayor Conners; invited to the rostrum by C. K., M. M. Conley and presented with a handsome gold mounted cane by Rev. J. L. Lindeman in behalf of the Knights of Columbus. The cane was engraved "Presented to Hon. Nevada N. Stranahan by St. Joseph's Council Knights of Columbus, Fulton, N. Y."

Mr. Stranahan had prepared a little surprise of his own for the Knights and he was so taken aback by the neatness with which the trick was turned on him that for a moment he could not voice his apreciation of the kindly act. He recovered himself soon, however, and expressed himself in a manner not soon to be forgotten by his hearers. He then bethought himself of the pleasure he had promised himself and presented Mr. Conley with the block and gavel which he had used in his senate committees during his seven years tenure of the office. It was then time for the Knights to feel surprised. Mr. Conley accepted the gift in the spirit in which it was given and expressed the pleasure and appreciation of the order in Mr. Stranahan's bestowal of the favor.

The evening was brought to a close with cheerful interchange of thought and a hearty expression of hope that Mr. Stranahan would soon return to his native country; himself and wife enjoying the greatest speed of health and strength.

HORSEMEN TO HOLD MEETS

Local horsemen organized on Wednesday evening and the club will henceforth be known as the Fulton Matinee club. The Oswego County Agricultural society will permit the club the use of their track and Mr. Birney Clark will see that it is worked into shape as soon as the frost leaves the ground.

Officers were elected as follows: President, John W. Stevenson; William Davis was made vice president and Barnie Clark, treasurer, and W. S. Woodbury secretary. The directors chosen were Charles McDermott, Charles F. Jones, L. E. Garrett, Cortis F. Bellows and Edward Quirk.

The members of the club outside of officers, at present are: John J. McGinnis, Charles W. Johnson, J. Franklin Decker, A. S. Brown, Guy Garrett, George Foster, Lee Beardsley, E. Lake, William Biddlecomb, James Decker, Frank Sheldon, Fred. Sykes, Samuel Wilson, John Love and E. J. Schem.

The object of the club is to hold races at least each Friday and to co-operate with the Oswego Driving club and owners of racing horses about here.

IMMENSE CHICKEN FARM

Mr. David B. Paige, of Oswego, is going to turn his farm at Battle Island into a poultry farm. He expects to have fifteen thousand chickens ready for the Fall market. Carpenters have just completed work on a new brooder house, 25x50 feet, two stories high and heated with a Candee system of hot water. The brooder will accommodate fifteen thousand chickens and in another year it is the purpose of Mr. Paige to build two more brooders that will give him accommodations for between forty-five thousand and fifty thousand chickens making this one of the largest poultry farms in this section of the State.

The incubator chicks are placed on the lower floor of the brooder house, in little compartments, where the temperature is kept at one hundred and ten degrees. After a week or two they are sent to the upper story, where the temperature is about eighty degrees, and there they remain for a week or until they are large enough to go out of doors on runaways provided for them.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

Monday and Tuesday, April 17 and 18, "The Dollar Princess"

The managerial claim that, "The Dollar Princess," is the best of all musical comedies, is well founded. That is, if the delightful musical offering to be seen at the Empire next Monday and Tuesday can be termed a musical comedy. Not in many years, or not, since "The Merry Widow" has there been such a delightful score so capably rendered. "The Dollar Princess" reached New York and a verdict of emphatic approval leaped instantaneously to every quarter of the country. "The Dollar Princess" has to be exceptional in every respect to fulfill the promises made for it, but it did so with a vengeance. Mr. Fall composed the score which at times is lilting, vigorous and classic and occasionally even rising to operatic pitch, but never has he allowed a discordant or a reminiscent passage to enter his charming and graceful composition. Willner and Grunbaum and Geo. Grossmith, Jr., in contributing the book have been a bit more consistent than is usual in musical comedies, and Charles Frohman, in securing his company and production has reached his zenith. The costuming is splendid but is free from any clash of color in any of the gowns, which would easily pass at the most exclusive social function. Donald Brian, of "The Merry Widow" fame heads the cast, and he covers himself with glory, and is ably supported by Daisy LeHay, Carroll McComas, F. Pope Stamper, Will West and a host of others.

BOLD HOLD-UP

Police Do Splendid Work in Landing Miscreant—Girl very Plucky and has Identified Assailant.

Thursday evening about 9 o'clock a Miss Edith Beebe, an employe in the woolen mill, was passing the Dills residence in First street, a man stepped from behind a tree and grabbed her, covering her mouth with his hand to prevent outcry. A strenuous tussle followed in which the girl was victorious, although she lost two teeth in the effort, either bitnig into the man's hand or catching the teeth on some object in her struggle.

The girl screamed for help as soon as she could free herself and Irving Ellis, who was nearby, saw a man run up First street. He hastened after him and was able to identify him the next day as the miscreant.

The police department was at once notified of the assault and Officers Dyer, Bray and Pare were detailed on the case. They soon rounded up one Brancato in a shack and brought him to the jail. He is now in Oswego awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

LECTURE BY HON. S. B. MEAD

Given by Request of Many Who Have Heard Portions and Desire to Hear and to Have Friends Hear All of the Educational Talk on "The Origin of Life"—Organ Recital by Mrs. Thomas Hunter.

This Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian church our residents will have the privilege of hearing a very able lecture given by Hon. S. B. Mead on the subject, "The origin of life," a subject which Mr. Mead has given exhaustive study and upon which he is pre-eminently qualified to speak, owing to the deep interest he has taken and the research he has made for years in the subject. The lecture was given before the Chamber of Commerce in Oswego and it was paid most flattering attention by press and pulpit.

Several weeks ago Mr. Mead gave a brief, informal talk on the subject before the Current Events club and the members were so deeply interested and desirous of hearing all that Mr. Mead could tell them of his deductions, that they, too, asked for a completed paper in deference to these numerous requests arrangements were perfected for the lecture this evening at 8 o'clock.

At 7:45 o'clock Mrs. Thomas Hunter will give an organ recital in the church which will be enjoyed by all who can attend.

There will be no charge for admission and no collection taken. The lecture is for educational purposes only.

DISCARD THE STREET SWEEPER

The following petition signed by practically all business houses on Oneida, First and Cayuga streets, was presented the Board of Public Works on Monday evening:

"We, the undersigned, respectfully petition your honorable body, to have the brick pavement on First, Oneida and Cayuga streets kept clean during this season.

Without in any way casting any reflection upon any official, we believe, and we are in a position to know, that the present method of cleaning the brick pavement is inadequate and altogether unsatisfactory. When sprinkled the pavement is always dirty and the mud tracked into our places of business. When not sprinkled every car and passing vehicle raises a cloud of dust, annoying to pedestrians and damaging to merchandise. In our opinion the pavement should be flushed frequently and swept by hand every day, and that monstrosity of a horse sweeper, which throws the dirt on the sidewalks and show windows, be kept out of commission permanently as far as the brick pavement mentioned is concerned. We are aware that to keep these sections of streets properly cleaned will cost more than is now expended for that purpose, but it will be money well spent, and if this city is unable to furnish all of the money we believe that the balance can be raised in some manner.

The movement was brought about after three years of patience and long suffering on the part of every one residing or doing business on or near the streets in question.

RECIPIENT OF MAGNIFICENT HOME

to their interests throughout all the years, until now he is one of their most valued co-workers nd confidential men. The gift in its completed stage represents an outlay of over $11,000 and has been in course of construction for a year, being one of the most beautiful pieces of property in this section of the Sate.

The structure is on a high bank overlooking the Oswego river and stands on a large plot of ground which will be greatly beautified later by landscape gardening.

The house is of Colonial architecture with immense pillars and wide porches surrounding.

The interior is most elaborate, being of solid oak throughout. The main parlor, one of the twenty rooms, is finished with an oak beam ceiling and carved colonnades in the center.

On the eastern exposure, looking over the river, doubl plate glass doors open from the drawing room and dining parlor out onto the balcony. The second story also has a rear balcony and on top of the house is a cupalo. The culinary department is in the basement, as is the laundry, heating plant and a private vacuum cleaner, which has connection through the halls above.

It is so exceedingly rare in these days that a corporation gives evidence of appreciating its employers efforts that this incident is pleasing in the extreme.

NEW STATION AT MINETTO

Th D. L. & W. railroad will soon begin the construction of a new passenger station at Minetto. This building will be of brick, twenty by ninety feet and modern in all its appointments. It is to be located just North of the present freight house on the East side of the track. The present inadequate and unsightly frame structure is located on the West side of the track. It has long been an eyesore to the people of Minetto and the traveling public and its removal will be hailed with pleasure.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM FLORIDA

Dr. I. C. Curtis Writes on Many Subjects from the Land of Sunshine and Orange Blooms—Treats of Several Matters in Characteristic Style—Will Leave for Home in Fulton on May 2.

Your letter received some days since and I will try and reply so that it will go out on this next mail.

Save for myself, we are all in our usual health and I feel that I am getting along as well as could be expected, under the conditions.

Tennyson writes these lines in regard to Spring and we are seeing it verified by watching the antics of the feathered songsters that are mating and building their nests in every tree that seems to afford protection to them.

"In the Spring a liveller iris changes on the burnished dove; in the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

We see this work of Nature going on among the birds and squirrels and in the insect world the same plan is followed and the Spring seems to be Nature's time for the propagation of the different species that make up the animal kingdom.

Mocking birds, blue-jays and all of the wood-pecker family seem to select the haunts of men in selecting their nesting places and I presume it is from the fact that birds of prey are less liable to attack their young if near man's domicile, but be it as it may, these birds seem to be about half domesticated.

We are enjoying the bloom of the beautiful and grand magnolia trees, which now are in full bloom and when one sees a tree that is from thirty to fifty feet in height that has pure white blooms plentifully intermingled with the thick shiny leaves that have such a glossy appearance and are of such a size, while the blossom is as large as a dinner plate and so odorous that naturalists tell us that a grove of magnolias can be detected while in bloom, at thirty miles distant. At any rate, a single blosson in a house will fill the entire house with the heavy, sweet perfume, which has something of the order of the fruit of the lemon tree.

I wish that I might pick you a basket of roses that are just outside of the window where I am drumming on this typewriter, for nowhere have I seen roses in such profusion and so like hothouse flowers as we have, and for the setting out.

I have been having our second lot planted to Bermuda grass and the plan of procedure is quite different from the way it is done in the north and I will describe it to you.

As you are aware, it is not the easiest thing in the world to have a lawn in this sand and there are but a few of the grasses that will live, save a wild coarse grass that is more like a weed, but Bermuda grass seems to have become acclimated and is one of the kinds that are used, but in order to grow it, it must be set out as one would strawberries, so I obtained a couple of wagon loads of the roots and had the ground plowed and a man following and dropping the roots in the furrow and the next furrow plowed would cover the roots and so it was done over a space of ground that is about 60 x 150 feet and in less than six weeks I will have a lawn that will partly, at least, cover the white sand which is so disfiguring to the landscape.

The orange growers in this section are up in arms against a pest called "the white fly" and which has just put in an appearance in this section, but has been known in several places in this state and is one of the greatest menaces to the industry that has been known since oranges were grown in this State.

The Agricultural colleges are doing all they can to instruct in the matter, but the growers are so slow in acting on the plans suggested by the colleges, while the fly is getting in his work—working seven days in the week and does not belong to the union for he puts in more than eight hours work every day.

The plan of fighting is so simple that it seems to me that all might follow it, for they have discovered that the larva of the fly is subject to a disease which is characterized by a red fungus attacking it and it is by spraying the trees with water which has had a few of the red fungus infected leaves in soak for a few hours and thus the inoculation goes on, for when once started in a grove it spreads as long as there are any larva for the fungus to live on and when the larva are gone, the fungus dies from starvation and the fight has to be taken up again, so by these means the pest can be kept in abeyance, but where one grove is sprayed and the next one to it is not, the trouble begins and it has started legislation, looking to compulsory spraying, with a fine and imprisonment for neglecting to spray, but this is meeting with great opposition as it might work great hardship to the fellow who had not the means to pay for spraying and whose family needed him more than the State needed his services in the "chain gang."

While speaking of the chain gang, I am constrained to ask what has been done in regard to the matter of the tapping of the water main on North First street and leaving an inch opening to run all winter, save when plugged by frost, for it seems to me that it would not take very much detective work to find the perpetrator of such work and if found it would be the chain gang for him.

I am wondering if the public at large are aware of the amount of water that can flow through an inch opening at we will say fifty pounds pressure to the inch (and this must be a low estimate of pressure at North First street). Thomas Box, on discharges, tells us that an inch opening at 50-lbs. pressure, will discharge 160 gallons per minute and as there are 1440 minutes in a day, there would escape then during the day, 230,400 gallons, which is at least one fourth as much as the entire city needs for its use for domestic purposes, industrial and municipal uses. This water if paid for at the rate that private consumers pay, viz. 25 cents per thousand gallons, would cost $57.50 for each day. Truly a matter which might well be looked into, from a business standpoint, and if the municipality thought best to be a party to the compounding of a felony, might add quite a little to the depleted treasury and incidentally deter some other would-be criminal.

The weather here is delightful and the mercury ranges from eighty to ninety in the middle of the day and about sixty at night, so that sleeping is a luxury.

All of the new vegetables and fruits are as plentiful as with us in Fulton in mid-summer, so if a person wishes to live out doors and become a vegetarian, this is the ideal place to live, but I have found that there is no place that is strictly Utopian.

BOYS AT THE STATE FAIR

The New York State Grange is cooperating with Commissioner Pearson of the department of Agriculture in a very important matter relating to farm boys. The Commissioner proposes to have 100 boys visit the state fair at Syracuse in order that they may learn by practical observation many things that farm boys should know and yet perhaps do not know. The plan is to select boys from 15 to 19 years of ago from each county in the state, boys who are living on farms to the number of not more than 100, who shall attend the state fair during the entire week. The boys pay their own expenses and if they comply with all the regulations then the expenses will be refunded. Their sleeping places and meals will be furnished free but each boy is to take the necessary bedding. A competent person will be in charge of the boys at all times. A lecture each day will be given to the entire company. The boys will attend in squads and they will assist in turn at the fair morning or afternoon and the balance of the time will be theirs. They must assist in the stock judging rings, in live stock parade, ticket taking, etc., After the boys have returned home any one may write an essay of not over 1,000 words and submit the same for prizes, the best four to receive a pair of calves each (all of the same breed), next best four to receive a pair of sheep each, next four to receive a pair of hogs each, the next best four to receive one bushel of seed corn each, the next best four to receive one half bushel of seed corn. Also prizes will be offered at the fair a year later for the best results boys can show from their prizes for 1911. A circular letter to the boys appointed will give all details, as to what they should bring to the fair, etc. This ideal is a good one and was heartily endorsed by the New York State Granges. The practical working out of the plan will be watched with considerable interest by those who believe in giving farm boys the benefit of such practical observations and educations.

RETAINING WALL GOES OUT

Immense Amount of Damage Done by High Water — Manufacturing Plants Crippled — Race Perfectly Dry for a Week.

Unless the mill on the raceway was equipped with an auxiliary plant, it has been idle for several days owing to the fact that not a drop of water has found its way into the race, owing to the bad break in the hydraulic canal wall which was caused by the tremendous pressure of the high water upon the masonry work.

Contractor Walter Bradley and a large force of men have been put at work on the wall but it is slow work and whenever they have made headway the pressure of the water has destroyed the work, until this week when railroad iron was used in conjunction with timbers, stone, etc., in the effort to close the immense hole in the wall and divert the water back into its original channel.

State officials have been in Fulton during several days and an effort is being made to ascertain the best method of proceedure to repair permanently the damage and also to decide as to whom the financial responsibility for the repair work must fall upon. The weakened head gates and the broken wall are all on State property so it is reasonable to conjecture that the State must pay.

FROM SYRACUSE TO TORONTO DIRECT

Syracuse is to have a new and direct rail-and-water route to Toronta, Canada, this summer.

This statement was made at the general office of the Beebe electric railroad system.

At the same time announcement was made of the organization and incorporation of the Buffalo, Lockport & Rochester Transit company and of the purchase of a large steel passenger steamer for operation between Olcott, on the shore of Lake Ontario and Toronto as a part of the new service.

No detailed schedule has been worked out, but it is understood that in the new Toronto service at least one fast limited train will be operated from Syracuse daily. This run will be known as the "Toronto Special" and will start westbound very early in the afternoon, delivering its passengers in Toronto in the early evening.

The eastbound special will return late in the evening, leaving Toronto late in the afternoon. As the new lake liner is to make two round trips daily between Olcott and Toronto it is possible that an early morning westbound "Toronto Special" may also be put on.

The lake liner acquired by the transit company is now lying at Sandusky, O., where she is being fitted for the new route. The ship is to be known as the Olcott. It was built in Toledo in 1901, is 165 feet long by 28 feet beam and has a capacity of 800 passengers. The Olcott has a rated speed of 15 miles an hour, and will easily make the run from dock to dock in three hours.

The Olcott has a steel hull and steel main deck and is thoroughly fireproof. Watertight compartments, making the ship practically unsinkable. It is equipped with fore and aft compound engines of 300 horsepower capacity and has two large marine type boilers. The boat draws nine feet of water.

LOCAL POST OFFICE STATISTICS

Foreign Money Orders Issued During Twelve Months Ending March 31, $20,896.22 — Domestic Orders Issued Same Period, $129,294.24—Over 20,000 Easter Cards Dispatched Last Week—Thousands of Cards and Packages Received.

It cannot fail to be of interest to the patrons of the local postoffice to learn something of the receipts and expenditures, especially in the Foreign and Domestic Money Order departments, during the fiscal year closing March 31.

In addition, it might be stated that the quantity and quality of mail is steadily increasing. During the week preceding Easter there were sold 20,000 one cent postage stamps to be placed on cards bearing seasonable greetings to friends and relatives in distant sections of our country. The incoming and outgoing mails during this period, too, were unusually heavy, taxing the office force to its utmost endurance. Throughout, the members of the force, under the personal direction of Assistant Postmaster K. Thomas Hargrave, did their duty, evincing a laudable ambition to excel in the conduct and enlargement of the postal service.

The foreign money order business statistics may surprise some. The local office during the past twelve months has issued 712, the monetary value of which was $20,896.22, while the fees were $221.47.

It might have been possible to have retained some of this money in Fulton had there been a postal savings bank, as a large proportion was evidently for savings purposes, and it is a hopeless task to try to induce such foreigners, made up principally of the nations of Italy and Austria, to entrust their savings to the care of the local banks.

A record of the number of Domestic Money Orders might also prove interesting, as the volume indicates the amount of business handled in this department, viz.: number of orders issued up to March 31, 14,944, amount, $123,294.24; fees, $973.81. The number of Domestic Orders paid during the same period was 5,540, amount, $53,425.92.

PUBLIC HEARING

Notice of the Proposed Macadamizing of Cayuga Street From the East Line of Third to the West Line of Fifth.

Notice is hereby given that it is the intention of the Board of Public Works of the City of Fulton to macadamize Cayuga street from the east line of Third street to the west line of Fifth street. The roadway to be thirty feet wide, of eight inch macadam with asphalt binder, and with either combination cement curb and gutter or natural stone curb and brick gutter, at an estimated expense to the abutting property owners, per front foot on each side of said section of street, of $2.00.

Notice is hereby further given that the Board of Public Works of the city of Fulton will meet at the office of the Board of Public Works, No. 206 Oneida street, on May 1st, 1911, at 8 o'clock p. m., to make final determination in respect to such proposed macadamizing at which time and place, all persons interested will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Dated, April 17, 1911.

By order of the Board of Public Works.

William MacNamara, City Clerk.

THE WEEK

The trade movement is disappointingly slow notwithstanding the fundamentally sound industrial and agricultural conditions. The earlier outlook of the year for increased activity has not been confirmed, and reports from the largest trades are of recession rather than of progress. Yet so great are the daily needs of this immense nation that the volume of daily transactions is larger than the tone of the market reports would indicate. Outside of New York this volume of trade, as measured by bank clearings, is only 1.5 per cent less than last year, while it is 8.6 per cent larger than in 1909. But as speculation is more depressed than for many years, the clearings in New York are 11.1 per cent under those of 1910 and 2.0 per cent less than in 1909. Railroad earnings in the first week of April increased 1.8 per cent over last year. Although the amount of unfilled orders on the books of the principal steel producers at the beginning of the month was slightly larger than the month preceding and was the greatest since August, yet the March gain fell short of expectations, and the latest reports from the iron and steel trade indicate a diminishing foreign and domestic demand both for pig iron and finished products. The dry goods markets are also quiet, with continued cotton mill curtailment and with the wool trade affected by talk of tariff changes. The shoe trade is somewhat improved. But in spite of the immediate slowing down of general business, the basic economic conditions are steadily improving. Best of all is the excellent outlook for thhe wheat crop. The April government report was higher than a year ago, both in condition and acreage, and indicated a very large crop. With the soil yielding its annual income of seven thousand million dollars, with the international money markets able to finance anynew requirements of legitimate business enterprise, with marked cheerfulness and confidence displayed abroad and with our export trade expanding the situation is far better than the current trade reports reveal.

Current demans shows a falling off both in pig iron and finished materials and unless new orders soon expand the rate of output must necessarily be reduced. Moreover, the foreign inquiry has subsided, while there has been no important buying by the railroads since the recent Harriman rail contract for 72,000 tons, and previous expectations regarding the prospective volume of business from this source are now being modified. In comparison with the two months immediately preceding, the statement of unfilled tonnage of the principal producer showed a marked decrease with a total of considerably less than 50,000 tons, yet this is explained by the heavy shipments made during March which, in the case of wire products, reached record-breaking proportions. Existing conditions in pig iron reflect distinct dullness, and even at the low prices named consumers do not appear disposed to purchase for extended deliveries. Some sales of southern iron have been noted below $11 for early shipment, and concessions have been granted on open-hearth billets and sheet bars, while a contract for plates at the West was closed at a recession of $2 per ton.

Primary textile markets rule quiet, with more firmness shown in cotton goods and yarns, but buyers are not satisfied as to the stability of the higher prices and have withdrawn from the market. The curtailment of operations in cotton mill centers is increasing and only 106,000 pieces of print cloths were sold during last week at Fall River, of which 40,000 were spots. Agitation of the tariffs affecting cottons and woolens is naturally causing hesitation and, coupled with the sub-normal counter demand throughout the country, the dulness is readily exaggerated. Credit conditions in woolens and worsteds are reported better than usual in the matter of collections and in accounts due. Export sales of cotton goods continue in excess of a year ago. The development of a radical style-trend is attracting considerdress goods is attracting considerable attention.

Trading in footwear has shown some improvement, due to the more seasonable weather during the past week, although conditions as yet are far from active. Jobbers have been conservative operators for some time past, but now that retailers show more disposition to place larger orders, manufacturers anticipate a larger volume of supplementary orders for seasonable lines. The demand from domestic tanners for hides continues conservative, but the market is well maintained, principally owing to limited receipts and supples. Scattering sales have been made of western packer take-off at former values, with branded varieties firm, but some weakness is noted in back salting native steers. Foreign dry hides, despite light stocks, are weak and declining, with an indifferent demand from large tanners at successive declines. Leather conditions are generally dull and unsadisfactory. There is an apparant shortage, however, of most kinds of leather, particularly bottom stock, although this is not now appreciated because of the present limited call.

Excellent prospects continue to prevail in winter wheat territory, although the first official report of the season did not quite fulfill the most sanguine expectations. Conditions have still further improved since the government returns were compiled, and the drawback of deficient moisture at the Northwest has apparently been removed. Notwithstanding the promising crop outlook, however, the persistent decline in prices was abruptly checked this week owing chiefly to covering operations by the extended short account. Some support was also derived from a more active cash demand, but all surplus nations are offering wheat very freely and the statistical position is distinctly a bearish influence.

McGinniss That Was

McGinniss is dead; but, begorry
He left a great record behind.
He died at the height av his glory
An' he was the glorious kind!
His inimies called him a grafter,
An' maybe he was, but I know
He was head av the legion av laughter
An' I'm happy to think av him so.

He was brimmin' wid blarney an' banter,
An' buzzin' wid humor an' fun.
He rollicked through life at a canter
Whin it wasn't a race or a run!
To women—the best or the worst one—
His voice was a tinder caress,
He'd spend his last cint like the first one
Wid a manner no words cud express.

He was fond av good dinners and suppers,
An' fond av good liquor as well.
An' though he was oft on his uppers
Be hivens, you niver cud tell!
For his smile was a warm one an' winnin',
His manner was gracious an' bland
In virtuous ways or in sinning
Oho, but McGinniss was grand!

McGinniss is dead an' departed,
But he, was a Man to the 'ind;
Big-handed, big-voiced, an' big-hearted
A frind that was always a frind!
From New Year's clear through to December
He wint the whole route, good or bad.
Ochone, we'll be proud to remember
An' sure to be missin' the lad.

AVERTS AWFUL TRAGEDY

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Long and fruitless has been Mr. Bryan's search for "available democratic candidates," and he may have to meet himself coming back on that same road.

DEMOCRATS PLAN "RIPPER" LAWS

Trying to Grab Control of Jobs In State Department.

AFTER THREE JUDGESHIPS.

Tammany Attempts Legislation to Oust Long Tried Republicans and Grab Their Places For Henchmen. Leaders Also Covet Jury Selection and Fair, Forest and Good Roads Berths.

Albany, April 18. — "Ripper" is a term that has come to be viewed with a feeling akin to horror by those interested in elevating standards of municipal and state government. Incorporated in our language as it was by reason of methods repugnant to decency, employed by low and vicious criminals, it has come to have a sinister significance when used in connection with legislation.

"Ripper legislation" as now commonly understood is that sort which is jammed ruthlessly through a legislative body by a majority whose only excuse or reason is that "might makes right." Usually the sole purpose of "ripper" bills is to change absolutely, without consent of those immediately affected, existing conditions in a given locality or to grab control of some state department for the sole purpose of getting rid of competent and efficient officials, whose only offense is that they are not affiliated with the political party which happens to be in control temporarily. Another controlling motive is to make place for henchmen of the party in power without waiting for expiration of the terms of those in office. Never is high minded motive or superior order of statesmanship conserved by "ripper" bills. There is never this poor sort of excuse behind them. The controlling motive invariably is partisanship of the cheapest sort.

As if to accentuate the incompetency and cheap partisanship that have so far characterized the conduct of the Democratic state administration now in control at the state capital, the Democratic leaders have mapped out a program of "ripper" legislation unheard of before, whose sole object is to undo the splendid record of achievement which the Republican party has put to its credit during the last sixteen years and to grab control of all the jobs in the state departments, the incumbents of which either have not completed their terms or are protected by the civil service laws.

Court of Claims "Ripper" Bill.

First on the list is the court of claims "ripper" bill. This is fathered by Senator Loomis, one of the much applauded insurgents. Its object is to grab for Tammany Hall the three judgeships, the clerkships and the other minor jobs around the court of claims, a tribunal of record and protected by the state constitution. But as a late lamented Democratic statesman once said, "What is the constitution between friends?" The legal advisers of the Democracy have told the leaders that they may as well disregard any constitutional obstacles and pass the "ripper" legislation. If the courts do decide it unconstitutional, well and good. If not, then the great Democratic principle, "might makes right," will have been vindicated.

As a natural corollary to the splendid code of election laws put upon the statute books a decade ago, there have been established bureaus of elections in the larger counties of the state to administer the election laws to supervise the elections. In order to perpetuate their power in the state, the Tammany leaders plan to grab these up state election boards. They already have control in Greater New York through p Tammany superintendent of elections appointed by Governor Dix the first week he took office.

"Ripper" election bills are proposed for Erie and other counties which are expected to accomplish the control of elections sought by Mr. Murphy and the Tammany leaders.

As a natural accompaniment to the "ripper" election bills the Democracy wants to grab control of the selection of jurors in the state courts. "Ripper" jury bills have been introduced to oust the present commissioners of jurors wherever the appointing power cannot be lodged in Democratic hands and go back to the old method of permitting supervisors to select the jurors. Wherever there is a Democratic official in any county that official is given power to name a new jury commissioner. Of course there is no intention to reform the jury system. All there is to it is to place it in partisan hands, whether the people so want it or not.

"Ripper" State Fair Legislation.

For years New York state has been building up a state fair at Syracuse which has achieved a national reputation as an exposition of agricultural, horticultural and floricultural development. The state has made large investments there of a permanent character and owns a plant worth several millions of dollars. The conduct, supervision and development of the fair are vested in a commission appointed by the governor, including the lieutenant governor and commissioner of agriculture, along with five citizens. Governor Hughes last year named the present citizen commissioners. The Democratic lieutenant governor is now the presiding officer, and in a few weeks there will be a Democratic commissioner of agriculture. In due course of time, by the expiration of terms of citizen commissioners, the Democrats would come into control of the state fair commission and as a consequence of the fair as well. But that does not satisfy the greed of the place hunting Democratic henchmen. So a bill is to be put in, according to Governor Dix himself, to legislate out of office right away all the citizen commissioners and permit the governor to name new commissioners. These will have to be confirmed by Mr. Murphy's senate; hence the Tammany leader will make the selections. This is state fair "ripper" legislation with a vengence!

To Grab Forests and Streams.

This is not all. In the last sixteen years the state has acquired the forest preserve in the Adirondacks and Catskills and is to build up a great state park along the Hudson. It has a state reservation at Niagara Falls, Letchworth park, on the upper Genesee, and other property. Modern methods of forestry are being introduced. The fish and game are now protected by a splendid code of laws. For the last ten years the state has been confronted with the problem of how to protect its citizens from the danger of recurring floods and droughts, due to the lack of control of its watersheds and rivers and streams. To devise ways and means to secure a proper control of these watersheds, rivers and streams a state water supply commission was created, one of whose prominent members is Robert H. Fuller, formerly secretary to Governor Hughes and concededly one of the best posted and highest minded men who ever entered the state service. Much time, labor and thought have been given by the commission to this great problem, and it is approaching a solution which will be of benefit to the citizens and the state at large.

Just at a time when these projects are reaching a head the Tammany men have waked up to the fact that there are a few more places which they can grab, so another "ripper" bill is to be put in which will upset all preconceived plans of procedure in forestry, fish and game protection and in flood prevention and also give the Democrats more places.

Under the high sounding title of "commission of conservation" a new state department is to be created to supersede and succeed to the powers of the present forest, fish and game commission and the state water supply commission. One single commissioner is to wield all this vast power, and, although he may be satisfactory to the powers that be, the latter are taking no chances. Under the commissioner of conservation are to be ten bureau chiefs, each with large powers. As an advisory board to select these and other employees are to be the Tammany attorney general, the Tammany state engineer, the Tammany state commissioner of health, who will be named and in office by the time the bill goes into effect, and the state superintendent of public works. This very fact goes far to prove that partisan advantage, not public benefit, is the inspiring motive back of this "ripper" legislation.

Good Roads "Ripper" Legislation.

It may be well to recall the good roads "ripper" bill. Just as the state highway commission, created by a Republican legislature and appointed by Governor Charles Evans Hughes, has worked out a feasible method and comprehensive plan for a great system of state roads, along come the Tammany place grabbers with a good roads "ripper" bill to oust at once and summarily the present highway commissioners and in their place to put the Tammany state engineer and a Tammany-superintendent of highways who will be nominated by Mr. Murphy, else Mr. Murphy's senate never will confirm him.

There is no hint of constructive statesmanship in this. In reality its purpose is destructive. One of the men most active in furthering the good roads "ripper" bill said the other day that the old fashioned dirt roads were preferable and better than the latter day improved highways.

When the people, restive for a change, last fall voted to let the Democracy have a turn at the governmental wheel they took stock in the Democratic promise that Charles F. Murphy would not be the state leader. They know now that they have been fooled. But they might forgive even that were Mr. Murphy a resourceful and shrewd leader. But it is apparent to even a blind man that the quality of Tammany leadership is cheap and blindly partisan. The people had a right to expect and do expect that as the terms of Republican officeholders expire their successors shall be Democrats, but they did not expect and do not view with complacency a legislature dawdling away the people's time and money in cheap partisan legislation and patronage grabs.

Well?

"You must not rock the baby at all," says the grave physician.

"But I think an old fashioned cradle is so cunning, and, besides, the gentle motion gets the baby to go to sleep without crying for an hour," says the young mother.

"Yes, but that rocking motion is very injurious upon the child's brain. The constant swaying really damages its mind."

"Doctor?"

"Yes, madam."

"When you were a little baby they still used cradles, didn't they?"

"Certainly. That was before science had determined so many of the"—

ENDORSE TUBERCULOSIS DAY

Champ Clark, Dr. Cadman, Bishop Scarborough and others approve of the Movement

Statements of opinion approving Tuberculosis Day, which will be observed on or about April 30th, from prominent clerical, medical and lay authorities were issued today in the form of a bulletin by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Among those who have endorsed the movement are His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons and several Roman Catholic bishops, many prominent bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, several denominational and interdenominational societies, Doctors S. Adolphus Knopf, and Lawrence F. Flick, Hon. Champ Clark, many prominent clergyman and others.

Champ Clark in a lettre to the National Association, says: "I am in deep sympathy with the movement which your Association is doing so much to forward. We cannot learn too much about the dread scourge, for we cannot intelligently fight that which we do not thoroughly understand. Knowledge is power."

Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman of Brooklyn, says: "I sincerely trust that your war on tuberculosis will prosper. It is a real war and should have the support of every right minded citizen and of all our churches of every kind. We remember with great pleasure and equal profit the tuberculosis day of 1910."

The Right Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey of the Protestant Episcopal church, commends the movement and speaks of the literature prepared for use of clergymen in these words: "I am greatly interested in the effort to check the spread of tuberculosis by using "the ounce of prevention" in time. Your circular of information is so admirable that I want every clergyman in the diocese of New Jersey to receive one."

The Right Rev. W. H. Moreland, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Sacramento, writes: "I pledge my hearty support and that of the clergy of this diocese to the movement for the prevention of tuberculosis."

Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf of New York, the well known authority on tuberculosis, in a statement issued for the occasion says: "I venture to say that not in a few instances, as a result of tuberculosis sermons having been preached by pastors, priests rabbis, or even only physicians, much good has resulted, not only because of the education of congregations in the preventive measures, but because of the interest aroused for the consumptive poor. I know that many an unfortunate sufferer is indebted for the amelioration of his condition or for his cure to a sermon preached on tuberculosis."

Dr. Lawrence F. Flick of Philadelphia, the widely known Philadelphia expert on tuberculosis, says: "The work of stamping out tuberculosis is in such perfect harmony with the spirit of religion that it is but natural to ask the ministers of religion to co-operate by giving the use of their church organizations for the educational part of the campaign. Not until all the people have gotten a clear conception of what tuberculosis means and of what is necessary for its extermination will it be possible to inaugurate all the measures for prevention which Science has demonstrated as practicable and feasible. Knowledge must come before action is possible and there is no agency on earth through which knowledge can be so quickly and so efficiently extended to all the people as through the churches."

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis will furnish free of charge material for preaching on tuberculosis to any clergyman applying at its office, 105 East 22nd Street, New York.

A LETTER FROM VIRGINIA

Captain O. J. Jennings Writes to the Free Lance of Fredericksburg, Va. — He Describes Interestingly the Country of His Adoption.

The moons may come and go, the sun be hid behind the clouds, but the beauties of the Rappahannock Valley are never hid; they are in evidence all the live long day. The daisies spring from the sod to make welcome and happy the wild flowers that linger by the road-side to hear some sweet voice exclaim, 'Oh! how beautiful." How grand and lovely is the scenery up and down the Rappahannock Valley.

On the silvery surface of the grand old river tradition whispers of scenes more turbulent than its smoothly gliding waters will reveal. Along its shores today may be seen the fisherman's hut and the white sails of the vessels laden with the needs of humanity. The changes of fifty years from terror and destruction to peace and kindly greeting is evidence that nobility is not a thing of the past. Its hospitality and good wishes are extended to the worthy stranger as well as the Virginian.

Opposite Port Royal, on the King George side of the river, nestles the historic little village of Port Conway, where President Madison was born in a small unpretentious house. Little seems to be known here about of his early life or education, except that he was the eldest of 11 children. He must have been a good student, as evidenced by his after life.

On the beautiful table-lands adjoining Port Conway may be seen one of the most beautiful mansions in Virginia, known as Belle Grove On the Northwest and adjoining Belle Grove is the farm of Mr. Allen Smith, containing seven hundred acres. Mr. Smith is a gentleman who not only welcomes, but entertains delightfully. Adjoining or near Belle Grove is Cleve Manor, the home of the Lewises. They are hospitable, gentle, worthy people. Adjoing Port Conway are the lands, about 1,600 acres, conveyed by grant from the English crown in 1635 to Peter Turner. These lands, together with Belle Grove farm, are now one immense alfalfa field, owned by Capt. Jock, of California. Still further down is Wood Lawn, the home of Vivian Turner, who dispenses hospitality as in times remote.

Crossing the river to Tobacco Bay on the south you are confronted with a view of Liberty Hill and some of the very first English grant lands. Coming up the river from Tobacco Bay on the southwest banks soon comes to view historic Camden, to my mind the most delightful home in Virginia. Its architecture is Italian. Its broad halls and spacious verandas carry one back in thought to knighthood days in Scotland, and the recital of the dangers and trials underwent by Mrs. Pratt in defending Camden during the Civil war places her in the list of noble, heroic women. May she live long to enjoy the well-earned pleasure and comfort of her palatial home.

Coming on up the river you have a good view of Bishop Funston's farm and Mr. Wm. Pratt's fertile fields. Of the town residences first to attract notice is the beautiful home of Mrs. Marshall, high up from the river, and further up the stream is the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton and their lovely children. Further up brings to view the belongings of Dr. C. U. Gravatt, where he is storing up fertility to show the boys something a little later on. Next we come to Hazelwood, the 300 acre farm of Mr. A. F. Turner. Augustus is not wearing a troubled look, but he's got something in his mind. I'm only guessing, but I think he's aiming to blaze the way for the first premium on corn, but there will be another Richmond in the field—that patriot and philanthropist, J. Taylor Thornton, is irrepressible on corn, and I'm predicting a more formidable competitor in Richard Pratt than has before entered the lists.

Many items of interest deserve mention, but space forbids. I can only say coming events are casting their shadows.

DO GHOSTS HAUNT SWAMPS?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and low lands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroy and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy, only. 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

There may always be room at the top but those who start out for "Pikes Peak or bust" usually bust.

SPENT MONEY LAVISHLY

The appraisal of the estate of the late Mrs. Sarah Evelyn Hill, of Pulaski, was filed in the Surrogate's offices this morning and is a document which tells the story of a recluse who lived for years in that village without her neighbors having knowledge that she owned property worth more than the assessed valuation of the entire village. Mrs. Hill lived in a small, unpretentious home in a side street and was a relative of the Pierepont Whites, and also of former Governor Horace White, of Syracuse. In her early life she was known by her intimates to have inherited considerable property, just how much was not known, but she lived the life of a recluse and was known to have one failing—that of the spendthrift.

For this reason her estate was put in stocks and bonds and other gilt-edge securities by relatives so that it was not easy to convert into cash and she was allowed only enough money to run her home and to pay for a few small comforts which she desired. She had carte blanche at all the stores in the village and the report of the appraisers shows that she made the most of her opportunity. At some grocery stores the bills for groceries for her home, where she had two servants, who were more her companions than anything else, mounted up to hundreds of dollars in a short time and one bill from a meat market was two hundred and fifty dollars for less than two months. These supplies, which she obtained on credit, it is shown, were sold around the village at a discount and she utilized the money to satisfy her spendthrift tastes.

The bills at the other stores in the village were of similar proportions and amounted to thousands of dollars when the estate came up for settlement. Her personal property at the time of her death in October last amounted to $127,954.67 and the real estate, which was the house where she lived, was appraised at $3,200. This is said to be about twice its actual value. Of this sum $2,000 has been declared exempt, and the administration of the estate and the debts contracted by Mrs. Hill amounted to $10,170.82, which left the net value of the estate as $118,983.85.

The property is left to her daughter, Mrs. Mary Pierepont Ethridge, of Salem, Mass., for use during lifetime and to be divided at her death among her children, who all live in Salem. In case the children of Mrs. Ethridge do not survive their mother, the estate will go to nephews and nieces, who also live in Massachusetts. Only two bequests were made in the will, one of $200 to M. L. Davenport, an aged man who worked about the Hill home for years and to Alice Thompson, who was left $100. She was also a servant in the Hill home for years.

INJUNCTION MADE PERMANENT

The findings and judgment in the case of Fred A. Gage vs. themayor and common council of the city of Fulton for a permanent injunction restraining the city from disposing of a franchise to the Oswego River Power Transmission company were filed inn the county clerk's office today. The injunction was made permanent by order of Justice W. W. Clark. The costs amount to $173.91.— Oswego Times, April 10th.

RAILROAD WANTS LOTS CONDEMNED

Willis S. Nelson Does Not Care to Sell Property to O. & W.

The action of the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad vs. Willis S. Nelson to condemn certain property in Fulton desired by the company for the extension of its railroad freight yards, a new freight depot and other improvements in that city was submitted to County Judge Rowe by P. W. Cullinan and Giles S. Piper, the attorneys for the respective parties.

The company claims that the property which is located in Division street, two blocks South of Broadway, where the present station is situated, is necessary to the carrying out of its plans. The defendant, however, claims that the company has several sites where the proposed new tracks and building could be stationed. Mr. Nelson does not desire to sell the property, having declined an offer of $12,000 for the property.

It is also claimed that the proposed changes are objected to because of the proximity of the new Fulton Hospital. The railroad company contends that the tracks will be two blocks distant from the hospital and that the institution will no be disturbed. This is untrue and the sale should not be compelled.

CATHOLIC MISSION CHAPEL

Work Started on Building in Oswego Town

Work of building the new Catholic chapel in Oswego Town, which is to be under the charge of Rev. Joseph Hopkins, pastor of St. Mary's church, Oswego, has started and it is expected that in two weeks the corner stone of the new building will be laid. Special exercises will mark the laying of the corner stone.

The new chapel will be completed and mass will be celebrated there in six weeks if plans which have been arranged do not miscarry. It is planned to celebrate mass in the chapel every Sunday, which will be a great convenience to farmers as well as persons living in Sterling, Oswego Town and Hannibal. The date of laying the corner stone has not yet been decided upon nor has the program which will be carried out on this occasion.

EXEMPTED FROM TRANSFER TAX

An interesting case involving the question of the exemption of property transferred in a pre-nuptial agreement from the provisions of the transfer tax law has been determined by Surrogate C. I. Miller in exempting the estate of Dan S. Shattuck of Fulton from such tax.

According to the papers filed in the case by Daniel A. Pirece of Syracuse, attorney for the administrator, Verner A. Shattuck, a son of the deceased Mr. Shattuck (the decedent) made an agreement with Miss Adelia Warner, who afterward became his second wife that she should receive $3,000 after his death. Mr. Pierce claimed that this amount shold be deducted from the estate which amounted to $12,000 in value. The deduction of the $3,000 would leave the total value $9,000 or less than the $10,000 limit prescribed by law.

It is claimed that the $3,000 has already been paid to Mrs. Shattuck as per the agreement.

PULASKI COMPANY IN TROUBLE

Utica, Apr. 13.—Rochester and Syracuse creditors today filed a petition in bankruptcy against the Lyon View Company, of Pulaski, on the ground that the Company is insolvent. Joseph M. Mead, of Syracuse, was appointed receiver and directed to continue the business at not less than seventy-five per cent appraised value of the stock.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that you hardly realize that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1911.

It is rumored that some adventurous women are going to insurge against Dame Fashion, and it is said that Dame Fashion has been discovered to be a man—a manufacturer, and that it is to his interest to change fashions three or four times a year in order to make the beautiful things that women wear obsolete, so that they will purchase more and more of his fabrics. This is news that everybody knew. There is no doubt whatever but that the sex could array themselves as beautifully and distractingly as they do on one-fourth the present expenditure if it were not for the interest of manufacturers, modistes and milliners in rapid Protean changes for the promotion of their business. The reason why men dress at only a fraction of the outlay of women is because they resist the sartorial changes which tailors would like to impose and which they do to some extent effect. A man's dress suit, swallow tail or tuxedo, will last him from two to five years, and it is more or less the case with regard to his other clothes and hats. But the fashion journals and the weeklies and dailies, including the patent insides all over the country, flare with fashion plates, and everybody, has to follow them, and their is where the money goes.

It is probable that the Lorimer case will again be brought up in the senate and much more thoroughly investigated than during the last session. Startling revelations have been brought out by a committee of the Illinois state senate. The editor of the Record-Herald in Chicago has told of receiving intelligence that a hundred thousand dollar fund was used to elect Lorimer, and while he refused to reveal his informant, the informant has revealed himself with names and dates making very strong evidence.

That the Democrats of the new Congress consider the extra session a happy opportunity to make political pabulum for the presidential election next year is evident. Mr. Bryan is on hand and he is more conspicuous in the hotel lobbies and at the Capitol than any Democrat among them. Governor Harmon of Ohio is also in Washington. Speaker Clark, the new presidential aspirant, is making himself heard on subjects relevant and irrelevant, and bids fair to submerge himself in remarks and explanations.

The way harem skirts are attracting improvised street processions is a sure indication that they will soon be sufficiently numerous to divide the mobs of men into their component units.

Colonel Roosevelt's home has gone Democratic during his absence in the far West, but the Colonel is a Cosmopolitan and his home coming will be none the less hospitable.

A town by the name of Hunnowell has elected a lady mayor. Well, considering its name, how could it help itself?

Argentina may after all pay dear in flare backs for the secrets she has obtained about our navy.

LOWER BRIDGE WEAKENED

People may sneer at our water power once in a while during the low water period, but if they should see the old Oswego river in the Spring time they would be interested in the fury of the body and its great velocity and volume.

On Thursday Mayor Conners was forced to order the lower bridge closed to traffic until such a time as the eastern abutment of the bridge might be strengthened, the section of the supports having become so weakened by the assault of the tremendous body of water when it broke through the bank the day previous. The bridge was opened to heavy traffic on Friday after the most rigid inspection of every section had been made and the weakened section had been re-inforced.

RECEIVE MANY GUESTS

Hon. and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan and Daughter Give Pleasing "At Home" to Friends — Refreshments Served and Orchestra Furnishes Music

Friday evening, April 5, in the parlors of the Clark House, Hon and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan and daughter, Miss Louise, were at home to about two hundred and fifty of their friends taking this opportunity of saying the farewells before leaving for England, where they will reside until a better condition of health is restored to them.

The guests were cordially received and social intercourse was enjoyed from 8 until 10 o'clock. Webb's orchestra furnished delightful music during the reception hours. The dining room had been artistically decorated with cut flowers, and punch was served the guests from tables arranged around the room.

SUCCESSFUL SPRING OPENING

The formal opening of Spring and Summer dry goods, millinery, carpets, suits, etc., was held the week of April 3, at the O'Brien store, corner of First and Oneida streets. The appointments of the store, from the onyx and plate outside cabinets, the window valances and deep show windows, are truly metropolitan. The many lines carried within the store are in full keeping with the beautiful housing.

Store Decorator M. C. Knofler takes the keenest pride in the arranging of the store's stock and this Spring he gave free rein to taste and talent in his making ready for the formal opening. His window arrangment showed to excellent advantage the beautiful goods exhibited and within the store the same taste prevailed.

All that was newest and most desirable in the several lines had been culled for the store's patrons from the fashion centers, and never before had there been in Fulton so complete an exposition of the dressmakers, milliners and drapers art.

Mrs. W. L. Woodbury presided at the piano during the three opening days and pleased all who attended with her music.

Taken in its entirety the opening was a stupendous success and set a new pace for progressiveness in the store's history.

O. Henderson & Company

This popular store never advertises formal openings but they certainly do show up the goods right during practically the entire year. The buyer, Mr. H. A. Walldorf, gives each purchase his personal attention, to the end that all that is faddy for the young lady as well as all that is desirable for the elder one, is selected and on hand as soon as in the market.

It is frequently heard that "the O. Henderson & Co., store handles the novelities," and it is true. Just at the present time when the goods are most in demand, they are showing carpets, rugs, curtains, hangings, etc., all priced most attractively.

HAPPY EVENT CELEBRATED

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Havens of Hannibal

1861 1911

The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Frank Havens and Flora J. Cowles occurred on the fourteenth. The occasion was celebrated at their residence in Hannibal by a gathering of their relative and friends, who congratulated them and wished them many returns of the happy day, and gave them bright gold pieces, and other valuable presents as substantial tokens of their love and esteem. Letters and telegrams from friends who could not be present were read and a dainty luncheon was served.

Mrs. M. J. Cowles, and Attorney and Mrs. Arvin Rice of this city were among the guests present.

FIRE DESTROYS RICHLAND STATION

The New York Central passenger station in Richland burned to the ground Wednesday in forty minutes, despite the efforts of the company employes and the village volunteer fire department. A forty-mile an hour gale was blowing, and after the fire had secured its start the heat drove the fire fighters away from the building and there was nothing to do but watch it burn. It will prove a total loss. The station was one of the handsomest of the smaller structures along the line of the New York Central and was erected seven years ago at a cost of $14,000.

Although built of wood, measures were taken to prepare for a fire and it was only a combination of circumstances which caused its destruction. The station was not only used for passenger purposes, but was also the headquarters for Trainmaster Scott and eight dispatchers, where much of the dispatching of the Ontario division was done. Wright Brothers also operated for the railway a restaurant in the station. The fire commenced at 12:15, while at least a score of people were in the restaurant eating dinner and at that time the news was sent to division headquarters in Oswego. Fifteen minutes later the wires, both telegraph and telephone, were burned out, as were also the Western Union wires.

As far as the railroad was concerned the village was cut off from communication with the rest of the division. A gang of linemen were sent from Oswego to repair damages.

The fire is believed to have originated from a defective chimney leading from the kitchen of the restaurant and when first discovered was burning strong in the attic at a point where it was almost impossible to reach.

AMSTERDAM WINS FIRST SEAL PRIZE

State Charities Aid Association Sale of Christmas Seals Outside of New York City and Buffalo Secures $31,160 for Anti-tuberculosis Work — $9,500 Increase Over 1909

New York, April 19.—The State Charities Aid Association, agent for the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals in New York State outside of New York city and Buffalo, announced today the result of the sale and the winners of the three prizes in the school contest. Figures made public by the Association show that as a result of the sale $31,160 is made available for anti-tuberculosis work in this State outside of Greater New York and Buffalo. This is $9,500 more than the amount of the sale in the same territory last year.

The prizes in the school contest were awarded on the basis of the sale per capita of school enrollment. The first prize goes to Amsterdam with a total sale of 118,557 seals sold in Amsterdam amounted to 38.87 for each pupil. The prize is a fully equipped Richmond Stationary Vacuu Cleaning Plant for a grade or high school, donated by the McCrum-Howell Company, of New York city. A representative of that company is now arranging with the school authorities ofA msterdam for the installation of the plant.

Waverly, with a total sale of 35,372 seals, won the second prize. The sale in Waverly was 38.11 seals for every school child in the place. This prize is an equipment of "Hygiene" Drinking Fountains up to the number of four, donated by James B. Clow & Sons of New York and Chicago.

The village of Roslyn, L. I., won the third prize with a total sale of 16,265 seals. The sale in Roslyn was 33.26 seals for each pupil. The third prize is a full equipment for five grades in one school of Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick's "Hygiene" series of text books. This prize was donated by Messrs. Ginn & Company of New York and Boston.

In advertising the sale and securing agents, more than seven thousand letters were sent out and more than a million and a half pieces of literature, including hand bills, were distributed. There were 118 agents this year as compared with 72 of last year.

Fulton did not show up well in the total amount received from the sale of Red Cross stamps. In 1909 she sold $57.20; in 1910, but $3.63. Oswego sold in 1919, $117.34; in 1910, $94.88.

Central Square sold in 1910, $3.50.

These three are the only districts in Oswego County quoted as selling stamps.

MARRIED

The marriage of Mr. Leon DeLore and Miss Lillie Pickard was solemnized at the State Street Methodist parsonage on Wednesday evening, the Rev. F. A. Miller officiating.

Cards were received in Fulton last week announcing the marriage of Mr. Walter Jewett, son of Mrs. E. A. Bond of Albany, and for many years a resident of this city, and Miss Edna Roes of Brockport, N. Y., on April 12. Mr. Jewett had until three years ago, resided for fifteen years in Fulton where he has a host of friends who will extend congratulations. He has for three years held responsible positions on the barge canal work. After a bridal trip Mr. and Mrs. Jewett will make their home in Brockport.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Challes in Erie street when their daughter, Miss Ruby Challes, was united in marriage with Mr. William Ingamells. The home was decorated with green and white, and the Rev. F. A. Miller was the officiating clergyman. About seventy-five friends were bidden to the marriage. The bride wore white silk, with tulle veil and she carried a boquet of carnations and lillies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Fannie Clow of Watertown and the best man was Mr. Stanley Challes. After congratulations and a bridal collation, Mr. and Mrs. Ingamells left for a brief bridal trip. They will make their home in Fulton.

ENJOYABLE BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN

Mrs. E. D Loomis gave a very delightful surprise party to her son, Carlon J. Loomis, March 27, 1911. The guests assembled at noon, may out-of town guests being present. The house was prettily decorated with evergreens, carnations, sweet peas and easter lillies. Just before the elaborate course dinner with its enormous birthday cake was served the following introductory was given by Mrs. Marie Sanford and was the first knowledge the young man had that the party was for him:

March 27, 1891.

John! John Stork!: Where are you going this morning, that you can't take time to eat you breakfast?

Don't hinder me, Marier, I have got to be in Palermo at7 o'clock sharp. They have been looking for me on that Loomis corner all night and a good share of the day before, and purty much all the week. Somethin's got to be done. I'll be back by the time you have breakfast ready, so just hustle for I shall have an appetite.

Well, of all things, here you are back again with a look in your face that says, "It's a boy"

You're right, it is, and he's a bummer, just the cutest little roly poly with his fists doubled up and Earle Loomis is the proudest man; talk about my eatin' breakfast. I don't believe that man will stop running to tell the neighbors for a week. There is Guerd Trimble and John and Frank Jennings all anxious to hear, and goodness knows how many besides. Well I don't blame him; that youngun will be out milkin' the cows by the time he's 5-years old. He's his daddy's own. We'll see him harnessing and driving the horses by the time he's seven years old.

March 27, 1911.

Marier, do you remember twenty years ago this morning? Neither you nor I is quite so chirk as we was then you're considerable gray, and begin to feel your rumatiz, while 'm as bald as the American eagle, but thanks for a full nest of young storks, business will go on just the same. I'll take time this morning to eat my breakfast and then I'm off to that birthday party that Carlon James Loomis's mother is gettin' up for him, she has invited me and I'm going, and will speak right up in meeting and tell that boy just what I think of him, for Marier I have been looking after him all these twenty years and he hain't disappointed me. He's pure gold, reliable as the sun, as staid they used to call him Earle Loomis father, as he trudged along to school with his dinner pail, it was business with him even the carrying of a dinner pail, a little later he made an eight months old colt do the job while he proudly rode behind on a vehicle of his own construction with barrel staves for runners and a soap box for a seat!

These last three years he has been the man; his farming is first class, his horses sleek and fat, and his cattle a pleasure to behold. To such young men farming is not drudgery. Always an affectionate, dutiful and obedient son, today finds him carrying out the plans of an older and wiser head than his own, in a way that brings light out of darkness, comfort to the sick, the joy of gladness to the spirit of heaviness and a fervent "Thank God" for such a trustworthy child.

So Marier just help me on with my white vest and swaller tailed coat. I tell you this is just a festive occasion and makes me wish I had boys enough to go round so I could leave one like this in every home in the whole United States of America.

The young man responded very gracefully with a "thank you, for all the good things said, but it is rather embarrassing."

Many beautiful remembrances of the day were received and all agreed, ed that the young man was worthy of all the good things said by Father Stork and that his wife, "Marier" did well to help him with his "swaller tail coat." There was professional piano playing, songs and recitations. Certainly the day was a day to be remembered a whole year. On parting the young man gave each of his young friends a carnation as a token of his friendship.

TRI-COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Oswego, Oneida and Onondaga Firemen May Unite

The Executive Committee of the Oswego County Volunteer Firemen's Association adjourned Wednesday without coming to any decision in regard to the county convention. The president was instructed to communicate with Mayor Kessinger of Rome and the Onondaga County Association and ascertain what their intentions are regarding the formation of a Tri-County Association composed of Oswego, Onondaga and Oneida Counties.

In case the Tri-County plan does not go through the County Association will meet at Parish this coming summer.

THE ROAD TO BALTIMORE.

It Was Over Floating Bridges in the Old, Old Days.

The road to Baltimore is over the lowest of three floating bridges which have been thrown across the Schuylkill river in the neighborhood of Philadelphia. The view on passing this river, which is about 250 yards wide, is beautiful. The banks on each side are high and for many miles above afford the most delightful situations of villas. A very elegant one, laid out in English taste, is seen on passing the river just above the bridge. Adjoining to it are public gardens and a house of entertainment with several good rooms, to which the citizens of Philadelphia resort in great numbers during the summer seasons.

The floating bridges are formed of large trees, which are placed in the water transversely and are chained together. Beams are then laid lengthways upon these and the whole boarded over to render the way convenient for passengers. On each side there is a railing. When very heavy carriages go across these bridges they sink a few inches below the surface of the water, but the passage is by no means dangerous. They are kept in an even direction across the river by means of chains and anchors in different parts and are also strongly secured on both shores. Over that part of the river where the channel lies they are so contrived that a piece can be removed to allow vessels to pass through.—From "Travels Through the States of North America," by Isaac Weld, Jr., 1795.

A TARIFF COMEDY.

Spain Finally Won in the "Case of the Screw Propeller."

Every British captain calling at Spanish ports is familiar with the "case of the screw propeller." The story is told for the benefit of landsmen in Mr. G. H. B. Ward's "The Truth About Spain:" "The steel screw of a cargo steamer which traded with Bilbao and other northern ports was damaged beyond repair during a rough voyage. The vessel was beached pending the arrival of a new propeller from England.

"At last, when the steamer was about to sail, the captain was informed that he had to pay a duty for putting ashore a manufactured article—namely, the 'scrapped' or broken propeller. The captain protested and offered to drop it into the sea, but the officials were obdurate. They seized the ship and demanded payment. The captain declined to ease the tension by the customary bribe and complained to the British foreign office.

"The duty was returned, but the captain was warned to be very careful about contraband, and for several voyages nothing occurred. Several months later some slight inaccuracy in the ship's papers and the declaration of cargo gave the excisemen their chance, and the vessel was not allowed to leave until a heavy fine, corresponding to the original propeller duty, was paid."

Mount Etna.

Mount Etna is one of the great volcanoes of the earth. It is great in size, great in activity, great in beauty. In size it would cover the entire metropolitan district of New York and the surrounding counties. Its height is 11,000 feet above sea level. As to its power, one of these eruptions some centuries ago killed 80,000 people, which is probably more than Vesuvius has ever done in all its existence as a volcano, not excepting the great eruption of 79 A. D., which destroyed the cities of Herculaneum and Pompeii. As to its beauty, this is also very difficult to describe. It is teeming with life, animal and vegetable, and is snow covered one-half the year. The other half it is bare to its very summit.—Christian Herald.

The Gate to Tibet.

Just outside Tachienlu is the stone bridge which is called "the gate to Tibet." Tachienlu is a narrow little city which had to conform its shape to the contour of the mountains which shut it in. There is hardly a foot of level ground within the walls. It is the great emporium of trade between China and Tibet, where the Chinese exchange tea for musk and gold dust. Many red frocked lamas are to be seen about the city, most of whom live in large lamaseries outside the walls. On the flat roofs of the houses flutter innumerable prayer flags, giving to the winds the universal Tibetan hymn of praise.

Berlin's Big Restaurant.

Imagine a restaurant costing $10,000,000. The Rheingold, in Berlin, accommodates more than 4,000 persons at one time, giving employment to 1,600 persons, of whom eighty-five are cooks. At this place it is possible to get a good dinner for 30 cents and at any price from that up.—Chicago Post.

He Was Polite.

He—The great trouble with Gabbleigh is he talks too much. She—That's strange. When he's been with me he's scarcely said a word. He—Oh, he's too much of a gentleman to interrupt.—Boston Transcript.

A Sad Prospect.

"They say there's no fool like an old fool."

"That makes me shudder for the future. I've already been all the other kinds."—Kansas City Journal.

Men who are so afraid of doing foolish things that they lack the courage to attempt wise ones will never do much.

CANINE HUMOR.

More Marked in Mongrels, Than in Dogs With Pedigrees.

I generally find, writes a well known English scientist, that mongrel dogs when they happen to be sociable have a keen sense of humor. An aristocratic dog with a pedigree may have some inherited smartness, but has no originality. A common yellow dog with no ancestry to speak of, who has to gain his living by his wits, could give him cards and spades at his own tricks in two lessons.

Once I took into the house out of pity a mongrel yellow dog who insisted on installing himself at my doorstep and always came back, no matter how often he was chased away. I had at that time a pedigreed water spaniel, and I tried to teach him some tricks when I took him out along a quiet road at times. The yellow dog, who made friends with him, always came along and beat the water spaniel at his own tricks without training. Then he began to play tricks of his own on the spaniel. When he had a bone he looked out for his comrade, and when he saw him loping along he would lay the bone in his path and disappear. The spaniel always made for the bone, but the yellow dog, just as he was about to grab it, would dart from his hiding place and, seizing it, run off with it. This happened over and over again, but the high bred spaniel never tumbled to the joke.—New York World.

TEN KINDS OF MONEY.

But Not All of Uncle Sam's Assortment Is Legal Tender.

Uncle Sam officially has ten kinds of money—gold coins, standard silver dollars, subsidiary silver, gold certificates, silver certificates, treasury (1890) notes, United States (greenbacks) notes, national bank notes, nickel coins and bronze coins—says the Indianapolis News. While some of this paper currency is not legal tender, minor coins are legal tender in small amount. Legal tender is so called because in payment of a debt or obligation of any kind it can be forced on the creditor "in full of all demand."

Gold certificates, silver certificates and national bank notes, despite the enormous quantity in circulation, are not legal tender. So far as silver coin is concerned, only $10 worth of "halves," "quarters" and "dimes" are legal tender, and, as to nickel and copper coins, only 25 cents can be forced on the creditor. However, with the standard silver dollar there is no limit to the amount to be paid in liquidation of a claim. The creditor can refuse the silver certificate, but when it comes to the "dollar of the dads" the dollar must be received at its face value, even if a thousand weigh 58.92 pounds.

Jack Robinson.

A. Foxton Ferguson of Oxford university, speaking of the old time ballads, said that as most of the public executions took place in some park or market place, where everybody could be present, the onlookers oftentimes amused themselves by singing ballads giving the entire history of the victim, and this is the reason why so many of the old songs are concerned with the hangman and the gallows tree. Particularly interesting also was his description of the origin of the expression "quicker than you can say Jack Robinson," heard so often in both England and America. It came, he said, from an old ballad about a sailor named Jack Robinson, who returned to Portsmouth, England, to find his old sweetheart married to another. The poor sailor vowed that he would roam the seas forever, which he set out to do hardly before his friends realized what he was doing. They called after him, but he had gone.

Why Business Fell Off.

Two London business men were talking when a seedy individual came up and spoke to one of them. After he had gone the one to whom he had spoken said to his friend: "That's a brother of mine and about the most unfortunate fellow in the world. I have set him up in business three times. The last time I bought a pork shop business for him in a place called Barking. After a few weeks he wrote and said the business had all dropped off. Would I come up? I went, and the first thing that caught my eye was a ticket in the window inviting the public to 'Try Our Barking Sausages.'"

Making the Cormorants Work.

The cormorants are among the most interesting and useful birds in the world. They are employed in the fishing industry off the coast of Scotland to a large extent. They are easily trained to work for their owners, who place a brass ring round each of their throats so as to prevent the birds swallowing. They naturally feed upon fish and soon learn to deposit what they catch in their owners' boats. They display remarkable cleverness in time, and a good fisher is worth a good deal of money to a fisherman.

Lottery Chances.

M. Henri Poincare, the mathematician, told us a few years ago that if every one who buys a lottery ticket knew how little chance there was of any one winning a prize there could be no successful lottery. The chance of each was about equal to the danger of being killed in a railway accident.—London Truth.

The Greater Field.

"Father, I am not sure whether I shall be a specialist for the ears or the teeth."

"Choose the teeth, my boy. Every one has thirty-two of them, but only two ears."—London Tit-Bits.

Somtime liver, kidneys and bowels seem to go on a strike and refuse to work right. Then you need those pleasant little strike-breakers— Dr. King's New Life Pills—to give them natural aid and gently compel proper action. Excellent health soon follows. Try them. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

WILL VISIT ENGLAND

Having had much to do in our office for several months past, and not feeling at all well, we have decided to take a trip to our old home in England, and be present at the coronation festivities at Devizes. We feel all the more desirous of doing so, because we were at similar festivities when Queen Victoria was crowned. As a little boy we marched in procession through the streets of Devizes with hundreds and hundreds of other children, with bands of music and banners and flags; and we had a good hunk of the big ox that was roasted in the market-pace.

As the trip will be rather expensive, and as we have just given the Independent a new dress and recently purchased a new engine, we shall be much obliged if those who are in arrears for the Independent will settle for the same as soon as possible.

We purpose sailing May 3 on the Mauretania of the Cunard line.—Mexico Independent.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

Three Nights, Starting Thursday, April 20, Matinee Saturday

The Easter attraction at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, for three nights and popular Saturday matinee, beginning Thursday, April 20, will be the return to Syracuse of Klaw & Erlanger's massive production, "The Round Up." The theatrical annals of Syracuse do not record such a towering success as "The Round Up." It is the great American play of the hour. Every character and scene in the piece breathes the life of the great Southwest. The enthusiastic interest displayed by every audience is the most flattering endorsement this really great production can receive. The battle scene in the third act is a stupendous stage effect, the like of which has never been seen before. The appearance of twenty mounted Indians riding along a ledge of rock far above the stage level is a thrill indeed, but it is surpassed in the great incident at the end of the third act when "Slim Hoover, the sheriff, and a troop of cavalry-men are shown in an actual hand-to-hand fight with a band of Apache Indian marauders escaped from their reservation. There have been great thrills presented on the Syracuse stage in years past, but nothing that touches this in point of realism has ever been seen in any theatre in the world. In the last act a group of cowboys is shown riding bucking broncos. This, too, is a novelty never before seen in what is termed an indoor attraction. The magnitude of this production is such that it can only be played in a few cities in the largest theatres. Its performances here are the only opportunities those living within a reasonable journey to Syracuse will have of seeing this tremendous dramatic sensation. So great is the demand for seats from those living at a distance from Syracuse that a special bureau has been established for the expeditious handling of mail orders, which when sent with cash or money order and accompanied by addressed stamped envelope, receive immediate attention. There will be no advance in prices. Evenings: 25, 50, 75, $1.00 and $1.50. Popular Saturday matinees: 25, 50, 75, and $1.00.

The great big comedy hit of the present New York season is "The Country Boy," by Edgar Selwyn, which Henry B. Harris will present at the Empire theatre, Syracuse, for one week, beginning April 24th, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The company which will present the play there is a very strong one and contains many well known favorites. The name of Henry B. Harris alone is a guarantee that the production will be of the highest class possible. All of the costumes and scenery are new and the play is one which has never been presented in this city before.

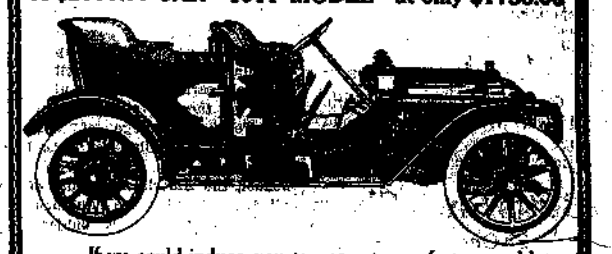
The story of "The Country Boy" is of a youth who comes to New York to win fame and fortune. His lack of success at home he attributes to the limitations of a small town. He has a charming home, a good mother and a sensible sweetheart, all of which he leaves behind. In New York he is soon caught up in the maelstrom of the busy world and loses sight of the stimulus for his ambition by attaching himself to a chorus girl. He wastes his time and money on her and at last comes to the end of his rope when he loses his position. Despair overtakes him and he is about to make away with himself when he is caught in the saving grip of a man with a healthy, optimistic view of life, who labors hard and succeeds in restoring the boy to his original self respect and enthusiasm. The youth returns to his home town to fight anew the great struggle of life. He succeeds and wins at last the girl whose love and faith have never abated in the least. The play teems with character studies of typical habitues of "The Great White Way", and as a contrast, we also see the healthy, sturdy Americans, particularly indigenous to the small country town. Seats on sale, Thursday, April 20.

All the good qualities of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is a wonderful remedy for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages, it allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obstinate old cases have yielded in a few weeks. All druggists, 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

BAR BANQUET A SUCCESS

The banquet arranged for Saturday evening, April 8, in the Clark House by the Bar of Fulton, in farewell to Hon. N. N. Stranahan, was a signal success, all present enjoying the event to its fullest extent. Attorney Claude E. Guile was the prime mover in the event and he was as successful as it is possible for man to be, in arranging for the pleasure and comfort of the guests, twenty-three attorneys being present from city and county Bar.

Attorney S. B. Mead presided as toastmaster and he filled that difficult office with wit and grace.



In responding to the various toasts, Mr. Stranahan assured his hearers that he did not propose to expatriate himself by removing to England; that he should always remain an American citizen, and hoped some day to be able to reside in this climate and take up the work he best loved—the practice of law. At the close of the banquet Mr. Stranahan personally bid each guest farewell.

Those present were: Hon. N. N. Stranahan, Attorneys S. B. Mead, Udelle Bartlette, C. N. Bulger, D. P. Morehouse, Judge Louise C. Rowe, E. J. Mizen, Francis D. Culkin, Freelon J. Davis, Herbert J. Fanning, W. S. Hillick, James R. Somers, Arvin Rice, Arvin Rice, Jr., Giles S. Piper, C. E. Guile, Albert T. Jennings, R. J. Pendergast, N. S. Bentley, H. R. Carrier, Francis E. Cullen, Irving G. YOU! "Mister" Business Man

Are you playing safe in the matter of insurance? Could you pay, dollar for dollar, all you owe in case of the destruction of your property by fire?

In the event of a conflagration sweeping your business out of existence, and with it perhaps the savings of a lifetime, are you protected by enough good, sound insurance to put you "on your feet again?"

These are serious questions and the issue is one you cannot avoid. You cannot afford to take chances. Property losses in this country are mounting steadily upward.

Keep fully insured and charge the item into the selling price of your goods, the same as rent, interest or taxes.

TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

State and County Officials Confer Regarding Site—Several were Desirable But One in Orwell Practically Decided Upon—Should be on Trolley or Railroad to be Acceptable to State.

Last week Dr. Carrington, the specialist from the State Department of Health, was in Oswego county conferring with supervisors and all interested, relative to the location for a tuberculosis hospital in Oswego county, the appropriation for the establishment of which was authorized at the last meeting of the Supervisors. Dr. Carrington inspected sites in all sections of the county but gave as his opinion that the vicinity of Oswego or Fulton would be the most desirable as such an institution must be near a trolley or steam line to meet the transportation problem.

Supervisor G. H. Fuller of this city, who is a member of the hospital committee of the Board, accompanied the party on their trip of inspection and tried to secure the institution forF ulton or immediate locality. Several available sites were inspected and figures secured. An effort will be made to have the matter closed up at once and the building made available for use during the present Summer.

A meeting of supervisors was held in Oswego on Tuesday afternoon at which Orwell was decided upon.

FULTON GIVES SKILLFUL MUSICIAN

Daughter of Captain O. J. Jennings Superior Musician — A Loveable Character of Beautiful Presence.

The Musical American of New York city of recent date says of a former well known Fulton resident, Miss Pauline Jennings:

Pauline Jennings, assisted by Randall Hargreaves, baritone, Marion Coursen, Florence Beckwith, and Edith Shear Sullivan, pianists, gave an interesting lecture-recital at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, on "Schumann's Personality and Place in Music," and his "Manfred," "Faus" and Eudes Symphoniques on March 2. The finest numbers were Romanza in F Sharp and a Romanza by Clara Schumann, aria from the F Sharp Minor Sonata, first movement of the A Minor Piano Concerto, which was played by the Misses Coursen and Beckwith, and the Manfred overture by Miss Jennings and Miss Sullivan.

Mr. Hargreaves sang "A Song of Slumber" and Blondel's "Lay," "Ueber allen Gipfeln ist Ruh" and the "Talisman" from "Faust." Miss Jennings, who is a thorough student of Robert Schumann and an artist of high musical attainments, is an interesting lecturer. She portrayed her subjects in a manner that apealed to the unsophisticated as well as the musical learned. She has given lectures at the University of Virginia, the Teachers' College of Columbia University, the Classical School of New York, the Merrill Van Laer school, the American Institute of Applied musicand before numerous other organizations on such subjects as the "Orchestra," "The Greater German Lieder," "Beethoven's Ninth Symphony," "Beethoven," "The Gothic Arch and the Fugue," "The Modern Oratorio," "Cesar Franck," and other subjects.

Miss Sullivan, who has assisted Miss Jennings at several of her recitals, is a talented pianist and has been highly commended for her work by Mr. Paderewski, who predicts for her a brilliant future. Mr. Hargreaves, who is a thorough artist, sings with fine interpretation and his enunciation is a constant delight.

Every family, and especally those who reside in the country, should be provided at all times with a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. There is no telling when it may be wanted in case of an accident or emergency. It is most excellent in all cases of rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by all druggists.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT WISHES ASSISTANCE

Librarian Mrs. Emens Requested to Make Public Following Matter—All Interested in State Education Department Should Read.

In view of the number of literary societies in Fulton using books from the State department of Education, and the individuals who also literally patronize the State library for educational purposes, the Times publishes the following circular letter just received by Librarian, Mrs. Emens, that all interested may govern themselves accordingly:

In view of the loss of records and mailing lists in the fire which destroyed the New York State Library, March 29, 1911, we are obliged to ask each of the libraries in the State to help us to remedy this deficiency by sending immediately to this office the items of information noted on accompanying blank.

If any library, previous to March 29th, has asked for, public library money and has not received it, the application has no doubt been destroyed and should be repeated at once. If any request has been made for Regents action, as for library charter, registry or approval of transfer, such request should also be repeated without delay, using Department blanks if possible, but where these are not at hand, requests may be drawn up in other language, taking care to state essential points in the inventory of the library, such as number of volumes, value of property, hours of opening, names of all trustees, etc., and securing the signatures of as many trustees as possible.

Any institution or person having a State traveling library is requested to report the fact to this Division without delay, stating number of volumes and inclosing without fail the official list of books which was sent with them. Please also give the name and address of the librarian. This will enable us o locate our libraries at once and reopen communication with them.

No books should be sent to Albany until recalled.

All registered study clubs are also asked to report.

Please extend this notice through the local press and in other ways so as to aid us in reaching all who are interested.

W. R. Eastman,
Chief of Division of Educational Extension.

CURRENT EVENTS CLUB

A meeting of the Current Events club was held on Monday evening, April 10, at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Fairgrieve, when a most interesting program was presented, Mr. H. L. Paddock and Attorney H. J. Wilson being the leaders.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Fairman of the west side were elected to membership in the club.

The following committee on nominations for officers for the coming season was selected; Attorney Arvin Rice, Mrs. H. B. Emens and Mrs. Charles Olmstead.

Mrs. Thomas Hunter was introduced by Mr. H. L. Paddock and delighted the club members with two piano selections.

Attorney H. J. Wilson introduced Dr. C. C. Teall, who has been an extensive traveller, and who gave in his characteristic manner an illustrated lecture on China, describing the sights and scenes during an eight weeks sojourn in the country.

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, April 24, at the home of Resident Engineer and Mrs. T.M. Ripley, when the annual election of officers will be held.

CLEAN-UP DAYS DESIGNATED

Th Board of Health last week designated April 21-22 as general clean-up days for Fulton and they request that all residents look well after the tidiness of back yards, cellars, out houses and ash piles prior to that date.

After the expiration of the dates selected an inspector should be appointed to canvass the city and see to it that all properties are placed in a sanitary condition. It is too bad when a tidy man has to have health and senses menaced by the untidy neighbor.

Those who won't clean-up should be made to do so.

PROGRESSIVES CARRY ELECTION

The progressive element in Mexico carried the election last week for an appropriation for a water system by a majority of 41. The fight was stubbornly contested and much excitement attended the discussions and the election.

It's good bye to the old well now.

Orders have been pouring in upon the Spanswick Manufacturing company until work enough is in the office to keep the manufactory working full time until the end of the season.

MANY CANDIDATES ANNOUNCED

Every Town in Oswego County has Several Candidates for School Supervisors—Candidates Must Pass Civil Service Examination— Take Office August 1.

Much interest is felt throughout Oswego county in the meeting of the supervisors and school commissioners of the county to divide the county into districts under the new school law.

Oswego county is to have five districts in place of three as at present. Each of the five districts is to have a commissioner and there is sure to be much rivalry for the positions. The commissioners are to be appointed by the school directors of the towns in each district some time in July and take office August 1.

In order to qualify for the commissionership candidates must pass a Civil Service examination and this will be held at the Normal School, Oswego, the latter part of the month. This examination requires a knowledge of agriculture as well as of educational matters. It is said that a number of women are candidates for appointment.

The school superintendent will receive a salary of $1,200 per year with an allowance of $300 for expenses. The salaries and expenses are taken care of by the State and the school institutes are dispensed with. This is a considerable saving in the country.

Each of the towns is anxious to have the superintendent and there are all sorts of combinations proposed.

WILL ORGANIZE COUNCIL

Wednesday evening Messrs. E. A. Putnam, F. W. Snyder, E. J. Penfield, W. E. Howard, H. S. Orchard, J. S. Castor, Howard Morin, A. W. Beadle and William Dunn were received into the Council of Royal and Select Masters of theY ork Rite Masonry in Syracuse and they now propose to organize a Council to be known as Fulton Council, of Royal and Select Masters. The nearest Council is in Syracuse and therefore fewR oyal Arch Masons of Fulton have taken the Council Degrees which are among the most beautiful and impressive known to masonry. If the petition asked is granted at least fifty Masons are ready to take the degree.

HARTNETT RECEIVES APPOINTMENT

Popular Young Contractor Wrests Appointment From Strong Contestants — Fulton is Favored Beyond Highest Hope After Matter Was Thought Settled Against Her.

The appointment of Mr. W. J. Hartnett, supervisor from the First and Sixth wards, contractor, business partner with Mayor J. H. Conners, to the superintendency of the Oswego canal was announced on Saturday and Mr. Hartnett was kept busy for several hours receiving congratulations and best wishes. He succeeds Mr. D. S. Burleigh, who has made an enviable record in the position he has held for twelve years.

The fight for the office has been a long and stubbornly contested one, considerable hard feeling having been engendered in its progress. John O'Brien of Phoenix, the veteran Democratic war horse, seemed to be in the lead for a while but some one misappropriated his petition; ex-county treasurer Fred Moore did a lot of hustling but to no avail; Capt. James Nacey and John Horan of Oswego hustled about considerably; death removed Mr. Horan and Mr. Nacey did not make much of a showing. Mr. Hartnett did not say much but he and his friends made all possible speed toward the coverted goal with the result that preferment came to the Fulton man.

Mr. Hartnett was born and has lived in Fulton all his life. He attended the local schools and later engaged in the grocery business on the west side, disposing of the business a few weeks ago He is ambitious and energetic and so familiar with contract work that he should make a first class superintendent. He will not have his troubles to seek, however, when he comes to make his appointments and to get into the real work of the situation. Already he has been besieged with applications for every position within his provnce to hand out, and still they come many deep.

The Times congratulates Mr. Hartnett upon his appointment and wishes him the best of success.

ARGUMENT ON APPEAL

An argument was had Monday morning before County Judge Louis C. Rowe on an appeal in the case of Dr. E. M. Anderson vs. theA merican Woolen company. Dr.A nderson secured a verdict for $175 in City Court, Fulton, and the defendants appeals. The action grows out of services said to have been performed by the defendant to a workman injured while employed in the construction of the Woolen company's building. Judge Rowe took the papers.

FULTON PASTORS RETURNED

Fulton is pleased that the Northern New York Conference just closed, returned both Rev.'s C. L. Peck and F. A. Miller to this city. Mr. Miller has been pastor of State street church for several years and he has done a splendid work, his efforts having been rewarded with signal success along every line. Mr. Peck has been pastor of the First church for a year nearly, and has already established himself in a most satisfactory position in the community.

RED MEN'S FAIR

The attendance and the attractions at the Red Men's Fair this week surpass all expectations. The hall is beautifully decorated, the attractions are varied, the door prizes worth while and the real Indians attract much attention.

Taken altogether, the Fair is the most brilliant one ever held on the west side. It will continue throughout the week.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Friday Night's Meeting Well Attended—Committees Reported and Resolution Sent State Superintendent of Public Works.

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held in the rooms on Friday evening, was well attended and considerable interest in several important subjects brought up for discussion was evidenced.

The committee from the Chamber delegated to investigate the subject of a tuberculosis hospital site, composed of Drs. E. J. Cusack andN . H. Haviland, Messrs. William Hunter and G. B. Fairman, reported the action taken by the Board of Supervisors at their last session. The Board voted both to table the matter and to select the Orwell site. The committee from the local Chamber favors the Reynolds site and it is generally believed that the State also favors this site on account of its availability and desirability.

The distressing condition at the raceway was taken up and the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That as a Chamber of Commerce we respectfully request the State Superintendent of Public Works to use speedy and energetic measures to relieve the distressing conditions on the hydraulic race on the east side of the lower dam at Fulton." This resolution was sent by night letter to the superintendent and the original resolution followed by mail the next morning.

Refreshments and a social hour followed the business session.

MRS. V. J. LOOMIS RUN OVER BY AUTO

Oneida, April 25.—Mrs. Victor J. Loomis of Sands street was run over by an auto near the corner of Main and Sands street yesterday afternoon, one broken rib, a cut ear, which required a stitch to close, and sundry bruises and abrasions being received by Mrs. Loomis.

Mrs. Loomis, who has been in poor health for some months past, was out for the first time yesterday and came down to the office of her physician. She was on her way home and alighted from the car at the Sands street corner, inadvertently stepping in front of a runabout owned by E. E. Barker and driven by his daughter, Miss Charlotte Barker. The car struck Mrs. Loomis and knocked her down, the wheels passing over her body.

Miss Barker was driving the car at a very low rate of speed, it is said. Mr. Loomis was communicated with this morning by The Herald's representative, and stated that Mrs. Loomis was doing very well and he rather expected her to be able to be up today. He stated that he did not think Miss Barker was to blame for the accident, which appears to have been unfortunately unavoidable. Later Mrs. Loomis stated that no one was at fault for the accident.—Herald

Mrs. Loomis is a sister of Miss Edna Moore and well known in this city.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday evening will be "Baraca night," when the Baraca class will attend services in a body, and the Baraca chorus and quartet will furnish special music. The pastor will preach a special sermon on the subject, "Follow the Leader".

W. C. T. U. HOME ASSURED

Ladies Have Labored Diligently and Efforts Have Been Crowned With Success—House Rented in Cayuga Street—Greatly Needed Soon Soon To Be Open to Homeless.

The members of the W. C. T. U., who have been working for many months in the hope that a Home for working and homeless girls might become a reality in Fulton through their efforts, have reached the first plane toward that end in that they have secured a very desirable house, No. 234 Cayuga street, for a specified time, and the work of repairing is even now in progress. The house has a large number of sleeping rooms and is ideal for the purpose intended. It is hoped and expected by the ladies that the home will be ready for occupancy on or before the fifteenth of the month. Mrs. Montgomery will become matron of the Home as soon as it is ready for occupancy and it is believed that this fact insures satisfactory conditions at the Home. The committee was indeed fortunate to secure her services.

The use of a telephone for a year has been given the Committee; a ton of coal came unsolicited on Monday from Mr. E. E. Hart as did also a bed room suite from an interested friend. In fact the outlook for a successful future for the home is bright.

Anything and everything needed in a home will be acceptable to the ladies engaged in arranging for the home. Some one will be in readiness each afternoon this week to receive any donations in the line of furniture, carpets, rugs, linen, dishes, silver, glassware, ironware, money, canned stuffs, etc., if it is possible for the doner to send the articles. If not, a telephone call to Mrs. R. B. Crockett, Mrs. Wesley McCully or other members of the committee will cause them to be sent for. A liberal response on the part of the public is expected as the cause is certainly most meritorious.

FOREIGN ELECTRIC COMPANY WINS CASE

Justice Clark has handed down a decision against the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company and in favor of the Oswego River Power Transmission company in its injunction secured restraining the foreign company from setting poles, stringing wires, etc., in the city.

Justice Clark held "that an injunction restraining an electric power company from maintaining its poles and wires in a city and transmitting power, on the ground that it is maintaining a nuisance, will not issue at the suit of another company having a franchise to operate in the city, where it does not appear that the defendant's poles or wires interfere with plaintiff's, or that any person or property is injured thereby, except that plaintiff might possibly suffer a loss of business through competition."

MASON'S ORGANIZE

Friday evening Herbert W. Greenland, G. P. C. of W. of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the State of New York, assisted by Lawrence Thompson, T. I. M., of Central City council No. 13., were in Fulton and assisted in the organizing of the lodge of Royal and Select Masters, when the following officers were appointed: E. A. Putnam, T. I. M.; F. W. Snyder, R. I. D. M.; E. J. Penfield, I. P. C. of W.; Howard E. Morin, treasurer; C. R. Dines, recorder; J. S. Castor, C. of G.; Dr. H. S. Orchard, C. of C.; W. E. Howard steward, and W. S. Dunn, sentinel.

The regular meetings of the new Council will be held on the fourth Fridays in each month and it is expected that the order will become very popular.

At the conclusion of the work a social session and supper were held at the Clark House.

All Royal Arch Masons are eligible to witness the working of the Super-Excellent degree in Syracuse early in May, but they must have their applications filed with the recorder of the Fulton council prior to April 28.

CLOSED ON SUNDAY

Authority Received From Postal Department to Curtail Work, Beginning May 7.

Authority has been received from the Postal Department to discontinue the practice of delivering mail through the carriers' windows on Sunday morning. This order will go into effect May 7. Mail will be delivered into boxes in the lobby as usual; letters may also be obtained through general delivery window between 9:15 and 10:15 a. m. After that hour the office will be closed. A mail will be received in the morning and depatched at night, and that will constitute a Sabbath day's work by the clerks.

The foregoing order will be a specific relief to the carriers, and it is hoped a reasonable deduction will be made in the clerk's time so that all employes may enjoy a substantial recree of rest on the Sabbath day.

On behalf of the employes, Postmaster Hughes expressed appreciation to the Department for the courtesy and consideration shown.

POSTAL DEFICIT WIPED OUT

Extending Profitable Lines Makes Up Shortage of $17,600,000.

Washington, April 24.—"A deficit in the operation of the Post Office Department of $17,600,000, inherited by the present administration of the Postal service, practically has been wiped out," said Postmaster General Hitchcock today. He had just received from the auditor for the Post Office Department a final report showing that the revenues for the first six months of the current fiscal year aggregated $118,573,217 and the expenditures $118,614,080.

"The wiping out in less than two years of the largest deficit in the history of the department," said Mr. Hitchcock, "was accomplished not by curtailing postal facilities, but by extending the service along profitable lines."

The Postmaster General believes that the current fiscal year will show a considerable surplus. The auditor's report says that since the opening of the administration 3,089 new Post Offices have been established, delivery by letter carriers provided in 142 additional cities and 2,124 new rural routes, aggregating 51,230 miles in length; authorized force of postal employes increased by 8,274 men, and annual expenditures for salaries increased by $11,708,071 in the two years.

AN EXACTING TASK

An Accurate Account to Be Kept During May In Various Divisions of Local Postoffice

Postmaster Hughes has been directed in handling; average number of have such records kept in the various divisions of the local office, from May 1-31, as will enable him to furnish the Postal officials with the following information: The number of pieces of mail handled; time consumed in handling; avreage number of pieces handled per minute; average number of handlings each piece received, with reference to the following classes and sub-classes of mail:

First class matter.

Second class matter—Newspaper at pound rate; magazines at pound rate; transient with stamps affixed (1 cent for 4 ounces); local delivery (1 or 2 cents a copy), free in county.

Third class matter—Circulars, etc.

Fourth class matter.

Franked matter (Congressional) —Letters, etc., Other Franked matter (Department) —Letters, etc.

Foreign matter—Letters.

Registered matter.

The information is to be furnished separately for incoming and outgoing mail, handled by clerk, and for mail collected, delivered and handled by carriers.

The Postmaster was further instructed to give the matter his most careful attention in order that the statistics furnished may be accurate.

MEAT LICENSE NOT INCREASED

Alderman Johnson, chairman of the Ordinance Committee, is authority for the statement that the rate for a meat dealers license in Fulton has not been raised. The only license raised has been the one most needed—the ice cream vendors license.

It is expected that the higher rate for the ice cream vendor will shut out some of the numerous foreigners who worked in Fulton last year and will make it possible to see that the product is handled in a more sanitary manner by those who remain.

MEN'S CLUB MINSTRELS

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 2 and 3, the Men's club will present at the Foster Theatre a minstrel performance which promises to surpass any previous local talent performance ever presented in this city. The minstrels have been well drilled under the able direction of City Engineer Hackett with D. Byron McCluskey of Oswego as musical director. Wm. H. Hornibrook is managing director and predicts two capacity audiences.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Interlocutor, George P. Clark; endmen, George W. Hackett, Charles S. Hall, Parker VanBuren, Clarence E. Hewitt, Eugene Austin, Harold Green.

Webb's full orchestra will provide the instrumental program with Miss Florence Deuell, pianist.

The Men's club have engaged the H. & H Harmony Qartette and soloists of Fort Ontario, N. Y., for the special attraction with the following members in the olio:

Spratt, VanBuren and Spratt, song and dance artists; Chris. Harvey, gymnast; Mat. Wills, monologue; Wood, Keeler & Co., Amazon drill.

The costumes are entirely new for Fulton, none of them having ever been seen before in the local show-[illegible] voices is like an immense organ, the jokes are laugh producers, the olio as good as professional, and the entire play one that will never be forgotten for its well drilled and clever production

Among the songs are the following: Heidelbug, Lawrence Ranger and chorus; Mighty Deep, Jay Castor and chorus; The Carrier Dove, Rawson Scott and chorus; Old Folks at Home, Royal Schafer and chorus; Jimnie Valentine, G. W. Hackett and chorus; The Rose Song, chorus.

The advance sale of tickets has been very heavy and the seat reservation will open with a rush on Friday morning at 9 o'clock at Watson's drug store.

WORK ABANDONED FOR PRESENT

Conference Culminates in Determination to Stop Work on Break in Wall—Barge Canal Work to be Commenced Soon.

Work at the head gates of the hydraulic canal which has been in progress since the break in the wall, caused by the extreme high water, was discontinued last Friday noon, after a conference of the State authorities with the local contractors and mill owners. State Superintendent of Public Works Treman, Assistant Superintendent D. W. Peck and J. W. Ripley of the Advisory board were in Fulton Thursday to look over the situation on the barge canal work and the break in the hydraulic canal wall. In view of the uncertainty of successfully shutting off the water at the head gates, and the large cost of putting in a crib dam some eighty feet in length at the break which would all have to be removed a little later, it was determined to at once commence work on the unfinished barge canal wall and connecting with the finished parts further north. It is thought will require but two months in time to complete. Then the water will be turned in the new hydraulic race to be used by all mill owners. This plan is said to be the satisfactory one, all things considered.

Prompt relief in all cases of throat and lung trouble if you use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pleasant to take, soothing and healing in effect. Sold by all druggists.

CANAL CONTRACT TRANSFERRED

H. P. Burgard of Buffalo Takes Over $3,000,000 Contract on Barge Canal Work—Announcement Made on Saturday—Well Known and Capable to Prosecute Work.

A most important transfer of barge canal contracts was made last week when the American Pipe and Construction company transferred its interests in the barge canal work to Henry, P. Burgard of Buffalo. Mr. Burgard arrived in Fulton last week to assume charge of the work and is taking over the plant and machinery already on the ground.

The negotiations for this transfer of interests have been going on for a considerable period of time but they have been kept quiet and the first knowledge, locally, of the change came when Mr. Burgard appeared inF ulton to take over the work. Mr. Burgard is one of the best known of the Buffalo Contractors and he has had large contracts all over the country.

The contract work which he now takes up is one of the most important ones on the barge canal, amounting to nearly $3,000,000. It includes the dredging [illegible] tween the cities ofO swego and Fulton, beside the construction of the necessary locks, etc. This company will build at least two large dams, one to replace the present Oswego high dam and the other to replace the Minetto dam.

The work on this contract is so varied that a plant of unusual size is required; in fact, it will practically require two plants to do the work of dredging and also the large amount of construction in connection with the dams and locks. Because of this, the contract price exceeded the original estimates by a large sum, but later the estimates were revised and the contract was finally let to the American Pipe & Construction company.

During the past winter the original contracting company has been busily engaged in assembling a plant in this vicinity and has already constructed and launched a mammoth dredge and several dump scows. Large storehouses for the material needed have been leased in Fulton and much of the material is already on hand. Work was begun on the 1st of April by a large force of men on the portion of the contract in the neighborhood of Battle Island. The old company will maintain a small office in Fulton for some little time until all of their interests have been closed.

According to all reports Mr. Burgard has come on with the intention of getting work started all along the line and it is expected that he will soon have a large force of his men on the ground and at work.

All work is being taken up in a business like manner and from all appearances it will be prosecuted vigorously and intelligently.

ALIMONY AND FEES

Justice Andrews in Syracuse Saturday appointed T. W. Dixon as referee to hear the divorce action of Andrew J. German, seventy-four years old, of Fulton, against his wife, Anna German. The parties formerly lived in Hannibal and Mr. German is now in the Soldiers' Home. Judge Andrews granted $50 counsel fees and alimony of $3 a week. Mrs. German now has a decree of separation from her husband.

Every family, and especially those who reside in the country, should be provided at all times with a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. There is no telling when it may be wanted in case of an accident or emergency. It is most excellent in all cases of rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by all druggists.

THE WEEK

Business continues to move slowly, its volume though large, being much below producing capacity and displaying a lack of interest and vigor. The accumulating deposits and reserves of the banks are among the results of the general trade recession, but they impart strength to the banks and will enable them readily to finance the forward movement of enterprise whenever it sets in. The crop situation is at this time is so encouraging as to afford a basis for increasing business confidence. Winter wheat conditions are especially satisfactory. Iron and steel production is declining both a pig and finished material. In dry goods, while there is an entire absence of any buoyancy, and curtailment of production continues, yet stocks in consumers' hands are low, which makes the situation stronger than appears on the surface. The backward spring weathers somewhat affects retail distribution. The shoe market shows some betterment in demand and an increase in confidence, but hides and leather are very slow. Reports from the leading trade centers give special emphasis to the retarding effect upon immediate business of the backward spring, a condition which is, of course, of temporary duration. Bank clearings outside New York, this week, are 6.3 per cent, under 1910 an 0.9 per cent better than in 1909; but in New York there was a falling off of 15.6 per cent and 23.8 per cent, respectively. Railroad earnings in two weeks of April increased 0.5 per cent. Exports continue to grow and imports to decrease, the record for New York during the latest week being $12,663,846 exports, a gain of $945,379 over 1910 and of $2,767,126 over 1909; and $15,528,253 imports, a decrease of $3,383,664 from 1910 and of $4,109,857 from 1909.

Dulness in pig iron has become more pronounced and production is on a reduced scale, with the leading interest having only about 70 per cent of its furnace capacity active. Greater quietness is also apparent in the finished material markets and some curtailment of mill operations is reported, although it is not believed that the volume of new business in April will fall much below the bookings in the preceding month.

In the dry goods markets there has been no special backward movement, and some merchants believe the bottom has been touched on price for cotton goods and other lines. Jobbers' sales are small, as a rule, but indicate a healthy condition of stocks from the sellers' viewpoint. There is some uncertainty as to future values, and most of the business now being done is for May and June delivery, but this is in part due to the unwillingness of millers to make long contracts at present prices. At the same time the volume of production is being generally curtailed and limited to orders, so that manufacturing centers are still giving evidence of depression. Fall River sold 120,000 pieces of print cloths, of which 50,000 were for spot delivery. A fair export trade in cotton goods was done last week. The weather has been against active retailing of seasonable sheer fabrics featured for the late spring and early summer trade. A distinct trend toward rough effects and novelties is noted in men's wear and dress goods.

Gradual improvement is noted in footwear. New England manufacturers are receiving a slightly larger volume of orders and a satisfactory fall and winter business is anticipated. All hide markets are very quiet, with domestic tanners not operating except for such small parcel lots as will suffice for immediate pressing wants. Under such conditions the feeling is naturally weaker, but quotations are nominally unchanged on all varieties of packer hides. Country hides are also a shade easier, with sales of buffs at 1-8 c. under the prices secured for similar hides a week ago, but owing to the shortage of stocks dealers are still as firm as ever in their views. The reported strength of European markets has no influence here, and the disparity between all domestic markets and the foreign situation is, if anything, greater than heretofore. Leather continues slow, but some believe conditions are a little better than heretofore.

Unless something unforseen occurs a very large yield of winter wheat seems assured and, as seeding conditions in the Northwest are about all that could be desired, prices in the speculative markets resumed their downward trend. The congested position of the May delivery at Chicago has resulted in further erratic fluctuations in that option.

OH, SAY, LADIES!

Note: Judge Fallon of Boston has ruled that if a married woman strikes punches, or otherwise assaults another person, the husband, if present during the assault, is legally responsible, and not the wife.

Gee whiz,
What woman's luck this is!
Now may the married women rise
And black their loving husband's eyes
And slug them all around the home,
From cellar stairs to attic dome,
And punch them in the slats until
It makes the helpless victims ill,
And they can't say a word because,
By this construction of the laws,
The husband, who is present, is Responsible and hence—Gee whiz!

And now the question is, What has Colonel Bryan against Woodrow Wilson that he should support him so vigorously.

LAWYERS ENDORSE BARTLETTE

Fifty-four Members of the Oswego County Bar Signed Statement.

We, the undersigned, members of the bar of Oswego County, recognizing his fitness and capabilities for the position, commend the candidacy of Udelle Bartlette as Oswego County's candidate for the office of Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Bartlette has been for years one of the leading practitioners and most active lawyers of our county. For seven years he was a most successful district attorney. His integrity and his eminent qualifications are well known to all and are beyond question. It is with pleasure and satisfaction that we approve and urge his selection for this important office.

DISPUTE OVER STATE TAX

A check for $1,583.47 as the inheritance tax on the estate of the late Sarah E. Hill of Pulaski was received from Miller and Fincke of Utica, the attorneys for the heirs. The amount of the inheritance tax as fixed by the Surrogate was $2,280.21 and the letter from the Utica lawyers tends to raise some very fine points of law.

Miller and Fincke claim that the wrong course was taken in fixing the tax and that it should have been assessed on each individual legacy. In this way they claim that Mrs. Mary E. Etheridge's life use of the property will only figure to value $71,997.76 as she is now 48 years of age. They figure that the value of legacies to the children of Mrs. Etheridge, W. H., H. P., and Sarah H. Etheridge only amount to $46,686.09. On this method of assessment they cut down the amount of the inheritance tax.

Because of the different interpretation of the State law in connection with the inheritance tax, the present case presents some very knotty legal questions and it is probable that there may be some little delay in the final settlement of the estate because of the disagreement over the amount of the tax.

The net estate amounts to $118,683.85.

CURIOUS PERUVIAN TREE

It Produces a Copious and Continuous Supply of Rain.

The rain tree of Peru grows very large, is rich in leaves and is called by the Indians tamaicaspi. It has the power of collecting the dampness of the atmosphere and condensing it into a continuous and copious supply of rain.

In the dry season, when the rivers are low and the heat great, the tree's power of condensing seems at the highest, and water falls in abundance from the leaves and oozes from the trunk. The water spreads around in veritable rivers, part of which filters into the soil and fertilizes it. These rivers are canalized so as to regulate the course of the water.

It is estimated that one of the Peruvian rain trees will on the average yield nine gallons of water per diem. In a field of an area of one kilometer square—that is, 3,250 feet each way—can be grown 10,000 trees separated from each other by twenty-five meters. This plantation produces daily 385,000 liters of water. If we allow for evaporation and infiltration we have 135,000 liters or 29,581 gallons of rain for distribution daily. The rain tree can be cultivated with very little trouble, for it seems indifferent as to the soil in which it grows. The tree increases rapidly and resists both extremes of climate.—Espana Moderna.

A BRAVE TOREADOR.

One of the Most Thrilling Incidents of the Bull Ring.

The famous Spanish toreador Reverte figured in one of the most thrilling incidents ever witnessed in the arena. It was at Bayonne. After disposing of two bulls Reverte had twice plunged his sword into a third of great strength and ferocity, and as the beast continued careering wildly the spectators began to hiss Reverte for bungling. Wounded to the very quick of his pride the Spaniard shouted, "The bull is slain!" and, throwing aside his sword, sank on one knee with folded arms in the middle of the ring. He was right, but he had not allowed for the margin of accident. The wounded beast charged full upon him, but the matador, splendid to the last, knelt motionless as a statue, while the spectators held their breath in horrified suspense. Reaching his victim, the bull literally bounded at him, and as he sprang he sank in death, with his last effort giving one fearful lunge of the head that drove a horn into the thigh of the kneeling man and laid bare the bone from the knee to the joint. Still Reverte never flinched, but remained kneeling, exultant in victory, but calmly contemptuous of applause, till he was carried away to heal him of his grievous wound.

Calling the Red Trick.

"Maybe I won't have to take medicine again, and even if I do have to take it maybe the doctor will prescribe an ambrosial mixture, but if I should be condemned for my sins to swallow vile doses I know how I'll take them," a city salesman volunteered. "A man who was doctoring himself in the drug store showed me the way.

"The druggist had mixed a particularly obnoxious dose. The man before taking it asked for cracked ice. The errand boy brought it, several spoonfuls nearly pulverized. The sick man held that in his mouth until it melted, after which the medicine seemed as mild as tea.

"'I always prepare my mouth that way for a disagreeable medicine,' the man said. 'The ice numbs the nerves, and the medicine slips down without leaving any taste, good or bad.'"—Exchange.

Origin of a Song.

The grumbling of a negro groom led to the composition of the immortal "Old Folks at Home." While waiting for a change of horses at a Kentucky hostelry the composer, Stephen Foster, author of so many beloved darky melodies, heard a melancholy negro murmur as he threw a set of harness to the ground: "I's sick an' tired o' dis life. I wisht I was back wif de ole folks at home."

"Where may that be, Sam?" asked Foster.

"Oh," answered the darky, "way down on de Suwannee river."

The result was the song as we have it today.

Counter Diplomacy.

"I think you will like this goods, madam," urged a salesman in a Euclid avenue shop. "It is just the thing for a stout, middle aged lady."

"Sir!" squealed the customer in a rage. The clerk saw his faux pas and recovered himself quickly.

"Pardon me," he smiled, "I mistook you for the young lady who was in here yesterday looking for something for her grandmother. Now that I look at you again, I see that this was an older person. Now, if you are buying for yourself, we have something over here that"—

DOES NOT GOV. DIX KNOW?

During the trial of Frederick Skene, formerly Democratic State Engineer and Surveyor, his counsel, Ex-DistrictA ttorney William T. Jerome of New York city, made the astounding admission that upwards of one million dollars, of the taxpayers money had been diverted into private channels during the administration of Mr. Skene. But Mr. Skene was not responsible, claimed Attorney Jerome. Tammany Hall had foisted upon him one Charles O'Neil as his confidential secretary, who was really in complete charge of affairs, who was to and did run the office, virtually admitting that the leader of Tammany was the real StateE ngineer and Surveyor and for that reason Skene was not responsible for the looting of the State Treasury. Strange to relate, both Skene and O'Neil escaped legal responsibility and punishment for the admitted crimes.

This startling history is most vividly recalled at the present moment when Governor Dix's recommendation to abolish thhe State Highway Commision is under consideration. For the Murtaugh bill abolishing the Commission contains these most significant provisions: "The Commission shall appoint a secretary who shall have the duties prescribed by the Commission." "The Superintendent of Highways—may remove the resident engineers, clerks, officers and employes of the Commission except the secretary." The Superintendent of Highways, "shall have the direction and control of the deputies, division engineers, officers, clerks and employes of the Commission, except the secretary of the commission."

The bill provides that the Commission to replace the present State Highway Commission shall be composed of the State Engineer and Surveyor, State Superintendent of Public Works and a Superintendent of Highways to be appointed by the Governor. A feeble attempt is made to convince the public that this Superintendent of Highways is to be the real head of the Commission, but how near the truth this statement lis may be determined, from these insidious provisions of the proposed law. Under these provisions it is as clear as the noonday sun that the intent is to permit the appointment of a secreary of the Charles O'Neil order. And, further, provision is made for keeping him in office whether or not he and his work are acceptable to the official who should be the real head of the Commission, the State Superintendent ofH ighways. Can Governor Dix be ignorant of the real purpose of these provisions of the Murtaugh bill?

Another palpable feature of the Murtaugh bill in the interest of Tammany Hall is that which provides that subject to the approval of the Commission, the Superintendent of Highways shall appoint the patrolmen and purchase materials for maintenance and repair of the state roads. Under this cunningly worded section, the home rule power to appoint a patrolman is wiped out and the purchase of supplies and materials is so vested that the state's money for highways shall be expended as Tammany Hall may dictate and for Tammany Hall's benefit, politically and financially. With this section enacted, the patrolmen the state over will be those selected by the leader of Tammany Hall.

It it remarkable that desperate efforts are necessary and are being made to exert pressure even upon Democratic members of the Legislature to force through this vicious measure?

FIVE SCHOOL DISTRICTS INSTEAD OF ONE

After several hours of conference and argument the town supervisors and the school commissioners' meeting in the supervisors' chamber as one body, Tuesday re-districted the county into five districts under the new school law. A committee was appointed to determine the division and reported two propositions. A third proposition was offered by Mr. Lockwood of Hannibal and the three were voted on, the vote standing: First proposition, 13; second, 7; and third 3.

The school districts of the county will hereafter be made up of the following towns:

First District — Sandy Creek, Orwell, Boyiston and Redfield.

Second District—Richland, Albion, Williamstown andP arish.

Third District—Amboy, Constantia, Hastings,W est Monroe and Schroeppel.

Fourth District—Mexico, New Haven, Palermo and Scriba.

Fifth District — Volney, Oswego, Hannibal and Granby.

The meeting was called to order with Supervisor Thompson of Redfield the only absentee. Commissioners Gardner, Richards and Sargent were present.

The session was called to order by CountyC lerk A. F.M cCarthy and W. M. Barker of New Haven was elected chairman and L. Carl Sargent of Sandy Creek secretary.

There are expected to be many candidates in the field for the superintendencies. S.R . Lockwood of Hannibal is an active candidate in his district and Commissoner Gardner in his. Mr. Sargent is assured of the appointment in the Sandy Creek district. It is expected that the State Department will have much to say about the appointments.

DO GHOSTS HAUNT SWAMPS?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and low lands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroy and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy, only, 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

SAND AND GRAVEL LEASES

Butler Brothers Get Two More Farms Along the River Road

A lease was filed in the County Clerk's office this morning by Butler Brothers, dealers in sand and gravel in Fulton, which conveys to them rights to excavate and ship sand and gravel from the farms of Avery Jones, near Tucker's Crossing, in the town of Volney, they to pay six cents a yard for sand and ten cents for gravel. Sand is expensive in this vicinity and costs a contractor from $1.50 to $2 a yard, with gravel high in proportion. The amount of concrete work to be done along the barge canal and in Oswego and this city has proved a boon to farmers who have sand and gravel on their farms suitable for the work, and those who have farms along the lake shore have, some of them, abandoned farming for the more profitable work of teaming gravel to contractor.

No matter how lazy you get, don't blame it on the hookworm.

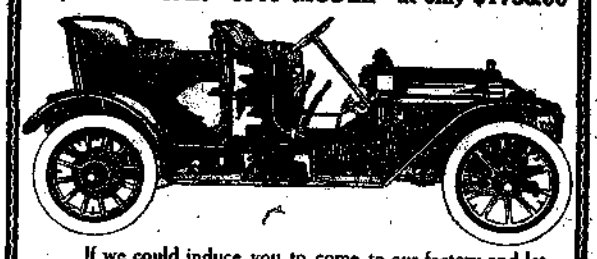
LOOKING FOR NELLIGAN



The police are looking for Jack Nelligan, of Fulton, in connection with the robbery of $40 from Marion Hughes, of 117 West First street, near the theatre. The two were together and the police say there was a dispute as to who should buy tickets for the theatre. Nelligan, they state, dipped into the woman's purse, extracted her roll, and walked away, going over the railroad bridge. He is believed to have left town.—Oswego Times.

GRANGE SCHOLARSHIPS

The State Grange has again awarded 12 scholarships in the Cornell Agricultural College, each valued at $50, to any member of the grange who attains the highest standing in the competitive examinations which will be held on the third Saturday in June in each county.

Syracuse University also gives three full scholarships for a four years' course to any young man or woman of the grange who desires an agricultural education, and who passes with the best standing, the prescribed examinations. Last year we believe that some of the Cornell scholarships were not taken. This is unfortunate. Young men and women of the farms should appreciate them and avail themselves of the opportunities for an education thus offered free to them.

If we are to believe a man claims that he knows, there is neither a millionaire nor a pauper in North Dakota. That means a veritable paradise.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1911.

This is the fourth week of Congress and the Democrats are congratulating themselves on what they have accomplished and what they are expecting to do if it takes them all summer. Speaker Clark is making an effort to reform the manners of the House of Representatives and he has smashed two hard wood gavels in the cause. There are other gavels however, in his locker, and the country no doubt wishes him success and will give him credit for his effort whether he succeeds or not. Visitors to Washington who are so fortunate as to go into the House gallery are always surprised at the confusion and noise on the floor. Members of Congress are talking, writing, smoking, joking and moving about on the floor and it is almost impossible to hear the member who is trying to make a speech. In the midst of such confusion, no one wonders that a member some years ago made himself famous by saying "Mr. Speaker," where was I at?" The present speaker of the House was no doubt a member of a debating society when he was a little boy, and recollects what beautiful order was maintained there and how much better they knew and practiced parliamentary etiquette than they do in the debating society over which he now presides. He is now insisting that parliamentary forms must be respected by Congressmen who desire to interrupt the orator who has the floor. He insists that there shall be no loafing in the aisles, that smoking must be stopped and that courtesy must be shown the member who has the floor and is trying to make himself heard. We believe our Congress is the only legislative body in the world that has separate desks before each seat like children in the public schools. Sooner or later doubtless we will adopt the English plan of having the members sit on seats without desks and that will probably do much to abate such confusion as at present exists. Then the enlarged House membership will not seem so unwieldy.

Whenever it became necessary for the present House of Representatives to establish a code of rules for their guidance in deliberative proceedings, an amusing incident occurred which caused the Republican members to laught derisively. Champ Clark, the present Democratic speaker, was on the minority side a few months ago and formulated a set of rules, the adoption of which was closely contested and finally suffered defeat. Congressman Mann, the present Republican minority leader, after the adoption of the rules to govern the deliberations of the present Congress, presented for the minority the identical rules Champ Clark had created at the beginning of the 61st Congress, introducing his resolution in the following terse manner: "I don't expect you to vote for my substitute. But I just want to have the pleasure of seeing you Democrats vote against it."

Another convention, the American Academy of Sciences, is in session in the new National Museum. A lecture on the ocean was delivered by Sir John Murray of Glasgow, Scotland, recently in which he told some of the results of the Challenger expedition in 1889 of which he was commander. The afternoon session was enlivened by seven papers on astronomical subjects. The subject of infantile paralysis was treated by Dr. Flexner who has become famous for his connection with the Rockefeller medical institution.

Cut It Down

Those fortunate enough to own and having time to ride in automobiles should show some slight consideration for the life and limb of our less fortunate residents. The glad season for joy rides has arrived and the temptation to break the speed limit on good roads is great, but inclination should be tempered with mercy and pedestrians, especially in the business section, not be compelled to literally fight for their lives with automobile drivers.

Cut down the speed within the city limits.

Two-Step—Down in Yucatan.
Waltz—You can't make me stop loving you.
Two-Step—My old man is baseball mad.

Fifteen minute intermission at 11 o'clock. Farewell Promenade, Friday evening, May 5, 1911.

SOLD A VALUABLE COW

Miss "Horn of Plenty" Brings One Thousand Dollars

Charles Mangeot on Saturday last sold to F. Lathrop Ames of Boston, Mass., a 4-year old milch cow for the handsome sum of $1,000. This cow is of Guernsey breed, with registered number 31516, and was raised by the well known milk seller who sold her. Her fame had spread abroad and Mr. Lathrop Ames, who owns the 750 acre "Long Water farm" at North Eaton, Mass., sent his expert foreman to buy this cow.

The name was given her from the white spot in shape of a horn appearing on the forehead. Mr. Mangeot is receiving congratulations from the cattle breeders of this section.

MALBY AND MOTT EXPLAIN THEIR VOTE

The Sentiment of Their Districts Was Strong Against Reciprocity

Washington, D. C.—Practically the entire delegation in the house from northern New York voted solid against the reciprocity bill.

Ever since the calling of the extra session of congress letters and telegrams have been pouring in on the up state congressmen living near the Canadian boundary, calling on them to oppose the measure, and in that way protect the agricultural interests of the farmers, and also to protect the important paper industries of the several districts.

Congressman Driscoll of the 29th district, Mott of the 28th and Malby of the 36th were among those who voted in opposition.

Congressman Mott said:

"I voted against the Canadian treaty because of positive knowledge that the great majority of the people of the 28th district were against the bill, and it was my duty to vote the way the people of the district wished. This knowledge came to me in the form of hundreds of letters, resolutions and petitions from individuals and organizations representing thousands of members.

"I received but two communications from the entire district favoring the treaty and both were from the city of Oswego, one from the chamber of commerce and the other from an individual.

"Under the circumstances there was no other course for me to follow but to stand by the interests of the vast majority of the people of the district and vote against hte bill which I did in spite of my personal desire to always promote the best interests of my home city, where I have large interests of many kinds. I have kept the promise made during my campaign to represent the sentiment of the voters of the district."

Congressman Malby of the St. Lawrence district said last night: "I have been a strong opponent of the Canadian treaty from the start, as I felt it would be a serious blow to the agricultural and paper interests of the district I represent. I exected to make another speech in opposition at this session, but the opposition to the bill was so ably handled that I did not think it necessary. Over 2,500 letters and telegrams were sent by people in this district urging me to vote against the treaty and not a single message was sent me in favor of it."

DEATHS

Information has reached Fulton of the death in Pittsburg, Pa., of Mrs. William Prime, formerly of this city.

Lawrence, the 20-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, died at the home in West First street on Friday.

The death of Mrs. Marcus Wadsworth of Minetto, occurred last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Moore in St. Paul, Minn. The funeral services were held in Minetto and interment was made in Mt. Adnah.

Ellsworth J. Holden died at Solvay on Monday, April 17, aged forty-five years. Besides his widow and two daughter, he is survived by three brothers and three sisters, John, of Fulton; George, of New Haven; Clinton, Mrs. Frank Parsons and Miss Lena Holden, Syracuse, and Mrs. A. C. Druce, of Fulton.

A telephone message was received from Albany on Tuesday night announcing the death of Edgar Waugh, a well known former Fultonian, who suffered a stroke of apoplexy on Monday and passed away without rallying. The body will be brought to this city today for burial. No funeral arrangements have been made as yet.

At the home of her daughter in Washington, D. C., on April 20, died Julia Chase, widow of Hravey Townsend. Mention of the mere fact of the death of Mrs. Townsend will give to those who knew and loved her, a clear and comforting idea of the well rounded Christian character Her courage in facing the problems of life, the cheerful spirit which could perform the daily duties and even in the face of adversity and suffering keep its sweetness, bear testimony to the power that was within her. One's mind instinctively turns to the picture of the truly lovely woman given in the last chapter of Proverbs. Surely "strength and honor" were her clothing and her own works do praise her. The result of her labors is her best eulogy, for those who knew her best honored her most. Many friends assembled at the Case chapel in Mt. Adnah at noon on Saturday, the 22nd., where a prayer service was held, Rev. G. W. Wellburn officiating after which the body was laid to rest beside her husband. Those who accompanied the remains here were her surviving children, Mrs Gertrude Townsend Taylor of Washington, Mr. Canlon Townsend and wife, also of Washington; and Mr. and Mrs. Irving P. Townsend and wife of Boston and her only brother, Rev. Dempster Chase and wife of Utica, also a number of relatives and friends from Lysander and Syracuse.

PARCELS POST

Washington, April 25.—Representative Sulzer of New York, sponsor of the Parcels Post bill, struck the keynote for the postal progress conference which opened here today. Confidently predicting that the measure would become law before the present Congress died, he urged the delegation to wiat upon Speaker Clark and ask that the bill be reported to the House at once.

THE TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

The Board of Supervisors wisely appropriated the money for the purchase of a tuberculosis hospital site and building and then they foolishly tied the matter up at a later meeting so that the project cannot be carried to completion this Summer, and every day counts with the poor unfortunate stricken with the white plague.

The eloquent Supervisor Barker of Orwell had all his brother supervisors, the State's representatives and the guests overcome by his oratory last week, with hte result that two decidedly contradictory resolutions were adopted and the matter has been the laughing stock for the county ever since. It was a neat move, too.

The one resolution was to table the matter until the next regular meeting of the Board, and the other resolution was to locate the hospital in Orwell, a site far from the busy haunts of man, five miles from the nearest railroad station and a locality that possesses ten months of winter and two months of late Fall; at the present moment the snow lies in many a door yard in the Orwell loveliest village of the hills, so charmingly described by Mr. Barker.

Not one person clothed and in their right mind, believes for an instant that the State officials will permit the hospital to be located in a site so far removed from transportation facilities and all that is desired, aside from ozone.

It's too bad the matter is held up by such foolishness.

LONELY VIGIL WITH DEAD

Son and Dead Mother on Lonely Island—Impossible for Help to Reach Isolated Spot

Watertown, N. Y., April 22. — A tale which sounds almost like fiction was brought to this city yesterday afternoon in a letter sent by Nelson Luff, in a little bottle, attached to a miniature raft and sail, from his island home, seven miles North from the little village of Henderson, to a friend in this city. It is a tale of pathos, the like of which has probably never occurred in the lake regions since settlers made their home on the little islands which dot the shore in this region.

Nelson Luff and his mother were the sole inhabitants in the winter months of Stony Island. A few weeks ago his mother became ill and, although home remedies were administered, her condition grew critical. Her son, unable to leave her bedside to attempt to cross to Henderson for a physician, fearing that he might be lost attempting the hazardous trip over the ice, remained doing everything possible to alleviate his mother's suffering. It was useless, however, and the son, alone with his parent on the wind swept island, saw her pass away. No undertaker was available nor has it been possible even to this day for one to cross the channel separating the island from the mainland to get the remains.

Mr. Luff built a rough box and, placing the body of his dead mother inside, placed it in a snow bank to await the coming of Spring.

For seven weeks Mr. Luff has been without mail and he states that it will probably be two weeks before he will be able to cross to Henderson, where the remains of his mother will receive church rites and proper burial.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

RIPPER BILLS HAVE THE CALL

Grabbing Jobs Is Chief Program of Democratic Politicians.

PROTESTS ARE NOT HEEDED.

Civil Service Laws Defied and Every Other Conceivable Means Resorted to In Order to Create Jobs For Henchman.

Albany, April 25.—"Ripper" legislation continues to obsess the minds of Mr. Murphy, Governor Dix, the Democratic state administration and the Democratic state legislature. All they seem to think of by day and dream of by night is how to grab the jobs and to pillage the state treasury for the benefit of Tammany Hall and the Democratic politicians. Interests of the taxpayers and the welfare of the state are secondary considerations.

"Ripper" legislation to grab control of the jury system has even a more sinister aspect than was alluded to in last week's correspondence. The juries are a vital adjunct to the clean administration of the courts, as everybody knows, and it is not to be wondered at that Tammany wants to control the courts up state, as it tries so hard to do in New York city and succeeds, according to the statement of a former chairman of the Democratic state committee. It will be recalled that upon the issue of Tammanyizing the courts Theodore Roosevelt defeated Augustus Van Wyck, nominated for governor in 1898 by Mr. Murphy's predecessor, Richard Croker. It would seem that Tammany has forgotten that lesson, if, indeed, Mr. Murphy ever learned it.

Hon. Edgar M. Cullen, chief judge of the court of appeals and a Democrat, when on the supreme court bench in Brooklyn became convinced that the jury system as it then existed was not what it should be to produce a decent administration of justice, so he drafted the first bill for a commissioner of jurors in Kings county, and it was passed by a Republican administration. The plan worked so well that it was copied in many other counties of the state.

Nonpartisan Protest Unheeded.

Now that a Democratic legislature is in power, whether it is because the Kings county commissioner of jurors happens to be a Republican and it is desired to get rid of him or just to strengthen Tammany's grip on the courts, the legislature of 1912 proposes to break down this system of selection of jurors by commissioners specially selected for that purpose, with ample time and powers to look into the qualifications of those desired as jurors, despite nonpartisan protest and the testimony of judges and others who are in position to know that the present system is far superior to the old and should be retained, not abandoned.

This is not all. Charles F. Murphy is reported as boasting that before the present Democratic state administration and Democratic legislature go out of office there will not be a Republican holding office, in New York city at least, and not in many other parts of the state. If that means anything it means that "ripper" legislation is to be the uppermost topic before the state legislature of 1912 and that most of its time will be taken up with consideration of "ripper" bills designed to remove officials chosen by the people for definite fixed terms.

Such is the sole purpose of the much advertised measures proposed to consolidate and abolish this or that commission or state department in the interest of economy and retrenchment. All that is thought of is to get the jobs.

Civil Service Laws Defied.

Reference has been made to the way in which the new Democratic state officers, aided and abetted by Governor Dix's new state civil service commission, have started in to break down the safeguards thrown around the state service by the civil service laws suggested and urged so strongly by that great Democratic statesman, Grover Cleveland.

Already the state civil service commission appointed upon the recommendation of Charles F. Murphy has let down the bars for the Tammany job hunters by placing in the exempt class hundreds of positions which were formerly in the competitive class and the holders of which supposed they held a secure tenure of office so long as they attended to their duties and behaved themselves.

But there are Democratic state officials who are so eager to grab the jobs that they have not waited even for a subservient state civil service commission to act, but have set the civil service laws at defiance by dismissing summarily and without cause scores of protected civil service employees. State Excise Commissioner Farley is one of these. He owes allegiance to Charles F. Murphy and is proud of it. Every appointment he has made has been dictated by the Tammany state leader. The other day Farley discharged twenty-four special agents of the excise department protected by the civil service laws without assigning any reason or preferring any charge as the civil service law requires. The reason for this high handed action is obvious. Mr. Murphy has twenty-four followers who are clamoring for these jobs.

There is even a more sinister aspect to this wholesale dismissal by Commissioner Farley. The Republican party has striven year by year to take the excise question out of politics, and it is the general opinion that it has succeeded very well. "Special excise agents" are the officials who see to the enforcement of the excise law all over the state. Tammany wants its own men on guard so that the metropolitan system of "protection to Tammany friends" may be extended up state. A few hundred "Tammany special excise agents" let loose up state would relieve the pressure for jobs, also give Tammany control over the saloon keepers and thus put the excise question back into politics.

Insurgents Feel Iron Hand.

When the Democratic "insurgents" surrendered to Murphy on the United States senatorial proposition they stipulated that they should not be "persecuted" for their revolt against the caucus rule, in reality against Murphy. This was agreed to by the Tammany leader, with a mental reservation, as after events have proved.

Senator Roosevelt of Dutchess county has been the ostensible leader of the insurgents. Mayor Sague of Poughkeepsie is classed as one of Senator Roosevelt's supporters. He has also been put forward as a sort of anti-Murphy candidate for chairman of the Democratic state committee.

A few weeks ago State Comptroller William Sohmer, who owes allegiance to Mr. Murphy, sent his "examiners of municipal accounts" out through the state. By a curious coincidence it was discovered that Poughkeepsie's municipal administration was in sore need of investigation. Just how long the investigators were at work in Poughkeepsie is not stated, but it is a fact that last week, without notice to Mayor Sague, Comptroller Sohmer made public a report he was sending Governor Dix in which laxness and irregularities in Poughkeepsie's affairs were charged. Mayor Sague protested against the publication before he had been notified or given a chance to be heard, denounced the comptroller and characterized the charges as false. But the damage was done. Mayor Sague had been tarred, a possible anti-Murphy state chairman had been rendered unavailable, and Senator Roosevelt had been notified indirectly what he and his friends could expect at Murphy's hands.

The tip is out that the other insurgents are to receive similar treatment. Their legislation is to be slaughtered, their friends are to be bothered and their recommendations as to disposition of patronage are to be ignored. Whether they will resent such treatment or submit meekly remains to be seen.

Another of the "Ripper" Plans.

In trying to carry out their patronage grabbing plans Governor Dix and Mr. Murphy have several times run up against a phase of civil service law protection that bid fair to circumvent their plans. There is a preference given to veterans of the civil war and to exempt firemen in matters of appointment, and they cannot be removed except for cause. That this provision of the law is well and strongly drawn is evidenced by the fact that on very many occasions the courts have reinstated dismissed officials of this character.

The state superintendent of public buildings at Albany is named by Governor Dix, Lieutenant Governor Conway and Speaker Frisbie. His name is John Bowe, and he was indorsed by Charles F. Murphy and by Patrick E. McCabe, the Democratic leader of Albany county. When Superintendent Bowe wanted to appoint one of the McCabe lieutenants as cashier in his office he learned that the incumbent was an exempt fireman and hence protected from summary removal. He declined to resign, and Mr. Bowe could not find anything upon which to base the charges required by the civil service law.

The McCabe lieutenant refused to take the place with a possible legal difficulty in drawing his salary. Even the Tammany state civil service commission balked at taking any action that would help Bowe and McCabe out of their quandary. At last Bowe and McCabe devised what they consider a bright and happy solution of the problem—from their standpoint. The trustees of public buildings—Dix, Conway and Frisbie—met and abolished the position of cashier and created another with a few additional duties. To this they assigned the McCabe lieutenant and coolly told the exempt fireman they were so sorry, but that the job having been abolished, there was no work for him, consequently no salary.

The dismissed official proposes to test the action of the trustees in the courts. He may win out. Whether he does or not is of little consequence. The significant fact in the whole matter is that the Democratic leaders do not propose to let anything stand in the way of grabbing the jobs. They want them, they want them badly, and they want them now.

Another Slick Scheme.

It is reported that the Democrats intend to take no chances of a possible Republican assembly in next fall's elections, but have decided that when the present regular session is over, instead of adjournment sine die, a recess will be taken until Nov. 15. If the people elect a Republican assembly for 1912 the present legislature will convene in November and pass some more "ripper" bills.

BILLY SUNDAY'S TRIBUTE

Toledo, April 19.—One of the most remarkable and touching sermons eulogizing the dead was delivered by the Rev. Billy Sunday at the funeral of Addie Joss, former star pitcher for the Cleveland baseball club, here Monday. Sunday, a former ball player and a warm personal friend of the dead athlete, was deeply affected and showed his feelings in every word which fell from his lips. He said in part:

"Joss was one of the great athletes of the world because he was a king in the game of baseball, and that is acknowledged as the star game everywhere. He was one of the men who, by his gentlemanly manner, sterling manhood and unimpeachable honesty, was an honor to the profession. He was one of those men who by their character and manhood have helped the game to maintain its hold upon the American people, from the President in the White House to the newsboys on the streets, from the staid and dignified members of the Supreme Court to the huckster, selling his wares from a wagon."

"No more will the umpire walk in front of the grand stand and cry out 'the pitcher for Cleveland will be Joss,' no more will the opposing club turn pale, for in the past they realized this announcement was the harbinger of almost sure defeat. The name of Joss has always brought terror to the opposing nine.

"Joss tried hard to strike out death, and it seemed for a time as though he would win. The bases were full. The score was a tie, with two out. Thousands, yes, millions, in a nation's grand stand and bleachers sat breathlessly watching the conflict.

"The great twirler stood erect in the box. Death walked to the plate. Addie's muscles were taut, a look of grim determination was on his face. The ball shot across the plate. 'Ball one' yelled the umpire. Joss again gripped the ball, doubled himself and the smack of the sphere was heard in the catcher's glove. 'Ball two' from the umpire.

"Again the ball sped plateward. Addie's eyes became glassy, his muscles weakened, his mind failed. 'Ball three' faintly rang in his ears.

"It was then that the Great Manager of the universe took the star Nap twirler out of the box and sent him to the clubhouse."

RURAL CARRIERS MEET

The regular quarterly meeting of the Rural Free Delivery carriers was held Friday evening in the County Courthouse. The meeting was very well attended by the carriers and the wives of many of the men were also present. Following the meeting a social session was held at which refreshments were served at the Ontario & Western restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelsey are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Burke of Cleveland, Ohio.

Saturday evening Mrs. F. B. Dilts gave a dinner to thirty of her friends at her home in First street.

John F. Dustin of Providence, R. I., has just been granted a patent on a stopping device for looms.

Miss Elsie Gulle is the leader in the Eastern Star attendance contest, not Miss Hazel Gulle, as was stated in last week's Times.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Chauncey will take possession on June 1, of the house recently remodelled by Mr. G. W. Webb in Park street.

Secretary and Treasurer W. H. Hornbrook of the League of Masonic clubs, attended a session of the clubs in New York city last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. O'Brien are in New York city, having accompanied their daughter, Helen, back to her studies in the Elizabeth, (N. J.), Convent on Monday.

Messrs. John and Earl M. Foster will remodel the fronts in the five Cayuga street stores in the Foster theatre block, making them as desirable as any in the city.

Miss Genevieve Montgomery, who has been severely ill in New York city, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home on the west side this week.

Mr. B. W. Bennett has purchased the car from the barber who recently won it in the Hospital of the Good Shepard raffle held in Syracuse. The car came to Fulton under its own power on Thursday.

John and Elizabeth Marsh, children of Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Marsh, are convalescing from scarlet fever. The baby was quite ill with complications.

The Fulton High school baseball team will play the Oneida High school team on the diamond at Athletic park on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Admission, 20c.

The weather is more Springlike, although a bit more warmth would be appreciated. The bright sun finds the spots in house and yard not yet cared for by the tidy property occupant.

Bicyclists must keep off the city sidewalks or run the risk of being arrested, frequent complaints to the Police Department having caused Chief Ross to instruct all patrolmen to arrest violations of the city ordinance relative to this nuisance.

Mrs. H. E. Clarke, proprietor and owner of Manhattan Villa, was hastily called to Fulton from New York city on Monday by a notification from the State to vacate at once her property down the river. Work presumably, is to commence near this point at once.

Miss Rachael Lake gave two readings at the Y. M. C. A. in Oswego, on Wednesday evening last, which were greeted with well merited applause and appreciation. Miss Lake is a most promising reader, her work being highly commented upon wherever she has been heard.

An effort is being made to persuade Mr. J. R. Sullivan to accept the Democratic nomination for Supervisor from his district. Mr. Sullivan is too busy a man with his varied interests to look kindly upon an invitation of this kind, to the regret of his many friends throughout the city.

Mrs. Harry A. Nichols last week gave a large reception at her home in New York city in honor of her sister, Miss Florence Stiles, of Philadelphia, Pa., who was her guest. The decorations throughout the home and entertainment were pink and there were a large number of former Fultonians in attendance.

Mrs. Bertha McKay had commenced through Attorney Pendergast, an action against the England Amusement company, for $500 damages alleged to have been inflicted by the falling down of a seat which she was occupying falling over with her injuring her back and her pride at the attention called upon her by the accident.

The ball given on Friday evening by the Pi Kappa Gamma Sorority of the High school was attended by seventy-five couples and was a very happy event. Kapp's orchestra of Syracuse furnished the music for dancing. The Misses Marjorie Fairgrieve, Barbara Gilbert and Ellen Frawley were the committee in charge of the arrangements.

The lecture given by Hon. S. B. Mead in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, was attended by a large and deeply appreciative audience. Mr. Mead receiving many congratulations and much approval for the depth of his knowledge of the subject of so much interest to all and so little understood by many. The organ recital given by Mrs. Thomas Hunter prior to the lecture was greatly enjoyed.

AVERTS AWFUL TRAGEDY

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

REPORT CONFIRMED

Patrick T. Gibbons Wins in His Suit Against Mrs. McGee's Estate

Judge Merrell has confirmed the report of Referee H. L. Gilman, of Fulton, in the case of Patrick T. Gibbons vs. Margaret Carroll et al., an action to compel the payment of liens against the property of the estate of Mary McGee. The referee directed the payment of all liens from surplus funds in the hands of the County Treasurer amounting to $5,739.52.

It must be great for the convicts in the California penitentiary to have a model of piety like Abe Ruef for a Sunday school teacher.

LETTER FROM CALIFORNIA

The following letter from a former well known Fultonian now residing in California will be read with interest:

San Deigo, Calif., April 16, 1911.

Editor Times: We are near enough Old Mexico to look at its mountains and a part of its coast line every time we raise our eyes. We are only twelve miles in a direct line. We do not apprehend any trouble here but we are certainly in the war belt if the presence of sailors and soldiers in your streets and all about you make any difference. This beautiful harbor with its twenty-two square miles of still water within a land locked harbor is the last port on the California coast. The whole Pacific fleet is here or near here, up and down the coast. There are the Armored Cruisers, the "Iris," being the mothership of the torpedo fleet, then the government tugs, launches, etc.; the torpedo boats, the sub-marines and all the small steam crafts that belong to them. There is a large camp of marines on the island in the bay. A camp across the bay of two regiments. This is near Fort Rosecram with its coast artillery. This week we have had one Italian warship and one English warship in the harbor. At all times shore leave is granted to all that are not needed for guard duty and actual work. Last Saturday over 2,000 sailors alone were given leave for the day and night. Add to this the soldiers from the different outposts and the light blue, the dark blue and the olive green are as common as the clothes worn by our civilians. Each different branch of the service has its distinctive color that one soon learns. One thing is noticeable, all are so well behaved; they are full of life and fun and do many things we wish they did not for of course every saloon in town puts out many extra attractions every time a ship drops anchor in the bay. To counteract this influence the churches, the Y. M. C. A., the Floating society of Christian Endeavor are busy along all lines of safe entertainment for the boys. At all our Sunday services and oft times at the Wednesday evening prayer meeting we always have a number of the sailors and soldiers, in fact, some on the different boats are members of our church.

How I wish I might have had every person in Fulton with me today. Our Ladies Bible class of over fifty held a picnic at Mission Cliff park, one of the beauty spots of our city. It is only a few acres owned by the Electric Railroad company and is one of the trolley terminals. Every inch of space is covered with flowers, shrubs and cacti in so many varieties all the old flowers of our grandmothers garden and many I never saw until I came here. The north side of the park over looks the Mission Valley where the first Mission was built by the Catholic fathers in the early days of California. This valley runs from the mountains to the sea and lies several hundred feet below you as you stand on the cliff and look down into one of the prettiest sights in this country of beautiful spots. On every hand are the wild flowers with their bright colors. It is something impossible to describe but also something one can never forget.

Among other happenings of the week was a long visit with Horace Baggs of the home city. He is looking well and evidently doing well. He has grasped the opportunity offered by the present airship craze. In his his airship, the "Sky Scraper" he mounts to te top of thhe big tent, sets fire to the airship and comes to the ground in a parachute. This is only one of several clever athletic stunts that form his share of the entertainment.

March fourteenth your correspondent had a birthday and eighteen guests (one for each year of course) and mostly from New York State helped to celebrate it. One of the gifts was a Poinsettia tree at nine o'clock under a full moon as bright as only the harvest moon is at home. The party planted the tree, sang and made speeches. You could hardly do that at home in March and here most of the ladies are in white dresses and bare heads. I enclose some clippings about our exposition of 1915.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

Monday and Tuesday, May 1st and 2nd.

Cohan and Harris' colossal production of "The Man Who Owns Broadway" is to be the attraction at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, on Monday and Tuesday, May 1st and 2nd and will be presented there by the original New York company of eighty people and large orchestra.

Mr. Cohan introduces Mr. Hitchcock in a character entirely different from any that the clever comedian has ever created, and it is a part which affords him ample opportunity to dispense his quaint humor.

The company, which is exceptionally large, is headed by Flora Zabelle, known in private life as Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock. The other players who compose the principals are: Mildred Blaine, Lelia Rodes, Gertrude Webster, Richard Taber, John Hendricks, Francis Lieb, Mark Sullivan and others. The chorus is large and composed of ladies and gentlemen who have been selected for their singing ability. There are a score of dancers who come in for a share of the honors. The play is in three acts and four scenes, each of which is lavish in effect and color. Many of the gowns worn by the young ladies are in keeping with the luxuriousness of their surroundings. It is expected that the success Mr. Hitchcock has enjoyed there on former occasions will be far surpassed during the coming engagement.

So great is the demand for seats from those living at a distance from Syracuse that a special bureau has been established for the expeditious handling of mail orders, which when sent with cash or money order and accompanied by addressed stamped envelope, receiving immediate attention. Prices 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50 and $2.00.

YOU! "Mister" Business Man

Are you playing safe in the matter of insurance? Could you pay, dollar for dollar, all you owe in case of the destruction of your property by fire?

In the event of a conflagration sweeping your business out of existence, and with it perhaps the savings of a lifetime, are you protected by enough good, sound insurance to put you "on your feet again?"

These are serious questions and the issue is one you cannot avoid. You cannot afford to take chances. Property losses in this country are mounting steadily upward.

Keep fully insured and charge the item into the selling price of your goods, the same as rent, interest or taxes.

CURRENTS EVENTS CLUB

Last Meeting for Season Held on Monday Evening—Interesting Program Presented — Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

The last meeting of the Current Events club for the season was held on Monday evening at the home of Resident Engineer and Mrs. T. M Ripley. There was a goodly attendance and the program was of unusual interest, being in charge of Prof. L. D. Wilcox.

Miss Marjorie Fairgrieve rendered a piano solo. Attorney Arvin Rice spoke upon matters of local concern, giving a review of local matters of interest for the year just completed. In closing Mr. Rice asked Prof. Fairgrieve to say something about the cessity for more extensive High school accommodations.

Prof. Fairgrieve said that he had recently received a letter from the State Department of Education, in which he was informed that in view of the over-crowded conditions in the Hig' school the State could hardly longer be a party to the conditions existing. Prof. Fairgrieve then said that when school opened in the Fall it would be necessary to utilize one of the rooms on the first floor in the Fourth street school for High school purposes.

Mrs. E J. Penfield rendered a vocal solo, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Thomas Hunter and on the violin by Clement Wadsworth. As an encore Mrs. Penfield sang, "Beautiful isle of somewhere."

Mr H. L. Paddock spoke on reciprocity and the effect the bill would have if it became operative, on the paper and pulp industry. Mr. A. W. Wiltsie spoke on the subject from the farmer's standpoint. Messrs. S. B. Mead, H. J. Wilson, T. M. Riply J. R. Fairgrieve and others took part briefly in a discussion of the measure.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Prof. J. R. Fairgrieve; vice. president, Rev. C. J. Olmstead; secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. E. Hughes. Executive committee, Prof. G. E. Deuel, Mrs E. R. Redhead and Miss Daisy Lounsberry.

The date for the first meeting in the Fall was left to the executive committee for selection.

ONE GOOD LOSER

Hon. C. M. Depew who represented the Empire State in the Senate for twelve years, but who went down with his party in the State last Fall, in addressing the Republican club in New York city last week said in part: My Friends: When a man enters upon a great office he has doubts, when he retires he still has doubts, but if his neighbors, among whom he has lived and who have known him always, gather to greet, to welcome, to honor and to congratulate, all doubts are removed. Any one properly constituted regards the consummation of a successful life to be happiness. Happiness is not an accident nor purely a question of temperament and environment, nor can it be secured by cultivating. It is a gift, both from within and without; from without in unselfish friendship, from within in appreciation and gratitude. There is a vast difference between going out with your party or being beaten within your party. For a Republican to be stepped on by the elephant is death, but to be kicked by the Democratic donkey means only a period in the hospital.

There is much food for thought in the spirit and the sentiments expressed by Mr. Depew He and his party, of which he was so vital and so eloquent a part, feel that the donkey's kick was all that reached them.

FULTON STUNG AGAIN

Last week a large and influential appearing chap of oily manner brought his nerve into Fulton, evidently having heard it was an easy town for strangers to work, and he managed to get several checks cashed on his own say-so and the fact that he carried an Elk card issued by Lodge No. 2, of Philadelphia, Pa. The mystic tie that binds all Elks together, proved strong enough to stand the strain of credulity and Mr. Harris enjoyed drinks, cigars, meals and rooms for several days at the expense of Fulton citizens of generous impulse. Of course he discharged his financial obligations with checks drawn on New Jersey banks but soon after "Mr. Harris" left for other fields and pastures as green, the checks were returned to the local banks endorsed "no funds." The lodge in the city of brotherly love also disclaims being favored with the acquaintance of the wily stranger who being a stranger was both taken and took in here.

Mr. Harris came high so far as several local business men were concerned, but they had to have him to learn a lesson they do not care to repeat. Safe to say that "Mr. Harris" will meet with a warm reception if he should bring his nerve to Fulton again.

Rubber Heels

FOR HORSES

Reinforced with Spring Steel Plate

Pearl's Patent

The high grade rubber reinforced with tempered spring steel makes it the most resilient heel made. Bar shoes no longer a necessity The spring steel plate furnishes a larger bearing surface for the frog; it also protects the heel from wear and always maintains an even pressure.

The spring steel plate allows the joints in the foot to flex in a natural way. The Barshoe is too rigid, all other heels, (sometimes called pads) are too floppy. The pressure on the heels or frog can be regulated to relieve any soreness that may exist in either.

TRUSS HEELS. This style is designed especially for heavy horses, and has proved a blessing to that class. The depressed plate receives the frog, thus giving the horseshoer a way to regulate the frog, sole and wall pressure to suit every individual foot. No horse is too large to wear this heel.

The rubber in these heels is unexcelled for its holding qualities on ice, stone, wood or asphalt pavements. It is made expressly to meet these conditions.

The few that we have put on horses have given perfect satisfaction. We have all sizes in weight for speed horses. To be had at

CONGREGATIONALISTS IN FULTON

Inspiring Sessions Being Held in Congregational Church—Many Delegates inAttendance Upon Convention of Central Association of Congregationalists.

As the Times goes to press the convention of the Central Association of Congregationalists is in session in the Congregational church and there are a large number of delegates in attendance. The program contains several speakers of note and the sessions have been both inspiring and educational along their line.

This Wednesday afternoon the following will be the program:

1:30 — Devotional service, led by Mrs. Nathan S. Aller.

1:45—Annual reports Home Missionary union; senior auxiliaries, Mrs. A. D. Merry; junior auxiliaries, Mrs. George O. Durney, New York State branch; senior auxiliaries, Mrs. W. N. Dutcher; junior auxiliaries, Mrs. Burton Michael; "Impressions of the Woman's Board Meeting," Mrs. C. Olmstead; hymn.

2:40 — Address, "Our Woman's Home Missionary Work in Routt County, Col.," Miss Alice M. Isley. Offertory, Vocal solo, Mrs. W. H. Barrett. Address, "Work in the Caroline Islands," Miss Elizabeth Baldwin. Adjournment.

The Rev. Stephen A. Loyd of Cortland served as moderator of the convention. The Rev. F. G. Webster of Hartford, Pa., as the registrar and treasurer of the association. The convention theme has been "The Coming of the Kingdom." with the divisions—Tuesday afternoon, "Movements;" Tuesday evening, "Men;" Wednesday morning, "Methods."

SUPREME COURT ADJOURNED

The Supreme Court trial term at Pulaski came to an abrupt but not unexpected close Tuesday morning when Justice Devendorf discharged twenty-five jurors and directed Clerk Coulter to give them their orders. This was done and arrangements were made with County Treasurer Kandt to pay the jurors upon their arrival in Oswego at noon. The discharge of such a large body of jurors means the end of the term so far as the trial of civil actions is concerned. The court will continue in session however as the grand jury must go on with its work.

Speaking of the laxity of atorneys in not having their cases ready for trial, Justice Devendorf stated that never in his experience as Judge had he experienced such difficulty with such a heavy calendar. There are thirty civil cases and two equity cases scheduled for trial but none of the attorneys were ready for business.

PRAISE FOR CONGRESSMAN MOTT

Congressman Mott voted against Canadian reciprocity and in doing so represented most of the Jefferson county people, for we are more a farming than a manufacturing community, and Canada would compete with us in selling farm produce. But the same time the Bagley & Sewall company lost a $250,000 contract for paper machines because the Canadian tariff makes American made machines cost so much more in Canada than English machines.—Watertown Herald.

TO POSTOFFICE PATRONS

Beginning Next Sunday, May 8, the Carriers' Windows Will Not Open for Delivery of Mail—Instructions Regarding the Special Delivery of Mail to Residences By Payment of Extra Fee.

It might be well for postoffice patrons to understand that under the new arrangement which will go into effect next Sunday at the local office, no change in existing regulations affecting the special delivery service is contemplated. The Department specifically states in its letter of instructions that the special delivery fee must not be charged on any mail delivered through the general delivery or any window at the post office, but it must be collected on each piece of mail matter actually delivered by special delivery to the residence or place of business of the addressee. Any patron expecting an important communication who gives a description of it and deposits the prescribed fee is entitled to have such communication delivered to him at the address given, by special delivery, immediately upon its receipt. A special delivery stamp should be affixed to each such piece of mail matter and canceled before it is sent out for delivery.

The instructions also provide that mail be delivered in one of three ways: by carrier, through the general delivery or by means of rented boxes. In many instances the last method is the most advantageous to the patron as well as to the Department. Business men and others who receive large quantities of mail should be informed that mail can be distributed to a rented box with greater frequency and with greater expedition than it can be delivered by carrier, and that through a box they may obtain their mail at any moment of the business day. The increased use of rented boxes should relieve the carriers of a considerable weight of mail, thereby enabling them to cover a larger territory or to make quicker delivery, especially on the first morning trip. Patrons who desire their mail regularly on Sunday at offices where a curtailment of Sunday service has been authorized should be allowed to rent boxes (at the full rate) whether or not they receive mail by carrier on the other days of the week.

EXAMINATIONS FOR DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT

Twelve candidates took the examination at the Normal school on Tuesday for District Superintendent of Schools in Oswego county.

There are five appointments to be made. The position pays $1,200 a year with $300 a year for traveling expenses.

Those who took the examinations were: Ernest W. Armstrong, New Haven; George E. Barnard, Phoenix; Warren S.Gardner, Volney; Raymond Goodfellow, Fulton; Charles I. Kingsbury, Scriba; Stephen R. Lockwood, Hannibal; Daniel A. O'Brien, Parish; Robert Simpson, Jr., Fulton; George H. Bennett, Oswego county; Miss Queenia Tooley, Fulton; Miss Rose M. Libby, St. Lawrence county; Miss Pearl M. Noyes, Herkimer county.

The examinations were conducted by Prof. W. G. Rappleye, of the Norwich school faculty.

GIRLS' HOME TO BE OPENED MAY 6

Public Reception to be Held on Saturday from 2 Until 10 o'clock—Public Invited to Inspect the Home and to Bring Contribution of Any Useful Article—W. C. T. U. Ladies Deserve Much Credit and Assistance.

Saturday, May 6, will be a red letter day in the annals of the local W. C. T. U., and will also markthe commencement of an inestimable boon to girls in this city who have not congenial boarding places or who wish a quiet, homelike place in which to board. It will be the formal opening day of the W. C. T. U. Girl's Home, No. 234 Cayuga street, and it shows what patience and a fixed purpose will accomplish in the face of apparently unsurmountable obstacles.

Mrs. Montgomery will be the matron at the Home and she will make each boarder welcome and as much at home as it would be possible to be other than under ones own roof tree.

Given patronage and co-operation of the residents of the city, the project will prove most successful. There are at least six sleeping rooms in the Home and arrangements can easily be perfected for more if the demand should warrant the outlay.

On Saturday the Board of Directors, composed of the W. C. T. U. committee who pushed the project to successful completion will be at the Home from 2 until 10 p. m., to receive all who may be interested and care to inspect the Home, and they cordially invite the public to attend. Each guest is also invited to bring a contribution to the cause of some necessary article or articles. Anything from silver to stove polish; from curtains to mop; groceries, linen, towels, etc., etc., everything and anything that can be used in a home will be acceptable and gratefully received.

Light refreshments will be served during the reception hours.

QUEER REQUESTS MADE

Congressman Mott must find himself frequently confronted with peculiar requests from his constituents. In fact some of them seem almost beyond belief. One which recently came to him was from the Socialists in Watertown who desired that he support the bill of the Socialist Representative, Victor Berger, providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate the facts connected with the arrest of McNamara and his associates, the alleged dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times building in which twenty-one lives were lost.

M'SWEENEY RESIGNS MANAGERSHIP

Popular Young Business Man Accepts Most Desirable Offer From Lyons Gas and Electric Company — Has Made Good for Local Company and Holds Confidence and Esteem of All who Know Him.

Mr. John McSweeney, a Fulton born and bred young man, who has been with the Fulton Fuel & Light company for five years, nearly three of which he was manager of their large plant here, resigned his position with the local company to become effective on May 1, that he might accept a flattering offer from the Lyons gas and electric company to become manager of their plant.

During his management of the local plant Mr. McSweeney has been able not only to keep the expenses down to a minimum by his untiring devotion to duty, neither day nor night finding him other than the alert gas man, but also to increase their business 33 per cent. The service has been excellent and the very best of good feeling exists between the gas-using public and the young man who has displayed so much tact and judgment in conducting the business. The company he is leaving also assures Mr. McSweeney that his services have been most satisfactory. While Mr. McSweeney's hosts of friends in this city regret his departure they cannot refrain from congratulating him upon his promotion and advancement and to prophesy that he will, when the time comes for him to remove from Lyons, find that history will but repeat itself in his case and that his departure will be as sincerely mourned as is the case in Fulton. Lyons will find her new citizen broad, ambitious, popular and perfectly square in all his dealings of whatsoever nature.

SURROGATE ISSUES WARRANT

Mrs. Ida C. Ingamells Was Adjudged in Contempt

A warrant for the arrest of Ida C. Ingamells of Phoenix, executrix of the estate of W. Y. Ingamells for alleged contempt of court in refusing to pay a claim of $50 to John Gibbons of Fulton. A. T. Jennings of Fulton, attorney for Mr Gibbons, asked that the arrest be made.

Mrs. Ingamells was ordered to appear in court on Monday last, but no action was taken at that time, the matter being adjourned until today and an order being issued to Mrs. Ingamells and her attorney, O. M. Reilly, to appear. No apearance being made, the warrant was issued to the sheriff to arrest Mrs. Ingamels and commit her to jail until she pays the Gibbons claim and $30 costs and the fees of the Sheriff. The warrant was placed in the sheriff's hands this afternoon.—Oswego Times, Monday.

MASS MEETING TONIGHT

This Wednesday evening in the First Methodist church, a tuberculosis mass meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission asked and no collection taken. A speaker from New York city will be present to talk upon the subject of the "white plague" and the entertainment will be most instructive.

Proprietor Irving Galusha of the moving picture shows in this city has kindly consented to give some pictures on this occasion to show better than words the ravages of the dread disease, the prevention and the cure.

There should be a large attendance at the lecture which is being arranged for by the local committee under the advise of the State tuberculosis and charities associations.

GLASS COMPANY ASSIGNS

An assignment for the benefit of creditors was made by the Getman Glass Company of Cleveland, N. Y., to James Gallagher recently, and filed in the County Clerk's office Tuesday morning. It was executed by John Prime, president of the company.

The company is capitalized at $85,000, and is a co operative concern, most of the members living in the vicinity of Cleveland.

ANOTHER TREAT COMING

New Story by Capt. O. J. Jennings to Commence in Times, May 17—Written Expressly for Paper by Former Fultonian—Treats of the Southland and the Superstition of the Colored Race.

Capt. O. J. Jennings, who wrote a story for the Times last Winter which was read with interest and pleasure, has written another story for Times readers which will be equally as interesting. Capt. Jennings has a keen insight into the negro character and dialect and he paints his stories with a true touch. He may touch strongly upon southern foibles but it is without malice or bitterness. It is with pleasure that he Times makes the announcement that manuscript from his pen now awaits putting into type for the entertainment of its readers. The date has been determined upon for the opening chapters as May 17, owing to the interest that is being taken by the "boys in blue" in the 50th anniversary of the leaving of Company's E and H for the war, and the hope having been expressed that Capt. Jennings may write something relative to Company H for the Times of May 10.

BUYS GRIST MILL

Parish Property of Bankrupt Sold to M. C. Richards

A grist mill at Parish owned by Knauss Brothers & Arwine Company of Troy, bankrupts, has been sold by the trustee, T. L. Pomeroy, to Melzar C.R ichards of Syracuse, formerly of Mexico and Parish. The mill is subject to a mortgage for $3,500 and the only money in the transaction is $50 paid by Mr. Richards to the trustee. The purchaser must pay any tax arrearages, etc.

CONDITIONS REMAIN THE SAME

Nothing has been done to improve the condition at the hydraulic raceway and the manufacturers are losing money. The delay of the courts in taking action in the McDermott matter and the fact that no contracting firm seems at all desirous of taking over the canal contract which has proven a Jonah for three companies, leads one to wonder when and from what source help may be expected. Not only are the manufacturers suffering but the employes too, must suffer, as without work there will be no situations to be filled.

What is a cold in the head? Nothing to worry about if you treat it with Ely's Cream Balm. Neglected, the cold may grow into catarrh, and the air-passages be so inflamed that you have to fight for every breath. It is true that Ely's Cream Balm masters catarrh, promptly. But you know the old saying about the ounce of prevention. Therefore use Cream Balm when the cold in the head shows itself. All druggists, 50c., or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street New York.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Beginning with Thursday, May 11, 1911, the Gas Office will be closed evenings except on the tenth of each month and on Monday and Saturday evenings.

SUMMER RESORT BIGGER AND BETTER

Stop 28 to Become Popular Section of River—Boat Livery, Dancing Pavilion, Ice Cream Parlors and Baseball Diamond Will be Among Attractions.

Aldgrman Freeman Johnson and his partner, Mr. J. W. Tilden, have purchased from Mrs. H. E. Clarke of New York city, the boats and boat houses formerly located at Manhattan Villa, and will open at once a boat livery at Stop 28. These progressive young men have hit the nail on the head this time as all that was lacking at their Summer resort was a means of reaching the river, and boats and accommodations for river trips when they tired of the other pleasures furnished by the proprietors. One of the most beautiful sections of the Oswego river is at this particular point and the barge canal work does not interfere with enjoyment as lower down the river, so that it is safe to believe that the capacity of the livery will be reached each and every pleasant day and evening during the Summer.

An ice cream pavilion will be conducted at Stop 28 during the Summer and picnic parties may order luncheons at any time. The dancing pavilion floor was never in as good condition as now and dances will be held there at frequent intervals during the warm weather.

Sunday baseball games will also be provided for the local fans who enjoy the sport, several excellent games already having been scheduled.

SECURES FAVOR FOR CONSTITUENTS

Through the efforts of Congressman Luther W. Mott of Oswego, special consideration is to be accorded the application of the Anglers Association of the St. Lawrence river for allotments of fish for the St. Lawrence river.

In a conference a day or two ago with Frank Bowers, Commissioner of Fisheries, the commissioner explained that allotments of fish are necessarily limited to numbers sufficient to form the nucleus of a brood stock, it being expected in general that the fish so furnished will not be molested until they have had time to reproduce their kind at least one season.

Congressman Mott explained to the commissioner that he would like special consideration because of the fact that the proper stocking of the St. Lawrence was not a local matter but something of general benefit to the thousands of tourists, cottagers and large river home owners from all over the United States who spend most of their time fishing.

The commissioner finally agreed to give the Anglers Association special consideration and he will furnish not only a shipment of large-mouthed bass as requested, but in addition arrangements will be made to supply consignments of pike, perch and small mouth black bass, it being thought that the latter species are also desirable for the waters of the St. Lawrence.

The pike and perch will be delivered in the form of fry during the month of May, and the bass will be shipped as fingerlings two or three months later.

Congress Mott is in receipt of a letter from the association's secretary, W. H. Thompson of Alexandria Bay, thanking him for his successful efforts in behalf of the fishing interests of the St. Lawrence.

The chief difference between the men who "own the earth" and others is that the others want to and can't.

THE WEEK

While domestic trade moves sluggishly export trade continues to expand, and the increase in the amount of manufactured articles sold abroad is very gratifying. The foreign commerce statistics for the nine months of the present fiscal year are in sharp contrast to the recession in domestic business. During the latest week exports from New York were $20,044,484, an increase of $6,502,755 over 1910 and of $5,475,473 over 1909. The imports were $16,908,701, an amount slightly in excess of 1909, but $1,461,056 less than in 1910. The excess of exports of $3,135,783 contrasted with a large excess of imports in the corresponding week of 1910. Commercial activity abroad is most noticeable and is a promise of improvement on this side of the Atlantic as soon as present uncertainties, which serve to retard enterprise, pass. Another contrast is to be seen in the essentially sound fundamental conditions, such as abundance of money and comparative bareness of stocks on the shelves, on the one hand, and the curtailment of production, the inactivity in distribution and the virtual stagnation in speculation on the other. Iron and steel are, if anything, somewhat less active, with a reduction in the price of ore and a smaller output of finished materials. The dry goods trade is without significant change of any kind, but retail business feels the stimulating effect of more seasonable weather. The bright wheat crop prospects continue the best feature of the whole situation, but the cotton outlook is more doubtful, excessive moisture having delayed planting. The shoe trade is improving. There has been large sales of copper during the past few days. Railroad earnings during three weeks of April showed a decrease of 0.3 per cent., and most of the statistics by which volume of business is measured reveal the prevailing lethargy of trade. Bank clearings outside of New York gained 0.4 per cent. over 1910, and 5.8 per cent. over 1909; in New York city there was a falling off of 12.1 and 19.1 per cent., respectively, due in large part to the depression in the speculative markets. An increase in the demand for bonds has, however, been noticed this week. Most of the reports from the principal trade centers dwell chiefly on the improvement in retail distribution as a result of the warmer weather.

Interest in iron and steel centers largely on the recent reduction in the price of ore. The lowering of quotations 50c a ton was not unexpected, but the change has not been followed by any larger inquiry for pig iron, and buying is delayed, awaiting further developments. Some of the merchant furnaces have sufficient ore on hand to last them for several months to come and, while a few additional stacks have been blown in, others are going out. Among the finishing mills operations are on a less active scale, with the current rate of output smaller than for some time past and greater irregularity in prices also apparent, although this is by no means general. The Steel Corporation's statement of earnings for the first quarter was considered somewhat disappointing, yet net profits showed a steady expansion each month, whereas in the preceding quarter the tendency was exactly the reverse. Sales of copper this week have been the heaviest of the year, estimates placing the volume of business closed above 75,000,000 pounds.

Cotton goods have not responded much to the sharp advance in the staple, yet the markets are generally steadier because of the unwillingness of mills to accept orders at the low prices current. Restriction in production has reached the high water mark for the year thus far and manufacturers are not looking for permanent relief until a new and larger crop of cotton comes to hand. Statistically the trade is regarded as in a very good position. Exports of cotton goods are substantially ahead of a year ago. Better weather conditions help retail dry goods and there is improved demand for seasonable fabrics. Exceptionally low price on wool and yarns make for the possibility of most tempting offers in prices and qualities of woolens and worsteds for the new season. At a large silk auction this week demand was good, but prices were below expectations.

Conditions in footwear are improved and business shows a fair volume. Jobbers still display considerable conservatism, however, and orders generally are confined to quantities sufficient to meet current needs. Shoe leathers are slow and some eastern reports indicate that tanners would shade quotations to move larger blocks of hemlock sole; large local tanners, however, insist that there is no weakness. Upper stock is quiet, though calfskins are selling better. Belting butts are in fair demand and harness trade is good. Continued dullness rules in the hide markets, with the exception of cow hides, which are in good demand, and prices are a shade stronger on packer heavy and light cows, May light advancing to 12c. Native steers are in poorest request, but some sales of April light were made at 13 1-2c. Country hides have been in somewhat better movement. Calfskkins are strong, with higher quotations for western stock and an improved demand.

A further sharp advance carried cotton to the highest point since early last December, and for the current month alone option prices have risen from $4 to nearly $8 per bale. Speculative trading has broadened. The brilliant outlook for the wheat crops continues to depress values, although speculative influences cause considerable irregularity. Domestic visible supplies are rapidly decreasing, yte this is to be expected at the present juncture, and world's stocks still exceed last year's by a substantial margin.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for April to date amount to $13,392,532, of which $7,578,248 were in manufacturing, $5,411,636 in trading and $402,648 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 232 in the United States against 220 last year, and 24 in Canada compared with 15 a year ago.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A NEW NATIONAL ANTHEM

Fund to be Given the Successful Composer Now Nearly $4,000

Chicago, Ill.—The fund to be given to the man or woman who writes the new American national anthem has reached $3,750 and Dr. J. B. McFatrich, president of the Board of Education, is sure it will far exceed that sum. Interest is extending all over the country. Dr. McFatrich started the fund after he had questioned one hundred representative business men about the present national anthem. Twenty-three only, said Dr. McFatrich, could give him the right answer — "Star-Spangled Banner."

BASEBALL SIGNS.

Their Importance Is Much Greater Than Their Number.

Among the players we do not use the word "signal." With us it is a "sign." There are not as many "signs" used on a ball club as the public would believe. Of course the catcher must "sign" the pitcher for every ball that he throws. That is to prevent confusion or, as we say, to keep from "crossing each other." The catcher has a sign for a curve ball, a fast ball and a slow one.

To ball players all curve balls, such as the drop and the outcurve, are called "a curve." The catcher gives the same sign for any one of them. We do not call a ball that jumps "in" a curve. Ball players do not recognize the incurve. That is called a fast ball. Any ball thrown by a right handed pitcher with sufficient speed will jump inward to a slight degree. The outcurve and drop are unnatural curves, and the ball must be spun in an unnatural manner to get that peculiar "break."

The only other "sign" of importance is the one the batter gives to the runner when he intends to hit the ball. If he wants the runner to start as he swings (the hit and run play) he gives him a certain sign. There are any number of signs used for this play. Sometimes the batter gives it by rubbing his hand over the small end of the bat. Again, he may give it by knocking the dust from his shoes with the big end of the bat.—John J. McGraw in Metropolitan Magazine.

EAST INDIAN RUNNERS.

Kahars Who Can Regularly Make a Hundred Miles a Day.

Ordinary Marathon races seem rather insignificant compared with the regular performances of a certain east Indian caste. These Kahars, also known as Jhinwarb, live in the Punjab, where for centuries they have acted as runners, fishermen and water fowl catchers.

The men are trained runners and are said to be able to go a hundred miles a day without resting. According to Baily's Magazine, there is a well authenticated instance that Tika Ram, the son of Laju Ram, carried dispatches 300 miles in three days—from Meun-Mir to Meerut.

The point discussed, however, is whether the normal exertions of the Kahar post runners and the similar exertions of jinrikisha men shortened their lives, and it appears that the Kahars, trained from childhood to be distance runners, live to be old men. They are not only able to withstand the strain of running great distances under a heavy load, but thrive under it.

The jinrikisha man, too, notwithstanding his irregular diet, excessive use of liquor and exposure to the elements, lives to a reasonable age. In Tokyo when a census was taken of the jinrikisha men a few years ago there were found to be more than 1,300 who were over fifty-five years of age.

Sailing Is So Interesting.

The lady was reading a nautical novel. She struggled along bravely for a few minutes, but finally had to appeal to her husband.

"Gerald," she said, "the author says that the boat was sailing 'wing and wing.' What does that mean? I've been on a yacht, but I never heard that before."

"That means," answered Gerald, rejoicing in the fact that he, too, had spent several hours on a sailing vessel—"that means that the schooner had her mains'l out to port and her fores'l out to starboard, or vice versa."

"Oh, I see!" cried the lady. It's just like a chicken—a wing on each side. And now I understand why they call those little sails in the middle 'jibs.' It's short for 'giblets,' of course. Isn't sailing interesting?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ancient Architecture.

Herr Knauth, the architect in charge of the Cathedral of Strassburg, has shown that the principles of construction followed by the great cathedral builders of former times are identical with those used by the builders of the Egyptian pyramids and are based on triangulation. The same simple geometrical figure underlies all these constructions. More than this, Herr Knauth traces the architectural principle in the formation of crystals and lays down this formula: "The laws of proportion in mediaeval architecture are the geometrical laws of crystallization."

Cause of the Delay.

"Why is your friend staying so long in New York?"

"I don't know—haven't heard which of the two reasons is keeping him."

"Which of the two?"

"Yes, whether he is having too good a time to come away or has spent all his money and can't get away."—Buffalo Express.

THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER.

An Incident That Marked His Spirit and Independence.

In his "Glimpses of the Confederate Army" in the American Review of Reviews Randolph H. McKim writes:

"It seems to me as I look back that one of the things which stood out strongly in the Confederate army was the independence and the initiative of the individual soldier. It would have been a better army in the field if it had been welded together by a stricter discipline, but this defect was largely atoned for by the strong individuality of the units in the column. It was not easy to demoralize a body composed of men who thought and acted in a spirit of independence in battle.

"As an illustration of the spirit of the private soldier I recall an incident to this effect. Major General Gordon had organized a strong column to make a night attack on Grant's lines at Petersburg. When he was ready to move and the order to advance was given a Big Texan stepped out of the ranks and said:

"'General Gordon, this column can't move before 1 a. m. The men have a truce with the Yanks, and it ain't up till 1 o'clock.'

"The column did not move till that hour. The private in the ranks had taken command, and the major general recognized his authority."

PONGEES HARD TO MATCH.

Because Each Piece Is Made From One Lot of Raw Silk.

Pongee silk is the undyed silk of silkworms fed on the leaves of scrub oak chiefly, though other trees are used in some portions of the pongee district. The silk is produced almost exclusively in Shantung province and portions of north China immediately adjacent.

The real pongee cloth, made of this uncolored specially produced silk, is distinct from the pongees of commerce made in all colors from other silk. Each piece of cloth is made from a particular lot of silk, and therefore each piece varies from all other pieces in exact quality, weight and fineness and in a slight degree in color and other qualities.

There are certain general grades of cloth, certain varieties of weave, certain popular weights, etc., but women shopping in Chinese pongees find it very difficult to match pieces, and on the face of things it is practically impossible to furnish any great number of pieces of a certain weight, grade and quality such as a modern clothing manufacturing establishment would require to standardize a certain line of garments from that particular cloth.—New York Sun.

Located His Station.

There was an absentminded bishop in western Ontario, who was constantly finding himself in awkward situations, on account of his extreme abstraction. On a certain occasion he was traveling from London in a northerly direction and found when the conductor approached him that he had forgotten where he was to go. The conductor suggested that he telegraph from the next station and find out his destination. It was before the days of long distance telephones, and the bishop telegraphed to his wife from the first station. "Where was I going?" to be answered at the following station. The answer came, "Exeter; be sure to get off there." The bishop then beamed at the anxious conductor and remarked placidly: "These little difficulties always turn out satisfactorily."—Argonaut.

German Pedigree Book.

There is in Germany what is known as the "German Pedigree Book," or "Deutsches Geschlechterbuch." The purpose of the pedigree book, according to a Berlin correspondent, is to record the ancestry not of nobles, but of bourgeois persons who can prove that they are of genuine middle class or working class ancestry and have no noble blood in their veins. The editor explains in his preface that, while many German nobles "out of court and material considerations have not kept their blood pure, there are many good business class families which have managed to do so." By thus encouraging the proper pride of such families the pedigree book is doing much to eradicate the traditional envy of the nobles.

It Depends on the Dog.

Two Broadway business men met before a bar. They were good friends.

"I'm worried a little," said one. "My chauffeur ran over a dog today and killed it."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about a little thing like that," said the other. "The dog probably got in the way. These dogs are a pest."

"But it was your dog."

"What!" came from the second. "My dog? I'm sorry, but that will cost you $100. That chauffeur of yours is too careless. I insist on the hundred, understand."—New York Telegraph.

Cross Purposes.

"Can you tell me something about the game laws around here?" asked the stranger in Crimson Gulch.

"Well," replied Three Fingered Sam, "I could, but my advice to you would be if you don't know the rules of a game don't try to play it."—Washington Star.

FULTON POWER COMPANIES FIGHTING

Carry Trouble Before Public Service Commission in Albany

Albany, April 26.—When the Oswego River Power Transmission company yesterday asked permission of the Public Service Commission for the construction of a pole line and approval of the exercise of a franchise recently received from the city of Fulton for the furnishing of electricity in that place, it met strenuous objection from the Fulton Light, Heat and Power company and the Fulton Fuel and Light company. These companies respectively serve electricity and gas in Fulton at the present time. In objecting to the entrance of this new company, with the "Niagara" Power, Attorney William D. Gaillard for the Fulton Light, Heat and Power company, vigorously argued that the present service of the company is adequate and its prices reasonable. Since 1902, he stated, over $300,000 has been expended on its plant for improvements.

Anticipating the contention of the new company that the taking away of the riparian rights of the Fulton Light, Heat and Power Company would cripple its efficiency, Mr. Gaillard stated negotiations were now underway for the erection of a steam plant and that arrangements would be made for the use of water for power with the barge canal authorities.

Attorney Eugene M. White for the applicant company, brought to the commission's attention the fact that his company has received a number of applications from mills in the vicinity of Fulton, asking for the delivery of power. He claimed that the existing companies in Fulton were entirely unable to furnish this service.

At an adjourned hearing which the commission will hold in Fulton, an investigation will be made to determine whether or not the Oswego company has acted within its legal rights in stringing wires across two streets in the city of Fulton.

Attorney Gaillard claimed this construction and service to nearby mills was being made without franchise rights, but Attorney White claimed the acquisition of authority had been received from the State Superintendent of Public Works to cross these streets, which he stated, were part of the barge canal property.

Addison D. Merry appeared for the Fulton Fuel and Light company at the hearing.

NEW POLISH CHURCH IN FULTON

Father Pulak, of St. Stephen's Polish church, announced that he would shortly start raising funds among the Poles in Fulton, for a church in that city. A site has already been acquired and Father Pulak hopes to build this Summer. The finishing touches to the new building and the grounds in this city are now being made and within a few weeks Bishop Ludden will come here to consecrate it.—Palladium.

TROLLEY COMPANY INCORPORATED

Articles incorporating the Syracuse Watertown and St. Lawrence River Railroad Company were completed in the offices of Nottingham & Nottingham, general counsel for the Beebe Electric Railway System, last week and filed with the Secretary of the State.

The new railroad company will comprise a part of the Beebe system, and will build, maintain and operate an electric railroad from Syracuse to Brewerton, the latter place being specified in the articles as the present Northerly terminus of the road.

The new road will use the tracks of the South Bay road from Syracuse to Stop 9 at which point it will branch off on its own tracks to Cicero and Brewerton.

The railway company was represented in the right of way transactions by O. J. Coughlin of the real estate department of the Beebe syndicate.

The Syracuse, Watertown and St. Lawrence River railroad is chartered for a period of 200 years and has an initial stock of $1,250,000 consisting of $500,000 of preferred and $750,000 of common stock.

The directors of the new company for the first year are Harold C. Beatty of Skaneateles, Nathan Abelson, William W. Foster, Martin H. Knapp, J. Stanley Moore, Edwin Nottingham, Henry D. Brewster and W. C. Gray of Syracuse and F. K. Hiscock of North Yakima, Wash.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his twenty-five years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe its the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

COMPANY MUST PAY

Judgment of $175 Against American Woolen Company.

County Judge L. C. Rowe has affirmed the judgment of the Fulton City Court in the action of Dr. E. M. Anderson of Fulton vs. the American Woolen company. Dr. Anderson sued to recover for services alleged to have been performed in treating a laborer injured by falling from a scaffolding while engaged in construction work at the plant. He was not an employe of the company. A verdict of $175 with costs for the plaintiff was given and this is sustained. Fred T. Cahill appeared for the respondent and Claude E. Guile of Fulton for the company appellant.

Two of the great prerogatives of the English Kings still remain in their undiminished grandeur—namely the coronation and funeral pageant, nearly all others have been swept away by the victorious march of British democracy.

WORK FOR MR. KANDT

Certain Technical Irregularities to be Corrected by Him

It was learned that County Treasurer Kandt had been straightening out some of the technical matters connected with the administration of his office. It was found that when the school moneys were sent here last year and were then held up, the check was deposited in the Second National Bank and while still held up, this money was drawn upon from time to time for the payment of other county orders until at the time of its release by Commissioner Draper, there was only $2,000 of it left. County Treasurer Fred M. Moore, however, received a receipt of the City Chamberlain for the full amount.

It was also found that when the county funds were low Mr. Moore stamped the orders at his office and sent them to the bank where they would be honored. The amount of orders thus stamped and held in the bank as found, amounted to about $18,600. One of them was dated March 10, 1910, and the others ranged from that date up to the close of 1910.

It is understood that Mr. Kandt will take the matter up to see how the technicalities may best be straightened out. This, if an irregularity, was evidently on the part of Mr. Moore without any intention of benefit to himself.—Oswego Times.

DEATH OF AVERY T. LOW

Central Square, N. Y.—Avery T. Low, sixty-nine years old and a prominent business man, who died at his home in this village last night, will be buried on Friday.

Mr. Low had been in the mercantile business in this village for forty-four years and was postmaster several times. He was a veteran of the Civil War, enlisting in the 110th New York Volunteers, as a private at the age of twenty years, rising to the rank of adjutant.

Besides being a member of the G. A. R. he had been an active Mason forty-four years, holding the office of worshipful master several times. He had also been a supervisor and served on the Board of Education.

He was president of the First Universalist Society and vice-President of the Cayuga Universalist Association.

WADSWORTH ADMITS PRINCIPLES BEATEN

Declares Direct Election of Senators and Direct Primaries are Coming.

James Wadsworth, Jr., former speaker of the New York State assembly, and his wife, who have been touring the continent and Egypt since last January, returning recently on the steamer, Mauretania. They will go to their home in Geneseo, N. Y.

The former speaker said that he believed the recent Democratic victories were accidents and that the Republican party had a grand opportunity at present, which should be seized. He said that he did not believe in direct primaries and was also opposed to the popular election of United States Senators, but was of the opinion that both will come.

A FATHER'S VENGEANCE

would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of kidney trouble. PRIVATE THEATRE FOR FAMILY

The only private amateur theatre in Central New York is being built by Mrs. Thomas McKean on her beautiful estate just north of the village of Cazenovia, between the Ridge and Lake roads. The building is being erected for the use of Mrs. McKean's grandchildren and is to cost about $2,500.

SUPERINTENDENT HOWARD INSPECTS ROADS

Drives New Automobile Like a Veteran—Will Post Drivers as to Torn-up Roads Each Month

Superintendent Howard has completed an inspection of the county roads, improved and unimproved, within the past week, covering the territory in his new automobile. Nearly every town in the county has its own road-making plant and some of the work done compares favorably with the State work. The importance of good roads has dawned upon residents in all sections of the county and the result is that many more miles have been and will be improved this year, than ever before.

The light fall of snow during the past winter permitted the frost to get in its work with full strength and seldom have the roads been worse than in the Spring of 1911. The season is backward, too, and that has been a serious handicap to the early prosecution of the improvement work.

Superintendent Howard proposes the first of each month to notify vehicle drivers throughout the county, using the county papers for that purpose, as to which roads will be torn up and unfit for traffic that month, thus avoiding accidents and much lost time on the part of the drivers. This little attention will be greatly appreciated by all who have occasion to traverse the highways, whether on business or pleasure bent.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. All-Summer Congressional Session

An all-Summer Congressional session, with great activity in the House of Representatives and with characteristic inactvty n the Senate, is forshadowed. The Senate is not yet organized. The House promptly completed its organization, passed the Canadian reciprocity bill, and has presented and partially debated the so-called farmers' free list bill. As is well known, there are complications and side issues. The presidential question, the nomination coming off next year, has much influence in politics and in legislation at the Capitol. There appears as yet but little opposition to the nomination of President Taft by the Republicans for a second term. Straws appear to indicate on the Democratic side a turning in favor of Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. The only apparent active opposition to President Taft is from the adherents of Senator La Follette. The friends of the Senator are active and aggressive and there is of course no telling what the next twelve months may bring forth. Gov. Harmon and Champ Clark, the Speaker of the House, and of course the quadrennial Bryan are always Democratic possibilities. But Gov. Wilson of New Jersey has appealed to the intelligence of the public in a remarkable way. Last week at a banquet in New York, a toast was proposed to the governor of New Jersey and the future president of the United States. Gov. Wilson interrupted and said, "That, of course, means Gov. Dix." "No," replied Mr. Frielinghuysen, a Republican, "that means yourself." Gov. Wilson has apparently converted a flinty, Democratic, trust-strangled State to the doctrine of progressive politics, and he has apparently done it by the force of his character and his will almost unaided and alone. He had long been known as a gentleman, a scholar and a statesman, but only recently has he been brought before the public as a brilliant and practical politician.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock

It ought to be a matter of great satisfaction to millions of people in the United States that the postal deficit has been wiped out. Postmaster-General Hitchcock deserves the highest credit and a bronze monument with more metal in it than there is in some of the equestrian monuments in Washington. To have wiped out a deficit of nearly eighteen millions of dollars in two years is a splendid achievement. With the cooperation of Congress (and the people ought to see that he has it) he can accomplish more. He has one cent postage in view, and it would be easy to attainment if a parcels post were established or if certain other reforms advocated by the Postmaster General were carried out. A bill for one cent postage, backed by the administration, may be introduced in the present extra session and if not it will almost certainly be brought up in the regular session. The Postmaster General will continue to urge the increase of rates on second-class matter from one to four cents a pound. It is refreshing to know that the wiping out of this eighteen million deficit has been reached without in the least impairing postal facilities. The service has actually been extended along desirable lines. Over three thousand new post offices have been established, delivery by letter carriers has been extended to one hundred and forty-two thousand new rural routes, covering over fifty thousand miles in length, have been authorized.

Anything that concerns the capital of the United States ought to be of interest to every citizen of the United States, but the citizen is so much absorbed in the politics of his hamlet, or his metropolis that he gives not much attention to Washington affairs. Victor Berger, the only socialist member in Congress, has been made a member of the District of Columbia Committee and it is said has taken upon himself to reform the Constitution of the United States and "Willow Tree Alley" in Washington. "Willow Tree Alley" is a capital slum section. Mrs. Victor Berger finds the Washington public schools a field for reform, and not without reason. Washington has long been the dumping ground of inefficient teachers and poor text books such as are compiled to sell by callow educators. These books could not be foisted on a community that had the privilege of voting. But Washington is a disfranchised district governed by an ever-shifting Congress—A Congress without responsibility to the citizens of Washington.

RINGLING BROS. AT SYRACUSE

World's Greatest Show Will Exhibit There on Wednesday, May 24

Announcement is made that on Wednesday, May 24, Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Show will give two performances in Syracuse.

As in past years Fulton will send its percentage of the surrounding country to swell the throngs. This is the greatest of American circuses in every sense of the word, and, an event not to be overlooked by the lovers of wholesome amusement.

For many years the Ringling Brothers have maintained the most popular as well as the best show. This year they are more than ever giving patrons their money's worth. Among the many great attractions under the twelve acres of canvas are Prof Emory's troupe of trained baby elephants, the wonderful Schuman performing horses from the Circus Schuman, Germany; "Toque," the dog marvel of England which does a somersaulting performance on the back of a swiftly running horse; the wonderful Alex family of French aerialists; the great Crocker family of Gypsy riders; the Deltorelli family of Hungarian clowns, once entertainers in the court of the Shah of Persia; the Bonsetti family of Italian acrobats, the Castrillion family of Spanish acrobats; the Hodgini family of Italian equestrians, and the fifty greatest clowns on earth.

In the menagerie is found Tiny Tom Tinker, the smallest elephant ever seen in America. In all there are forty elephants and 1,200 other wild beasts, comprising the rarest of zoological specimens. The morning parade is the greatest street spectacle ever devised for circus purposes. There are three miles of it and every mile a mile of wonders.

Ringling Brothers' circus is twenty-eight years old. It began its career as a one-horse affair in Baraboo, Wis when the now famous brothers were scarcely more than children. In the face of the bitterest opposition it grew into the greatest amusement institution the world has ever known. Its field extends over the entire earth. It has offices in every capital of Europe and Asia and foreign workshops near Liverpool. It employs over 2,000 people 1,286 of whom travel with the show.

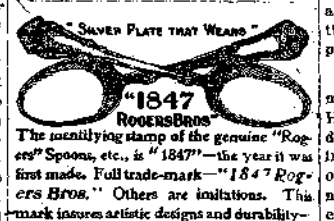
DEATHS

Carrie Jane Storr, aged 35, died at her home in North Seventh street on Friday night. She is survived by her husband, William Storr; one son, John, and her father, Nathan Wood; two brothers and one sister.

After an illness of eight days Mrs. Mary Ranklin Wickes, wife of Dr. William K. Wickes of the Central High school, Syracuse, succumbed to apoplexy last week at the Hospital of the Good Shepherd. She was stricken at dinner on Easter Sunday.



The death of Francis H. Kenyon, aged 79, occurred on Friday at his home in Hannibal street. The funeral services were held from the late home on Monday morning and the body was taken to Liverpool by Undertaker Brown for interment. Rev. John Richards of Syracuse was the officiating clergyman. The widow and one daughter survive.

Oswego Times: The funeral of Albert Emory Inman, the infant child of Florence M. and Albert A. Inman, will take place from the residence of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Emory, No. 156 West Bridge street, tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. The sympathy of a large number of friends is extended the bereaved parents.

Announcement has been received in Fulton of the death in Warrensburg, Mo., on April 27, of Ellen Savage, aged 63, a former resident of Gilberts Mills, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gilbert, after an illness of over three weeks, her husband having preceeded her to the grave by a few weeks. The deceased was married on June 29, 1876, and removed to the town in which she died, in 1879. The funeral services were held from the late home on April 29.

Palladium: Mrs. Marion A. Cook, one of the well known residents of this city, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Mentro on the Boulevard at five o'clock Wednesday night. Mrs. Cook was 71 years of age and had been an invalid for the past 35 years. She had been seriously ill for only a short time. Born in Canada, she came to this city as a girl and has always resided here since that time. She was a member of St. Mary's church. Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Fred Mentro of this city and Mrs. Adelbert Ferguson of Fulton, nine grandchildren, three greatgrandchildren, and one brother, Captain S. Lefaiver of this city.

Last week's Times contained brief mention of the death of Edgar A. Waugh, who passed away that day at his home in Albany from the effect of apoplexy, he having sustained several strokes within the past year. The deceased had been in Fulton two weeks previous to his death to attend the funeral services of his mother. He was in feeble health then and he continued to fail until the end came. The deceased, who was 53 years of age, was born in Buffalo, but he was a resident for many years of this city where he had a wide circle of friends. During the past seventeen years he had been connected with the State departments in Albany, being first in the Educational department and later and up to the time of his demise, connected with the Excise department. For several years prior to entering the State departments, he was cashier in the Oswego Custom House. The remains were brought to Fulton and the funeral services were held on Thursday, the Rev. C. L. Peck officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The deceased is survived by his widow and two neices.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Bruce Waugh is confined to her home with serious illness.

Mrs. H. H. Highriter has been entertaining her neice, Mrs. Pitcher, of Auburn.

Mr. Irving Ellis has accepted a position with a western manufacturing concern.

Larkin Smith is ill with diphtheria at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Larkin Torrey.

Miss Louise VanWagenen left today for Lake Placid, where she will be the guest of friends for the summer.

Dr. Frank Dunn, a well known veterinary surgeon of this city, is at his home suffering from blood poisoning.

Hon. I. G. Hubbs was in Fulton on a brief business trip on Saturday. Mr. Hubbs is a candidate for the supreme court justiceship nomination on the Republican ticket and reports much encouragement in his quest.

Work on the DeBarber block, formerly the Savings bank building, is being rapidly pushed forward and the expectation is that the new front and the floors will soon be installed. The cementing of the basement is practically completed.

Mr. J. A. Bower of Cedar Rapids, Mich., has succeeded Mr. John McSweeney as manager of the Fulton Fuel & Light Company's plant in this city. Mr. Bower is a practical gas man and he aims to give Fulton gas users excellent satisfaction.

The many friends of Mr. Daniel Brannan in this city are hopeful that Canal Superintendent Hartnett will find it possible to appoint Mr. Brannan to the canal clerkship. There are rumors that the appointment may go to an Oswego man but Fulton objects.

Grading the grounds around the Savings bank building has added considerably to the appearance of that section of the street. It is expected that the side walks will be placed outside the tree line in Rochester street, between First and Second, within a short time.

The work on the MacNamara store is so nearly completed now that it is safe to state that next week the firm will occupy their new quarters. H. Rosenbloom will then remove to the store vacated by MacNamara and the work of remodelling the Bee Hive block into a modern bank building for the First National bank will be prosecuted with vigor.

Many improvements have been made in the Congregational church this Spring, the dining room and kitchen having been repainted, a lavatory, closet, coal bins, etc., installed. Rev. and Mrs. Charles Olmstead are such unceasing workers that they inspire all the society with a like ambition, the result being that the society is progressive and prosperous.

The regular meeting of the Common Council was held at the City Hall on Tuesday evening. It was decided to purchase two fireproof cabinets for the records of the Board of Public Works and the City Engineer's office. An ordinance was adopted defining the duties of the City Sealer of Weights and Measures. This ordinance has been approved by the State Department. Hereafter all dealers in coal, coke and charcoal shall, with each load of their products, deliver a receipt giving the exact weight and shall keep a duplicate in his office. The salary of the city sealer was fixed at $50 per month. The matter of violations of the bicycle ordinance was taken up and the police were instructed to arrest all bicyclists who persist in riding on the sidewalks.

PALERMO

L. CARL BARGENT NOT A CANDIDATE

Will Complete Law Course at Syracuse—School Directors to Meet.

Interest in educational circles in this county is centered on the first meeting of school directors, which will be held on Tuesday, May 16th. The meeting place in each district will be officially designated by the County Clerk. The first district consists of the towns of Orwell, Boylston, Sandy Creek and Redfield. As Sandy Creek is the only one of these towns possessing train facilities or a High school, it has been suggested as the proper meeting place.

In the second district, which comprises the towns of Parish, Richland, Albion and Williamstown, Pulaski has been suggested. Pulaski is centerally located in the district and would be accessible by rail both from Parish on the Syracuse line and from Williamstown and Altmar on the Utica line. At the first meeting the Board of School Directors will be formally organized but a district superintendent will not be elected until the second meeting in August.

School Commissioner L. Carl Sargent of Sandy Creek, will not be a candidate for the District Superintendency but will resume his study of law upon the completion of his present term as School Commissioner on January 1st, next. He lacks but half a year of completion of the law course at Syracuse University and upon his graduation will take up the practice of law.—Times.

Even Children Can Operate it with Safety

The General Electric Radiant Toaster is such a simple device that even children can operate it with perfect safety. And this Toaster is as scientific as it is safe and simple. It makes scientific Toast because its radiant heat forces the absolutely necessary chemical change in the bread. This means Perfect Toast in any degree that pleases your individual taste—Toast as digestible as it is delicious.

Time required: less than two minutes. Cost per slice: one-tenth of a cent.

In addition to its utility and economy the General Electric Radiant Toaster is distinctly unique and ornamental. You can operate it anywhere in the house where there is an ordinary lighting socket; just attach the plug, turn the switch, and almost instantly the coils become radiant with a cheerful glow on the shining porcelain base.

After you have used the General Electric Radiant Toaster just one time you will follow thousands of others in saying, "why haven't I had this Toaster before?"

"RECESSIONAL'S" INDEBTEDNESS TO TRADITION

A correspondent of the New York Evening Post—Mr. Homer E. Woodbridge of Colorado Springs—points out that Mr. Kipling's "Recessional"—"perhaps the best-known poem written in English within the past few years," and by no means lacking in originality—is heavily indebted to tradition.

Of course, its chief debt is to the Bible; it is full of Scriptural phrases. It owes something also to familiar hymns, such at Watt's "O God, our help in ages past." A friend recently called my attention to the resemblance in thought between the first two lines of the second stanza,

The tumult and the shouting dies,
The captains and the kings depart,

and some lines in Lowell's "Commemoration Ode:"

Great captains with their guns and drums
Disturb our judgment for the hour,
But at last silence comes;
These all are gone.

I recently noticed that another line in the poem,

Dominion o'er the palm and vine,

seems to have been borrowed from Emerson's "Woodnotes."

And grant to dwellers with the pine
Dominion o'er the palm and vine.

If we add these lines to the ones showing the influence of Scripture or hymns, there will remain barely three or four lines in the poem unaccounted for; and it would be rash to say that even these owe nothing to tradition.

Mr. Woodbridge has the grace—and sense—to add that this detracts nothing from the originality of "Recessional," for whatever "originality" may mean in literature. "It does not mean independence of literary origins."—New York Times Review.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will clear the sour stomach, sweeten the breath and create a healthy appetite. They promote the flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing good digestion. Sold by all dealers.

Another trouble is that the average prominent citizen becomes so much less excited about election frauds than about those perpetrated by the umpire.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

MARK TWAIN'S VOICE FOREVER SILENCED

Mr. Albert Bigelow Paine has been hard at work since last autumn on his Life of Mark Twain. He is very desirous, by the way, of receiving copies (or the originals) of Mark's letters to his many correspondents. His workshop, "Markland," is at Redding, Conn., where Mr. Clemens died. Before long he will visit several of the humorist's places of abode—Hartford, London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Florence, etc.—combining work with recreation. In clearing out rubbish from the "Storm-field" attic, after the departure of Mr. Clemens's daughter, Mrs. Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Mr. Paine came upon a set of phonographic records of Mark Twain's voice, containing his seventieth birthday speeches, which had been missing since the removal from 21 Fifth Avenue to Redding and given up as lost. Unhappily, the wax of which the rolls were made had melted or decomposed, and while the change was imperceptible to the eye, nothing intelligible could be got from them when they were inserted in a phonograph. So the familiar voice of the famous humorist is probably lost to the world forever.

MAY COMPEL SEWER CONNECTIONS

Board of Health Insist Upon City Being Sanitary—Would Do Away With Outhouses as They Menace Health—Excellent Move.

Health Officer Cusack proposes to inspect the city and insist upon it that conditions become, and speedily, as sanitary as can be found in the State. It is a lamentable fact that there are some property owners so careless of the life and health of tenents and neighbors, as to insist upon the most unhealthful conditions being maintained and endured, to save a slight expenditure which could easily be refunded to themselves from the increased rental value of the property.

ANIMALS' TOILETS.

Fur Seals Are as Particular as Women In Fixing Up.

The cat carries her clothesbrush in her mouth, for with her rough tongue she cleanses her glossy coat as a boy brushes off his clothes. She licks one of her front paws and rubs it over her face and she is ready for her breakfast.

Foxes, dogs and wolves do not use their mouths when they need to wash and brush, but scratch themselves vigorously with their hind paws and are as fresh as ever.

The cow with her long, rough tongue combs her coat of hair until it is clean and curly. The horse more than any other animal depends on his owner to keep his coat in proper condition, but often he will roll on the green grass or rub himself down against a tree or fence.

Field mice comb their hair with their hind legs, and the fur seal in a similar manner spends as much time as a woman in making herself look smart.

Although the elephant appears to be thick skinned and callous, he takes great care of his skin. He often gives himself a shower bath by drawing water into his long trunk and blowing it on the different parts of his body. After the bath he sometimes rolls himself in a toilet preparation of dust to keep off the flies.—Our Dumb Animals.

GAMBLED FOR A GIRL.

Prince Lucien Bonaparte Won a Bride From His Brother Pierre.

It is said that the two brothers, Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte and Prince Pierre, in their early youth when shooting mouflons in the mountains in Corsica, came across a beautiful peasant girl with whom they both fell violently in love.

Who she was and whether she favored both brothers or neither I cannot tell. Be that as it may, they quarreled. Les preux chevaliers of old would no doubt in similar occurrence have had recourse to lance and sword. The Corsican princes decided to play for their belle a game of cards. They went to the nearest inn and wrote and signed a paper agreeing that whichever won the game should marry the lady fair. Prince Lucien won and, faithful to his word, a short time after married her.

She never left the island as far as I know. Prince Lucien lived in England, securing to her a comfortable income, which she received till her death, somewhere about the spring of 1891.—From the Princess Murat's Memoirs.

Flower Perfumes.

A garden full of flowers is more fragrant when shadowed by a cloud than when bathed in sunshine; at least that is the conclusion to which experiments of a French scientist lead. He asserts that it is light and not, as commonly believed, oxygen that exerts the greatest influence in deserving odors. According to the same authority, the intensity of the perfume given off by a flower depends upon the relation between the pressure of water in the cells of the plant, which tends to drive out the essential oils that cause the odor, and the action of the sunlight, which tends to diminish water pressure in the cells. Sprinkling the plant increases the turgescence and as a consequence a more copious production of perfume. At night the air round a flower bed is heavy with odors, because then their emanation is not opposed by the sunlight.—New York Tribune.

The Shapes of Eggs.

There was recently had before the Zoological society of London a mathematical discussion of the differences in the shape of eggs. A few eggs, like those of the owl and the tortoise, are spherical, or nearly so; a few, like the grebe's or the cormorant's, are elliptical, with symmetrical ends; the great majority, like the hen's, are ovoid, or blunter at one end than the other. The hen's egg is always laid blunt end foremost. Eggs that are the most unsymmetrical are also eggs of large size relatively to the parent bird. The yolks of eggs are spherical, whatever the form of the entire egg may be. This has been shown to be due to their being inclosed in a fluid, the "white," which makes the pressure everywhere on the surface of the yolk practically constant.—Scientific American.

Just a Bit Too Apt.

To eke out his salary the people of a small country church gave their pastor a donation party, among the presents being a fine new dress coat for the pastor and a pretty bonnet for his wife.

On the following Sunday as they walked up the aisle in their new habiliments the choir inadvertently struck out with the voluntary—much to the discomfiture of the sensitive clergyman and his wife—"Who are these in bright array?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Young, but Wise.

"But mamma thinks I am too young to marry."

"Why should she think that? You're much older than she was when she got married, aren't you?"

"Yes, but father was drawing a much larger salary at the time than you're getting."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Practiced, but Not Perfect.

Jack—I'll be frank with you. You are not the first girl I've kissed by any means. Maud—And I'll be equally frank with you. You have a great deal to learn, even at that.—Boston Transcript.

Resolve not to be poor: whatever you have, spend less.—Dr. Johnson.

HUMAN SKULL PUZZLE.

A Cavity That May Have Been the Seat of a Sixth Sense.

Despite the progress of physiology the study of the human body is full of mystery. Some of its well known organs have never revealed either their uses or the reason of their creation. The part played by the spleen in human life was discovered but recently. It is now regarded as one of the principal agents in the circulation of the blood. But there are in the marvelous human organism mysterious parts which it is possible that no savant, however profound his learning, may ever understand. For instance, in the skull, behind the cartilage of the nose, there is a little cavity of unknown origin. Physiologists believe that at one time—several thousand generations ago—it contained a gland consisting of two lobes joined by their common base.

This cavity—the delta turcica—is, in the opinion of certain savants, the vestige of a sixth sense which was of great use to the antediluvian ancestors of man. It is believed that this little gland enabled them to see in the darkness when they had not yet learned the secret of procuring light; that it was the seat of the mysterious sense of situation or locality, the power to orient their course, the sense so highly developed to this day in savages and certain animals. The theory is plausible, but it is doubtful whether man will ever acquire any real knowledge of the reason for the existence of the delta turcica.—Exchange.

NESTS IN COLONIES.

Homes of the African Grosbeaks as Big as a Native's Hut.

The biggest bird's nest in the world, not excepting the stork's, is built by the African grosbeak. It is really 100 nests or more bound together with closely interwoven sticks, vines and strands of coarse grass and is not built by a single pair of birds, but by a colony of them. It is of such enormous size that at a little distance it is often mistaken for one of the native huts built in the trees so frequently found in wild tropical countries where man eating animals abound, and the only way to sleep in safety is to "roost high."

The birds usually select a thorn tree, probably because of the protection afforded by the sharp, long thorns against marauders. All around the nest the roof of sticks, thatched with dry grass, projects to let the rain run off. A deep fringe of grass hangs from this cornice like a curtain to keep out any stray drops. These great nests are added to from year to year, each pair of mated birds building on the main nest. Sometimes the nest becomes too heavy, and the branch breaks or the great mass of sticks falls to the ground, destroyed by its own weight. The grosbeak is no larger than an English sparrow and just as gregarious.—New York Press.

Honesty Extraordinary.

A traveler writing in an Italian magazine says that the Swiss canton of Ticino is inhabited by the most honest folk it is possible to imagine. In most of the Ticinese villages, the writer says, the oldest inhabitants do not remember any case of thieving, however petty, within a lifetime. Lost objects when found must never be taken away; they must be left where they were dropped or placed in a conspicuous position so that the rightful owner can find his property more easily. The case is cited of an American woman tourist who lost her purse on an excursion in the Val Capriasca. The purse contained gold coin and a jeweled watch. Upon returning from her trip she found the purse with its contents intact on a little heap of leaves, so placed that it could not fail to attract her attention.—New York Sun.

The Parsees of India.

It was at a point near the ancient city of Surat that the Parsees first landed in India when driven out of Persia by their Mohammedan conquerors eleven centuries ago. Few things are more remarkable than the manner in which this small community has retained its religion and racial characteristics unchanged during that long period. The peculiar style of headdress worn by the Parsees is said to have been made compulsory by the Hindo king of India when the Parsees first obtained refuge in that country, and they have used it ever since. Today the Parsees are the leading commercial nation of India.

Told Him in Few Words.

A man once wrote to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher, saying that he had heard he smoked and could not believe it to be true. Would Mr. Spurgeon write and tell him if it really was so? The reply was:

"Dear Sir—I cultivate my flowers and burn my weeds. Yours truly, C. H. Spurgeon."

Puzzling.

Millions—Do you think you will learn to like your titled son-in-law? Billions—I don't know. I can't tell where to place him in my expense account. He is neither a recreation nor an investment.

A Child Wonder.

"What a wonderful memory your child has for names and faces!"

"Yes," replied the proud mother. "She never fails to recognize any of her former stepfathers."—Judge.

True glory consists in so living as to make the world happier and better for our living.—Pliny.

The Daughters recently assembled in Washington are surely descendents of the Revolutionary fathers. Their delight in passages at arms shows it. The movement to put ginger snaps on the free list looks suspiciously like an effort to influence the Summer excursion vote.

Representative O'Neill, who indulged in a fight in the Minnesota legislature, may be planning to become the "white man's hope" but the legislature chamber is a poor place in which to train.

Wisconsin has passed resolutions condemning one of its Senators for voting for Lorimer and commending the other for voting against him. Massachusetts wouldn't do such a thing as that.

Wellington and Napoleon are the names of two towns in the same county in Kansas. And now, midway between them the new town of Waterloo has been started.

One of the disturbing things about this Mexican fuss is the prospect of a new crop of Rough Riders.

Frank Viscome who has been in the Lee Memorial hospital for some time as the result of a pistol shot wound which he alleged was inflicted by a fellow countryman, will now be tried on a charge of perjury as he identified his assailant the day of the rumpus and when confronted by his alleged assailant. Viscome denied that he was the man that did the shooting. Viscome in jail in Oswego awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

If Inspector of Weights and Measures O'Brien can by being early and late on the job, bring about honest measures for Fultonians he proposes to do so. He did not find many "false bottoms" in weights and measures in the reputable business places, but he finds berry baskets and other measures shipped in from the outside world, far removed from being up to the standard. Strawberry baskets are the objects of his especial care just at the present moment. Boxes don't go any longer; they must either be pint or quart or they must be "returned to sender" in a mussed condition. The consumer is to come into his own at last.

S. E. Chandler Writes Norm G. Cooper Interestingly and His Heart is With His Comrades at This Time—Makes Suggestion Regarding Roll Call That Might Well be Acted Upon.

Mr. S. E. Chandler, a former Fulton boy, who has prospered in the west, writes his old comrade, Norm G. Cooper, as follows regarding the anniversary of his company to take place in this city on Saturday, May 6:

Minneapolis, Minn., April 24, '11.
N. G. Cooper, Fulton, N. Y.,

My dear Norm: Your letter urging me to attend the fiftieth anniversary of the dearture of Company E for the war, which will be held at Fulton, May 6, is at hand, but circumstances are such that it will be impossible for me to be with you at that time.

I want to suggest that all the members of Company E who will be in attendance at the reunion march up First street and form in line in front of the Case House where we formed fifty years ago and that the old flag "all tattered and torn" be in evidence and that the roll of the company be called by one of the members and as each name is called have some one answer as for the records, "killed at Groveton," "died during the war," "died since the war," and so on to the end of the roster. It seems pathetic when I think of the company as it existed fifty years ago and as it will appear now. Then there were nearly a hundred stalwart young men; full of life and vigor. Now, there may be not to exceed ten, and perhaps less than that number, all old men.

How well I remember that day, how the ladies came along the line and pinned rosettes made of red, white and blue ribbon, on our coats and to each one of us a bible was given.

Each company that served during the war was a community of itself, made up of all kinds of men. Each man having his own peculiar ways; no two alike. Company E was no exception to this rule, but with a few exceptions the company would average up to as high a standard as any.

At this late day, after fifty years, we can think only of the good qualities of each man. The fact that they were serving their country in her hour of need will out weigh any trivial short coming. It is an old story, one that I have told year after year, but I want to tile it again, that my health is as good today as it ever was, with practically not an ache or pain from one years end to another and I feel truly thankful to my loving Heavenly Father for this good health. God bless the boys of Company E. It is my prayer that we may be spared for years and when we are called hence we may all be ready to answer "Here" in the "Sweet bye and bye." Chan.

It appears to be as painful to be shot on the border as elsewhere.

YOU! "Mister" Business Man

Are you playing safe in the matter of insurance? Could you pay, dollar for dollar, all you owe in case of the destruction of your property by fire?

In the event of a conflagration sweeping your business out of existence, and with it perhaps the savings of a lifetime, are you protected by enough good, sound insurance to put you "on your feet again?"

These are serious questions and the issue is one you cannot avoid. You cannot afford to take chances. Property losses in this country are mounting steadily upward.

Keep fully insured and charge the item into the selling price of your goods, the same as rent, interest or taxes.

We solicit your insurance business.

SURROGATE'S COURT

Surrogate Miller has re-assessed the transfer tax on the estate of Sarah Evelyn Hill, late of Pulaski, the amount being fixed at $1,644.56. The attorneys in the case fixed the amount at $1,583.57.

Surrogate Miller on Monday decided that hens are to be considered a part of a man's estate provided he actually owned the poultry at the time of his death. This momentous issue was brought up in the estate of Chauncey Dunham, late of Amboy, by his daughter, Mary L. Humphries of Williamstown. Letters were issued a few days ago on Mr. Dupham's estate to his widow, Mrs. Humphries' stepmother, Sarah F. Dunham. Mrs. Humphries in her letter to the Surrogate says that Mrs. Dunham claimed the chickens as her own personal property while the daughter believed that the hens having been raised from eggs purchased or owned by the deceased should be included in the estate. It was also stated that the chickens would have to be caught at night in order to be gathered together and sold. Mrs. Humphries stated that she estimated their value at 50 cents each. As there are forty of the fowls this would make their total value $20. The Surrogate sustains Mrs. Humphries, providing she can show that the hens were owned by Mr. Dunham at the time of his death and that they had not been transferred to his wife. John Hall was appointed appraiser of the estate, which is valued at $1,600.

Letters were issued on the estate of Mary A. Sturgis, late of Phoenix, to George B Sturgis. The value is $1,500 real and $250 personal.

Letters of administration were issued Monday on the estate of Carrie J. Hammond, to her son Glenn R. Loomis. The estate is estimated at $600 real and $300 personal.

Letters were also issued on the estate of Mrs. Bridget O'Brien late of Constantia to Patrick O'Brien. The estate is valued at but $80 personal.

An order was issued requesting the County Treasurer to appraise the estates of Mary E. Sanford and Almina Watson under the transfer tax law.

FRIGHTFUL RAIL-ROAD WRECK

Father Lindsman's Sister Killed and Body Destroyed by Flames—Eight Other Teachers Hurried to Death in Destruction of Excursion Train—All Living Excursionists Return Home.

A special train carrying 169 school teachers and their friends from Utica and Syracuse, bound for Washington, D. C., for a holiday, was wrecked on the Belvidere-Delaware division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Martins Creek, N. J., on Saturday afternoon. Nine passengers are missing and they are all believed to be dead.

The train was travelling at a rate of fifty miles an hour and when the locomotive struck a sharp curve, where men had been repairing the tracks, it jumped and ran along a hillside, carrying four of the five cars with it. All the cars took fire and burned like tinder. Not a splinter is left.

Among the excursionists were the Misses Louise and Cecelia Lindsman, sisters of the Rev. J. L. Lindsman, and residents of Utica. In the collision Louise was instantly killed and Cecelia was painfully injured, being cut and bruised about head, face hands and body. A telegram to Father Lindsman in this city conveying the news of the wreck and the probability that his sisters had met death was the first information Fulton had relative to the accident. Father Lindsman hastened to the scene of the wreck to find his worst fears confirmed. One sister was dead and the greedy flames had done their work until hardly a vestige of the young woman could be found, a pair of gold cuff links found in the ruins being the only means of identifying with any degree of certainty the place in which the body had been.

Miss Cecelia Lindsman was removed to a nearby farmhouse and a physician was summoned to attend to her injuries. The brave girl begged him not to care for her but to return at once to the wreck and try to locate her sister, that she feared she might be lost. She was so insistent that the doctor, after telling her to remain quietly in bed, left to do as he was requested. He had no sooner reached the railroad than he saw near him a girl who so closely resembled his patient of a few moments before that he was sure he had found the object of his quest and alive. Upon approaching her he was shocked to find that it was his patient, who, almost beside herself with anxiety for her sister, had overcome her own suffering and returned to the wreck, hoping to assist in the search for her sister.

The deepest sympathy of the community goes out to Father Lindsman and his mother and sisters in their affliction. The deceased young woman, who was a popular instructor in a Utica school, had a wide circle of friends in Fulton where she had frequently visited her brother, and her untimely and sad death is deplored by all. The fragments of the body were removed to Utica on Tuesday from where the funeral services will be held.

One of the heroes developed by the accident was District Passenger Agent W. S. Cummings of Syracuse, who accompanied the excursion. Himself pinned under wreckage until the flames were within a foot of him and suffering from shock and painful injuries, he refused medical attendance or to be removed to a hospital and worked strenuously to assist the victims. When all that could be done, had been, he returned to his home in Syracuse where he is confined to his bed suffering severely. Mr. Cummings is well known to many Fultonians.

MARRIED

Congratulations are being extended Patrolman William Alec Pare, the "Beau Brummel" of the local police force, on his marriage last Wednesday in Syracuse to Miss Margaret Ruland of the Holy Trinity church. Was solemnized by the Rev. Fother Mr. and Mrs. Pare have returned from their bridal trip and will make their future home in Fulton.

On Wednesday at the parochial residence of the Church of the Immaculate Conception occurred the marriage of Miss Mabel Torrey and Mr. Bernard Doyle. The bride, who wore a going away gown of blue with white hat, was attended by Miss Gertrude Wright. The best man was Mr. E. Raymond Briggs. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle left immediately for a bridal trip to Niagara Falls and they will make their future home in this city.

Mexico having taken her insurrection out or range the war scarers occupation is temporarily gone.

REUNION OF COMPANIES E & H

Inspiring Record of the Gallant 24th Infantry in War of Rebellion—Silk Flag Presented May 6, 1861, Still Preserved—Formal Notice of Reunion.

The re-union of Co.'s E and H of the 24th New York Infantry to be held next Saturday in G. A. R. hall, reminds us that the regiment has to its credit the following skirmishes and battles in Old Virginia and two in Maryland:

Near Baily's Cross roads, Virginia Falls Church, Falmouth, Massapoulx, Rappahannock River, Sulphur Springs, Gainsville, Groveton, Bull Run second, Little River Turnpike, South Fredericksburg and Burnsides, Mud March, Pollocks' Mill Creek, and Chancellorsville.

One hundred and twenty-two of the regiment lost their lives while in the service and many more came home to die among their friends soon after their discharge from the army. It would seem that our citizens ought to be proud of their record. The regiment will meet in the Armory in Oswego May 17, and celebrate the fact that it is fifty years from the date they were mustered by Uncle Sam into regimental form.

The beautiful silk flag which was presented to Co. E, 24th New York Infantry on May 6, 1861, will be seen at the reunion of the company at the G. A. R. hall, May 6, 1911. This flag was made by hand by Fulton women and if any of them are alive the soldier boys of the company would be greatly pleased to know it. Mrs. F. C. Mosher has cared for it tenderly many years.

This company was the first one to leave this city for the purpose of saving the Union, and it will add to their pleasure if the citizens will decorate the stores and homes with the grand flag of freedom which is now our emblem of liberty and a united country.

Co. H of the same regiment, which left a week later, will join in the reunion. The first company was under Captain O. J. Jennings, now of Port Royal, Va., and the Second Under Captain Albert Taylor, deceased. The survivors who are present are expected to meet at 10 a. m., but most of the exercises we understand will be in the afternoon.

Citizens will be welcomed.

Fulton, N. Y., April 21, 1911.

Dear Comrade: The 21st annual reunion of Companies E and H, 24th Regiment New York Infantry, will be held at Fulton, in G. A. R. Hall, May 6th, 1911. As this is the fiftieth anniversary of the Companies leaving Fulton for the seat of war, it is very desirous that all comrades now living be present to celebrate on that occasion.

If not able to come please send greetings so we may hear from every comrade at that time.

Yours in F., C. and L.

Thomas Coles, Secretary.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, O., "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica salve and my foot soon completely cured." Heals burns, boils, sores, bruises, eczema, pimples, corns. Surest piles cure. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

HARRIS IN PULASKI

Pulaski, May 1.—B. H. Harris who operated with worthless checks in Fulton lately, was also successful here, it transpires. He called for mail at the Randall House and was handed a letter, from which he drew a draft for $100 on a fictitious New York bank, which the proprietor cashed.

How Much Can You Save?

EVERY person who receives an income should ask, "How much money can I save?" Once the question has been decided, the greatest fidelity should be exercised in carrying out the resolution. Lay aside that portion of your income that you intend to save and deposit it with the bank at interest. Your money will then earn money and become a splendid helper, providing a larger income. Interest is like an increase in your salary.

FREE TO ALL THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

Public Spirited Firm of Dey Brothers & Company, Syracuse, Use The Times as Distributing Medium for Giving 1,500 Silver Leaf Maple Trees to Fulton School Children---Will Be Ready for Distribution at 2:30 o'Clock on Friday.

The firm of Dey Brothers & Company, Syracuse, which is well known to the residents of our city, is not only one of the most progressive in the Empire State but they are more than a mere money making institution. They look with a kindly eye upon their fellow man, and from him down to the children. In confirmation of this statement the Times calls attention to he wholesale distribution of trees to school children, thousands of them—26,000 in the city of Syracuse alone—having been distributed last week by this firm. Nor is the pleasure and profit to the children the only point taken into consideration by Messrs. Dey Brothers in selecting the gift they would bestow. Mindful of the rapid disappearance of the trees and the timber from our country and the slight effort made to replace the same, they conceived the happy thought of distributing the beautiful trees, 1,500 of which will be ready for distribution on Friday of this week to the school children of Fulton. Accompanying each tree will be printed instructions as to the best manner for planting and caring for the trees.

Dey Brothers & Company have pressed the Times into service in the distribution end of the project and the trees will be handed each child calling at the Times Office, 86 First street, opposite the City Hall, at 2:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon of this week. It does not matter whether or not the child is a student in the local schools, if he or she be of school age and willing to make the effort to call at the office at or near that hour, if they come from the most remote section of the county they will be as welcome. The trees will be handed out by boys from the High school and each child may have one to ornament his yard if he so pleases, as long as the lot lasts. It is estimated that there are about 3,000 school children in Fulton alone and it will be a case of first come first served.

CONTAILMENT OF SUNDAY WORK

New Regulations Went Into Effect at Local Postoffice Last Week and Proved Satisfactory to Patrons and Federal Employes.

The curtailment of Sunday work at the Postoffice—under a new order issued by the Department—went into effect last Sunday and worked most harmoniously. The patrons of the office evinced a laudable disposition to act in conjunction with the spirit manifested by the officials in arranging to give carriers and clerks in the service one day's rest in seven—to which no reasonable person could object.

There are however some features of the new arrangement which are not understood. The patrons of the office who are not provided with either call or lock boxes—which may be rented — can not reasonably expect the clerks to look over 200 to 300 letters in order to find out if the long-looked-for letter has arrived. If the letter longed-for can be described by those interested it may be sent to any address within the corporate limits of the city by leaving proper instructions and 10 cents to pay for special delivery service.

Firms and corporations are also warned against unintentional imposition, as no favoritism can be shown in the handling of mail.

The new regulation is specially prohibitive of unreasonable demands and it is earnestly hoped that patrons will exercise patience and discrimination and not exact from clerks, whose duty is to wait at the general delivery window from 9:15 to 10:15 a. m. each Sunday morning, to deliver mail and sell postage stamps, a greater amount of service than the Department requires they should render on the Sabbath day.

HANDSOME NEW STORE

Mr. William MacNamara has removed into his handsome new store, in First street, directly opposite Cayuga street. The store has been remodelled and presents a very attractive appearance from the street and is most modern, convenient and light within.

There are four floors all easy of access by the means of broad stairways. Each floor is brilliantly illuminated with electric lights, a 500-watt tungsten in the center of the store gives a light to rival the sun. In all there are 80-arc lights of great candle power in the store making each floor as light as day when they are needed.

The first floor will be devoted to 4c, 9c and 23c departments and rare bargains will be found therein. The second floor will be used exclusively for wall papers, rugs, curtains, linoleums and curtains. The third floor will be given over to dry goods and notions while on the fourth floor will be found at all times a representative line of ready-to-wear garments for ladies, misses and children.

One of the most modern inventions and the only one thus far installed in Fulton, is a clock with an window lights. Mr. MacNamara can electric time switch to control the set the guage at any hour he wishes the lights to come on in his windows and also the length of time he wishes them to burn. When the hours arrive the lights will turn on and off with as great regularity and certainty as though the proprietor was present.

Taken in its entirety the newly remodelled store is one of the most attractive places to be found in Fulton and occupies a very advantageous position. From its plate glass bay window on the fourth floor a commanding view of the business and other sections of the city may be secured.

SEALED PROPOSALS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Public works of Fulton, N. Y., at the office of the Board of Public Works at 8 p. m. on May 29, 1911, for the construction of bituminous macadam pavement with natural stone curb and brick gutters on Cayuga street, from the East line of South Third street to the West line of South Fifth street, Fulton, N. Y.

The City Engineer's estimate is as follows:

2440 sq. yds. bituminous macadam.
560 sq. yds. brick gutter.
1710 lin. ft. natural stone curb.
90 lin. ft. natural stone headers.
2 re-model man-holes.
720 sq. ft. new cement side walks.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $500 drawn to the order of George B. Dowel, City Chamberlain, signed by the bidder and without condition or endorsement of any kind as evidence of good faith.

The successful bidder will be requested to furnish a bond acceptable to the Board of Public Works in the penal sum of 50 per cent. of the contract price. Plans are on file in the office of the City Engineer of Fulton, N. Y.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

J. A. FOSTER,
President Board of Public Works.
Dated, Fulton, May 10, 1911. 5.24

ORGANIZE RIFLE AND GUN CLUB

A number of the rifle and shot gun enthusiasts in this city propose to organize a club to become affiliated with the National Rifle Association. A meeting was scheduled for last week but there was so much going on that the attendance at the meeting was small. A second meeting will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the City Hall to which all who are interested are asked to be present and discuss the project.

Dr. H. L. Lake has all the necessary information relative to organizing under the rules and regulations of the National Association that the members may have the privilege of purchasing the army rifles and ammunition at cost, and he will explain the matter at the meeting Friday.

An option has been secured on Elmer Taylor's 6-acre farm at Stop 27, on which can be arranged a 600-yard rifle range. The expectation is that a very successful club will be organized and that there will be spirited contests this summer.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Harry C. Mizen has sold his farm in the town of Scriba to Andrew J. Baker for $400.

Faustina H. Langdon has sold fifteen acres of land on the Plank road, Granby, to Mayor Conners, of Fulton.

MANUFACTURERS TO REPAIR BREAK

Break In Canal Wall Costs Manufacturers $1,000 Per Day —State Cannot Take Up Repair Work at Present—Will Take Month to Complete.

Sunday a further break in the canal wall made imperative that something be done to remedy the condition that exists along the hydraulic canal. A meeting was called on Monday morning at which were present all the millers and manufacturers along the raceway affected by the lack of water and it was decided to take upon themselves the ordering of the construction of both walls and new headgates. Walter Bradley was engaged to take the contract and the cost will involve an expenditure of over $15,000. The loss to the manufacturers along the race has been conservatively estimated at $1,000 per day since the break occurred and it will take at least a month to complete the work and divert the water back into the race.

W. E. Gage & Company, True Brothers, the Victoria Paper Mills company, Mason Brothers, Hunter Arms works, the G. J. Emery company, Ellis' Machine works, C. M. Allen, Taylor Brothers & Company, and the Volney Paper company are the firms interested. Mr. Paul Blake is in charge of the work.

FULTON MATINEE CLUB

The Fulton Matinee Club met in the office of E. Quirk on Wednesday evening and discussed plans for the coming Summers' sport on the Fair grounds. A number from the Oswego driving club were present and advanced suggestions.

The membership fee was fixed at $2.50 and this entitles the holder to stall, track and water privileges. The club has a present membership of twenty-five.

Frank Decker, E. Quirk and Birney Clark were appointed a committee to classify and Mr. Clark was made track superintendent. President J. W. Stevenson assured the club that the track would soon be in first class condition.

Fulton has a number of fast horses and it is expected that the brushes will be most exciting.

APPOINTED REFEREE

Attorney Avery S. Wright has been appointed referee in the Allen divorce proceedings. The parties live in Fulton and Phoenix. Trial has been set for May 23rd, at Fulton. Attorney O. M. Reilly of Phoenix represents the plaintiff and S. B. Mead of Fulton the defendant.

HOSPITAL DONATIONS FOR APRIL

The Lee Memorial Hospital gratefully acknowledges the following list of donations for April, 1911.

Emerick, Mrs. S. B. Mead, Mrs. G. W. Brooker, Mrs. O. C. Breed, Mrs. Thomas Hunter.

The May supper given annually by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Lee Memorial hospital will be held Saturday evening, May 20, in the City Hall. The excellence of these suppers has assured their success in the past and this year the same standard will be maintained.

NOTICE

At a special meeting of the directors of the Cunningham-Woodard Company, held at Rome, N. Y., May 5, 1911, John J. Cunningham was elected Manager of the company in place of E. J. Cunningham; the same to take effect immediately.

Signed,
A. J. Woodard, secretary.

THE WEEK

The increasingly bright outlook for the wheat crop is responsible for a somewhat better feeling in business as to the future. But the actual volume of trade, while necessarily large because the daily necessities of a vast population are large, is nevertheless slow, halting and without enthusiasm. Taken in the aggregate and especially in such basic trades as iron and steel and dry goods, consumption is much below producing capacity, and even concessions in prices fail to produce activity. Fundamental conditions, such as the large supplies of money and the generally low stocks of merchandise, are favorable; but enterprise continues to wait for the removal of uncertainties and for that courageous leadership which is born of large faith in the future. The export trade is much more vigorous than the domestic, because manufacturers no longer finding the home market for their goods sufficient are diligently seeking outlets abroad, and this is a process which is sure to be eventually beneficial to business as a whole. Pig iron and finished steel production is much below mill capacity and seems to be receding. Curtailment is still the order in cotton goods, while woolens are necessarily affected by tariff agitation. The shoe trade is fair, but not up to high water mark. It is noticeable that for the present at least the trade recession seems to be felt more keenly in the West than in the East, and even the fine crop prospects do not altogether offset the effect of lower farm values. The mail order houses complain of reduced orders. The retail trade does not quite hold the improvement resulting from better weather. The bond market is considerably better, which is a good sign. Altogether the situation is perplexingly mixed, with present trade much worse than conditions promise for the future. Bank clearings outside of New York this week were 1.7 per cent lower than in 1910, but 6.3 better than in 1909, while in New York there were decreases of 17.3 and 6.7 per cent, respectively. Railroad gross earnings during April were 0.1 per cent better, and there are indications of improvement in net returns. Exports continue to expand and imports to decline, the former during the past week in New York being $13,289,008 or $1,840,991 better than in 1910 and $2,823,965 better than in 1909, while imports were $15,912,522, a decline of $3,239,673 from 1910 and of $1,733,008 from 1909.

Diminished activity in iron and steel is reflected in decreased operations at producing plants, and with about twenty furnaces going out last month there was a sharp contraction in the output of pig iron, the total falling from 2,171,111 to 2,065,986 tons according to the Iron Age. This is the first time that the production has failed to show some expansion since last January, and the daily rate during April amounted to only 64,432 tons against 70,752 tons in March. Dullness prevails in the pig iron markets and advices from the Pittsburg district indicate that new business in finished lines on a smaller scale, although in some instances bookings have been quite liberal. Railroad buying continues spasmodic and one mill has closed down for the month of May, but in the structural division conditions are more satisfactory as a large amount of work is pending.

Contradictory conditions prevail in cotton goods, one line of ginghams having been reduced, while wide print cloths are being bought moderately at slightly higher prices. Jobbers are restricting operations despite the strong raw material markets and mills are becoming more cautious in accepting contracts, while actual calls for goods by retailers and cutters are lessened by the feeling of uncertainty. Drills and sheetings are being ordered sparingly and prints rule quiet, but bleached goods are selling better for exports and ducks are firmer. In the woolen and worsted divisions of the markets there have been some reductions in price. One report state that hardly 60 per cent of the men's wear looms are employed. Dress goods continue in limited demand, and stocks are not burdensome.

Supplementary orders for seasonable lines of footwear are in fair volume, but orders received for the fall and winter run are disappointing, indicating continued caution. The leather trade is better in spots, though generally quiet. Larger sales are noted of packer hide hemlock sole in the Boston market; also of foreign hide, undesirable union backs, probably at concessions. Harness leather still sells well, but upper stock, with the exception of calfskins, remains quiet. Hide conditions are improved; the buying of domestic stock is still marked with some conservatism, but fair-sized sales of packer hides, East and West, make a better aggregate than for some weeks past. The call still centers on light stock, as the demand for leather continues almost entirely for light substances.

Congestion in the May wheat option caused a rise of nearly 4c. a bushel at Chicago on Tuesday, yet legitimate influences remain against any sustained advance in prices. The crop outlook in general leaves little to be desired, there being promise of a winter wheat yield in excess of 500,000,000 bushels, while spring wheat seeding has been completed under exceptionally favorable conditions. Visible supplies, both here and abroad, steadily diminish, but total stocks are well above last year's and surplus nations continue to make liberal offerings. Western receipts of 2,000,140 bushels compared with 1,442,611 a year ago, while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 1,660,792 bushels against 1,387,538 in 1910. A temporary improvement in the cash demand gave support to corn early, but subsequently prices reacted under the weight of enlarged country sales. Arrivals of 3,270,557 bushels at primary markets surpassed the 1,573,673 reported last year, and Atlantic Coast exports were 226,883 bushels against 191,076 in 1910. Heavy selling pressure caused rather a sharp decline in cotton toward the close, liquidation being induced by more favorable weather in the belt.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for April amount to $16,924,776, of which $8,905,340 were in manufacturing, $7,538,976 in trading and $480,462 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 244 in the United States against 220 last year, and 34 in Canada compared with 18 a year ago. —Dun's Review, May 6.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Aye — Aldermen Palmer, Wolcott, Newton, Johnson, Smith and Malone.

Alderman Johnson introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the following ordinance relating to weights and measures be enacted:

The Common Council of the City of Fulton enact as follows:

Section 1. The mayor shall appoint a sealer of weights and measures, who shall perform such duties as are hereinafter described in this or subsequent ordinances and shall devote his entire time to the discharge of the duties of his office.

Section 2. The Board of Aldermen and the Mayor shall provide an office and such books, stationery and working standards of weights and measures as the sealer of weights and measures may require for the proper conduct of his office.

Section 3. The sealer of weights and measures shall inspect twice annually all scales, measures and the like used in the City of Fulton and shall receive for his services, a salary of $50.00 per month, to be paid out of the treasury of the city, and no fees shall be charged or collected by him for making tests.

Section 4. The sealer of weights and measures shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe, before the City Clerk, an oath to faithfully perform the duties of his office, and shall execute a bond to the city with at least two good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the City Attorney and accepted by the Board of Aldermen in the penal sum of ($2,500.00) Twenty-five hundred dollars conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office and for the safe keeping of all the standards, and measuring apparatus, entrusted to his care.

Section 5.—The sealer of weights and measures shall possess jurisdiction and have the power within the City of Fulton (a) to inspect, test, try and ascertain if correct, all scales, beams, measures of every kind, instruments or mechanical devices of measurement or computation, and the tools or appliances connected with any or all such instruments or measurements used or employed within the city by any proprietor, agent, lessee, or employee, in determining the size, quantity, extent, area or measurement of things, produce, articles or objects for distribution or consumption, offered or submitted by such person or persons for sale or for hire, or award to the people of the said municipality; (b) to enter unretarded, to go into without formal warrant, for the purpose herein specified and in the general performance of his official duties any stand, place, building or premises where such scales, appliances or system of measurement or computation are kept or maintained for the purpose of testing, inspecting and sealing or condemning either upon his own initiative, at the request of the Mayor or Chief of Police of the said city, or upon the filing of a written complaint by aperson, society, or organization such scales, beams, or any systems or mechanical methods of measurements.

Section 6. The sealer of weights and measures shall inspect, test, try and seal or condemn the enumerated scales, measures, beams and systems, appliances or method of computation. (a) Whenever in any specified standstore, conveyance or establishment the scale, measures, appliances or systems of measurement are discarded, received, altered or newly installed. (b) to inspect every such scale, measure or appliance or system of measurement or computation twice annually and oftener if in his judgment such inspection is warranted: to make such inspection, and test at the direction of the Mayor of said city, or, at the request of the Chief of Police. (c) he is empowered to receive and directed to accept and consider written complaints sworn to by the complaining individual or the manager or executive officer of a complaining association, society, organization or chamber relative to the size, soundness, fairness, or correct standard of any such scale, beam, measure, apliance or system or method of measurement or computation.

Section 7. It shall be the duty of the sealer of weights and measures to deliver and leave with every person for whom he inspects any weights measures, or weighing or measuring devices, a printed copy of this ordinance.

Section 8. All weights, measures, scales, balannes, or other instruments or devices for weighing or measuring that are tested by the sealer of weights and measures, and his deputies, and found to conform to his standards, shall be marked with the letter "F", and the last two figures scales or measuring or computing as the State Superintendent may direct.

Section 9. The sealer of weights and measures shall give each person, firm, corporation, society or organization for whom any weights, measures, scales or measuring or computin devices have been tested a receipt properly dated and showing in detail for what the same was given, and a duplicate thereof shall be retained by the sealer and kept on file in his office.

Section 10. The sealer of weights and measures shall keep a register of all the weights, measures, scales and other aparatus and instruments which have been inspected and examined by him or his deputies in which register he shall state the name of the owners of the same and whether the same on inspection were found to be correct; if found correct, that the same were properly tested and sealed by him. Such register shall be kept in his office in a book to be provided for that purpose and at the close of each and every fiscal year he shall file a duplicate of said register in the office of the City Clerk.

Section 11. The sealer of weights and measures shall submit to the Common Council, every third month a written report showing the number and kind of instruments inspected, tested and sealed, the number and kind of instruments condemned, with reason for condemnation, the persons arrested under this act, the properties seized, and when returned as herein prescribed, and the fines imposed and collected. The report shall also show an inventory of all the standards in the possession of the sealer and an itemized statement of the expenditures of his office. The sealer of weights and measures shall make an annual report to the State Superintendent of weights and measures on blanks furnished by the State Office.

Section 12. The sealer of weights and measures, by virtue of his office, is hereby declared to be a special constable, in and for the City of Fulton, and he is herebv empowered and directed to seize and deliver to the Chief of Police of said municipality, any and all violators of the provisions of this ordinance, the said sealer of weights and measures, as special constable, is empowered to seize and deliver to the Chief of Police any weights, measures and instruments pertaining thereto employed or utilized in violation of this ordinance; such weights, measures and instruments shall be redelivered to the owner or such persons from whom taken only after the payment of such a fine as has been imposed.

Section 13. No person shall retain, maintain, use or employ any scale, beam or mechanical system or arrangement for computation or measurement in measuring or determining the size, weight, extent or area of articles, foodstuffs, wearing material, merchandise, produce, milk, meat and the like sold or offered for sale to the people within said city unless the said specified means, methods, ways and systems of measurement, weight and computation have been inspected, tested, certified and sealed during the period and at the time herein specified and prescribed by the said sealer of weights and measures; nothing in this ordinance, however, shall be interpreted to authorize the sealer of weights and measures to enter or attempt to enter to inspect or attempt to control any light, gas, power or water meter or any other kind of a meter over which the public service commission has or

A FIELD DAY FOR DIVORCE

Justice Merrell Establishes One in Watertown and it Accommodates Lawyers.

Justice Merrell has established a field day for divorces in Watertown and the newspapers say the lawyers like it. All divorce cases, actions for separation, annulment of marriages and all other actions having to do with domestic infelicity and kindred affairs that are to come up at his Special Term will be considered on a specific day. When that day comes he calls the cases in the order that they come in the calendar and attorneys are not kept waiting around the Courthouse perhaps a half day for an opportunity to offer proofs. Then again, it is an easy matter to arrange for witnesses.

Speaking of the arrangement at the Courthouse a local lawyer said that, in his opinion, there isn't a county in the State having as few such cases as Oswego.

CANAL OPENS JUNE 1

The superintendent of public works, Charles E. Treman, on Friday announced that the feeding of water preparatory for the opening of the canal, had been begun at the Pendleton guard-gate, west of Lockport. The early feeding in order to open the canal by May 15th is necessitated by the fact that the feeding must be very slow, owing to the disturbance of structures by the Barge Canal work, and owing to the further fact that, due to the enlarged prism in many places, a larger amount of water will be required.

The superintendent also announced that while the original date for opening the Oswego canal was May 15th, owing to complications arising from Barge Canal construction work at several points on the canal, the opening of the Oswego canal will be delayed until on or about June 1st.

MANY GOING TO CIRCUS

Fulton will be well represented in Syracuse on Wednesday, May 24, when Ringling Brothers' Circus pitches its twelve acres of tents there for the day. Two exhibitions and a brand new parade will be presented. Indications point to a banner circus day and the railroads are preparing to carry thousands of people to "Ringlingville." Since its brilliant opening in the Chicago Coliseum in April, this circus has been turning throngs away in every town visited. Its unusual attractiveness is the reason. It has a company of 400 of the greatest performers ever assembled and the acts they are presenting are of the most sensational kind. The menagerie contains over 1,00 strange zoological specimens. There are giraffes, camels, gnus, yaks, nylghaus, ibexes, rhinoceri, Yiak, vaarks, tapirs, hippopotami, sacred cattle, zebus, water boks, porcupines, all varieties of the deer, bear, cat and monkey tribes and the smallest elephant ever placed on exhibition.

There are forty elephants. Among these are twelve babies which are wonderful performers. They walk on rolling globes, stand on their heads, play tenpins, skip the rope, walk ropes and play on musical instruments.

There are no less than twelve thrillers. In fact the show is a long succession of thrills. And there is more comedy in the show than the average man encounters in a lifetime. Forty clowns, gathered from twelve countries, furnish the laughter and they the sure-fire comedians.

One big act among the riders is the Crocker family of English Gypsies. Their act is different from the equestrian specialties with which Americans are familiar. Nothing like it has ever been seen before in this country. There are also some wonderful acrobats, equilibrists, jugglers, aerialists and gymnasts.

NEW YORK AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

Brief Notice of Bulletin 326.

A device, costing less than one dollar, whose use will keep out at least half the dirt and bacteria usually found in milk from the ordinary farm stable is described in Bulletin 326 of the Station at Geneva. We advise those interested in any way in the sanitary quality of milk,—as producers, handlers or consumers,—to write to the Station for this free bulletin.

Notice of Bulletin 334.

Growers of cabbage plants who have been annoyed by maggot injury to their seed beds will find much to encourage them in Bulletin 334 of the Station at Geneva. This bulletin summarizes the experience of eleven growers who screened their beds in 1910; and not only escaped maggot and flea-beetle injury but also had earlier, better plants under the cheese cloth than they got from seed sown at the same time on unscreened areas alongside. The expense of screening varied from 6 to 20 cents a thousand plants, averaging about 12 cents. The bulletin, like others available at the Station, will be sent without charge to those who write for it.

THE OPENING EXHIBIT AND SALE OF MR. SHEHADI'S

ORIENTAL RUGS

Continues This Week on Third Floor. Qualities and Prices Will Stand the Test of Any Comparison.

Following up our last week's Opening of the Oriental Rug Department, a schedule of prices is presented that should prove instructive to every one thinking of purchasing a rug from Asia.

There is no disputing the fact that the stock of Oriental Rugs on our third floor is the largest and the choicest in Central New York, and there is no disputing the further fact that our prices are the lowest.

Mr. Shehadi is a large importer. This gives us a double advantage, (1st) securing the CHOICEST Rugs at first hand, and (2nd) buying them for very much less than the established prices of New York importers.

THIS SALE IS FOR THE ENTIRE WEEK

Last week's announcement reduced the stock to such an extent that we were compelled to withdraw from the New York custom house the following goods for THIS week's sale.

FROM THE NEW ORIENTAL DEPT.

$2.00 to $3.00 Crepe Kimonos for $1.69

$1.75 Crepe Jackets for..... 98c

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1911.

The much advertised horse show in Washington is on the tan bark arena three blocks south of the White House. It started off quite tamely a half an hour after the scheduled time on Tuesday, the 4th instant, at 11 o'clock. General Miles, at one time commander in chief of the army of the United States, headed a procession of about a dozen buggies, to two or three of which were attached good horses. The General drove a pair. It is evident that the day of the driving horse is past. The motor cycle, the automobile, the telephone, the aeroplane, to say nothing of the bicycle, have driven him to the second place in speed and in endurance. This result is desirable for all the world and especially for Washington where the abuse of draft horses by negro drivers is more conspicuous than in any other city of the United States. The hard, smooth streets of Washington, the great extent of the Potomac Park and of Rock Creek Park furnish excellent courses for vehicles, but it is unusual now to see a fine pair of horses and an elegant carriage, and when seen they have an ancient and passe appearance. Automobiles of different makes are seen everywhere.

FRANCES STARR AT EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

David Belasco will present Frances Starr in "The Easiest Way." Eugene Walter's greatly discussed play, at the Empire Theatre on Friday and Saturday, matinee and evening, May 12 and 13. Up to the present time Mr. Walter's reputation has rested on "Paid in Full" and "The Wolf." In the Easiest Way he has shown new qualities. The play, which is produced in the characteristic David Belasco manner, was presented at Mr. Belasco's theatre in New York over a year, where it created a sensation. It was ruled out of Boston by Mayor Fitzgerald this season as an unwholesome play, and returned to New York stage censors and the leading critics where it had renewed success. They are at war over it.

The first act shows a summer home at the foot of the Eastern slope of the Rockies; the second a living room in a typical New York theatrical boarding house of the cheaper sort and the third and fourth acts an apartment in an expensive New York hotel. Laura Murdock, the part played by Miss Starr, is a seeming strong yet inherently weak woman for whom a life of luxury and ease is the only possible way of existence an who also does not scruple how she attains her purpose. When the play opens Laura is faced with an opportunity to lead a better life. Her past has been made clear and the two men introduced from whom she must make her choice. One of these is a new acquaintance, a Denver newspaper man, who has aroused a genuine love in her heart for the first time; the other a New York broker, whose mistress she has been, links her with the disgraceful past. The one offers her the name and position of wife and the other has no thought but that she shall remain his mistress. Without any hesitation she chooses the path which leads back to respectability and virtue.

From that point of the play is concerned with the woman's struggle to live in harmony with the prompting of her better nature. The sacrifices that she makes, the struggle to regain a minor position on the stage and the temptations that follow, lead to dramatic climax.

Laura Murdock having deceived the man who had her for his mistress, deceives the man who has made her his wife, and the Easiest Way claims her again. She steps back into the way of death, and the play is over.

"The Easiest Way" said H. T. Parker of The Boston Transcript, "is austere in its sincerity, stark in its power, unsparing in its truth. It is the one realistic tragedy of our new drama, it is its one tragedy of pity. Whatever else Mr. Walter may achieve, he has set up his landmark in our progress toward a native drama. Others may write, others, may be, have written its idealistic pieces, its pieces in this, that or the other dramatic genre. The wider its range the better. It would be misshapen did it lack its realistic tragedies."

Miss Starr is surrounded by a company of merit, including Joseph Kilgour, Edward H. Robins, John P. Brawn, LouiseR andolph and Violet Rand. Seats are on Sale Wednesday, May 10, at 9 a. m.

Backache, tired feeling, nervousness, loss of appetite, warn of kidney trouble that may end in dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease. Beware: Take Electric Bitters and be safe. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

KIBBE'S RECEIVE LETTERS

Albert Kibbe who with his family resides south of this city, has within a week received two alleged black hand letters which have caused a considerable commotion and fright in the neighborhood.

The second letter arrived by rural carrier on Saturday, mailed from Syracuse, and the out-of-town police were asked to co-operate with the local police officials in an endeavor to run down the perpetrators of the crime or the hoax, whichever it may develope to be.

The last letter demands that "$500 be placed at the big switch at Ingalls Crossing on Friday night or die."

DANIEL BRANNAN APPOINTED CLERK

Canal Superintendent Hartnett on Tuesday announced that he had appointed ex-Alderman Daniel Brannan disbursing clerk at a salary of $900 per year. This appointment has given excellent satisfaction and it is only fitting that Mr. Hartnett should have his confidential assistant in his town.

The lock tenders have not been announced by Mr. Hartnett as yet owing to the uncertainty attending the date for opening the canal.

SOUTH GRANBY

The beautiful weather is encouraging to farmers and the warm weather is fetching out the tree blossoms and leaves.

Mrs. Cynthia Lampman went to Fulton Friday and visited her sister, Mrs. Harvey Stewart.

Word has been received of the sudden death of Mrs. Edward Fuller Sunday morning.

Mr. Myron Degroff moved Thursday onto his father's place south of Jacksonville. His father is very poorly and has been removed to Syracuse where he had an operation on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Austin visited at Mr. Asa Sanford's Friday and Saturday and attend the reunion of Co.'s E and H of the 24th Regt., that went out from Fulton just fifty years ago. It was very interesting to hear those old veterans relate their experiences.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Chiler of Central Square accompanied Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Austin home from Fulton. Sunday they visited Mr. Daniel Edward and family on the Bowens Corners road who were old neighbors of their.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Terpenning of Ira Hill were over-night guests at their daughters, Mrs. Anna Dickenson's and Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. Chiler of Central Square went home with Mr. Terpenning's people. Mr. Terpenning and Mr Chiler were comrades in the 24th regiment.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd VanWie were guests at Fred Paine's one day last week.

Mrs. Addie Marsh and daughter, Clarice, Oneida, visited her parents Saturday and Sunday.

Among the Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herb Whitcomb and daughter, Linnie, at Mrs. Emma Whitcomb's; Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis, Fulton, at Willis Lampman's; Mr. Marcum and family and Mr. and Mrs. Will Bradt at Amos Otts'; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stewart and Mrs. Lampman at Sylvanus Cook's; Mrs. Carrie Hannum at Roey Austin's; Mr. Vernor Shattuck and family at Fred Paine's; Freddy Stewart and wife and Harry Johnson and wife at Fred Stewart's; Mr. Sidney Kelley of Syracuse at Mr. Pullen's; Harlow Fuller of Phoenix at Elmer Fisher's and he and his cousin, Wilda Fisher, visited their cousin, Mrs. Grace Adsit, near Baldwinsville; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rumsey at her mother's, Mrs. Barnes; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Terpening and daughter, Anna, were callers on Mrs. L. T. Austin and Auntie McCaslin, who fell and hurt her side and is quite ill.

Mr. Will Bidwell was also in town Sunday.

Mr. John Rumsey is working for Mrs. Fisher.

Miss Flora Fisher, who has been in Phoenix for some time, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Newton of Fulton and granddaughter, Emma Clark, made a short call at L. T. Austin's Saturday in their new Buick auto, they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Selah Taylor.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

REUNION OF COMPANIES E AND H

Twenty-fourth New York Volunteers Fittingly Observe Fiftieth Anniversary of Leaving for War---Complete Roster Published for the First Time.

The twenty-first annual reunion of Co.'s E and H, 24th Regiment N. Y. Infantry and the fiftieth anniversary of their leaving Fulton for the seat of war was held at Fulton in G. A. R. Hall May 6, 1911. The comrades as they arrived in town came into the hall and greeting each other with a glad hand clasp reminding them of the long ago when it meant something to clasp hands and stand side by side. The old boys enjoyed each others company until the dinner hour when they formed in line and marched out for rations. After dinner the meeting was called to order by President F. C. Mosher. A fter prayer by the chaplain the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting which were adopted. Treasurers report read and adopted. Treasurer reported on hand $5.82. A report of the death of Comrade Henry Limbeck of Phoenix read. Capt. Charles Taylor made some remarks on Comrade Limbeck as a citizen and a soldier which were of the very highest order. Chaplain J. R. Young also gave a little history of the life of Comrade Limbeck. Moved and carried that the Secretary write a letter of condolence to the family of Comrade Limbeck expressing the sympathy of Co.'s E and H for them in their bereavement. Letters were then read from the following comrades who were unable to be present: Capt. O. J. Jennings, S. J. Scriber, A. P. Chase, Lester Nelson, S. E. Chandler, W. H. Safford, Robert Corie, R. M. Sears, W. J. Pentelow, Wm. Gore, J. W. Bogardus, Wm. H. McKee, B. M. Ellis, Jerome Simpson. E lection of officers. Moved by Comrade Charles Taylor seconded by Comrade John Brannan that the old officers be re-elected for the ensuing year and motion was carried.

At this time the president called on City Clerk Wm. MacNamara as the representative of Mayor Conners, who was unable to be present. Mr. MacNamara gave a splendid address which was received with marked attention and the boys extended to him a hearty vote of thanks. A recitation by Miss Goldie Cathcart, daughter of Comrade Bert Cathcart, deceased, followed. N. G. Cooper gave a talk: Capt. Charles Taylor related some of his experiences of army life. Rev. C. L. Peck was then called on and gave an interesting address. Lieut. Alonzo Cooper of Oswego recited an original poem. Short speeches by Com. J. W. Distin, Reuben Terpenning, Major W. D. Ferguson, Dr. J. R. Young and others; recitation by Mrs. Thomas of Phoenix; Mrs. Wolever, Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Mosher made some remarks.

The members present were: F. C. Mosher, Thomas Coles, N. G. Cooper, A. B. Kellogg, Dr. J. R. Young, Gilbert Chiler, John Brannan, Charles Taylor, Reuben Trepenning, Jay Robinson, Lewis A. Benedict, R. E. Eggleston, James Brannan, George Marshall.

Ladies present: Mesdames Chiler, Mosher, Thomas, Wolever, Austin, Benton, Barnes, Kellogg and the Misses Goldie Cathcart and Graves.

Mr. Irving Galusha invited the comrades to form in line and have their pictures taken and to attend the moving picture show which was accepted with thanks.

On motion the meeting adjourned for one year, to May 6, 1912.

Perhaps better than any other would be the reproduction of the farewell to the company as published in a Fulton paper on May 8, 1861:

The company elicited much applause

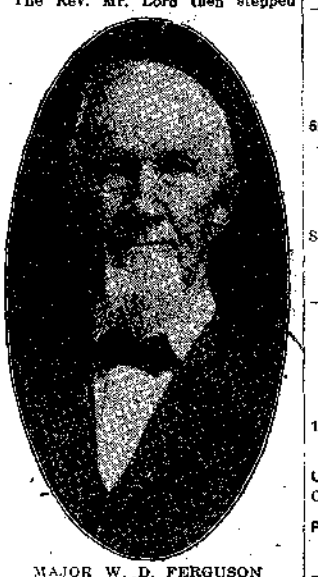
by their martial bearing, and were escorted to the cars by an immense procession of citizens who testified in many ways their admiration for the men who had enlisted in this patriotic service and their determination not only to sustain the Government, but also to aid and encourage in every way those that go forth to fight its battles.

It would be impossible to narrate a tithe of the interesting incidents that signalized their departure. The streets were crowded for hours by the multitude that were anxious to bid them good bye and address to them words of encouragement, sympathy and patriotism. The students of Falley Seminary came down in a bod and presented to them a large national flag as a testimonial of their respect.

Just as they were starting upon their line of march from the Case House, where they had taken their farewell dinner in Fulton, A. N. Ludington, Esq., stepped forward and presented to them, in the name of the ladies of Fulton, by whom it had been procured; a remarkably beautiful banner. In presenting it, in the name of the ladies and citizens generally, he addressed them at considerable length in an appropriate train of thought, expressive of the hopes, expectations, and sentiments of the community, and the vast concourse of people manifested their endorsement by frequent and hearty cheers.



Capt. Jennings, whose bearing by the way commanded universal admiration, in accepting the banner said:

In behalf of the officers and men under my command, I return to the ladies of Fulton most sincere and heartfelt thanks for this beautiful emblem of our National Liberty.

The reflection that this is the offspring of the tender emotions and patriotic sympathies of mothers, wives and sisters whose blessings and benedictions will follow our march in the defense of the liberties of our common country, will render this flag a sacred memento to which we will look for encouragement in the hour of our darkest peril and amid the din of the fiercest battle. This flag shall ever remind us of the home we love, the hearts we cherish, and the firesides we go forth to protect. Please convey, Sir, to the ladies who are the authors of this most acceptable gift the assurance that its spotless folds shall never be stained by dishonor, nor shall it be polluted by a traitors touch.

Trusting that it may ever march to the step of victory and that our imperilled country may soon be restored to the blessings of peace, I again assure the warm and generous hearts who tender this gift of the inexpressible gratitude of those for whom this most welcome present was intended.

The Rev. Mr. Lord then stepped forward and announced that he had been made the medium of bestowing upon each of them a copy of the Bible, and briefly commended to their consideration its holy precepts as a guide in the righteous cause in which they were engaged.

One of the impressive incidents in connection with the organization of our volunteers occurred on Sunday. The two companies attended church at the Presbyterian house in the afternoon and the Rev. Mr. Lord pronounced an eloquent and appropriate sermon upon the origin, necessity and divine sanction for Governmental authority and the duty of sustaining it. The house was crowded to overflowing and most intense feeling was manifested. In the evening Elder Titus addressed the soldiers and a similar audience at the M. E. church. The national flag was suspended over the pulpit, and the sermon was full of practical, patriotic, christian advice

After the ceremonies at the Case House with bands of music and banners and a long procession, they were escorted to the cars and with an affectionate adieu started for the field of duty.

Company H, 24th Regiment N. Y. V., left on Monday, May 13, 1861, one week after Company E, and a local paper of May 15, 1861, has to say of the event:

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling---mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

Mrs. J. B. Dix has returned from Albany.

Mr. E. H. French is improved in health after a severe illness.

A son was born last week to Rural Mail Carrier and Mrs. Jay Dann.

Miss Frances McCormick has resigned her position in the W. H. Patterson store.

Dr. and Mrs. I. C. Curtis have returned from their Winter home in Orange City, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clayton Peach of Pulaski will spend the week-end with relatives in this city.

President E. J. Penfield of the Chamber of Commerce has been confined to his home by illness.

It is probable that there will be a reunion of Oswego County Odd Fellows on the Fairg rounds on July 4.

Mrs. Thomas Poole has returned from Washington, D. C., where she spent the Winter months with her daughter.

Mrs. Helena Russell, of Buffalo, widow of the late Dr. S. A. Russell, has been visiting Fulton friends for a few days.

Mrs. F. A. Moore, who has been confined to her home at Hilltop Farm, near this city, all Winter, is now convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Walldorf are entertaining Mrs. Clara Walldorf of Hastings, Mich., and Mrs. Homer Beuell of Richland, Mich.

Dr. B. T. Mason was in Albany last week attending a State convention of dentists. Dr. Mason read a paper before the convention on Wednesday.

Mr. Edward Henderson, who has held a responsible position in Fairbanks, Alaska, for several years, is the guest of his father, Mr. Orin Henderson.

Rural Carrier Harrison Caswell has resigned from the post office service to enter more extensively into the raising of celery and lettuce for the New York market.

Messrs. James Fay Newton and Allen Foster are arranging for a dance to follow the prize speaking contest on May 19. The party will probably be held in Church's hall.

Rev. J. L. Lindsman has returned from Utica where he attended the last sad rites over the remains of his sister, Louise, who was killed in the railroad wreck ten days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wirt Barker have returned from Carthage where they attended the funeral of a relative. They were accompanied home by a little child, a relative, who will spend the Summer with them.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Rumsey were tendered a surprise visit by a number of their friends on Thursday evening who were mindful that it was the forty-eighth wedding anniversary of the worthy couple. The evening was devoted to social intercourse and refreshments and a substantial purse was presented the bride and groom of many years ago by their unexpected guests.

The E-Z Opener Bag company are installing three new bag making machines in their splendidly equipped plant in this city. This addition makes twenty-four bag making machines in the factory, all of which are working to full capacity at all times. This is an industry of which Fulton may well be proud, and its manager, Mr. E. J. Penfield, is both a help and a credit to the community.

[W*—Wounded.]

It was a most excellent company. A large number of the privates are every way qualified for almost any official position.

Sunday evening they attended the Presbyterian church and were very ably and appropriately addressed by Rev. J. T. Hewitt. The pastors of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches were also present and took part in the meeting. At the close of the services a copy of the testament was bestowed upon each. The edifice was crowded to its utmost capacity and a fervent devotion to the cause of human liberty, the preservation of the Union and the maintenance of the Government was manifested by all.

At one o'clock p. m. on Monday the citizens assembled at Empire Hall to organize an escort for the company of Capt. Taylor to the cars.

Charles E. Case was elected Marshal, J. W. Pratt, assistant marshal, L. A. Hovey, captain of the citizen's procession and J. N. Graham and Dixon Van Valkenburgh, assistants. In consequence of the uninterrupted fall of rain it became necessary to dispense with the contemplated outdoor exercises and the company of volunteers marched from their drill room to Empire Hall to receive the farewell of their fellow citizens.

When Capt. Taylor reached the platform R. K. Sanford in behalf of and in the name of the ladies that had purchased it, presented him with a sword. Captain Taylor replied to the remarks made by Mr. Sanford in a speech which breathed the spirit of the soldier and the patriot.

During the exercises, though tears glistened in many eyes, determination was enthroned upon every brow and the enthusiasm prompted to frequent applause. The audience was probably the largest ever assembled in Empire Hall, and again illustrated the intense feelings which prevaded all breasts.

The presentation exercises were followed by an affectionate bidding goodbye. The soldiers bore themselves manfully and soon took their departure, escorted to the cars by the Fulton Brass Band and an immense procession of citizens, despite the rain.

Among those families who deserve great credit we find Capt. Albert Taylor, who not only served his two years in the 24th but also was Captain and Major in the 24th N. Y. cavalry till the war closed. Peter was captain in the Signal Corps and was on the staffs of Gen. Logan and Hancock. Wilbur F. was killed at the second Bull Run. Charles A. was a boy soldier in the 12th Infantry for several months and was in the first Bull Run then went into Co. H where he was promoted to sergeant, serving out the regiment's time and afterwards going to the end of the war as lieutenant and captain in the 24th cavalry. Their patriotism was of the steadfast kind.

PRESENTATIONS

Last Sunday noon, after the opening exercises of the Presbyterian Sunday school, Rev. David L. Roberts asked the superintendent of the school to step in front, as he wished to see him. On Mr. Humphries so doing Mr. Roberts addressed him briefly. He said it was about fifty years that Mr. Humphries had been associated with that Sunday school and it was fitting some mention should be made of it. He spoke very appreciatively of Mr. Humphries' work in the church and Sunday school then said that the young ladies had something to say to him. Miss Mary Radway, in a pleasing way, presented him with a bunch of carnations and Miss Bertha Kessler, in her usual happy manner, gave him a handsome silk umbrella. These were gifts from the teachers and scholars in the school. Although entirelytaken by surprise Mr. Humphries was equal to the occasion and thanked Mr. Roberts and the members of the school very fittingly and feelingly. Members of the school also wrote letters for him to read on board the Mauretania, expressive of their high regard for their faithful superintendent and best wishes for his return, rested and invigorated.—Mexico Independent.

YOU! "Mister" Business Man

Are you playing safe in the matter of insurance? Could you pay, dollar for dollar, all you owe in case of the destruction of your property by fire?

In the event of a conflagration sweeping your business out of existence, and with it perhaps the savings of a lifetime, are you protected by enough good, sound insurance to put you "on your feet again?"

These are serious questions and the issue is one you cannot avoid. You cannot afford to take chances. Property losses in this country are mounting steadily upward.

Keep fully insured and charge the item into the selling price of your goods, the same as rent, interest or taxes.

We solicit your insurance business.

BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY FOR MISS LINDSMAN

St. John's Church Crowded With 17,00 Mourners—A Brother Said the Mass

Before the altar of St. John's church, where she had worshiped God for many years, there was carried this forenoon all that was mortal of the body of Miss Lousia Lindsman, one of the victims of the Martin's Creek wreck. The remindful black of the church draped the front of the main altar. Lighted candles lifted reverential tongues of fire around the marble tabernacle and towards the arched roof of the church, while six other candles threw fitful light over the casket that held the remains of the deceased. There was no eulogy; that being an established rule in St. John's church. The solemn Gregorian mass for the dead was chanted in a singularly beautiful and impressive manner. The simplicity and majesty of the ritual of the church were effectively brought out in the mass. It was a service and an occasion that will not soon be forgotten by those who attended.

St. John's church, one of the most spacious in the city, was crowded to the doors before 9:30 o'clock, the hour set for the service. There were more than 1,600 people in attendance. Many of these came from Fulton, where Rev. John Lindsman, the brother of the deceased is pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Others came from Oswego and Syracuse and from villages adjacent to Utica. Mayor Gilmore and other city officials were in attendance.

The members of the Utica school board and of the Utica Teachers' Association were present in a body and occupied the entire center gospel aisle of the church where pews had been reserved for them. Superintendent of Schools W. B. Sprague assisted in ushering the teachers to their seats. The senior and junior branches of the Children of Mary of St. John's church, of which society the deceased was a member, occupied the side aisles of the church and wore the ribbons and medals of their society. The Alumnae Association of the Utica Catholic Academy was also present in a body.

The solemn requiem high Gregorian mass was sung by the children of St. John's Orphan Asylum and St. John's Male Quartette, with Prof. George H. Fischer at the organ. The officers of the mass were Rev. John Lindsman of Fulton, the brother of the deceased, celebrant; Rev. David J. Dooling of Fulton, deacon; Rev. William J. Hourigan of the Church of St. Frances de Sales, Utica, subdeacon, and Rev. James Carroll of Oswego, master of ceremonies It was a trying position for Father Lindsman, following closely as it did upon the tragedy that ended the life of Miss Lindsman and caused severe injuries to another sister, Miss Cecelia Lindsman. His voice broke several times during the service and it was with difficulty that he officated until the end of the mass.

The other priests present in the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Mgr. S. M. Lynch, D. D., of St. John's church, Rev. Daniel Doody of the Church of St. Francis de Sales, Rev. Albert Hayes of St. Agnes's church, Rev. Joseph Lechner of St. Mary's, Rev. Joseph Formia of the Church of St. Mary of Mt. Carmel, Rev. D. J. Moore of East Syracuse, Rev. W. H. Slaven and Rev. Walter Doyle of St. Paul's church, Whitesboro; Rev. R. P. O'Connor of Deerfield, Rev. Joseph Ellis of Lestershire, Rev. James McPeak and Rev. James Farrel of Syracuse, Rev. J. V. Byrne of Tully; Rev. John Farrar of Oswego, Rev. W. H. Griffin of New Hartford, Rev. Robert J. Bogan and Rev. Henry F. Reap of St. John's church and Rev. John Shanahan of St. Agnes's church.

The active bearers were D. J. Kelly, clerk of the School Board; J. H. Buckley, Hugh Grace, James Condon, R. E. McCreary and James Carr. The honorary bearers were Miss Mary E. OConnor, Miss Elizabeth Merna, Miss Anna Buckley, Miss Nellie McCreary, Miss Frances McCreary and Mrs. Charles Adrian, classmates and friends of the deceased.

A deep hush fell over the congregation when St. John's Male Quartette sang the "Miserere" as the body of Miss Lindsman was being borne into the church. The solemn music, weighted with its air of sorrow touched the heart of every person in the edifice. It brought home to each the full meaning of death and the overpowering sadness of the occasion for which all had assembled. Subdued bobbing was heard through out the church as the coffin was placed before the main altar. There were few dry eyes and no hearts that were not sad and sympathetic.

Folowing the coffin were the immediate relatives and friends of the deceased, those who more than any one else feel and know the full sorrow brought home to Utica by the wreck at Martin's Creek. Behind the mourners were the black-robed sisters of the Order of St. Joseph, connected with the parochial school of the Church of St. Frances de Sales. Back of these were the Sisters of Charity of St. John's Orphan Asylum, real mourners who had found Miss Lindsman a very good friend from the days when she graduated under their instruction from the Utica Catholic Academy.

There was one bright spot in the church. This was the Rosary Altar on the Epistle side of the church, cared for always by the Children of Mary. None had been more interested in the work of caring for and beautifying this altar than Miss Lindsman and it lifted a radiant front to the assembled mourners today, expressing, as it were, the belief that the glory of immortality surpasses the sadness of the surroundings of death. Flowers and ferns beautified the altar. Lighted candles and electric lights threw around it and over it an illumination that was expressive and striking. Votive lamps, lighted in her memory, burned before the tabernacle door and will be kept lighted there for many a day.

The beautiful ceremony of the Gregorian mass touched the hearts of all the people in the church. Faure's "Pie Jesu" was sung by Dr. F. P. Cavallo and the other members of the male quartette at the offertory. At the absolution, following the mass proper, the "Benedictus" was sung by the assembled clergy, alternating with the quartette and the choir. Then, without organ music, the quartette sang "Jerusalem" in a way that was impressively solemn and appropriate.

Many of the clergy accompanied the remains to St. Peter's Cemetery, Deerfield, where interment was made. Here the "Benedictus" was chanted, the final absolution pronounced and the remains consigned to the grave in the family plot. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Lynch pronounced the absolution, assisted by Fathers Bogan, Reap, Hourigan, Doyle, Lechner, Ellis, O'Connor, Dooling, Collins and Farrell.

The floral tributes were expressive of the fine esteem and the generous love in which Miss Lindsman had been held by her friends in life. There was one piece that was especially expressive. That was fashioned to represent a bleeding heart and it came from the colored children of the Union Street School, where Miss Lindsman had been a teacher for the past 12 years. There are many colored children who attend that school and Miss Lindsman had been particularly kind and helpful to all in her classes. They idolized her and when the word came that she was numbered among the dead there were no more sincere mourners in Utica, than the little colored pupils she had taught. With the few pennies they could gather they brought to the side of her coffin today the floral tribute that told of their love.

Among the other floral pieces were a wreath from the teachers of the Union Street School, plaque of roses from the Utica Teachers' Association, plaque of calla lillies from the teachers of the Mandeville Street school where Miss Cecelia Lindsman had been a teacher for a number of years; plaque of roses from the Utica Teachers' Training School Association, plaque of American Beauty roses from friends in Fulton, plaque of carnations from Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Crahan and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Murphy, out-of-town friends; star from Miss Jessie Dewhurst, plaque of roses from D. W. Brennan and standing cross from Mr. and Mrs. Justin Auert of Deerfield.

Miss Cecelia Lindsman, the sister of the deceased and her companion on the fatal excursion, was so seriously injured that she was unable to attend the funeral services today. Her condition continues to cause anxiety to her friends, but her recovery is expected and hoped for by her physician and relatives. It was because of her weakened condition that the remains of Louise Lindsman were not brought to the family home Tuesday night, but were taken instead to the Garvey funeral parlors, 105 John Street, from which parlors the funeral was conducted at 9 o'clock and thence to St. John's church. —The Utica Observer, Thursday, May 4, 1911.

WIFE AND FAMILY ARE MISSING

Fred Towse Hurries From Utica to Inquire—Charges Abduction

Fred Towse, a few years ago one of the best known amateur bicycle riders in Central New York, reported to Chief Richardson that his wife had left the city and had taken with her his two little children. The family has been living for several years in Fulton, but a short time ago the wife and children came to Oswego and Mr. Towse went to Utica to get work.

Word reached him yesterday that his family had left town and he hurried here to find out about it. At Police Headquarters Mr. Towse wanted a warrant for his wife, charging abduction of the children. It could not be learned if the warrant was issued. Mr. Towse is about thirty years old and has been married for a number of years.—Palladium.

HUNDREDS OF TREES DISTRIBUTED

Generosity and Public Spiritedness of Dey Brothers & Company, Syracuse, Appreciated by Students. —Many of Older Years asked for Trees to Plant

The free distribution of silver leaf maple trees contributed by Dey Brothers & Company, Syracuse, and distributed from the Times office on Friday afternoon, called forth a crowd of school children that made necessary the assistance of Police Chief Ross, Mr. John W. Young, several High school students and the entire Times office force. From every point came children all hastening and all intent upon securing a tree. One would imagine from the speed and eagerness with which they assembled that reforestation and with silver leaf maple trees of the entire city of Fulton, was the one pet object of their young lives.

The first delegation to arrive was from Phillips street school. Tiny little tots all out of breath and dripping with perspiration. The fear that all the trees might be gone lent wings to their heels and they were given rugged trees and cards bearing instructions as to the planting and care of the trees and the compliments of Dey Brothers & Company. They departed with their treasures just as a State street school delegation arrived. From then until about 4 o'clock the onslaught upon the Times office was fast and furious. One child begged an additional tree for a sick brother; another for a sister; one girl whispered that her grandmother was ill and would be so pleased with one of the trees. Each and every request was granted. It might also be whispered that many a time the same face appeared in the line of children entering the front door and leaving by the basement door, but the little ruse worked successfully and the children left well pleased with the scheme to secure more than one of the coveted trees.

Within the hour and a half that the demand was most urgent over 900 trees and cards were distributed. During the remainder of the afternoon and all day Saturday there were scattering calls for the trees. At present there are a few or the trees at the Times office that will be cheerfully presented to whomever may wish them. As each one is government inspected and absolutely free from blight or disease of any sort, they are certainly desirable.

The thoughtful generosity of Dey Brothers & Company will make glad many waste places in the city of Fulton and be the cause for thanksgiving on the part of future generations who will gratefully accept the shade of the tree presented by this firm and planted by some Fulton school girl or boy.

NEW MINISTER AT HANNIBAL

The Rev. Adelbert Barry, of Mannsville, N. Y., has accepted a call from the Baptist church at Hannibal. He will assume his duties June 1st.

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "indorse" or "guarantee" any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it apear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all requirements of the law.

The Hanging Oak

[All Rights Reserved, O. J. Jennings]

"Colonel, has you ever heard any strange noises or seen any strange sights up about the ole hanging oak?"

"No, Uncle Josh, I can't say that I have. Why, what's happened, does the horn'ts frighten you as you pass there of a dark night?"

"For gord, Colonel, you's always making kindly light of things that troubles the ole man's mind; and I'se come to tell you that we colored people wants that ole ghost tree cut down and the wood burned up in an open field and the ashes buried deep in the ground."

"Why the necessity of burning the wood out of doors; why not haul it to the house and get the benefit of it as fuel?"

"Colonel, does you want your house haunted all the res' you days?"

"No, Uncle Josh, I don't think I should care to entertain horn'ts indefinately."

"Well, then you hear to me and don't let a stick of that ole hanging oak ever get into your fire place or kitchen stove, for jus' as sure as you do there be trouble."

"Uncle Josh, I have heard something about these strange happenings about the old oak tree bu t I never gave much credit to them; since you people want it cut down I would like to have you tell me all about it and why you avoid passing by it after dark."

"Colonel, they's strange things happening round that ole oak tree and since you comes here to live things has grown powreful site wus than it used to be. And we wants it cut down and 'sposed of in a way that we alls won't feel in danger of something terrible happening all the time."

"Uncle Josh, you say things have grown worse since I came here to live; how do you account for that? Your people all seem to like me and come to me fore advice."

"Colonel, jus' you wait, I hasn't done tole you yet about that ole oak tree and why horn'ts live there — no—well then the trouble started way back in the war time when a part of the army came up from Port Royal and camped right on you big open field jus' cross the road from the ole hanging oak. The next morning when you move on to met Gen. Grant's army at Milford there was straglers and jus' as the last one was goin' by some de South folks catch him and hang him to limb on that ole oak tree, and he hang there all the day and the colored folks say he was one your men and when you hear 'bout it you say a curse on the people that inhabit the land where an innocent man has been murdered, and from that day to this horn'ts has been heard o nights there and sometimes they stan' in the road an point their finger at the limb where the soldier hang."

"Uncle Josh, this is indeed a strange story you are telling and it's all a mistake so far as I am concerned. I did not at any time during the Civil War come over this road and knew nothing of the incident you refer to until I heard of it from some of your people, so you must attribute the activity of the ghost to some other cause."

"Colonel, they's ben gettin' mighty troublesome for more 'an a year and we wants the ole oak tree cut down."

"I suppose you people would be willing to cut it down to have it out of the way?"

"Yes sah, we's willin' to do that."

"Well, then if you will cut it down and saw it up into fire place lengths and split it into suitable sizes to

DEPLORABLE HIGH SCHOOL CONDITIONS

Board of Education Has Received Following letter from the Education Department at Albany Which Have Been Printed and Circulated Among the Taxpayers.

April 7, 1911.

Supt. J. R. Fairgrieve, Fulton, N. Y.

Dear Sir: On the 28th of March I dictated letter to you based on a recent report of Inspector Lyttle on the schools of your city, but the letter and the report together wih all the correspondence and records of the Inspection's Division were destroyed in the fire on the following morning. Dr. Lyttle has since made a summary of his report from his field-book which I shall quote in full.

"The organization and discipline in all departments visited were excellent. Approximately 90 per cent. of the grade pupils are promoted annually. The attendance laws seem to be thoroughly enforced. A notably good spirit was evident among the pupils both in grades and in the high school.

"For many years under the present superintendent and under his predecessor, the schools of Fulton have enjoyed an excellent reputation for scholarship. While not extravagant, Fulton has been generous in the treatment of its teachers. This fact taken in connection with the good supervision long prevailing has made a school system and brought educational results of which Fulton may rightly be proud. Of a resident school population of about 1800, nearly one-sixth are academic students of full grade and nearly if not quite one-half of the academic students are boys. Indeed in the graduating class of thirty-one students, twenty are young men.

"It is greatly to be regretter that such good schools as Fulton has should be so poorly housed. There are two creditable school buildings in Fulton, the new grade building on the west side and the remodeled grade building on the east side a short distance south of the present high school building. A new grade building is needed in the southwest end of the city also a new high school, and these are needed immediately. In very few villages or cities of the state are high school accommodations so bad as in Fulton. The study room of the high school seats about 140. The high school registers 350 students of full academic grade, and nearly two-thirds of these are seated in rooms intended for grades, in nearly every one of which classes must recite all day. Very many high school students seem to have no regular sitting but to be forced from one room to another as need requires.

"The main part of the high school building is of three stories. All the floors are used. Toilets for the boys are in the basement; for the girls on the first floor. Much time is lost in the change of classes, and the excessive stair climbing cannot but affect the health of the girls unfavorably. There seems to be no ventilation in the academic part of this building, and the light in some rooms is very defective."

In conclusion the inspector very pertinently says that the State of New York can hardly afford to be a party in consenting to the maintenance of the conditions that are described; that the very least that can be asked is that your board of education shall forthwith be continuously diligent in educating the public to the need of better school facilities and better conditions and in using all reasonable efforts to insure prompt remedical action.

Kindly keep me informed regarding the progress that is made.

Very truly yours,

FRANK W. WOOD,

Chief, Inspection's Division New York State Education Department.

You will kindly note:

1. The department says Fulton is to be congratulated on the standard of the scholarship attained in our schools and when you consider that we are today the lowest on the list so far as expense is concerned, surely this is an enviable condition.

2. They also say, as you will note, that New York State can hardly afford to be a party to such conditions as we have in our school buildings. It goes without saying that our students cannot accomplish as much as we would like when working te such a disadvantage. All of which means that the question of properly housing our High School is a fact becomnig more and more serious.

Very truly yours,

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

FULTON HIGH SCHOOL PRIZE SPEAKING

The annual prize speaking contest of Fulton High school will be held in the First M. E. church on Friday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. Doors will be open at 7:15. Seats will be reserved for the members of the graduating class and for the judges. There will be no other reserved seats. Tickets will be on sale at the church door at 25 cents each. Kapps' Orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

The judges will be Dr. W. K. Wickes, Professor of Elocution in Syracuse High school; Prof. H. M. Tilroe, in charge of the Elocution Department at Syracuse University, and Miss May L. Phillips, teacher of Elocution in the Rome Public schools.

Reserved seat tickets for the class play, "Christopher Jr.", at Foster theatre; for prize speaking and commencement are now on sale at Watson's. Tickets for the three entertainments, 50 cents.

The prizes which are to be awarded at prize speaking are now on exhibition in the window at Morgan's jewelry store on Cayuga street.

MUST FULTON BE MORE BURDENED?

According to the Oswego papers the Equalization Committee of the Board of Supervisors is planning to heap still more assessment upon the cities of Fulton and Oswego when they make their report to the Supervisors at the next session.

It would appear to a casual observer that Fulton was paying sufficient taxation at present without additional burden being laid upon her. Of course the Board can do as it likes in this matter, the representation of cities and the towns being so unequal, if the provisions providing more supervisors for the cities, one for each ward, becomes a law matters will be more reasonably adjusted in the future. As it is now, the towns with their unimproved properties, have the entire decision in this matter — not at all as it should be.

INJURED IN A RUAWAY

Baldwinsville, May 12.—About seven o'clock last night, as Ovid Garrett was taking Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Gardner of Fulton from the home of their son-in-law, John Snell, to the trolley car, the horse which Mr. Garrett was driving became frightened at the sight of J. Carl Connell's car. It began running and kicking until the harness broke and the driver was no longer able to control it. The animal swerved into the ditch and ran into a tree, throwing the occupants to the ground. Mr. Gardner was injured very much. Mr. Garrett escaped without injury, but Mrs. Gardner was quite badly cut about the head and face. The horse broke loose from the wagon and ran across the river bridge, and when found had a broken jaw and several teeth knocked out. It was taken to Dr. Stacks' stables with orders to kill if it continued to suffer.

FREE LECTURE TONIGHT

Calvin Derrick to Speak on Work of George Junior Republic—Local Presbyterian Church Actively Interested—Lecture at 7:45 O'clock.

The Presbyterian Men's Bible class will have a very interesting lecture tonight. Mr. Calvin Derrick will give an account of the work at the George Junior Republic at Freeville in this state. Mr. Derrick is the superintendent of the George Junior Republic and the Fulton Presbyterian church has been for some time actively interested in Mr. Derrick's work. The invitation to the lecture is open to men and women, there being neither charge for admission nor collection.

The lecture will commence at 7:45 o'clock promptly.

BUSINESSES CONSOLIDATED

Florist G. W. Perkins and Florist C. B. Wetherby this week consummated a sale whereby Mr. Perkins takes possession of the Wetherby sales office in Cayuga street, Mr. Wetherby retiring from the business he has so successfully conducted for many years.

Mr. Perkins proposes to consolidate the two businesses but for the time at least he will continue in his two localities, the sales rooms being at No. 61 1-2 First street and No. 207 Cayuga street. Miss Esther James will continue in charge of the First street office and Miss Mabel Pare will have charge of the Cayuga street office. Orders left or telephoned to either place will receive prompt and painstaking attention.

Mr. Perkins will go more deeply than ever into the raising of plants and cut flowers for the eastern markets, and his ability to cater to the local trade has also been increased greatly by his purchase.

TROLLEY KILLS MAN

TROLLEY WORK TO COMMENCE

Bridge Will be Re-inforced by S. L. S. & N. R. R. Company and Work of Laying Rails Will Commence Soon—Iron Stored on West Side Ready for Use

Mr. Charles A. Lux and several of the officers in the S. L. S. & N. R. R. company were in Fulton on Wednesday in conference with the Board of Public Works and other officials. Nothing definite was done at the conference but it has been officially stated that the work of strengthening the lower bridge will be commenced by the trolley company at once and long before snow flys the cars will run into Oswego from Fulton and over the route as mapped out by the trolley company's engineers.

Engineer Stowell of Albany, the designer of the lower bridge, has been engaged by the trolley interests to consult with their own engineer, Mr. Mather, believing by this action to satisfy the city and all concerned that nothing will be left undone by the company to insure the bridge being fully reinforced before there is any traffic over it. The iron trussing to be used in connection with the bridge has cost in the neighborhood of $20,000. The plans of the railroad men as presented at the conference provide for the occupation by one track of the northern side of the bridge, leaving a roadway sufficiently wide for a team on the other side. It seems a calamity that the bridge must be taken over in this manner but it is a business proposition to the company. Where Fulton was lax was that former officials did not so regard the granting of the franchise.

It is firmly believed that the extension of the road will benefit Fulton and that e'er long the banks of the Oswego river adjacent to which the cars will run, will be fully built up with bungalows and Summer houses and that finally the present loss to business interests on account of the trolley, will be more than balanced by the influx of trade from the north.

NEGOTIATIONS LOOK FAVORABLE

A final conference was held in New York city on Tuesday and when the result is known, it will be permanently decided whether or not the creditors of the McDermott Contracting company will take over the uncompleted barge canal work on contract No. 10, put up sufficient money to proceed with the work and push it to completion that it may no longer be held up and that they may secure their money. The decision is contingent upon the States acting fairly in the matter of closing the canal, etc. The decision will be awaited with interest by all Fulton.

THE WEEK

Warmer weather has stimulated increased activity in retail trade in most of the large centers of the country; but the business situation as a whole is otherwise very unsatisfactory, so far as the immediate volume of transactions is concerned, although the outlook for the future is by no means unfavorable. Consumption is much below producing capacity, and curtailment is the order of industry particularly in the iron and steel trade, in which there has been a further blowing out of furnaces and a reduction in the sum of unfilled orders. Some activity is noted in the cotton goods market by the appearance of certain large orders, and the dry goods trade is further benefited by the increased retail distribution already noted; but the textile situation as a whole, like that of iron and steel, is one of curtailment, pending more settled conditions upon which safe planning for the future can be based. Domestic hides are more active and higher and leather is somewhat better; but the shoe trade is slow. Bank clearings this week outside of New York showed 2.2 per cent. loss compared with 1910 and 4.8 per cent. improvement over 1909; in the city the losses were 9.3 and 14.1 per cent., respectively. Railroad earnings during April decreased 2.3 per cent. While there are these evidences of immediate trade interruption, the business situation improves every day in its fundamentals. Among the favorable features which promise well for the future are the increasingly bright prospects for the wheat crop, which are confirmed by the government's May statement, issued this week. The conditions of the money market continue auspicious; and the entrance this week of trust companies into the New York Clearing House is an event of great significance as increasing the power of financial resistance against the effects of any sudden changes in the situation. The better demand for bonds keeps up. The export business is most satisfactory, being in marked contrast to the recession in domestic trade. During the latest week foreign commerce at New York aggregated $84,272,013, against $20,592,800 a year ago and $25,281,231 in 1909. Exports were $1,491,715 better than in 1910 and $4,293,475 better than in 1909.

Quiet conditions continue in iron and steel and the tendency of prices is reactionary, with producing plants still further curtailing output.

Activity was stimulated in the cotton goods markets by large purchases made for the account of printers and converters, the total being in excess of 500,000 pieces. Jobbers are still careful purchasers of domestics. Merchants regard conditions as improving slowly, but crop and weather influences are factors of large importance for the immediate future. Adverse weather has held back retail trade, but with every sign of higher-temperature demand increases considerably. Yarns are firmer, more as a consequence of high cotton than an increased demand. The export trade in cottons is well above a year ago. About fifty per cent. of the loomage available for worsted and woolen dress goods is employed. The trend in men's wear toward woolens is pronounced and novelty fabrics are sought.

Trading in footwear does not show the activity usual at this season, although conditions of late have improved and manufacturers are working on a fairly satisfactory volume of supplementary orders, especially for seasonable lines. Leather is in slightly better demand, with larger trading noted in the East as some shoe manufacturers have placed fair-sized contracts. The domestic hide markets developed material activity, and as an outcome of liberal buying on the part of a leading tanner in the packer markets, both East and West, prices are higher all around. The principal movement was in native steers and combined trading is estimated as involving from 100,000 to 150,000 hides. Native cows are in good demand, particularly lights, and prices are advancing on these. Country hides are stronger in sympathy, but foreign dry stock is as dull as ever.

Official promise of a large yield of winter wheat and reports of rains in the Northwest caused an early sharp decline in prices of that cereal, although later the loss was recovered on complaints of hot winds in Oklahoma and Kansas. The May government statement was fully up to expectations, with a condition estimate of over 86 per cent., and even under the revised acreage of 31,367,000, a crop of 500,000,000 bushels is considered likely. Some support was derived from the continued heavy shrinkage in world's visible supplies, but stocks are still much larger than a year ago and surplus nations make liberal offerings each week.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for May to date amount to $4,030,824, of which $1,690,149 were in manufacturing, $1,710,606 in trading and $630,069 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 279 in the United States against 246 last year, and 32 in Canada compared with 24 a year ago.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

BEFORE APPELLATE DIVISION

The case of the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper Company vs. the Stecher Lithographic Company was argued before the Appellate Division defendant appealing from a judgment of $9,349.35 for alleged breach of contract.

A 12-cent breakfast may be all-right enough for Prof. Woods, of Cambridge, but there are a good many people who would not regard it as worth getting up for.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon.

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the sate road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the State Road being one acre of land: or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Third Annual Opening and Carriage Sale

MAY 22 TO 27

We invite all who are interested in seeing the nicest line of high grade vehicles in the county to visit us during the week of May 22---next week---and inspect our new and fresh stock of Columbia and Curleright carriages and wagons.

This is our third year of selling these well known standard lines but our FOURTH year of USING them. We gave them ONE year of the most severe tests in our two liveries before we would offer them to our customers---now we offer them with confidence as we know what they will do and we guarantee them to the limit---ask to see the Columbia printed guarantee with each job.

NO. 6 COLUMBIA BUGGY

Wheels---best grade---with steel or rubber tires.

TRIMMING All wool broadcloth---green, blue, maroon.

GEAR COLORS Brewster green, New York red, canary yellow, blue, black, maroon.

TOPS High grade Fairfield rubber.

The Other Grades are Good but the Columbia No. 6 is BEST

At our Cayuga street carriage repository and liveries we have quietly gone ahead and by giving the people good goods and good treatment we feel that we have won their confidence; the continued and increasing patronage is the best proof we can ask for to show that we are pleasing our customers.

Before buying a buggy look at all the others and then ask to see the No. 6 COLUMBIA with points over any other make on the market. This is a broad assertion--but is true.

PRECISELY AS PROPHESIED

It was common report in last Fall's campaign that the liquor interests supported the Democratic ticket upon the promise from Tammany Hall that if Mr. Dix was elected, the Raines liquor tax law, considered the most scientific and best excise legislation on the statute books of any state in the Union, would be modified as the liquor men might desire. They are around the Capitol now with smiling faces. They are calling in their loans and Mr. Murphy is repaying them with interest. At least fifty bills, the provisions of which will come pretty near to making the original liquor tax law like a sieve, are on their way to final passage. The Tammany leaders in the Legislature generally stand sponsor for these bills. The names of prominent Tammany legislators are attached to most of them and Tammany support is given to practically all of them.

Not a single one of these bills is intended to provide a more rigid regulation of the traffic in liquor, and in this respect they are diametrically opposed to the sentiment of the thinking citizens of not only New York State, but every other state in the Union. Until control of the state was turned over to Democratic rule, no one feared that there would be extension of privilege to the liquor interests. Republican administrations and legislatures have been for years erecting barriers around the liquor traffic, which the Democrats are working desperately to tear down at this their first opportunity. The people of the state are beginning to realize that Tammany Hall, the dominant factor in the present state administration, is trying to make good its promises.

Among the excise bills within sight of enactment are these vicious measures:

Dispensing entirely with the bond now required by law for compliance with the excise regulations.

Cutting down the time in which action for violation of the law may be commenced.

Removing the restrictions as to distance between schools and churches, and saloons.

Cutting down from three years to one the period for re-application for license after conviction for violation.

Reducing the time limit in which action may be brought for cancellation and for prosecution of bond.

Removing restrictions as to window obstructions during prohibited hours.

Reducing area of consent—now considered none too large.

Permitting the sale of liquor on Sunday afternoons, and a longer time on week days.

Permitting traffic in liquor within 300 feet of a church or school where the traffic was permitted prior to the establishment of church or school.

Permitting traffic in liquor within 300 feet of a church or school where any part of same is used for business purposes. One paid pupil in a school would relax the present salutary provision.

Suspended sentence or plea of guilty not to prevent a violator from procuring a new license.

Failure to serve within thirty days notice of violation upon liquor dealer to serve as a complete defense.

These and many other measures, less drastic in their results if enacted into law, have the support of the Tammany legislators. And the man upon whom will devolve the enforcement of the excise laws, Excise Commissioner W. W. Farley, holds his place by grace of Tammany. And the Chairman of the Committee on Excise of the Assembly is a man who was until recently connected with the liquor business, while the second man on that committee is a New York saloon keeper, "Marty" McCue, the father of many of the measures above referred to.

Superintendent Merriam Clearing-up the Fair Grounds Early and Placing Them in Good Shape for Season — Upon Application to Him Picnic Parties May Lease Grounds and Hold Festivities—Ideal Spot for Days Pleasure.

Superintendent W. H. Merriam of this city has been at work for some time putting the Fair grounds in good shape for the opening of the picnic and outing season. Already the grounds have been raked and all dead branches, leaves and other debris burned. The buildings have been over-looked and the race track placed in first class condition so that any time there is a demand for the ground by organizations or individuals they will be ready for use. This is a wise move on the part of Superintendent Merriam as heretofore nothing much has been done toward making the grounds usable until a few days previous to the county Fair week.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

The coming engagement of George Evans and his Honey Boy Minstrels at the Empire on Friday and Saturday, matinee and evening, May 19 and 20, promises an entertainment of all that is best in this popular style of amusement. Now in its third triumphant year this organization has lived up to all the promises which have been made for it and has firmly planted itself as America's one first class minstrel organization. The present tour has an added interest in that it presents George Evans as sole owner of the Honey Boys as well as the star.

When Cohan and Harris first launched their minstrels they placed the Honey Boy at the head of their organization as the one best black face comedian in America, the feature of what was to be the biggest, and most elaborate offering of minstrelsy the stage had ever seen. Through two years of real artistic triumph this comedian has qualified as capable in every sense. For the present tour, George Evans' Honey Boy Minstrels are the ones which take upon themselves the duty of maintaining the high standard established during the past two years. That the Honey Boy has surrounded himself with excellent material, can be seen by a glance at the names of such minstrel favorites as John King, Sam Lee, Vaughn Comfort, Matt Keefe, James Meehan, Clarence Marks, Tommy Hyde, Charles Hilliard, Tom Kane, Pierce Keegan, Master Fagan, Wilson Miller and Ned Brill. The production has been staged by such masters of musical entertainment as George M. Cohan, and James Gorman. The last half of the program is devoted to a minstrel comedy entitled "The Firemen's Picnic" written, rehearsed and staged for this entertainment by George M. Cohan.

A special feature of the "first part" will be the appearance of James J Corbett as the interlocutor. Corbett is said to have made a great hit in black face and the last half of the "Crimson Trellisa" (first part) scene in which he occupies the middle chair is said to produce some of the best laughs in the show. Later on he assumes the conventional evening clothes and is heard in his famous monologue. Seats on sale Wednesday at 9 a. m. Matinee prices 25c to $1.00; evening, 25c to $1.50.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1911.

One of the most important investigations ever made by the Interstate Commerce Commission is that of the express companies of the United States. This investigation is now under way. The commission has before it much material which it is at present studying and arranging. It is thought that the outcome will be a complete change in the express business of the country. Quite recently there was held in Washington a convention relative to the much talked about and written about parcels post. This was attended by distinguished men from various parts of the country. Some of them have made a thorough study of the express situation. It is somewhat remarkable that the resolution was passed by the convention favoring the complete absorption or control of the express companies by the government. Assuming that half the things complained against the express companies are sustained, it will not be strange if the demand for government ownership will be urgent after the Interstate Commerce Commission's report has been published. In the states of Iowa, Minnesota and California railway commissioners have recently made investigations into the operations of these companies. Business interests throughout the country are urging an examination relative to the express companions, insisting that their rates are exorbitant and that their practices are unfair. Last Fall, two hundred and eight commercial organizations petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to make the inquiry which is now under way. This commission, let it be understood, has full authority over express rates, regulations and practices. It is claimed by those who have thoroughly studied the subject that there is no reason whatever for the existence of press companies independent of railroad companies, and it is a well known fact that the railroad companies themselves are extensively stock owners, if they do not actually control the majority of stock of the express companies, and that they are using these companions to enormously increase their profits with the result of oppressing the millions who have to resort to them as common carriers. The profits in the case of some of the companies it is known are as high as 200 per cent. to 300 per cent. There is no reason why the United States should not carry express packages under the parcels post system for the benefit of all the people of the country.

The national legislative body now in session in Congress is proving to be an unruly team. The Republican majority in the Senate cannot elect a president pro tem. The insurgent Senators have the balance of power and led by Senators LaFollette and Cummins were able to defeat Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, the caucus nominee. The Democratic house is well organized and aggressive, and with its powerful majority acting as a unit, is passing much important legislation. It has passed the Canadian reciprocity bill and the farmers' free list bill, and these measures are now before the Senate. Delegations of farmers professing to be representative are besieging the Senate and the President in an effort to kill the Canadian reciprocity bill, but on the other hand there are delegations from the west and northwest, including agricultural representatives, much more numerous, urging the passage by the Senate of the reciprocity act. Chairman Underwood is confident that a much more important tariff program than has yet been presented to the lower House will be passed by this body, the majority of whom it appears are in favor of free wool. The wiser heads of the Democratic majority are in favor of materially reducing the tariff on wool but are opposed to so drastic a measure as admitting it duty free. The wool schedule is an important source of revenue to the government, and to materially reduce the tariff will increase this revenue and will at the same time enable the millions of wearers of wool garments in the United States to dress more elegantly and more comfortably. The bill is of course objectionable to the Wyoming Senator, whom the late Senator Dolliver said was the greatest shepherd since Abraham, and a few herdsman in the sparse settlements in the northwest. It will also interfere with the Massachusetts factory monopoly, but it will result in great benefit to ninety-nine one-hundredths of the population of the United States.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS DEPOSITS

May Be Converted Into Government Two and a Half Per Cent. Bonds

Washington, May 15.—Postal savings bank depositors may, after July 1, convert their deposits into United States bonds, prepared especially for their accommodation, in denominations of $20, $100 and $500, it was announced today at the Postoffice Department. The bonds pay 2 1-2 per cent. interest, which is 1-2 per cent. higher than Uncle Sam pays on postal savings deposits.

Under the present laws governing the banks a single individual cannot deposit more than $500 a year. Complaints have been made against this restriction and the bonds will relieve the situation.

Either registered or coupon bonds may be purchased. Interest on the coupon bonds is collected by detachable coupons which can be cashed by anyone.

The department also announced today that during April, 3,618 separate deposits were made in the 48 initial banks, aggregating $82,646.

"THE CABIN" OF A NOVELIST

Stewart Edward White's Forest Home in the Sierras, and the World Around It

Before it was a book, "The Cabin" was a fascinating shack in the Sierra Nevada mountains, wherein, during the summer months, abode Stewart Edward White and "Billy." Billy required the feminine pronoun, and apparently they were related by marriage. And both of them soon began to feel that the third of the year they spent at The Cabin—"at" and not "in," in view of the way they spent the time, seems to be the proper preposition—was the only part that really amounted to anything, whose activities were worth while. The book tells what sort of a place they chose for their Cabin, how they built it, fenced in their pasture, found their bath-hole, went visiting among their various neighbors from two to twenty miles away, what they did when visitors came to them—once they climbed through the back window, crept away on hands and knees and hid in the brush,— what friendships they formed with men, women and animals, what trips of exploration they made round about in their home mountains and away up into "the big country."

Mr. White has packed so many interesting things into his volume, the things that he and Billy saw and did and thought and talked about, that the reader quite understands how they came to feel their four months in the mountain forest the most important part of the year. There was Flapjack, the black mule that had a sense of honor, could follow a trail by scent, enjoyed scenery and was able, like Br'er Rabbitt, "to make like he was workin' he mind." And there was California John, the forest ranger, who had learned wisdom of the mountain, the desert, and his fellow-man, to the working out of a code of ethics and a philosophy of life that he was willing to impart in good, strong vernacular when he found a hearer worthy to listen. It was California John's belief that "everything's important," and that, whether one is ditching a meadow or digging a Panama Canal, it is all the same, "if a man's doing what he likes." There is a chapter of particular interest, about the men of the forest service and the work they do and what fine men, physically and mentally, their dogged devotion to the immediate duty makes of them—when they have the right sort of fibre, and stick. "In three years," he says, "a raw mountain boy, or a youth callow from the forest schools, has turned to a quiet, steady-eyed, self-reliant, toughened piece of steel and whalebone capable of, and enthusiastic for, any duty to forward his beloved service." The chapter on "Trout" will interest all fishermen, East or West, by reason of the contrasts it draws between the trout-fishing of the two regions. For bird-lovers is another section, telling of their feathered friends.

The magic of Mr. White's pen has not deserted it, and he is still able, with one short crisp sentence, to bring up before the reader's mind a vivid picture, full of significance, as when he says, of a little sawmill, "For twenty-five it has been amusing the forest by biting at her fringes." The book is illustrated by nearly a score of pictures from photographs by the author.—New York Times Review.

"The Cabin" is one of the new books added to the Public Library. Call number 799.W585.

IMPORTANT DECISION RENDERED

Washington, May 15.—The Supreme Court of the United States, by a practically unanimous decision, today declared the Standard Oil Company to be a combination in restraint of trade within the meaning of the anti-trust law, and ordered its dissolution within six months. This applies to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and thirty-three other corporations, having an aggregate capital of $110,000,000. The court declares that the anti-trust law is clearly intended to prevent monopolies; that the history of this company, the course of its projectors and the results of their acts clearly establish a purpose to monopolize the trade in petroleum, which monopoly is equally clearly a violation of the intent of the statute.

The opinion, which was handed down by Chief Justice White and is regarded as remarkable for the succinctness and the clarity of its reasoning, makes obvious the view of the court that the purpose of the law is to prevent monopoly and indicates that wherever it may be shown that such monopoly exists the court will hold that the statute has been violated.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

Independence Park to Open on May 30—Many New Features Installed—Boat Livery, Dancing Pavilion, Baseball Diamond, Ice Cream and Confectionery Booths

In opening their park for the coming season the proprietors, Messrs. Tilden and Johnson, wish to make the following announcement:

The formal opening of the big dancing pavilion will take place on May 30, Memorial Day. Also on this day our boat livery now being installed, will be opened to the public. The first baseball game of the season occurred on the 14th of May. A new ice cream candy and soft drink booth will be opened under our own personal management. We believe we are emerging from the experimental stage of our venture and it is our earnest desire to eventually make of our park one of the finest little resorts on the line of the Syracuse Lakeshore & Northern Railroad—a credit to the city of Fulton and its environments.

We have eliminated to the very best of our ability all of the objectionable features of a great many Summer resorts, in particular the sale of intoxicating liquor. We firmly believe that a temperance resort can be conducted and the public given better and cleaner amusement, than a resort allowing the sale of strong drink can and we shall endeavor to prove our ideals in this respect.

In opening our boat livery we are making one of the most beautiful and historical reaches of the Oswego River easy of access to the water-loving public of our city. In the personnal of our baseball team we have as fine and representative a body of young men as any one could wish for and of which Fulton can justly be proud.

We point with pardonable pride to our record last season in respect to law and order; not one single argument to mar the fair name of Independence Park, and we are reasonably sure of as good a record this coming season. There have at various tinies come to our ears, no one knows from where, the faint sound of some one knocking, unjustly, criticising our Park. We admit we are not above criticism, but we also stand back of the statement that our amusements are not below the standard of other amusements in our line and in fact are above the standard of most of them. We extend a cordial invitation to all to visit us at any time and thank you for the many favors extended to us in the past. With best wishes for 1911, we close our announcement for this year.

A. C TILDEN,
H. F. JOHNSON.

THE HANGING OAK

burn I will consent to its being removed."

"Look a here, Colonel, has you so soon forgotten what I tole you 'bout the horn'ts goin' with the wood right to you house and stayin' there till the day you dies. For gord, don't ever think of burning the wood from dat ole oak tree in your house. You let us obliterate it from dee earth and cause the hornts to leave the neighborhood for good and all."

"Uncle Josh, I don't like the idea of losing so much good wood. I don't believe there is any danger of the hornts remaining about my house or the neighborhood if we burn the wood in a fire place and scatter the ashes in the fields."

"Colonel, you don't seem to understan' the ways of them hornts. I tell you they's jus' awful if you gets them once down on you. They aint no storm stops them and the darker the night the better it seems to suit them for the business they laid out to do."

"Uncle Josh, has it ever occurred to you that they may be doing the neighborhood a great good?"

"For the gracious sakes, what good can a lot of evil spirits be doin' to the neighborhood, that's what the ole man can't understan'."

"Well, Uncle Josh, I'm not sure I can throw much light on the subject but as I understand you colored people about here have become so afraid of them that they don't go out much after dark."

"Yes sah, dat am a fac' they don't dare to; theys powerful 'fraid as soon as the night comes on."

"Uncle Josh, when we first came here we used to lose chickens nights but for the past year or more nothing has disturbed our chickens."

"For gord, Colonel, does you 'spect de hornts has had anything to do with you loosing chickens? They don't have no use for chickens; they don't eat nothing, they's never hungry."

"No, Uncle Josh, I haven't had any suspicion that they have taken any chickens."

"Well then, what you specks theys had to do with it?"

"Uncle Josh, its occurred to me that they might of been around some night where some one wanted to borrow chickens and held up a warning hand."

"Colonel, I'se 'bliged to admit theys stopped the niggers from stealin' chickens."

"Then do you think it would be for our best interest to drive them out of the neighborhood so long as they are doing so much to keep people honest?"

"For gord, Colonel, who ever heard of hornts keeping folkses honest, all theys dope is to scare the niggers so they daren't go into nobody's hen houses after dark."

"Uncle Josh, haven't your people reformed in some other ways since the hornts have been giving them so much attention?"

"Colonel, I don't know 'bout dat but I 'specks they has; dey's powerful exercised and had meetings to find out what 'twas best to do."

"What decision did they reach?"

"Well sah, they passed resolutions and one was that the old hanging oak better come down. Then Brother Jacob Smelly offered a resolution that there mustn't be no meddlin' with other folks corn cribs and hen houses."

"Did the resolution pass?"

"Well sah, that resolushum caused a lot trouble in de meetin'. Brother Samuel Hornbeck got up and said he was opposed to the resolushum that it deflected on the character of the whole congregation. Well sah, dat set de business agoin' and another such a time as dem niggers had you never heard of in you born days. The more they argufied the louder they talked until finally Brother Issac Spicewood got up on a chair and waving his hand said 'you dark sinners come to order and hear me or something worse than hornts will be after you.' Well sah, that seemed to quiet them right down. then Brother Spicewood said: 'Brothers and sisters, there am a resolushum before the house and it's waitin' to be admitted or turned away. The resolushum is, 'There mustn't be no more meddlin' with other floks corn cribs or hen houses.' Well sah, he hadn't no more got the words out his mouth when the lights went out and the sisters commenced to scream and the brothers to claw each other. You see, Colonel, they was all Christian members of the church, and to have a resolushum offered that 'flected on their honesty just set them wild and they went tearin' into each other like they was s'tracted, for more than a half hour. Presency five or six of the white neighbors came in with lanterns demanding to know what this riotious conduct meant. That stopped the argument about resolushums mighty quick and one by one the brothers and sisters got out that ole school house and made tracks for home."

"Uncle Josh, as I understand it the only resolution actually passed was that the old oak tree ought to come down."

"That's 'zactly what was done, nothing more."

"Uncle Josh, when do your people contemplate holding another meeting to vote on the resolution that Brother Smelly offered?"

"Colonel, it's my opinion that Brother Smelly's resolushum will never come before a meeting of the colored Baptists of this neighborhood again. Corn cribs and hen houses are two things that we aint gwine to resolute on no moa. No, sah, they don't harmonise with the practice of the average colored citizen."

"Uncle Josh, I regret that Brother Smelly's resolution was not passed; its effects would of been for the general good of your people. I think I will say that when your people see fit to pass the resolution I will consent to the old oak tree being cut down."

"For gord Amighty, Colonel, don't say that for jus' as sure as any one brings up that resolushum at a meeting of the colored Baptist of Lower Zion church there'll be worse trouble than we's ever had. They won't stand for a resolushum that deflects on their honesty. It will bus' up the whole church. You see, Colonel, that resolushum of Brother Smelly's kindy say in a round about way that we's been handling corn without being measured and settled for and that we's too fond of fried chicken. Colonel when we gets inside our church we aint thinking 'bout corn cribs or chicken houses, we's thinking 'bout the Lord forgiving us for things we's done that want jus' right."

"I think I understand the situation, Uncle Josh, and it's my opinion that a frank honest confession of your short comings even at a church meeting would do your people good."

"Colonel, it am a tickelish job to pass that resolushum but if you say it mus' be done I'se going to call the meetin."

10,000 Petition Governor Dix to Retain Highway Department

Petitions with 10,000 signatures have been forwarded by the Secretary of the Oneida County League for Good Roads to the senators, urging the retention of the present Highway Department. They come from all parts of the state and are addressed to the Hon. John A. Dix, the Senators and Assemblymen, and the senators and assemblymen are requested to present them to the Governor.

The feeling of the petitioners is ably expressed in a communication from Smyrna, which reads as follows: "Am enclosing you a petition of the business men of our town, together with a few of the influential farmers out of the village. Think we could get the signature of nearly every man in town for this paper, had we the time to do so. Our people know how the road work was held up when the last change was made in the handling of the highway work, and they are not wanting to se the change made in the management again. From the dealings I have had with the Commission, can say that the matter of politics has never been mentioned, and although some of our requests were handled by Mr. Earl we received as good treatment as when we went to Senator Hooker, from whom we always received the fairest kind of treatment. The Commission as now constituted seems to be working to the most good of the largest number of people, without regard as to how it will affect the future of either political party."

The signatures to the petitions were secured irrespective of politics, and are from representative men in each community, and in many instances on their return were accompanied by enthusiastic letters stating that they could secure five times the number of signatures if it were thought necessary. The sentiment in the state is shown to be satisfied with present Commission an its work. The number of signatures in the senatorial districts varied from 40 to 1,095 with an average of about 300 names to each senator. The people are much in earnest that the Governor should leave the Highway Department out of politics, the same as the Educational Department.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his twenty-five years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe its the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

SELLS CAR IN FULTON

The Keating Garage and Engine Company has sold to John McGinnis a model twenty-seven Buick touring car complete. Mr. McGinnis, is manager of the Fulton Bottling Works.

When it is considered that the Pullman Company in the ten years from 1889 to 1908 paid $51,665,848 in dividends on a capital of $50,000,000 it is obvious that there is no wolf anywhere in sight of its door.

Should Lorimer muster up sufficient courage to resign, there should be no string to his resignation.

MUSICAL MOUNTAINS.

Singing Cliffs in the Pyrenees and Roaring Sands in Hawaii.

In certain parts of the world are mountains and hills which are said by the natives to sing. In the Pyrenees certain cliffs emit plaintive sounds resembling the strains of a harp. Two other cliffs in the same chain are called the "shorers." When the wind is in the southwest they send forth a peculiar sound not altogether musical. The faces of these cliffs are marked by deep gullies, open in front, which may be compared to the pipes of an organ. At certain times a stratum of air, held between the cliffs and bordering trees, closes the openings while the wind blows freely between through the gullies, or organ pipes, behind; hence the music that is heard.

At the confluence of the Orinoco and the Rio Meta are granite cliffs which sing at sunrise. Humboldt refers to the phenomenon as the musical stones of the Orinoco. The music is caused by the rush of the expanding air through fissures partly closed by mica.

Many more examples might be cited to show that nature makes use of principles which have been adopted by man in the creation of musical sounds. Nor are the musical sounds of nature confined to rocks, mountains and hills, for in Hawaii is a sand bank fifty feet high which, when the hand is moved about in the loose sand, produces a sound like that of a melodeon. It is said that if the observer slides down the bank on his back, dragging both hands in the sand, the sound becomes as loud as faint thunder.—Harper's Weekly.

AN ILL MATED PAIR.

Wide Apart In Temperament Were Thomas and Jane Carlyle.

That the Carlyles were an ill assorted couple no one could deny. She was a highly strung, nervous woman, very quick, able and impatient, disappointed with her married life and her position, jealous of the admiration which Carlyle received at the hands of all his admirers, especially of one or two women, whom she found very unsympathetic.

That Carlyle adored her there is little doubt. He loved her with all the rough, passionate power of his nature, but he was a peasant in manner and character and lacking in all the little outward signs of devotion and affection which so many women exact and the absence of which they resent most bitterly.

Mrs. Carlyle found herself tied to an irritable genius who, sensitive at every point, deeply devoted to her, but absolutely incapable of translating that love into the language which she craved and longed for. I remember her once saying to me in a bitter way, "My dear, whatever you do, never marry a philosopher," and that was the key to the enigma—the woman always hungering for proofs of the devotion in which the whole of her daily life was wanting.—From Lady St. Helier's "Memories."

Physiognomy Not Reliable.

I am a profound disbeliever in physiognomy. Features are false witnesses. Stupidity frequently wears a mask of intelligence. I know business men who look like poets and poets who look like business men. Men of genius invariably look like idiots, and if you pick out the man who looks most eminent in a party you are sure to find he is a nobody. I always distrust men who look magnificent. Nature is a stingy creature. She seldom gives a man the double gift of being great and looking great. She took care to lame Byron and deform Pope and disfigure Johnson. But the crowning example of her jealous parsimony is Shakespeare. I have always been disappointed with Shakespeare's face. It does not live up to his poetry. It is dull, heavy and commonplace.—From "Adventures in London."

The Mistake.

In his biography of Alexandre Dumas Harry A. Spurr says that the improvident French author, who hated avarice, was once waiting in line for his cloak at a soiree when he saw a millionaire give a tip of 50 centimes (10 cents) to the servant who handed out his paletot. Dumas, getting his cloak, threw down a 100 franc note. "Pardon, sir; you have made a mistake, I think," said the man, offering to return the note. "No, no, friend," answered Dumas, casting a disdainful glance at the millionaire; "it is the other gentleman who has made the mistake."

Shakespeare In France.

I once stumbled upon a choice bit of French quotation from Shakespeare. It was a tale by Uchard.

The distinguished author of this tale rendered "Frailty, thy name is woman," by "Fragilite, c'est le nom d'une femme" ("Fragility, that is the name of a woman").—Strauss.

A Woman's Compliment.

"I admire your hair, dear."

"Thanks."

"But isn't it a good deal of trouble to find that peculiar shade in the shops?"—Washington Herald.

So Gentle and Nice.

"You have no idea," said Ethel, "how my poor head hurts me."

"Well," said her friend, "why don't you take your hair off and rest it?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Not Golden.

The power of speech is a gift vouchsafed to man alone, and the effect of it is to render silence, perhaps the grandest thing in all the world, a bore to him.—Puck.

Do you use an atomizer in treating Nasal Catarrh? If so you will appreciate Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, the quickest and surest remedy for this disease. In all curative properties it is identical wth the solid Cream Balm, which is so famous and so successful in overcoming Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in the head. There is relief in the first dash of spray upon the heated sensitive air passages. All druggists 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

A CHANGE OF EVNUE

An order granting a change of venue from Onondaga to Oswego county was entered in the case of Alcah R. DeGraff vs. the Granby Pulp & Paper Company.

ACTION DISCONTINUED

The action of Andrew Stoneburg, of Fulton, against the Syracuse Journal Company for libel has been discontinued.

Just at this time the "judicial temperament" of the President may prove to be especially useful.

The House Democrats are willing to adjourn by July 1, in order to have a safe and sane Fourth for the rest of the country.

Mr. Bryan says that the day of democracy has arrived. Mr. Bryan has seen it coming for about sixteen years just as clearly as he beholds its arrival.

Gov. Hoss sent a special message to the Massachusetts legislature urging the passage of an act to regulate the operation of aeroplanes. There's progressiveness for you.

WOMEN HELPED

By Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for Kidneys and Liver.

Disorders of women are the result of general bodily weakness. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a strength builder and for women it has proved of great value. Thousands testify to this. A sick woman almost always has kidney trouble, which causes pain in the back, headache, nervousness and other distressing symptoms. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helps the Kidneys and Liver to act properly, purifies the blood and gently moves the bowels, striking at the cause of Kidney, Liver, Blood and Bladder troubles.

For over 35 years it has enjoyed steady and merited success, for it is an honest remedy and has stood the test of time. Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. Y. for a free sample bottle and valuable medical booklet. Large bottle $1.00 at all druggists.

The Twenty-third Annual Reunion of the 184th Regiment will be held on the Oswego Falls Fair Grounds, Wednesday, June 14, 1911. A special committee has charge of the arrangements for the Reunion and we expect to have an unusually good time. It is earnestly desired that every comrade be present. There will be a general business meeting at 10:30 a. m. Dinner at 12 m., for which there will be a charge of 25 cents for all persons not members of the Association. Election of officers, speaking, music and other exercises promptly at 1:30 p. m.

If you cannot be present please write the Secretary and enclose 50 cents for a badge with Comrade A. W. Cheney's photograph on it, and a fine engraved picture of Harrison's Landing as it was when the Regiment encamped there.

Robt. Simpson, Jr., Secretary.
Col. W. G. Robinson, Hon. Pres.
Maj. W. D. Ferguson, Active Pres.
Amos Youmans, Treasurer.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

"The Great Red Horse and Its Rider" is the subject announced for next Sunday morning's discourse at the First Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Peck.

A special service in recognition of "Mothers' Day" is prepared for the evening beginning at 7:30. The theme of the sermon will be "Mary, the Mother of Jesus," and a special invitation is extended to mothers. The white carnation, the Mothers Day badge, will be worn by many who attend the service, in honor of "Mother."

TRIAL JURORS

The following is a partial list of the trial jurors to serve at the term of County Court to open at Pulaski, May 22, as was drawn on Friday:

Fulton—Lawrence Miller, J. G. David, B. C. Brown.

Granby — Melvin Dopp, Solomon Caswell, Fred Blake, Noah Merriam.

Volney — William Springer, Melvin Burtin, George A. Hall.

Constantia—Joel Congdon, Dwight Bailey, William Eaton, Ray Codner.

Hannibal—C. W. Hawa, Edwin R. Brown.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, O., "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica salve and my foot soon completely cured." Heals burns, boils, sores, bruises, eczema, pimples, corns. Surest pile cure. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead,—He is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,—
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

Home rule for Ireland again looms up. In the memory of the oldest inhabitants it has never been known to loom down.

VOLNEY

Mrs. Elizabeth Salyes spent last week at Fulton.

Miss Lillian Hosford of Mexico is a guest of Mrs. D. Campbell.

Miss Elizabeth Collins has closed a successful term of school at Gilberts Mills.

Rev. and Mrs. George Ward were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Cornish Friday.

Mr. John Snell visited his parents Thursday.

The Ladies Aid have had the parsonage decorated and repaired and Mr. J. B. Atwater will occupy the same this year.

Miss Jessie Vant spent the week with her sister, Mrs. C. Baldwin.

The paper and rubber social at the Town Hall on Friday evening was a success. The ladies of the Aid society gave a drama "How the Story Grew," which was well received. Good music was also furnished by the young people.

Rev. George Ward preached a fine sermon Sunday at the Bristol Hill church. Topic was "Remember." The congregation is increasing in size all the time.

NORTH VOLNEY

Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes of East Palermo visited their granddaughter, Mrs. George Gates and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Allen were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall entertained Mr. and Mrs. Perry Whitney of North Scriba Sunday.

The L. A. S. is to meet at the usual place Wednesday of this week.

There is to be a union meeting of the churches on the Mt. Pleasant charge (of which this is one) May 28. Every one is cordially invited.

Mrs. Byron Sikes was able to get out of doors Sunday for the first time since her illness.

Miss Nellie Smith is improving.

Farmers are complaining of the need of rain.

MRS. INGAMELS PAYS

Mrs. Ida T. Ingamels for whom a warrant was issued by Surrogate Miller upon a charge of contempt of court will not have to serve a sentence. She was not even arrested as Mrs. Ingamells has paid to the Sheriff the amount in question together with the costs, the total being $109.22. The Sheriff's receipt for this sum was filed in Surrogate's court this morning.

The warrant was issued on May 1 on the application of A. T. Jennings, attorney for John Gibbons, who had a claim for $50 against the estate of W. Y. Ingamells of which Mrs. Ingamels was executrix. She claimed that she had no money with which to pay the claim. Gibbons' expenses amounted to $30 and the sheriff's costs to $19.22.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

BARACA CLASS PROGRESSIVE

Will Hold Field Days on Fair Grounds Every Saturday—Opening of Season on Saturday—Game of Ball and Other Sports to be Enjoyed.

The Baraca class of the Baptist church have leased the Fair grounds for every Saturday afternoon during the coming season and the class members and their families will enjoy recreation and outings together each week. The idea is a happy one, and will prove beneficial and enjoyable to many.

Saturday of this week will be the first field day for the class and a varied program of sports has been planned, with supper to crown the days outing. If the weather is propitious there will undoubtedly be a large attendance.

GOING TO APPELLATE DIVISION

Before the Appellate Division in Rochester on Tuesday a motion was argued in the action of Daniel R. Snow against Daniel Snow, Fulton parties. The plaintiff, who is represented by L. W. Baker, owns a farm. He alleges that Daniel Snow was employed to run the former's farm. D. R. Snow sued to recover for the sale of property sold, the amount being about $500. Claude E. Guile appeared for Daniel Snow and set up a counter claim. He was awarded a verdict of $80. D. R. Snow appealed to the County Court and the verdict, which was obtained before City Judge F. G. Spencer was reversed. Attorney Guile then appealed to the Appellate Division.

As the gas man was walking along the street the other morning he overtook a motherly looking old lady and a young man and over heard these words: "Say Charley, we ain't going through this world but just once so take all the comfort you can while young," and he wondered, if that mother's menfolks had provided her with a gas range to cook on these hot days, thus adding to her comfort.

DEATHS

B. Dorr Pryne, aged 76, died on Saturday at his home near Granby Center after a life long residence in that town. The funeral services were held on Monday morning and interment was made in Merritt cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Robert Murray of Newark, N. J., occurred on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Barney. The funeral services were held from the Catholic church on Tuesday and the body was taken to Watertown for burial.

A letter received from Olympia, Wash., stated that Frank A. Gilbert, formerly of New York city and later of Mansfield, Ohio, but who in 1903, removed to Olympia, had passed to rest at his home on May 3. The deceased was aged 74. A year ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis from the effects of which he never recovered. He was a cousin of the Messrs. Gilbert of this city.

Lydia A., aged 78, widow of the late Willard Curtis, died on Wednesday at her home in Second street. She had resided in Fulton for nearly 60-years. The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon. Burial in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Belle Hilbert of this city; two brothers, Jerome B. Rector of the city and L. R. Rector of New York city.

The death of Cornelius J. Miller, aged 92, and for over 80-years a resident of the same farm on the west river road, occurred on Sunday after a long period of ill health. The grandfather of the deceased was one of the first white settlers in the town of Granby and his family was well known throughout the history of the county. The funeral services will be held from the late home this Wednesday afternoon. One daughter, Miss Ida U. Miller, and one son, Mr. Jeth Miller, survive.

Stephen H. VanSanford, aged 74, passed to rest at his home in West First street after an illness of six years, he having been struck down with paralysis when in the prime of life and in apparently good health. Since that time he had been a patient, uncomplaining sufferer, finding his only happiness in the cheerful and willing ministrations of his wife and children. Although the power of speech was denied him for so many years, he still was enabled in many ways to show his appreciation of their efforts for his comfort and well being and to express his affection for them. The deceased was born in Saratoga County, removing to Sterling Valley where he resided until after his marriage. He then removed to Iowa where he resided for twenty years, removing to Fulton nine years ago where he had since made his home. While west he successfully engaged in farming. Since residing in Fulton he had not engaged in any pursuit. The funeral services were held from the late hom on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. G. W. Wellburn, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating, and interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The bearers were all relatives of the deceased. The immediate survivors are the widow, one son, Hallie and three daughters, Mrs. Georgia Chubb, Mrs. Glenn J. Streeter and Miss Florence Van Sanford, all of this city.

Will Be Open For Business on Saturday, May 20

We will have no formal "opening," no fuss or feathers, and we cordially invite the people of this vicinity to visit our new place of business at their convenience. You will be very welcome, and you will not be urged to buy.

We are aware that in the past sixteen years that we have been engaged in business, we have made many mistakes, and have perhaps, unwittingly estranged some customers, and at this time when we are beginning in a new location, we desire to say, that if there is any person who cherishes against us a grievance, be that grievance real or fancied, if they will give us the opportunity and it is in our power to do so, we will gladly adjust the matter to their satisfaction.

We fully appreciate the patronage that has been given us during the years that are gone, and earnestly and respectfully solicit a share of your patronage during the years that are to come.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the sate road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST

First Methodist Church Filled With Friends of Contestants—Dr. W. K. Wickes and Prof. H. M. Tilroe of Syracuse and Miss Mary Phillips Were Judges—Prizes Awarded to Ruth Nelson and Ruth Guthrie; J. Fay Newton and Allen Foster.

Long before the hour set for the prize speaking contest, on Friday evening, the First Methodist church was filled with the friends and relatives of the contestants. The participants were unusually popular and the was a great deal of expectancy and hope on the part of the friends of each one. The class colors, green and white, were in evidence in the church decorations and equisite flowers were bestowed upon each participant in the contest. Some members of Kapp's orchestra, Syracuse, furnished music.

Miss Daisy Lounsbery, instructor in elocution, had given much effort and thought to the selcetion of the different readings to be presented and there was wide variety in the selections. Careful, intelligent retaining had also been bestowed upon each student and the result showed a finish and completeness of interpretation most flattering to instructor and pupils. The program as published in the Times last week was given in its entirety.

Miss Ruth A. Nelson gave "A sisterly scheme," with such charm of manner and excellence of presence and delivery as to secure for herself the first prize.

Miss M. Ruth Guthrie was the recipient of the second honor for young ladies, reciting "The story of Patsy" in most attractive manner.

Mr. James Fay Newton gave "For dear old Yale" with so much ability as to win the first prize from the judges, the audience enthusiastically applauding the award.

Mr. Allen S. Foster gave "Julius Caesar" with so much dramatic ability and attention to detail as to easily win the second prize, his selection being most favorably accepted by the audience.

BURGLAR CONFESSES HELD FOR GRAND JURY

James Backus Admits Breaking into Stores at Felts Mills

James Backus, charged with burglary and petit larceny, was brought to the county jail on Monday afternoon to await the action of the Grand jury. He admits breaking into the stores of G. A. Dick & Son and E. S. Turner, Saturday night and stealing a quantity of cheap jewelry and about $10 in cash. Backus was arraigned before Justice Turner, whose store was robbed, Monday afternoon and was held for the grand jury. He admitted doing the job and intimated that there were others implicated, but would not tell who they were. Backus is about 18 years old and came here a few days ago from Fulton. He gave himself up Monday. — Watertown Times, May 16.

LED CHARMED LIFE

Evidently Mr. Robert B. Hunter, Managed of the Battle Island Pulp and Paper mill, led a charmed life on Friday when he had two narrow escapes from death but did not suffer a bruise.

His first narrow escape was when he and his chauffer were enroute to the mill in the morning in an automobile. As they approached the railroad track a whistle announced the approach of a train. An extra impetus was given the machine to drive it over the track ahead of the train and up a short incline beyond the track. The motor car cleared the track and was half way up the hill when the chain fell from the gear and the car backed rapidly down the hill toward the track and the oncoming train. By skillful maneuvering the car was ditched without harm to either vehicle or occupants.

Later in the day a pole breaking precipitated Mr. Hunter, fully dressed, into the Oswego river. He swam ashore without much trouble although heavily weighed with clothing.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

Veterans Will Decorate Graves of Deceased Comrades and Listen to Address by Hon. C. N. Bulger in Afternoon—Especial Attention Given to Outlying Burial Places—Contributions of Flowers Asked.

Commander of Post Schenck, G. A. R., furnishes the Times with the following program for Decoration day.

Sunday, May 28th, Post goes to Bowens Corners to decorate the graves of the Comrades of the town of Granby. Leave Post rooms at 8 a. m.

Sunday evening, May 28th, the Comrades will meet at Post rooms at 7 o'clock in the evening and will march in a body to the Baptist church where the annual sermon will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. G. York.

Sunday, June 4th, the Post will go to Mt. Pleasant to decorate there. All members of the Post and Comrades are requested to be at the Post rooms at 8 o'clock a. m., sharp.

On Tuesday, May 30th, an annual service will be held in this city. All Comrades are requested to be on hand at the Post rooms to form column for the march to the cemetery at 9 a. m., sharp.

The column will be led by the Fulton Band. The line of march will be down First to Oneida, up Oneida to Third, South Third to the Park, then to South Fourth to Broadway, Broadway to the cemetery. All our citizens are invited to attend the services at the cemetery.

After the services at the cemetery, the Comrades will march back down Broadway to First, down First to the Post rooms. The Woman's Relief Corps and Columbia Circle will furnish dinner to all Comrades.

At half-past one the line will form and march to the First M. E. church where the annual address will be delivered by the Hon. Charles N. Bulger of Oswego. Mr. Bulger is one of the best speakers of Oswego county and received his early education at Falley Seminary.

Fifty years have passed since our first men marched away to protect our flag and help make this country the great undivided country that it is Many of Fulton's sons gave their lives for the flag. Many more have gone to the silent bivouac of the dead. The few of us that are left are not the stalwart men that we were in the days of '61 and '64. But the love we hold for our fellow Comrades grows stronger as we realize that we are soon to pass the picket line and the old line of blue will fade away forever. So we again appeal to our loyal citizens of Fulton to come out to our exercises and by your presence help us to discharge this duty of love to our fellow Comrades.

We would respectfully ask for contributions of flowers at the Post rooms early Tuesday morning, May 30th.

John W. Distin,
Commander.

FULTON SAVINGS BANK BURGLAR ALARM

A "little one" on the Treasurer last Saturday proved the efficiency of the burglar protection of the Fulton Savings Bank. The Teller usually locks the vault, but he being out of town last Saturday, the Treasurer locked up the vault and went to dinner and before he got to pie a continuous rap-tap-tap of a gong caught his ear. It sounded like something he had heard before, but lasted too long for a trolley gong and he made tracks for the bank. When he arrived he found Mike Bray and John Youngs on guard gazing at the vault and wondering how to stop the noise, but the noise could not be stopped until the vault was opened and the alarm reset. The vault was locked but the combination lock was not set on the right number. This shows that the system was on guard not only against burglars, but also against any possible slip or want of care on the office force. The bell would also have rung fifteen minutes after the door was closed had it not been loocked.

All the forces in the world won't make a home strong, if it is weak in the kitchen.

A Gas Range means strength where the cooking is done.

FULTON'S NEW INDUSTRY

Last week announcement was made of the incorporation of The Fulton Orthopedic Company, Inc., with capital stock of $1,000. The officers are Dr. H. P. Marsh, Dr. H. M. Doane and Mr. and Mrs. Brenard Burns. The main office is located at No. 227 Oneida street; phone 85.

The company was called into existence by the recently acquirde knowledge of the number of sufferers from broken arches, painful flat feet, and the numerous ills attendant thereon. A fortunate thought as to the best method for remedying the trouble and a skilled man to make the devices now known as the Royal Whitman arch support called the corporation into being. Already the orders are coming in upon the new company which had passed the experimental stage long before taking the public into their confidence and taking a position among the manufacturers of the city.

Physicians have known for some time that the ready made arch supports do not benefit. Made from one pattern they cannot fit all feet and in many instances they have done positive injury. The new company takes plaster casts of the afflicted foot; finds definitely which bones and muscles have broken down, and then makes the support to gently place the displaced parts back into a normal position and without causing the slightest degree of pain. Men and women who must by reason of their occupation, stand on their feet great lengths of time, suffer from this trouble and heretofore have not known where to turn for relief. Now skilled specialists can ascertain the trouble and skilled workmen make the comfortable, inexpensive devices to give instant foot comfort.

It is prophesied that the new company will within a short time have all they can do and physicians are urging their patients to adopt this sensible plan for the relief and cure of their painful ailment.

IMPORTANT DECISION RENDERED

Judge Charles N. Bulger of Oswego, as referee, has handed down his decision in the taxpayers case of Dr. E. J. Cusack against the Board of Public Works, to restrain them from transferring $7,100 from the water fund to the street and sidewalk improvement fund The referee finds that the said transfer of funds is without warrant of law and is null and void and of no effect. The defendants are ordered to restore the said sum or so much of the same as remains unexpended to the water fund of the city.

The action is in the line of a test case and is one of the results of the Quirk Democratic administration when the money was transferred for improvement purposes to be expended in paving North First street. The money has been tied up for nearly two years now and not available for any purpose.

The decision is of wide reaching import and the end is far from visible at present.

FOUND UNDER PLATFORM

A man who said he was Charles Hinman was found in a semi-conscious condition under a platform of the unused O. & W. freight house at the entrance to Fort Ontario Sunday afternoon. Patrolman Dalrymple saw he was in serious physical condition and had him removed to the Oswego Hospital. Hinman said he had been under the platform since early in the morning, too weak to call for help

It is said that Hinman's last place of employment was the barge canal at Fulton.—Oswego Times.

TO DELINQUENT TAX PAYERS

City Chamberlain Deuel wishes to call the attention of taxpayers to the fact that the per cent. will increase on June 1, and that all unpaid taxes at that time must be placed in the hands of the city attorney for collection, to comply with the provisions of the charter. There are over $20,000 in unpaid taxes on the books at the present time.

THIRTY MINUTE SERVICE

Trolley Company Makes Effective Summer Schedule on Thursday — Time Table Changes in Another Column.

The Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern Railroad Company has arranged their Summer schedule of service between this city and Syracuse, the new hours going into effect on Thursday morning, May 25. A corrected time table will be found in another column.

In writing of the change Mr. A. J. Littlejohn, the enterprising publicity man of the company, says in part:

"On May 25 there will be a general change in time of all trains on the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern railroad. On that date we will install the usual 30 minute summer "all local" service.

I wish to call your particular attention to the fact that while the summer schedule, as is customary, does not give any through limited service, the running time of the local trains has been cut from 1 hour and 20 minutes from Syracuse to Fulton to 1 hour and 10 minutes. The limited service only did it 15 minutes faster so you see that this is really a fast local service, far superior to any the company has been able to give you prior to this time. As time goes on we hope to do still better, despite the fact that today (and I think there is no chance for argument) the Lakeshore is giving Baldwinsville, Phoenix and Fulton the best interurban service afforded any city or village in the Western Hemisphere."

CONFERENCE ON CANAL CLOSING

Anthony Griffin, President of the 'Longshoremen's Union, Mayor Fitzgibbons of Oswego and R. B. Hunter of the Battle Island Pulp and Paper Company, left Monday afternoon for Albany to confer with members of the canal committees of both branches of the Legislature relative to a proposed bill providing for a partial closing of the Oswego canal, introduced into the Assembly by Assemblyman Manley of Oneida.

The Oswego county delegation went to Albany at the suggestion of Assemblyman Sweet, who was in the city Saturday afternoon, conferring with representatives of interests that would be affected by the closing. Mr. Sweet said that it was the desire of Superintendent Treman and State Engineer Bensel to do nothing that would not meet the approval and be satisfactory to all the parties intreested, and at Mr. Sweet's suggestion the Mayor of Oswego and others agreed to go to Albany to discuss the matter.

The bill which was introducde by Assemblyman Manley provides for the opening of the canal from Oswego to Battle Island during the period from June 1st to September 1st, and for the opening of the entire canal from August 1st to September 1st, the part at Fulton being closed, except during the latter time. The 'longshoremen, through Mr. Griffin, will oppose the bill unless arrangements are made with Mr. Hunter to bring the pulpwood for the Battle Island Paper Company through Oswego by rail during the time the canal is closed.

BIG STORMS DESTROY LIFE AND PROPERTY

LIGHTNING KILLS FARMER, INJURES OTHERS AND SETS FIRE TO HOUSES.

Residents of Lewis and Jefferson Counties Terrorized as Three Electrical Storms Rage at Same Time

Death and disaster by fire swooped down upon the foothills of the Adirondacks late Tuesday in three electrical storms, unprecedented in fury ad phenomena in the history of North ern New York.

Wind of hurricane velocity, thunder that rocked buildings to their very foundations and a veritable rain of forked and jagged bolts of lightning of blinding and terrifying brilliancy characterized the elemental disturbance.

Dead

Perry Rockwood, 65 years old, farmer, Dexter.

Injured

Lance Rockwood, son of Perry Rockwood, Dexter.

Mrs. Leon Hall, Martinsburg.

The course of the storms was toward Lake Ontario. Trainmen on the New York Central, along whose route from the north to Watertown they traveled, declared Tuesday evening that the three disturbances immediately rent the skies with tripled intensity.

Two counties, Lewis and Jefferson, bore the brunt of the storm's fury. Passengers who watched the elements while they were borne from Carthage and Lowville on trains running south—asserted that the lightning left a path of burning buildings in its wake.

The greatest havoc was wrought in the Carthage and Lowville sections. In the latter village big trees were blown down and the debris tied up traffic.

Lightning played upon the ground in many places like streams of molten metal. A phenomenon farmers claim is caused by the earth being so dry as to deflect the electricity.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

At the First Methodist church a Fiftieth Anniversary Memorial Service will be held Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. C. L. Peck, will preach a special sermon on "The Higher Patriotism."

The Boy Scouts of the First M. E. church had a most delightful outing at Pathfinder Saturday afternoon in charge of the Scout Masters, Rev. C. L. Peck and James Robinson. About twenty-five participated in the sports and games provided at that popular resort. Besides baseball, tennis, croquet, boating and bathing, racing events were called, resulting as follows. Fifty yard dash for boys under fifteen, Fenton Smith, first; Leland Carner, second, Claude Barker, third. Hundred yard dash for boys under fourteen, Selah LaFerney, first; Albert Sanford, second; Brooks Parks, third. Patrol race, Daniel Hudson, second patrol, first; Selah LaFerney, fourth patrol, second; Claude Barker, third patrol, third. At baseball Ross Wolever's team won by a score of 5 to 0. No less enjoyable than the sports were the lunches and lemonade served on the lawn.

THE WEEK

Two events of the week have an important influence upon the business situation, inasmuch as they remove much of the uncertainty which has served to retard enterprise and discourage activity. These events are the Supreme Court decision in one of the cases involving the status of big corporations under the anti-trust law, and the prospects of the restoration of peace in Mexico. These developments had the effect of greatly increasing transactions in the securities market, always the most sensitive, and quick to respond to new conditions. Its influence is also felt to a moderate extent in the leading trades and industries. For the first time in many weeks the reports from the leading trade centers are more buoyant in tone, though it would not appear that the actual gain in volume of transactions has been much, if any. This improvement in business sentiment appears in the reports from the iron and steel trade, where in spite of continued contraction and price concessions in ig iron, a better feeling is noted, with some increased orders from the railroads. It also appears to a limited degree in the textile markets, which report some improvement, notwithstanding the continued curtailment due largely to the high cost of production and the conservative purchases by consumers. It is noteworthy that the more seasonable weather stimulates a larger retail distribution, and the continued fine prospects for the crops have an encouraging effect upon trade. The wheat conditions are admirable in every essential, while the cotton outlook is also favorable. The shoe trade is conservatively improved. The copper market appears steadier. The issue of Panama Canal bonds is expected to be an unqualified success.

An improved sentiment appears in iron and steel, and this is taken as a forerunner of reviving activity in the trade, although as yet there is no tendency in that direction. The railroads are now covering requirements more freely, business from this source being confined chiefly to bridge and rail divisions. Buying of track supplies is also on an enlarged scale, and while new orders have diminished, there are prospects that the Canadian roads will purchase considerable equipment in this country in order to insure deliveries in time for the crop moving season. Inquires for pig iron are noted in the East for fully 30,000 tons, and tentative contracts aggregate a large total. Further price concessions are reported, however, northern markets being weaker and basic grades in the East showing a decline of 50 cents from previous quotations. It is estimated that the sheet mills are working at about 60 per cent. of capacity, while the tin plate mills are operating at 75 per cent.

Production in nearly all lines of textiles is increasingly limted because of the reduced margin of profit, and this, too, concurrently with a better tone to reports concerning prospects for improved trade. Warmer weather has given some impetus to distribution of dry goods at retail and in a limited way the effect of this is reflected in an increased number of small orders for seasonable merchandise. The export movement of cotton goods continues well ahead of last year and more active buying of printed fabrics has followed the large purchases of print cloths a week ago. Some factors of strength have developed in the woolen goods market, among them a notice by the leading producer of men's wear that it could receive no more orders after June 1, and the notable activity at some other mills making novelties or specialties in that class of goods.

A better feeling prevades the entire footwear situation. Shoe manufacturers are placing larger contracts for leather, which would indicate that reserve contracts in hand have increased. The movement, however, is principally for tan shoes and specialties. Larger individual lots of leather are moved and prices show a firmer trend on some varieties, owing to scant supplies. Both large and outside tanners have advanced prices on hemlock and union sole. The domestic hide markets do not show the activity of a week ago, but prices continue strong at advances for both packer and country take-off. Foreign hides and skins have received somewhat more attention as there is not the disparity formerly existing between Europe and the domestic market, the latter having advanced appreciably in the last two weeks. Clearance sales were effected of common dry hides at a general decline of 1-2 cent, but other kinds of Latin-American stocks are slow.

New high records are constantly being made in cotton, both spot and the July option rising above sixteen cents. Liquidation was heavy in the latter delivery, but offerings were well absorbed. Rain is needed in some sections of the belt, yet as a whole crop prospects are favorable, with conditions in Texas especially promising. The reactionary tendency in wheat continues, although prices fluctuate with considerable irregularity. The domestic crop outlook leaves little to be desired and harvesting of winter wheat will begin in Kansas in about a month.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for May to date amount to $7,737,488, of which $2,7994,089 were in manufacturing, $3,459,261 in trading and $1,48,1438 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 253 in the United States against 212 last year, and 30 in Canada compared with 14 a year ago.

We passed our cold wave on to the next station, having positively no further use for it.

ELECTRIC STREET LIGHTING

Traced to its earliest recorded stages, street lighting started with the single function of pathfinding, which in olden times was accomplished by torches or lamps carried by pedestrians. The man who wanted to leave both of his hands free strapped a little lamp to the sandal of one foot, thus lighting the path before him. Probably this was what inspired the familiar lines of one of our famous orators: "There is but one lamp by which my feet are guided and that is the lamp of experience." The lantern which Diogenes incidentally used in his search for an honest man, is historic and according to Plutarch (about 100 A. D.) no citizen of his time would go out at night unless accompanied by a slave carrying either a torch or a lantern.

The first departures from these perambulating lights seem to have been the festal illuminations occasionally held both in Greece and in Egypt in celebration of religious feasts, weddings and the like, thus introducing the element of display which during the last five years has become a function of street lighting in many American cities. For instance, when Cicero returned to his home after exposing Catiline's conspiracy, his way was lighted by lamps and torches set along both sides of the street. These festal displays were of short duration and the first instance of outdoor lamps kept burning regularly (as reported by Tertullian, about 200 A. D.) consisted of lamps hung before each door of the Roman houses in what corresponded to our "red-light" districts. During the later periods of the Roman empire, the entrances to the public baths were also lighted by outdoor lamps. Thus in the oldest recorded instances of continued and municipally ordered outdoor lighting the lamps not only lit the way for pedestrians, but also showed the business nature of the buildings before which they were placed—a trade-drawing function of street lighting which has been too generally overlooked since that time.

For street lighting disconnected from festivals or from any particular class of buildings, we find the earliest instances in Antioch (Syria) in the fourth century, where the more important streets and squares were lit by lamps hung from ropes. Of the gradual spread of this practice through Europe, little has come down in history except as to certain large cities. In Paris, an edict of 1524 ordered lights to be placed in front of the windows, to which pitch pans were added at the street crossings in 1558. In London an act of Parliament in 1662 decreed that every resident should hang a lantern before the door of his house, to burn from dusk till 9 p. m. every night from Michaelmas to Candlemas (September 2 to February 2,) In 1736 the lighting was turned over to a corporation and in 1814 gas street lighting, which had been adopted at Pall Mall in 1807, was generally installed in London.

In Berlin an edict of 1680 ordered "a lantern, therein a burning light to be hung out at each third house, so be it that the lamps are alternately supplied by the neighbors." This plan did not prove satisfactory, so in spite of the protests of citizens against paying for the same, lamps were erected on posts during the same year and an "inspector of city lighting" was appointed to look after the same. A lantern ordinance issued two years later, prescribed the hours during which street lamps were to burn in the cities of Berlin and Cologne, the hours being greatest in December and January, with light from 5 p. m. till 7 a. m., while no light whatever was to be furnished during May, June, July and August. Some years later the lighting was turned over to a private party, but with the assured protection of the ruler, which was needed, as the lanterns were so frequently stolen that even a reward of ten dollars offered to the one reporting the culprit was inadequate. The penalty for street-lantern theft was gradually increased to $200 or expulsion from the country. The lanterns used were three-sided, mounted on wooden poles and each fitted with a little flickering oil lamp. Leipzig also seems to have been early in adopting lamp-posts, as pictured on a souvenir medal issued in 1702 to celebrate the introduction of street lamps on wooden poles.

In this country, Benjamin Franklin's improvements in oil lamps (for which he modestly sought no patents) were promptly utilized for street lighting, though little headway was made until Baltimore, Boston and New York all adopted gas for street lighting during the years 1820 to 1823.

This introduction of street lights into one city after another was not without opposition, the most notable being that at Cologne, where the influential Koelnische Zeitung bitterly contested the proposed gas street lamps for seven remarkable reasons:

(1) On theological grounds, as presuming upon the order of God, who had ordained that darkness should prevail whenever the moon was not visible at night.

(2) For legal reasons, as the taxes to pay for the street lighting would fall on some who had no use for outdoor lights.

(3) For sanitary reasons, as the gas vapors were harmful to delicate persons and the street lighting by leading people to stay out after dusk would inflict coughs and colds upon them.

(4) On moral grounds, as the artificial light would destroy the fear of dark, which deterred many an evildoer.

(5) As hampering the police, since the bright lights would make horses shy and thieves bolder (!).

(6) For national economy, as the resulting consumption of oil or coal would reduce the country's resources.

(7) On patriotic grounds, since a regular lighting of the streets would detract from the thrill of the festal illuminations on national holidays.

However, even such serious indictments did not avail and one city after another adopted gas for street lighting until Jablochkoff with his electric candle showed the superior possibilities of electric lamps for this class of work.—Electrical Review and Western Electrican.

If spring is a promise that summer is coming, it has been a breach of promise this year.

Probing legislatures is becoming the great American enterprise.

ERANS OF 24TH REGIMENT

sful and Enjoyable Reunion d in Oswego Wednesday— Fif- Anniversary of Regiment Go- to the Front—Out of 1,200 En- d Men Only 100 Now Living.

twenty-third annual reunion of Twenty-fourth New York Volun- Infantry, recruited in Oswego ty fifty years ago, and which for first two years of the War of Rebellion played a prominent in the making of the reputation he famous "Iron Brigade" in battles and marches on Virginian before Washington, was held on nesday in the G. A. R. rooms in Armory in Oswego and was at- ed by nearly 100 former boys in many of whom came many miles nce more discuss the stirring s of by gone days. Men were with gray hair and stooped lders, many in poor health, all animated with the idea of more living over the scenes ch are dear to their hearts. So nt were those present on discus- the days of old that every now then, above the voice of the pre- ng officer, could be heard such ses as "Yes, I lost that arm at Run," or "It was at Cold Har- that I met you first," be reunion was one of the best ch the regiment has held and was especially important in that was the semi-centennial of the reaking out of the war, and perhaps here were many in attendance who may never again attend a reunion of heir old comrades.

The meeting was called to order at leven o'clock by Dr. John R. Youngs, and the first business after the regis- ration of those present was the elec- ion of officers which was filled with he following slate: President, J. R. Youngs; vice president, Reuben Terpenning; secretary and Treasurer, Thomas Coles; chaplain, Norman G. Cooper; surgeon, Carrington Mac- Farlane.

Letters were read from com- rades who live distance and who were unable attend because of business reasons failing health, in many instances latter. Some of the letters were tic and others humorous, but all the experiences of long ago of especial interest was from Williams, who now lives in Ark., and who said that he lives miles from Little Rock, but that will be next week a big re of a confederate brigade in ty and that he will don his orm and his badges and trave istance to see if he can meet of the Johnny Rebs with who have exchanged shots fifty o. Another was from the da W. H. Reamer, who lives elby, Mich., and who is now to be dying. He sent his re his farewell to his comrades.

A. V. Youngs, of Hani letter of regret. J. H. a Phillisburg, Mont., W. H. of Great Falls, Mont., O. J. Jennings, of Port Royal, Va., Theron W. Haight of Wauseka, Wis., Lester Nelson of South Bridge, Md., A. P. Chase of Milwaukee, Wis., W. J. Pentelow, of Corona, Cal., and John R. Fender, Virginia, all sent interesting letters which were read by Secretary Cole amid the applause of the assemblage. Mr. Pentelow's letter was five type- written pages in extent and there was laughter when it was found to be signed by his old army nickname c "Poodle."

The honor of coming the greatest distance fell to Private Jay Robinson, who traveled from Fremont, Nebras- ka, to shake hands with the boys a- gain. He had something to say about making the "boys" buy their own din- ner and thought that the city should furnish the country's defenders dinners gratis' and said if the boys came out to his ranch he will show his appreciation by letting them live for- ever with him."

Dinner was served in the mess- room of the Armory by the Woman's Relief Corps and the hall was decor- ated with flags and bunting.

Secretary Cole sent out 135 invi- tations to the survivors of the twen- ty-fourth, but there were only about forty responses in person and a doz- en or two letters of regret and it is said that out of a force in '61 of 1,200 there are now alive only one hundred of those who once marched bravely forth to battle. Those who register- ed with the secretary were: J. R. Youngs, W. D. Ferguson, Fulton, Jay; Robinson, Fremont, Neb.; Thomas Coles, Fulton; T. R. Stewart, Pulas- ki; Erwin Shutts, Hannibal; Levi Niboff, Oswego; F. C. Mosher, Ful- ton; Josiah Roulson, Mexico; L. A. Benedict, Pennellville; C. A. Tay- lor, Oswego; A. B. Kellogg, Valentine Dubois, Fulton; S. L. Huntington, Mexico; E. J. Bell, Oswego; Lewis Sherman, Fulton; H. H. Herron, Os- wego; Norman G. Cooper, Oberlin, O.; Peter LeMay, Fulton; William S. Morse, James Simmons, Oswego; Wil- liam Simmons, Hannibal; G. P. Al- ger, Oswego; Orlando Cole, Fulton; M. R. Bowne, N. A. Wright, Oswe- go; William P. Kinney, Williams- town, Reuben Terpening, Ira; Dr. Carrington Macfarlane, Oswego.

In the afternoon over one hun- dred members of the regiment toget- her with members of the Woman's Relief Corps gathered in the G. A. R. rooms to talk it over again. City Attorney John R. Pidgeon was in- troduced by President Youngs and he extended on behalf of the city a cordial welcome to the veterans and delivered an eloquent speech, com- paring the problems of the day with those which the men and women of fifty years ago were obliged to face. He was loudly applauded.

Major Ferguson responded in hap- py vein thanking the officials of Oswego and the committee of the 24th Regiment, who had arranged all the details of the reunion. After the welcome there were several selec- tions rendered by a male quartet from the Twenty-fourth United States Infantry at Fort Ontario, which was followed by informal speeches.

Among those who spoke were Thomas Coles, Norman G. Cooper, J. R. Youngs, W. P. Phillips and others. Mr. Coles read a paper on some of his battlefield reminiscences. This meeting adjourned at 3:30, after Oswego had been selected as the place for the holding of the reunion on May 17, 1912.

The first Fulton soldier killed in the war was Michael Murphy, of Company C, Twelfth New York Infantry, who met his fate by a bullet at the first Bull Run battle, July 19th, 1861. He enlisted April 20th, 1861.

Along with him enlisted in April was Charles Backus, Seymour Van Camp, Giles Morse, Charles Pawling and Charles A. Taylor, now of Oswe- go. Comrade Taylor is without doubt the sole survivor.

From all the information obtains- ble it is believed that the follow- ing list contains the names of the living officers of the Twenty-fouth New York Infantry, viz:

Captain William D. Ferguson, Ful- ton; Captain O. J. Jennings, Port Royal, Va.; Lieutenant Henry Sand- hovel, South Bend, Ind.; Lieutenant John R. Fender, Hampton, Va.; Lieut- enant Norm G. Cooper, Oberlin, O.; Lieutenant Stephen J. Scriber, Saint Cloud, Fla.; Thoren W. Haight, Wau- kesha, Wis.; Lieutenant William S. Morse, Oswego.

NO LICENSE, NO MARRIAGE

No Excuses Went With Rev. Mr. Kettle on the Marriage Question

City Clerk William J. Hogan and Rev. William F. Kettle, pastor of the Congregational church, were just so unkind Saturday night that a young couple who really wished to join hands in the tight through life were sadly disappointed over the re- fusal of the Clerk to issue a license and the minister to accept an excuse that the license had been lost.

The young lady was from Fulton and this prevented Mr. Hogan from giving the parties the necessary do- cument. Mr. Kettle was just that strict that he had to be shown the Clerk's signature before the cere- mony was performed. The couple left at nine-fifteen for Fulton where it is hoped everything was adjusted satisfactorily.—Oswego Times.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitution- al remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rum- bling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamma- tion can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an in- flamed condition of the mucous sur- faces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circu- lars free.

SHAM DIRECT NOMINATIONS

The direct nominations bill intro- duced in the Legislature as the of- ficial bill of Gov. Dix's administra- tion is a joke. It offers little hope to those who believe that the selec- tion of candidates for public office should be brought nearer to the peo- ple. It serves only to discredit the sincerity of the Democratic party's professed redemption of a platform and campaign pledge.

In short, the Ferris-Blauvelt "di- rect primary bill" is for direct nom- inations only in name. It is a sham. —Oneida Dispatch.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

"Barry of Ballymore," a romance of the chivalric age in Ireland, with Chauncey Olcott in the principal role, will be presented at the Empire theatre, Syracuse, on May 25 and 26, by a company of unusual merit and with a most elaborate stage setting. The play, which tells of the adven- tures of a dashing young Galway gen- tleman who endeavors to secure for a young woman her rightful heritage in the way of name and fortune and who ultimately succeeds in so doing, is from the pen of Rida Johnson Young who with Rita Olcott furnish- ed Mr. Olcott with "Ragged Robin." Mrs. Young has evidently made a study of the period in which she places her story and has caught the spirit of the time with unusual fidel- ity. There is a Charles Lever tone to her writing that is delightful to lovers of that dashing type of young Irishmen that fills the pages of his novels and a great abundance of true Irish humor. Her character drawing is unusually fine. Mr. Ol- cott has found in the part of Barry a role that fits his personality to a wonderful degree and he is doing som of the most artistic work of his ca- reer in its portrayal. Prices 25c., to $1.50. Seats on sale Wednesday.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his twen- ty-five years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recom- mend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarse- ness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial af- fection, for I feel sure that a num- ber of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe its the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

IF POSTAL CLERKS STRIKE

Law Against Obstructing the Mails Could be Used in Retaliation.

Washington, D. C. —"There is a law making it a criminal offense to willfully and knowingly obstruct the mails, and I think that law would be applicable in the case of a strike in the Railway Mail Service," declared Second Assistant Postmaster Gener- al Stewart to the House Committee on Civil Service in explaining what the Postoffice Department would do in the event of a walkout by the clerks, who are seeking to establish their right to form a union.

Mr. Stewart declared that a ma- jority of the 17,000 mail clerks are satisfied with present working con- ditions. Trouble was being fomented, he said, by "a few discharged clerks and agitators outside the service."

Why Young Wives and Husbands Often Antagonize Each Other

Margaret E. Sangster says, in the course of an interesting arti- cle in the June Woman's Home Com- panion,

"Two households may stand side by side on the same street, two families live within hailing distance of one an- other for years in the same community and yet have opposite tastes, senti- ments and convictions. The child- ren of each growing up together may marry and, until they reach the per- iod of new adjustment, never suspect how antagonistic has been their ear- ly training. This is one reason why the first year of marriage is so be- set with briers and thorns. Everybody knows that until people actually dwell under the same roof they do not mutually become acquainted. A single week spent with a friend at a house-party does more to promote intimacy or indifference than years of superficial social intercourse. The touch-and-go meetings incidental to teas and receptions are the merest suggestions of personality but when one sits day after day beside the fire or at the table with a neighbor each ceasing to be on guard, real under- standing begins. Even correspondend which, to a degree, is in the nature of revelation, does not make people so well acquainted and is by no means so true a test of disposition and temperament as the test is of living together. During courtship and betrothal an engaged pair are on pro- bation. Without effort each dis- plays qualities of charm that cannot fail to be attractive. The most or- dinary speech has a flavor of compli- ment. The future husband and wife are walking through a land of dreams. Shall the dreams come true? They surely will if on both sides there are fixed principles of honor, justice and fidelity."

Is Chaos to Come to New York Highway Work?

If the Murtaugh-Collin bill, drafted for the purpose of abolishing the personnel of the present Highway Department should be passed it would undoubtedly result in the appointment of new commissioners, new division engineers and new heads of departments, the $10,000,000 worth of contracts for highway construction now being executed by contractors would be supervised and completed under men unfamiliar with the great subject of highway improvement, its purposes and the local conditions, which require such an intimate knowledge and acquaintanceship with the [illegible] and the town officials. Since the close of the war they have kept in close touch with each other and have several times visited their former home together. Mr. Squires was born in Cape Vincent, being a son of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Squires. In 1861 he enlisted in Co. F, 19th N. Y. V., and became first lieutenant. In 1862 he became a member of the 7th Independent company of Ohio Sharp shooters, afterwards known as "Gen. Sherman's body guard." In 1865 he became colonel, "for gallant and meritorious service."

Mr. Squires at one time successfully managed the Remington Arms company's plant, having married a daughter of the elder Remington. He removed to Seattle in 1879 where he inaugurated extensive business enterprises and conducted a large dairy farm. He has been at different times President of the Union Trust Company; Governor of Washington Territory; United States senator, etc.,

DEATHS

Mrs. George McCarthy was called to Lansing last week by the death of her brother, Harvey E. Middleton, a merchant well known in that vicinity.

The death of Mrs. Mary Pruner, aged 84, occurred at her home in Seneca street on Sunday after several weeks of illness. The deceased had been a long time resident of Fulton and was well known. The funeral services were held on Tuesday. One daughter, Mrs. Frank Park and one son, Charles, of Syracuse, are the immediate survivors.

Mrs. Sarah Cook, a life long resident of Fulton, died on Saturday at her home in West Broadway. The funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Charles Olmstead officiating. Burial was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the husband, four sons, George, Fred, Robert and Harry; her mother, two sisters and one brother, all of Fulton.

The sad intelligence was received in this city last week of the death in Syracuse of Earl Cable, a student in the Fine Arts school, Syracuse University, who was at one time a printer with W. H. Barrett. Mr. Cable several weeks ago while posing as a model for a group of art students, fainted from the close atmosphere and fell heavily to the floor of the studio, striking on his head. He was removed to a hospital and remained unconscious for some time. His death was caused by spinal meningitis and was wholly unexpected. It is probable that the fall was connected remotely with his untimely death. The deceased was of a retiring, artistic, studious nature and had many friends

J. Washington Burt, of Hannibal, for years the Republican leader and a prominent merchant of that town, who died last Winter, left personal property valued at $36,043 92, according to an inventory of the estate filed Tuesday by J. M. McFarland and Mark H. Miner. Application for letters on the estate was made some time ago by the executors, James B. Burt and James R. Jackson, but the petition gave no estimate of the value of the property.

According to the inventory, most of Mr. Burt's wealth was in New York Central 3 1-2 per cent. bonds. He had these to the par value of $28,000. At eighty-seven, the market value when the estate was appraised, they are worth $24,360. In addition, he had $2,805.60 cash in the Oswego City Savings bank; $5,000 in the Oswego County Savings bank; a half interest in the store of J. B. Burt & Company, Hannibal, worth $5,878.23, and incidentals unmentioned at $277.35.

SERIOUS LOSS TO MANUFACTURERS

The break in the canal wall is causing the manufacturers irreparable daily loss and is entailing a hardship upon them and also upon their employes, although in many instances the employes are continued on the pay roll although not engaged in labor, the employer not wishing them to leave Fulton. Where paper mills are equipped with electric power they cannot run because of lack of water with which to wash their stock. It will take weeks to repair the break

IMPROVEMENTS AT BATTLE ISLAND

The pulp mill at Battle Island was shut down for a few days last week for the purpose of installing new machinery. Superintendent Murray has installed a machine for stripping the knots from the uncorded wood, which is a great labor saving device. A new conveyor has also been installed.

PATHFINDER FIELD DAY

The formal opening of Pathfinder club house on Friday was not as great a success financially as was desired. The prize speaking contest in the evening preventing many from attending the dinner. Over fifty were present and did ample justice to the dinner prepared by Mrs. Holmes.

The Island Committee has made very different arrangements and much more desirable than have ever been made before, relative to the transferring of guests to and from the island. Nothing definite has been done prior to this season, and often guests would wait at the City Hall for hours and then be compelled to beg, borrow or steal a ride to their destination. This year arrangements have been made with Mr. D. E. Wadsworth to transfer all guests to and from the island and the work will be done right. The dinner tickets have been placed at 50c and this includes transportation to and from the island, automobile checks being given every guest who purchases a dinner ticket. Owners of automobiles are asked to take as many as possible with them when making the trip to expedite matters, but this request will in no manner interfere with the remuneration Mr. Wadsworth will receive as a trip will net him so much, whether the guest rides in his or some ones else car. This plan would seem to simplify the transportation problem and give the best of satisfaction everywhere. The car will leave the City Hall every Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and every 15 minutes thereafter until 6:15. Return will be made when the guests desire

This week Friday dancing with orchestra music will be enjoyed, as well as an afternoon of sports and dinner.

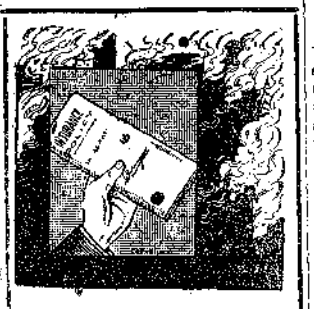
MANY ESTATES BEFORE SURROGATE

In Surrogate's Court on Monday letters of administration were issued on the estate of Edgar A. Waugh, who died in Albany April 25, to Teresa Waugh, his wife. The estate is valued at $2,500 real and personal. Mr. Waugh was the executor in the estate of his mother, Jane Waugh, but died within a short time after her death.

Mrs. Jane Waugh left an estate valued at $8,000, of which $6,000 was personal. In the petition for letters it is stated that one son, William E. Waugh, left Fulton 22 years ago and was last heard from 14 years ago living in Old Mexico. He left in Fulton his wife and one child, Eva Jane Waugh, who is now more than 21 years. She is one of the heirs.



The will of Silas H. Merritt, late of Fulton, was admitted to probate and letters issued to Mary A. Lewis and Frank H. Merritt. The estate is valued at $19,000 personal and $1,000 real.

Letters were issued to Mary E. Chapman and Velma G. Blossom on the estate of Sarah J. Cox of Fulton. The estate is valued at $1,000 real.

"RIPPER BILLS" STILL COMING

State Hospitals to Be Raided Now.

"BACK TO GOOD OLD DAYS."

Local Managers Are to Purchase All Supplies For State Institutions. Liquor Tax Law to Be Broken Down, Torn to Tatters—More Difficult to Enforce Law Under New Conditions as Proposed.

Albany, May 23.—"Ripper" legislation continues to engross the time and attention of the Democratic leaders and legislators. Before the legislature of 1911 adjourns the statutes as they were on the books on Jan. 1 last will be changed very materially. Apparently the chief motive for this is not to better conditions, but to afford an opportunity to annex patronage for the benefit of the faithful who supported the Democracy last fall and who are unwilling to wait until the terms of office of the incumbents have expired.

First it was the judiciary branch which engrossed attention with the avowed design of securing three Democratic judges on the state court of claims. Then came the onslaught on the courts and court annexes in Kings county, where Mr. McCooey wants to place several of his lieutenants in places of remuneration and power. Next came the charters of cities which happened to have Republican officials, and these were sought to be changed that Democrats could be installed in the larger and better paying positions. Now come the state hospitals and the state charitable institutions. For sixteen years New York state has been studying how to place these institutions on the highest possible plane both as efficient curative and reformatory agencies and also as regards administration. In the latter respect the idea was to secure for the state and its wards efficiency and economy. A system of joint purchases under contract for standard supplies has been worked out, and it has been approved by the state Charities Aid association, a philanthropic organization that is more often than not found opposed to state administrative methods.

Another change was made several years ago with an idea of improving conditions. It was thought that local boards of managers of state institutions, serving without pay, did not exercise as much prudence and oversight in purchasing supplies as might be, so the law was amended to take from local boards of managers who, either from lack of time or disinclination to resist importunity of local politicians, had not kept expenses down the purchase of supplies and vesting it in paid administrative officials responsible to the state fiscal supervisor or the state lunacy commission. The new plan has worked well, but local Democratic politicians do not like it because they have very little to say about the state institutions. Accordingly bills have been introduced returning to the local boards of managers the power to purchase such supplies "as are not included in the joint contract schedule." Inasmuch as it is proposed to abolish the position of purchasing steward in these state institutions, it can readily be seen that it is not likely to be very long before the local boards of managers will be purchasing pretty nearly all the supplies for the state hospitals and the state charitable institutions. It may be that this is desirable, but the facts are presented that the people may know just how far the Democrats are undoing the policies worked out or approved by former Governor Hughes.

"Ripping" the Liquor Tax Law.

Then there is the liquor tax law. Under Republican guidance New York state has worked out an excise system that is conceded to be an incentive to temperance of the real sort, while the state derives from the liquor traffic a revenue to support not only what might be termed the effects of the traffic, but also to aid in the maintenance of government. On every day's legislative calendar appear bills to break down the liquor tax law. These bills are not intended to make the law more stringent or to put up the bars still higher. Far from that. They all tend to emasculate it and to lessen the revenue which the state derives from the operation and rigid enforcement of the law. Penalties for violation of the law are reduced; restrictions as to forbidden hours are lessened; violation of the law is rendered more difficult to prosecute and convict. As Senator Brackett remarked in the senate the other day: "Our Democratic friends dare not do what they have promised the liquor men they would do—repeal the liquor tax law. But they are doing the best they dare. They are emasculating the law so that ere long all that will be left of it will be the offices to be filled and the salaries to be drawn." It may be said that this is what the people want, else they would not have elected the Dix-Murphy administration. If that be true, these facts are presented in order that the people may know they are getting just what they want.

The Hanging Oak

Accordingly the next night a meeting was called and the resolution passed and a committee named to cut down the old hanging oak. At the appointed time Uncle Josh was on hand with his mule to haul the wood to the edge of the Colonel's pine woods and the work of doing away with the old ghost tree began in good earnest. At about midnight everything being in readiness for the burning, three of the committee were sent into the woods to gather and bring in armfuls of dry limbs and pine tags to start the old oak pile a burning. Soon one of the number (Uncle Isaac) came crashing back through the bushes exclaiming, "For gord, I ain't going in dem woods no moah."

With one voice they all asked, "what you done seed or heard?"

"Well sah, I haint seen nothin' but I'se heard somethin' an I feels skeer."

Just then another member came in all out of breath.

"For gord brother, what's done happen to skeer you so?"

"Well sah, dares something the matter and dare's something gwine to happen, I'se seen one of em."

"One of who?" Came in a simultaneous voice from all of the committee.

"Well sah, it was a ghostes jus' as sure as I'm a live nigger."

"Go long, Brother John, you's got skeered at turkey buzzard mooing long on a limb," and all commenced laughing. Just then the cracking and breaking of limbs and twigs arrested their attention to look first to the woods and then to the open field. Then Brother Hornback came rushing in exclaiming, "We's all going!" rushing in exclaiming, "We's all going to be murder'd, de woods am full of night doctors and dey's comin' right down on us."

Turning to run across the open field for their homes they were confronted by four of the night doctors all wrapped in white sheets and hideous masks over their faces, the way to get past these terrible apparitions was to the poor terror stricken beings a problem too great to cope with as the night doctors advanced toward them. One by one they dropped down on their knees exclaiming, "Oh, Mr. Night Doctor, do spare us jus' this once and we won't do nothin" bad no moah. We won't take nothin' what don't belong to us. We'll ask the Lord to forgive us and if you'll be jus' as good as the Lord and let us go home you won't have no 'casion to look us up no moah. We's gwine to be good for sure and all, so please Mr. Night Doctors let us go home."

During the time this parley was being held Uncle Josh mounted his mule and made a flank movement on the night doctors by taking a bridle path down through the woods and across the big creek and so on around home. Arriving there about three o'clock in the morning Aunt Halsy was up and in a state of great alarm exclaiming as Uncle Josh entered the cabin: "For gord, Joshaway, I thought you was dead, where you done been, an what's happened?"

"Halsy, don't say nothin' but jus' blow out the light quick's you can."

The light being put out and Uncle Josh again enjoining on Aunt Halsy to keep quiet he began by saying:

"Halsy, de fust thing we better do is get right down on our knees and thank the Lord that I'se been spared to ever come back to you again for about one o'clock I sutery did think you'd be left a widow with no. thin' but the poor ole mule for company and support."

"For gracious sakes, Joshaway, don't grieve your poor ole Halsy like this but jus' be quick and tell me what's happen. I can't stand so much 'fliction and not know whats it all about."

"Halsy, I'se gwine to tell you but the fust best thing is for us to take it to the Lord in prayer."

"For gord, Joshaway, what is it we's going to take to the Lord, that's what I wants to know, we has'ent got much but the ole mule to take anywhere."

"Halsy, be careful what you say. I'se full of reverence for a lite preserved."

"Joshaway, if you wants to drive your poor old Halsy 'stracted jus' keep on but if you wants to tell 'bout what's happened jus' go on and do so and if you wants to pray fust then go right along and do that. I'll light my pipe an listen while you relieve yourself of some that reverence you's so full of then maybe you can tell me what's caused you to seek the Lord so earnestly tonight more than you has in twenty years before. Joshaway, I sutery do thinks you's been up to somethin' awful."

"Halsy, let us pray?"

"Joshaway, you can do the praying, I has'ent done nothin' wrong. I'll just sit here and smoke while you gets the Lord to forgive you."

"Halsy, you doan seem to understand that the Lord has already forgiven me and spared my life and what I wants is to have him know jus' how thankful I is for sparing my life from dem awful night doctors."

"For gord, Joshaway, has you been catched by the night doctors and lived to get back to your home?"

"Halsy, I'se here and that's what I wants to thank the Lord for."

"Joshaway, never mine stopping to thank the Lord now but tell me all about it."

"Well you see, Halsy, me an most all the neighbors 'erebouts went out to cut down and burn the old hanging oak; the Colonel had given us his consent to cut it down and burn the wood so as to keep the hornts from ever botherin' us no moah. Well, we made quick work of cutting it down and up into wood so that I could haul it away to burn. Just as we got it all drawn and piled ready to burn and several of our folks had gone to the woods to get dry limbs to start the fire the night doctors came down on us; some started for the open field to run home and some went towards the Gravitt woods. I got in among a chump of bushes where I tied the ole mule an jus' watched 'till I see the night doctors come up with Mr. Hornback, Uncle's John and Isaac and two or three more and while they were letting them say their prayers before killing them I jus' jumped on the ole mule and started down that bridle path what leads down to the Jordan Ford and the big creek and crossed over and then came round through Trice's big meadow and so on home. Gord, was'ent I skeered; I 'spected every minute to bear them doctors coming but they didn't get me and so Halsy I'se right here with you."

"Joshaway, what's become of all the folkses what was with you?"

"Halsy, I specks they's all dead, the las' I saw of them they was kneeling down right at the feet of dem night doctors."

Who, it was afterwards learned, administered the oath prescribed by the night doctors clan that no more meddling with their white neighbors belongings of any kind or character would be tolerated under pain of death. After crossing their hearts and kissing the Bible in evidence of good faith they were allowed to go home.

The next day the Colonel sent his teams and had the wood from the old hanging oak drawn to his house. During the winter following the cutting of the old oak tree not a colored man was known to come on to the Colonels premises. There was a feeling prevading the atmosphere among the colored people that an impending danger hung over them and that their well being rested in keeping right off the Colonel's premises; but along in May when the wild flowers were in bloom and the balmy skies looked down in peace on all nature, Uncle Josh come softly up to where the Colonel and family were sitting on the piazza and taking off his hat, said: "Squse me, I'se come to say the violets am in bloom and the salids jus' in the finest condition they ever be in and I wants to go on your big meadow and pick you great big mess salids and a basket of dem violets."

"Yes, Uncle Josh, go right along and not only pick for us but for yourself as well. Uncle Josh, you haven't been over to see us for a long time; not since last fall."

"Colonel, I knows I hasn't, I'se been 'fraid to. Brother Hornback done said jus' as sure as you go foolin' round the Colonel's house it will be something more powerful than night doctors that's gwine to come up with you; you'll jus' as sure go 'stracted as you's a born nigger', and so Colonel I'se staid away."

"Well, Uncle Josh, I've always thought pretty well of you and if you haven't at all times lived up to the standard of good citizenship I've attributed it to influences too prevalent among certain classes of our community. You now are getting along in years and e'er long your ability to provide a living for Aunt Halsy and yourself will come to an end. It's now that you should give heed to leading a proper upright life, forget if possible the days and acts of the misguided part of your life."

"Well, Colonel, I'se been studying 'bout how we's going to get along and have the Lord on our side; somehow it seems to be a part of some niggers nature to be a little too free with other people's things and some times I'se been 'swaded to think it was a kindy easy way to get along, but Colonel, you's taught us to know it isn't the right way; you's showed me that honesty is the bes way for the Colonel folks to live; how I'se to live and be honest all the time is more than this poor old nigger can see today."

"Uncle Josh, you just say to Aunt Halsy and yourself I am going to be honest and do right in all things and if you don't succeed in getting a good living in that way then come to me."

"Colonel, you's the best man in the world an I'se going to be guided by you just like you had a blind bridle on me."

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help, they work in nature's own way. They do not force or drink the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and easy do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

"Uncle Josh, come over with your mule and take your wagon home and commence getting ready to pick a crop."

"Colonel, you don't specks there is any danger of my having any trouble with horns or night doctors if I keeps the wagon in my yard?"

"No, Uncle Josh, I will square things with the night doctors and see that they don't allow the hornts to visit you from now on."

STARTS MUCH TROUBLE

If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or virulent liver trouble they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. Its the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and debility. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

FOOD AND DIGESTION.

Civilized Man Needs Cheerful Surroundings at His Meals.

Robust people so long as they get what suits their own uncultivated taste are apt to make very light of what they call "fancies" about food and overlook their real importance. Feeding on the part of civilized man is not the simple procedure which it is with animals, although many animals are particular as to their food and what is called "dainty." The necessity for civilized man of cheerful company at his meal and for the absence of mental anxiety is universally recognized, as well as the importance of an inviting appeal to the appetite through the sense of smell and of sight, while the injurious effect of the reverse conditions, which may lead to nausea and even vomiting, is admitted.

Even the ceremonial features of the dinner table, the change of clothes, the leisurely yet precise succession of approved and expected dishes, accompanied by pleasant talk and light hearted companionship, are shown by strict scientific examination to be important aids in the healthy digestion of food, which need not be large in quantity because wisely presented.—Sir Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

Window Leaves.

Six species of plants that possess window leaves have been discovered in South Africa. They are all stemless succulents, and the egg shaped leaves are imbedded in the ground, only the apices remaining visible. The visible part of the leaves is flat or convex on the surface and colorless, so that the light can penetrate it and reach the interior of the leaf below, which is green on the inside. With the exception of the blunt apex no part of the leaf is permeable to the light, being surrounded by the soil in which it is buried.

Broke 62,458 Bottles.

On the morning of April 18, 1906, the cellar of Paul Masson, a wine merchant of San Jose, Cal., contained a stock of 125,000 bottles, all neatly arranged. Then came the earthquake, and when the proprietor was able to enter his cellar again he found that 62,458 bottles, by actual count, were broken and the remainder thrown about in the wildest confusion. It is curious, with such a large number of bottles, that the quake should have come within a few dozen of demolishing an exact half of the stock.—Wide World Magazine.

Women and Tea in Japan.

No Japanese society woman has completed her education unless she can tell just what grade of tea is being served to her—Uji, Mikado or a hundred others—and at least be able to distinguish by taste at least a dozen "blends" in a brand that has that many or more. Such accomplishments are partly a matter of inheritance and environment, for Japan is a country where tea has been raised and used for centuries. With tea plantations five centuries old and tea plants 200 years of age there is no need for tea commissions to fix customs standards. As for the household standards, the Japanese housewife decides them herself.

Mr. R. D. Parsons of Albany was in Fulton on business on Friday and Saturday.

Miss May Gardner has been spending several days in Boston, Mass. She expects to return to her home this week.

The soldiers gave Ensign Morer a surprise birthday party on Thursday evening and presented her with an Ensign's regalia.

The supervisors Manual for 1910 printed at Sandy Creek, is completed and has been distributed. The Times is indebted to Supervisor George H. Fuller for a copy.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Foster are enjoying a months western trip, Seattle and Sopkane being their destination. They expect to be gone a month combining business with pleasure.

Mrs. M. B. Hargrave was taken to the Lee Memorial hospital on Friday very seriously ill with appendicitis. It is hoped that an operation may be averted, at least until she is stronger. Her many friends extend sympathy and best wishes for her speedy restoration to health.

Miss Katherine Brannan who graduated from the training class of the Women's and Children's hospital, Syracuse, last week, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brannan of this city and she possesses all the requisites for a successful nurse. Miss Brannan recently entertained a number of her fellow graduates at Pathfinder club house.

"Bob" the old horse owned by the fire department for so many years, and who has been useless to the department for several months past owing to an injury, was sold at public auction on Saturday afternoon. Mr. R. B. Hunter was the highest bidder and secured the horse, paying $104 for him. There were a number of bidders but Mr. Hunter had them beaten when he offered over $100 for the animal.

Sunday and Monday were the hottest May days ever known in this section. Appearance and the rules of good dressing were entirely disregarded and the male and female populace were intent only upon wooing the gentle zephyrs that steadfastly refused to be wooed. The ice cream purveyors found their immense stocks of the cooling commodity exhausted by noon on Sunday and searchers after the coolness were heaping anything but complimentary notices upon the druggists and others who were so unmindful of their necessity. They were two days long to be remembered by Fultonians. It is rumored that the six months prayers for warm weather were all answered at once on these two days.

It was noticed that when Governor Wilson was referred to at Norfolk as the "next President" he did not repel the insinuation with indignation. They generally don't.

SOUTH GRANBY

A nice rain came Friday to wet the dry earth, we had quite heavy thunder and lightning.

On Thursday at the late home occurred the funeral of the late Aquilla Cook. He was 55-years old; he leaves besides his wife, two sons, Charles and Elmer, and an aged mother, three brothers and three sisters, beside a host of friends. His death was a shock to the community. He was sick only a week and had been a good father, a kind neighbor always ready to do for those that needed help. He was buried by the grangers ceremony. Messrs. Albert and Will Wilber, Lawton Beardsley and Stephen Arnold were the bearers. The most beautiful profusion of flowers showed in what high esteem he was held. Elder Baker of Bowens Corners was the minister and the singers were all grangers, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. Mack and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rumsey. Among the friends from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, Mrs. Holmes and Willie Holmes and Mr. Cuff of Auburn; Mr and Mrs. Frank Bates and Mrs. May Simons and Mrs. Jennie Stevens of Jordan; John Wybron of Marcellus and a very large company of relatives and friends. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mrs. Walt Andrews visited her son, Fred, the last part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Austin are visiting their son, Milo, in Syracuse.

There was quite a scare in Granby Friday morning when a crazy fellow on the river road rushed into Mr. Dunham's house and begged him to save him as there were two men after him. He was taken to Oswego to the jail to be examined as to his sanity we believe. It was said he was a nice looking young man.

Miss Wilda Fisher attended the prize speaking at Fulton Friday evening.

Mrs. Hammond went to Syracuse Saturday to consult a physician.

Mr. Otis has moved to Baldwinsville.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

FULTON DEMANDS FAIR PLAY

In 1835—over 76 years ago—Jonathan Case of Fulton held the office of sheriff and not since that time has the office been held by men from other than the eastern end of the county. Not for many years has Fulton held a county office of any kind and she feels that the time is ripe for the many favors extended to candidates and their friends in every section of the county, to be remembered and rewarded by the nomination of Mr. Myron Stranahan of this city for sheriff. He is qualified to fill the position acceptably; is ambitious and would make the sheriff's office but a stepping stone to something higher—a guarantee that the affairs would be administered to the best of his ability.

The Republican workers in the eastern end of the county admit that Fulton is entitled to the office this Fall and they are willing to aid, all reports coming in from the various towns being favorable to Mr. Stranahan's candidacy. Every where he has gone he has been accorded a welcome and has received assurances of staunch support. In his home city the sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of his nomination

A countesy is due Fulton at this time from the rest of the county, and a fit candidate is presented.

Will Fulton receive fair play? So far as can be learned the answer of the electors will be unanimously in the affirmative.

Notice to Creditors

In pursuance of an Order of Clayton I. Millery Surrogate of the County of Oswego, New York, notice is hereby given according to law, to all persons having claims against Edgar A. Effort to be Made to Raise Mortgage on Army Headquarters — Public Spirited Men at Head of Movement—Active Campaign in Progress.

The local salvation army headquarters is mortgaged for about three fourths of its value and the payment of the interest upon the mortgage is a serious drain upon the slender income of the corps. Public spirited men in the city believe that that institution does a good work in our midst and they have expressed a willingness to support a citizens movement for the raising of the money with which to cancel the mortgage. The officers of the committee are Chairman, Thomas Hunter; secretary, Charles D. Wilcox; treasurer, W. J. Lovejoy. The committee is composed of the following well known residents: I. Achilli, Charles M. Allen, B. W. Bennett, W. A. Butts, A. G. Gilbert, George G. Chauncey, Dr. D. E. Lake, Frank B. Ditts, George B. Fairman, George P. Wells, John Hunter, C. S. Hall, S. B. Mead, E. J. Penfield, Elmer E. Morrill, J. W. Rigley, H. Lester Paddock, Edwin R. Redhead, Arvin Rice, C. W. Streeter, S. J. Sturdevant, George E. True, Herbert J. Wilson.

The report of financial and spiritual work done during the past year together with an apeal from the citizens committee, has been prepared as follows:

RELIEF WORK

One girl was placed in the Army's Rescue Home in Buffalo.

Over one hundred children were taken on an automobile outing and picnic in the summer, the use of the automobiles being donated by Fulton friends.

Basket Christmas dinners were provided for sixty-two families.

One hundred and twenty children attended a free Christmas tree entertainment and received presents of toys, candy and fruit.

A free clothing bureau has been conducted by Ensign Moyer, many valuable contributions of used but serviceable clothing having been received from the homes of the people. This clothing has been judiciously distributed, much real good being effected thereby. Women in straitened circumstances have been provided with the warm apparel necessary to enable them to go from their homes to work during the severe winter weather, and many little children would have been deprived of the privilege of attending day and Sunday school but for the clothing furnished them from the stores at the rooms of the Army.

In addition to such money expenditure as she could herself make for relief, the Ensign has acted as the agent for a number of our citizens in dispensing charitable relief to the worthy poor, and has also co-operated in this respect with the clergy of the city.

General Statement of Citizens' Committee

For more than twenty-five years the Salvation Army has labored in Fulton, ministering to the spiritual needs of those apparently beyond the reach of other influences, and to the temporal wants of the destitute. Valuable results to the community have been achieved during these years. Many without the Christian fold have been converted, and have proven their sincerity with lives of uprightness. Victims of drink, who had fallen very low, have been reclaimed and changed into useful citizens, and a number of these have become property owners and taxpayers in our city. A wisely discriminating charity, carrying with it lessons of self-help and pointing the way to independence, has been exercised. It is thus evident to all that there is a field here for the Salvation Army, and it is also unquestioned that here, as elsewhere, their work is approved for its results and its consecrated service.

During a long period the work in Fulton was housed in such rented quarters as could be secured from time to time, but as the years went on, and the duties multiplied, the need of a permanent abiding place became keenly felt, leading to the purchase in 1904 of the property now occupied by the Army at 68 First street. This property, however, is mortgaged for about three-fourths of its value, and the payment of interest on this indebtedness is a serious drain upon the slender resources of the local corps. The committee feels that the lifting of this burden would be a fitting recognition of the devoted service of the Army's workers among us, and would be such a stimulus to their endeavor as to redound to the benefit of the entire community. We therefore appeal for the support of all of our people, feeling confident that the response, for a cause so worthy, will be ready and generous.

When the other day in St. Louis a carload of whiskey was blown up with a bomb, the people began to sit up and consider anarchy a serious matter.

REMARKABLE SHOWING

Postoffice Department Becomes Self-supporting Because of Reforms in the Financial System — For the First Times in 30 Years No Deficit is Reported.

Washington, May 28.—It is officially announced today that the Postoffice Department is now self-supporting for the first time in thirty years.

The postal service, not having need of the $3,000,000 set aside from public funds for the department has returned that sum to the treasury. The official statement given out today says in part:

At the present time there is a postal surplus of more than $1,000,000 and unless the expenses during the next month should prove extraordinary the surplus will be still greater for the year.

This condition is little less than remarkable when it is considered that the present administration inherited a deficit of more than seventeen and one-half millions, the largest in the history of the postal service.

Except for the reforms in the financial system recently introduced it would not be possible to make this refund of $3,000,000 to the Secretary of the Treasury even though the revenues for the current year have exceeded the expenditures.

An accounting plan which was adopted about a year ago insures the prompt deposit in the treasury of postal funds not immediately required for disbursement at postoffices, thus making available for use by the department several millions of dollars that, under the old practice would be tied up in postoffices. Under the old system it required a surplus of nearly $10,000,000 to finance the postal service.

The $3,000,000 Mr. Hitchcock returns with the feeling that th epostal revenues will be more than sufficient to defray the expenses of the postal service during the present year.

BURT ESTATE DIVIDED

The total value of the estate of James W. Burt, late of Hannibal, this county, who died several months ago, was $39,239.17, according to the report of the apraisal under the transfer tax as filed by the County Treasurer in Surrogate's court Friday.

The estate is divided between Mr. Burt's wife, son and daughter, and the amounts that each will receive as compiled by the attorney for the executors, James B. Burt and Rena R. Jackman, are as follows:

Rena Jackman, daughter, of Buffalo, $15,068, and $1,033.33, accumulation or a total of $19,101.38.

Jennie Burt, wife, of Hannibal, N. Y., real estate, $960; balance on note, $2,500; personal, cash in bank, $2,976.08. Total $6,436.08.

James B. Burt, son, of Hannibal, $5,878.32, part interest in business, $5,000 in cash, $1,800 in real estate, $1,033.39, accumulation. Total $13,711.71.

WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Coroner H. P. Marsh was called to the home of Mr. B. Davis in Palermo on Saturday evening to view the remains of Katherine Davis, aged 28, housekeeper for Mr. Davis, who had committed suicide by taking strychnine in a fit of despondency. Two letters left for her mother showed plainly a motive for the act and a verdict was rendered in accordance with these facts. Beside the mother, Mrs. Eliza Davis, the dead woman is survived by one sister, May Davis, of Palermo.

REAL ESTATE

N. L. Whitaker, Fulton, has sold fifty-three acres of land in Schroeppel to the Great Bear Spring Company.

Paul Benjamin, of Altamont, has sold property in Wickham street to J. W. Stevenson and N. L. Whitaker.

B. S. Wallace, Syracuse, has sold property in Schroeppel to W. B. Willis, Phoenix.—Consideration $2,200.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, O., "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica salve and my foot soon completely cured." Heals burns, boils, sores, bruises, eczema, pimples, corns. Surest pile cure. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

GETS INTEREST IN POWER COMPANY

S. B. Storer and George W. Pulver Purchase Dominating Interest in Local Power Company

(Baldwinsville Gazette)

The interests represented by S. B. Storer and George W. Pulver have purchased the stock of the Seneca River Power company, formerly held by L. W. Emerick of Fulton, who has severed all connection with this company, having resigned as an officer and director. This places the entire control of the company in the hands of those who have been instrumental during the past two or three years in building up the business, improving the service and enlarging and developing the company's power plant in this village. The new power house with the new, modern, up-to-date equipment, is rapidly nearing completion. When finished this plant will be one of the best equipped hydro-electric power plants in this vicinity and will be a material addition to the industrial development of our village.

ELECTRIC COMPANY PUSHING WORK.

Will Duplicate Equipment—Are Installing Over 2,000 Horse Power—Officers Inspect Plant Last Week.

The Fulton Light, Heat & Power Company last week placed an order for duplicate equipment for their new power house at Van Buren street, making the capacity of the plant over 2,000 horse power. The new building nearly completed is of reinforced concrete, 45x90 feet, and every modern appliance for the manufacture of the subtis juice is installed.

Messrs. M. J. Warner and C. J. Warner of New York city last week inspected the old power house, the site of which was ruined for power purposes by the barge canal work, and also the new plant now approaching rapid completion. They were pleased with the outlook for business in Fulton in the future and with the conditions that exist relative to the conduct of the plant.

WORK STOPPED ON CANAL.

The creditors of the McDermott Contracting Company and the business interests of Fulton regret that sufficient money could not be secured to prosecute the work on the canal and that operations have practically ceased for the time being.

The contractors insisted that $125,000 be raised and the creditors could only raise $103,000 so orders were at once issued to prepare the machinery for sale, an order from the court to that effect being anticipated.

The rumor is that Contractor Walter Bradley will take over the work if the State will sublet it subject to such arrangements as are necessary to protect his interests. The placing of the work with local men would be very satisfactory to Fulton.

It is expected that within the next ten days the contract will be sublet and the work commenced.

CONGRESSMAN MOTT RECEIVES ACCEPTANCE.

Washington, May 26.—Representative Luther W. Mott of Oswego, president of the New York State Bankers' Association, has received acceptance from President Taft and Representative Martin W. Littleton to invitations to address the association at the annual banquet at Manhattan Beach June 22. The guests will include Senator Root, Justice Hughes and Secretary of War Stimson.

SUB-STATION COMPLETED.

On Sunday the sub-station of the Oswego River Power Transmission company was put in commission. It now furnishes power for the North End Paper Company and the Victoria Paper Company. It also feeds the service wires to Hannibal.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The last regular meeting before Fall of the Chamber of Commerce was held on Friday evening with a goodly attendance of members. In the absence of President Penfield, Vice President G. B. Fairman occupied the chair.

A resolution was adopted urging the Common Council to adopt an ordinance conforming to the State law relative to the speed of automobiles through our streets.

A second resolution adopted was presented by Mr. E. R. Redhead urging that the Public Service Commission hold a hearing in Fulton soon relative to the proposed entrance of Niagara power.

BACK-STAMPING LETTERS

Authority Has Been Obtained from Postmaster Hitchcock to Abolish the Custom in the Local Office. Office.

The question of abolishing the back-stamping of letters has caused the Federal postal authorities grave consideration. In the large cities—New York, Schenectady, Detroit, etc., permission has been granted to do away with what has more recently been considered a useless expenditure of time and energy. Noting what might be an advantage to the local office in the more expeditious handling of first-class mail, Postmaster-General Hitchcock was petitioned by Postmaster Hughes and authrity given to abolish the custom. This new order of things will go into effect on Thursday, June 1 The provisions of the Postal Rules and Regulations have therefore been suspended, except in so far as they relate to the back-stamping of special delivery and registered mail.

In the meanwhile the Postmaster is instructed to keep such records as will enable him to later submit a full report regarding the effect on the service of the discontinuance of the practice in the local office.

Back-stamping, to be explicit, is simply to print on the back of each letter the name of the town, the time of day, the month and year of its arrival, which causes considerable delay, and experience has taught the officials that it is an unnecessary expenditure of time which might be devoted to other more important duties.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

The Brotherhood Class of the First Methodist church hold their monthly meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

"Colossal Greatness," or the "Man Who Wouldn't Come Down," will be the subject of next Sunday morning's sermon at the First Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Peck. Members will be received by transfer. The service is especially prepared for the members of the church.

At 7:30 p. m. the Brotherhood class invite all men and others to their monthly public service, the program to include orchestra, male quartette, etc. The pastor, Rev. C. L. Peck will speak on "A Real Bonanza" The Brotherhood class will attend in a body.

SUMMER INSTITUTE

A summer institute will be held at Sandy Creek on Saturday, June 10, 1911. Summer institutes were first held to a large extent last summer and were found to meet with great success. No one is prevented from reaching meetings at this time of year on account of impassable roads or bad weather. Also, the meetings come when agricultural problems are most in mind and the advice given can often be put in opreation at once.

Mr. Fred E. Gott, Farmers' Institute Conductor, Spencerport, and Mr. E. H. Dollar, Heuvelton, will speak at this institute. Both these men are successful farmers. Mr. Gott has an orchard of about two thousand trees which are in profitable bearing. His farm has been steadily improving under his management and at present is highly productive. Mr. Dollar is a well known breeder of Holstein cattle, having produced the famous cow, Pontiac Rag Apple, which sold for $8,000.

Morning and afternoon sessions will be held—Mr. Gott taking up subjects of general farming and orchard practice, and Mr. Dollar dealing with dairy farming. Question Box will be provided at each session and everyone is invited to take part in the discussions.

COSTELLO MONUMENT UNVEILED

Mrs. Costello Gives Soldiers Monument to Altmar in Memory of Dead Husband — Unveiling Took Place on Memorial Day — Senator Cobb and Assemblyman Sweet Present at Ceremonies.

On Tuesday the soldiers and sailors monument given by Mrs. Thomas Costello in memory of her husband was unveiled in Altmar in the presence of a large concourse of people. Senator George H. Cobb of Watertown and Assemblyman T. C. Sweet of Phoenix were present and participated in the exercises.

The monument is a handsome shaft of Vermont marble, twenty-five feet in height, surmounted by the figure of a soldier in the uniform of fifty years ago. The base is also of marble, ten feet high, and suitably inscribed with the names of the regiments and military organizations which brought the name of Oswego county to the front.

Veterans from all sections of Oswego county were present and the deepest appreciation of the old soldiers was expressed for the touching tribute to their services and the services of thousands from Oswego county who gave up their lives in the defense of a principle.

Undoubtedly Mrs. Costello's example will be followed by others in the towns in the county.

SURROGATE'S COURT

Letters on the estate of Sarah J. Coe were applied for by her two daughters. She died in Fulton May 1, leaving $1,000 real property and the daughters, Mary E. Chapman and Velma Blossom, got it.

The will of Patrick Casey, who died in Fulton April 17, was admitted to probate in Surrogate's Court Monday. He left an estate of $2,500 real property which the will directs shall be given to his widow for use during life and after her death to his daughter, Agnes Casey. The latter and her brother are appointed executors.

The will of Avery T. Low, who died in Central Square April 25th, was admitted to probate in Surrogate's Court Monday. He left an estate of $3,100 real and $6,000 personal property to his widow, Emma A. Low, who is appointed executrix.

A judicial settlement of the account of W. H. Jennings, administrator of the estate of Michael E. Carey who was drowned in the canal at Fulton several months ago was made.

Letters of administration with the will annexed were issued to Peter G. Hydorn on the estate of Elizabeth A. Hadley, late of Sandy Creek.

Surrogate Miller assessed the transfer tax in the estate of James W. Burt, late of Hannibal, at $342.39. The assessment is made on the full amount left to the son and daughter but on only $3,492.85 of the widow's share.

A petition for letters of administration on the estate of Erastus Don Pryne, late of Granby, was made by his nephew, George H. Williams of Syracuse. The estate is valued at $3,500.

Letters were applied for on the estate of Cornelius J. Miller, who died in Granby May 13, leaving $2,800 personal property, all to his daughter, Ida Miller. A son, G. J. Miller, also survives.

REPORTED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Albany, May 26. — Assemblyman Sweet's bill amending the charter of the City of Fulton has been reported favorably by the Senate cities committee.

THE WEEK

Improvement in business sentiment still holds, but it is more manifest in the East than in the West, and in the securities market than in the principal industries. There is however, to be noted some expansion in the demand for cotton goods, retail trade in particular showing more activity, and the hope is expressed that the limit of curtailment of production has been reached. Larger sales are noted in the shoe trade and leather and hides are more active. In iron and steel a decided cut is made in the price of steel bars, and there are further concessions in the prices of pig iron. This has had an unsettling effect, not only in the iron and steel trade, but to some extent in business generally. Crop prospects continue to improve and this fact constitutes the strongest basis for the future in a gradual expansion of industrial activity as the year advances. Meanwhile the banks keep piling up additional cash resources, and their capacity for credit expansion is greater than in many years, while the admission of trust companies into New York Clearing House strengthens the financial situation to an extent that is scarcely appreciated, but which makes this one of the most important banking developments in years.

The business situation, therefore; as a whole, presents a number of elements of improvement, and while the increase in actual transactions is very slow, and in some places not discernable in any appreciable degree, an advance has undoubtedly been made.

The lower prices on steel bars was the significant developments in iron and steel, although the action taken was not wholly unexpected. Quotations of pig iron also turn more sharply in the consumers's favor, all markets showing a declining tendency and sellers being reported as willing to accept orders on the new basis for delivery well into the second half of the year. A somewhat broader demand is apparent at the East, but there is no sign of general activity, and in the Central West both Bessemer and basic grades remain very dull. An improved sentiment is noted in finished lines, although this has not been accompanied by any expansion in the volume of business, the prevailing hesitancy being attributed largely to uncertainty regarding prices. Some very low figures are being named on structural steel, which is only fairly active. Agricultural interests are shortly expected to cover their rquirements.

More active retail buying has been accompanied by broader purchasing in the primary markets for spot and future delivery of cotton goods for converting and manufacturing purposes. Prices on gray and bleached cottons are advancing in a steady way many well-known makes being from 1-8c. to 1-4c. per yard higher. That prices are still below producing costs is indicated by the larger measure of restriction of output that is announced. Export sales and shipments are ahead of last year in the cotton goods division. In dress goods the trend toward rough effects is marked and woolen mills are getting the benefit as against worsted mills. There is a very active demand for men's wear serges which has disclosed a paucity of stocks in second hands. Consumers are operating more freely in old wool in the Eastern markets and the volume of sales is the largest for many weeks, although at unchanged prices despite the hardening tendency at the West.

The footwear situation shows improvement and a larger volume of fall order are received from traveling salesmen. Contracts now in the hands of New England manufacturers are much larger than a year ago. The leather markets improve and sole leather in all tannages is well evance. In upper leathers there is an especially good demand for calfskins. Domestic hides continue higher, with moderate sales of most varieties. Both native and branded kinds share in the increased strength and packers are well sold up. Country hides have also advanced about 1-4c. and the scarcity and strength of packer light native cows helps the tone of this market. Decided strength is noted in calfskins, both domestic and foreign, and larger sales have been effected, it being reported that American tanners recently contracted for fully 1,000,000 foreign dry skins.

Artificial conditions still exist in the May wheat option at Chicago and prices rose to about a dollar per bushel on urgent short covering. Legitimate influences are of a depressing character, copious rains still further improving crop prospects, so that bountiful harvests seem assured. Moreover, world's exports reached the enormous aggregate of 16,280,000 bushels last week, the largest ever reported at this time of year and fully 6,000,000 bushels above the total in 1910. Western receipts of 3,124,484 bushels compared with 2,259,341 a year ago, while shipments from all ports of the United States were 1,712,818 bushels, flour included, against 1,687,152 in the earlier period. Corn values were strengthened by a better cash demand and an improved export business. Arrivals of 3,549,050 bushels at primary points exceeded the 2,264,341 moved last year, and Atlantic coast clearances were 381,333 bushels against 247,968 in 1910. A reactionary tendency developed in cotton on liquidation and short selling and declines were quite pronounced. Crop reports are irregular, with rains needed in some States.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for May to date amount to $10,408,773, of which $4,299,556 were in manufacturing $4,556,174 in trading and $1,554,043 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 204 in the United States against 225 last year, and 18 in Canada compared with 14 a year ago.—Dun's Review, May 27, 1911.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

The Empire Theatre stock company which opened their season at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, on Monday evening, May 29, is one of the best balanced and most capable companies of the kind which has ever been seen in Syracuse. Mr. D. M. Cauffman who has the management of the company has had a wide experience in stock and all kinds of stage productions and has been gathering together an aggregation of well known actors, all of known artistic skill and merit.

The leading woman will b e Mabel Frenyear, one of the most beautiful and talented of the younger leading women and an actress of great ability. She created the leading role in "The Only Law," a play which created a veritable sensation on Broadway two seasons ago. Last year she was leading woman with Wm. H. Crane in "Father and The Boys," and later supported Charles Richman in his vaudeville sketch.

Ralph Kellard, who will be intrusted with the male leads is well known as one of the coming "stars." He has had considerable stock experience having been with companies of the kind headed by Charlotte Walker and Percy Haswell. This season he created the part of "Adam Ladd" in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Previous to this he was with David Belasco having appeared in the original "Warrens of Virigina" company and also 54 weeks with David Warfield in "The Music Master." Possessed of more than the average share of good looks, a fine stage presence, and a well modulated voice, Mr. Kellard is certain to become very popular in Syracuse. The second man will be Ernest C. Joy who has had nine years of stock experience and has been connected with Liebler & Company for the past four seasons. He has lately appeared in "A Dawn of a Tomorrow" in which Eleanor Robeson was seen and this season was a member of Margaret Anglin's compan

The second woman will be Miss Mabel Van Buren who has been for some time under the management of David Belasco. She has just closed an engagement of forty weeks in New York city as a member of "The Concert" company and has been re-engaged to go to London with the company which will present this play there in the Fall. Miss Van Buren has also appeared in stock in Los Angeles, Salt Lake City and Denver.

The juvenile roles will be in the hands of Albert Latscha, who this season created the part of Walter Wetherill in Wm. A. Brady's company presenting "Mother." His previous experience covers several seasons in stock as well as with the Shuberts and other big producers.

Violett Reed will be seen in the ingenue roles. Miss Reed possesses a charming personality which makes her an idea] selection for the girlish parts which she will be called upon to assume. She has lately been a member of Henry W. Savage's companies and has been engaged to appear in "Everywoman" next season.

Ralph Locke has been engaged for the comedy roles and comes from one of the companies Charles Frohman organized for a series of New York productions this seasin. He is a versatile and splendid actor and a decided acquisition to the company.

Characters will be played by Charles Stanley and Alfred Walsh both of whom are well known on Broadway as staring actors and of finished methods. Grand dames will be assumed by Florence Edney. Miss Edney last season supported George Arliss in "Septimus" and this season apeared in the all star company organized by Charles Frohman for the revival of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest." She sails in September as a member of the Belasco company which goes to London to present "The Concert." Miss Louise Wolfe will also play characters and general business and has had a great deal of experience in several of the better class of stock companies. Henry Hull who was this season an important member of Margaret Anglin's company will play general business as well as assist in the stage management.

The various plays will be produced under the personal direction of Drew A. Morton who is one of the best known and capable stage directors at present connected with the stock division of the theatrical business. Mr. Morton prides himself on the excellence of the company's first night's performance and the patrons of the Empire Theatre may rest assured that there will be none of the rough edges sometimes so apparent in the first two or three performances by stock companies. Mr. Morton's system of rehearsals brings results and the voice of the prompter is an unknown quantity.

The play chosen for the opening week is "Cameo Kirby" in which Dustin Farnum scored a signal success this and last season. Matinees will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week. A subscription list for the congenience of the stock company's patrons will be maintained and the same seats may be reserved for each week's performance without any extra charge. Matinee prices will be 15 and 25 cents. The scale at night will range to 50 cents.

A Regular Attendant.

As the new minister of the village was on his way to evening service he met a rising young man of the place whom he was anxious to have become a member of his church.

"Good evening, my young friend," he said solemnly. "Do you ever attend a place of worship?"

"Yes, indeed, sir, regularly every Sunday night," replied the young fellow with a smile. "I'm on my way to see her now."—Metropolitan Magazine

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment, of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 8:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Mercante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated at Fulton, New York, this 17th day of May, 1911.

Killing One Fly.

Every fly begins as an egg deposited in some kind of organic filth. It hatches into a tiny maggot within a few hours, begins to feed and grow, completes its growth and comes out as a perfect fly in possibly ten days. It then requires at least fourteen days to mature its first batch of eggs, and it may live to mature and deposit at least six layings, of from 120 to 150 eggs each. This means that in killing one fly we may be preventing the hatching of nearly a thousand others.—Youth's Companion.

Philanthropic Visitor (to jailbird)—My friend, may I ask what it was that brought you here? Jailbird—The very same thing that brought you here—the desire to poke my nose into other people's business, only I used generally to go in by way of the basement window.—Exchange.

His Pride—Her Duet.

"Your marriage to this plebeian American heiress, my son," said the Countess De Broque, "will humble our ancestral pride in the dust."

"That's all right, mother," rejoined the titled son. "She has agreed to furnish the dust."—Exchange.

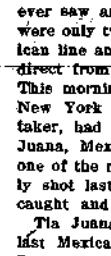
LETTER FROM CALIFORNIA

Former Fultonian Interested in Exposition Amusement Enterprise — San Diego, Calif., Rapidly Growing.

The following letter from a former Fultonian will be read with interest by our subscribers. Accompanying the letter was some printed matter relative to the Johnson Captive Airship Company which is capitalized at $200,000 with shares at $1.00 each. Mr. J. W. Payne, a brother of Mr. Harry Payne of this city, is treasurer of the company which was organized for the purpose of furnishing amusement for the Panama-California exposition at San Diego, Cal. The invention is most unique and combines many thrills with absolute safety to passengers.



Editor Times: We have not moved but postal conditions have changed because of the growth of the city and we have at last gotten located I hope. I have had but little mail in near two months and no Fulton paper in four weeks and no one knows how I miss that unless they have tried it. It is the most beautiful day you could wish for and the flowers on every hand are a delight. Later they will begin to dry unless they are irrigated but just now the wild ones are just as fresh as those that are cared for. They have some of the daintiest wild flowers here I ever saw any where. I told you we were only twelve miles from the Mexican line and of course get war news direct from the front at all hours. This morning a friend of mine from New York State, who is an undertaker, had a call to come to Tia Juana, Mexico, to get the body of one of the rebels who was accidentally shot last night by a gun being caught and discharged.

Tia Juana was the scene of that last Mexican battle. He saw Gen. Pryce, the reble leader in charge of the Insurrectos in lower California and the remains of the big bull ring, and the other buildings that were fired. We also have stationed in and around this city about 4,000 soldiers and about as many sailers as the Pacific fleet makes this its base of operations.

Although no one here is apprehensive of any trouble we still have all the excitement attendant upon a war scare. Across the bay you can see battle ships, supply ships, torpedo boats, torpede boat destroyers, government tugs, launches of different sizes, submarine boats that either sink out of sight as you watch them or perhaps you see a stick showing above the water, it begins to rise and soon shows you the whole boat, going back to dock after she reaches the surface. On North Island in the bay is the Marine camp, across the water is Camp San Diego with two regiments of militia. A half mile out nearer the point is Fort Rosecranz; that is always manned by a good sized detachment of the coast artillery. There they have some of the best of the large disappearing guns and it is across that channel where these gunners broke the world's records with these same big guns, for both speed and accuracy at their practice last Summer. Then at night we see the search lights from ships and from port and all their signals as well as their signals by rocket. Almost any hour of the day or evening sailors and soldiers are more numerous on our streets than civilians. You see there sure is something doing every minute in this corner of our glorious land. Still we never forget Fulton or the friends we left there and only wish they were all here to see the sights that are so common to us.

WOMEN HELPED

By Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for Kidneys and Liver.

Disorders of women are the result of general bodily weakness. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a strength builder and for women it has proved of great value. Thousands testify to this. A sick woman almost always has kidney trouble, which causes pain in the back, headache, nervousness and other distressing symptoms. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helps the Kidneys and Liver to act properly, purifies the blood and gently moves the bowels, striking at the cause of Kidney, Liver, Blood and Bladder troubles. For over 35 years it has enjoyed steady and merited success, for it is an honest remedy and has stood the test of time. Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. THE JUNE BUG

Now doth the frisky June Bug
Bring forth his aeroplane,
And try to make a record,
And busticate his brain!

He bings against the mirror,
He bangs against the door,
He caroms on the ceiling,
And turtles on the floor!

He soars aloft, erratic,
He lands upon my neck,
And makes me creep and shiver,
A neurasthenic wreck!

—June Lippincott's.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

THE ALTERNATIVE

A woman in one of the factory towns of Massachusetts recently agreed to take charge of a little girl while her mother, a seamstress, went to another town for a day's work.

The woman with whom the child was left endeavored to keep her contented, and among other things gave her a candy dog, with which she played happily all day.

At night the dog had disappeared, and the woman inquired whether it had been lost.

"No, it ain't lost," answered the little girl. "I kept it 'most all day, but it got so dirty tha I was ashamed to look at it; so I et it."—June Lippincott's.

OSWEGO CANAL TO OPEN

The Oswego canal will open on Thursday between Battle Island and Oswego and the contractors on No. 35 are preparing to move their machinery and get it out of the basin. It is expected that there will be no difficulty in securing sufficient water for the canal. The canal will remain open until September 15.

ANOTHER RIPPER BILL.

"Economy" Demands Abolition of Advisory Board So That the State Engineer May Put on New Men.

Albany, May 30.—In the name of "economy and retrenchment" the Democratic state leaders in the face of promises to the contrary have rushed through the Manley bill to abolish the board of canal advisory engineers created to supervise the work on the barge canal and act in an advisory capacity to the state engineer and state superintendent of public works. Engineers of national and state reputation were named to the board, and the value of their advice was acknowledged by every official connected with the canal until a Tammany state engineer appeared upon the scene and discovered he could not browbeat distinguished men in his profession at will. Then he had the bill to abolish the board introduced. So much opposition was raised that it was laid aside, permanently, it was supposed, but, as it turns out, only temporarily. As soon as the Tammany leaders secured the surrender of the "insurgents" and had matters in their own hands they brought out the Manley bill again.

The "economy dodge" is exposed when it is stated that the Manley bill permits the state engineer to employ as many engineers as he pleases to act in an advisory capacity. The history of the New York city waterworks and the Skene administration of the state engineer's office furnishes an illustration of the "economy" practiced in public works over which Tammany has any control.

THEY'RE NOT PLEASED.

Tammany Legislators Furious Because Bryan "Butted In" in New York State Politics.

Albany, May 30.—William Jennings Bryan may imagine that he played great politics by lecturing his party colleagues on his recent visit to the state capitol, but if he could hear what is said about him privately by these selfsame Democrats he might conclude he was still in the enemy's country when he addressed a legislature in New York state in which his own party was in a majority.

There is no great amount of sentiment on the Democratic side of the New York state legislature in favor of the income tax amendment, direct primaries or the election of United States senators by direct vote, yet these were the topics upon which Mr. Bryan laid greatest stress and told the New York state Democrats in so many words they would be traitors to their party if they failed to support them.

Taken by and large, Mr. Bryan's 1911 visit to Albany has not proved "a unifying force" by any manner of means.

COHALAN.

Among the names on the list of candidates for the senatorship inhibited by the Democratic insurgents at Albany some weeks ago was that of Daniel F. Cohalan, Tammany magnate. The insurgent senators in the senate, with the single exception of the Independence leaguer, James F. Duhamel of Kings, voted to confirm the nomination of the same Cohalan for the supreme court bench. Those who have assumed that the insurgents are not clever politicians and capable on occasions of casting an anchor to the windward will now realize their misconception.—Syracuse Herald (Ind. Rep.).

No worse nomination could possibly have been made. It is an affront to all the other judges of the court. It is a backward step which the friends of an honest, able, independent judiciary will have to work years to overcome. It means a lowering of the standard of judicial service and is a direct encouragement to every foe of good government. Things have come to a deplorable pass when a man like Murphy, working through a man like Governor Dix, can put one of his cronies like Cohalan on the supreme court of this state. We knew that Governor Dix had been importuned to do this thing, but we did not believe that he would wantonly drive away all the independent Republicans who supported him at the late election, offend all the independent Democrats and demand that he be classed among the governors who believe political activity and devotion to the lowest form of bossism should be rewarded by a seat on the bench.—Rochester Post-Express (Ind. Rep.).

It is an even more despicable act than is the familiar Tammany practice of exacting $25,000 or more from the men it nominates for judicial office, because it is selling a judgeship pursuant to a political bargain—a double treachery to the public trust which the governor assumed when he took office. There is nothing in his oath that warrants him in thus trafficking in offices. That it is the act of a weak and politically shortsighted man must be apparent today to everybody but Governor Dix. Tammany men are openly exulting. They now have the governor's exact measure, if not his price.—New York Evening Post (Ind. Dem.).

Does Mr. Dix believe that Samuel J. Tilden would ever have submitted to such a Tammany holdup, or that Grover Cleveland would have submitted to it, or that David B. Hill would have submitted to it? Can he recall the name of any other Democratic governor in a generation who would even have considered such a bargain, much less have carried it out?—New York World (Dem.).

RETIRE BONDS WITH MONEY PAID BY STATE

Fulton Power Company and Trust Company Make Agreement

An agreement between the Fulton Light Heat and Power company and the New York Trust company to pay off bonds to the amount of $237,806.25 in an issue of $500,000 of April 1, 1902, was filed in the County Clerk's office this morning. The agreement provides that $237,806.25 which is the amount received from the State by the Power company for damages and seizure of property in connection with the barge canal work, be turned over to the Trust Company as trustee. Of this sum, $150,000 is to be withheld for the purpose of paying for improvements, new buildings, etc., leaving $237,806.25 to apply on the retirement of the bonds.—Oswego Times.

Patronize Home Organizations

The Citizens Band is an organization in which Fultonians might well take much pride. In their natty new uniforms and with a program of new music on Tuesday they received a great deal of well merited praise. Such an organization should receive the support and patronage of their fellow residents and it is a lamentable fact that from the vast majority of our citizens they did not last year receive even encouragement, much less assistance, in their efforts to improve their efficiency and appearance by purchasing new musical instruments and new uniforms. Fortunately they were able by their own efforts and the patronage of the younger element in our city, to maintain and improve their organization.

Another matter over which The Times feels deeply and in which feeling public spirited citizens share, is the treatment vouchsafed another musical organization composed entirely of Fulton residents—the Webb orchestra. Given a little encouragement and the support and confidence of the public this orchestra would become second to none in this section of the State. Instead of the treatment which they merit every excuse is taken to bring a foreign orchestra into Fulton at an exhorbitant price to provide music for occasions.

Even in the Commencement exercises and the parties given by the school students this spirit is carried out, bringing the reproach and shame of fair minded citizens upon the act of injustice. Our schools are supposed to inculcate patriotism, public spirit and fairness in the students, else they fall far short of the standard they should maintain. Then as opposed to these high principles we see a very different principle practiced in regard to standing by home institutions.

Practically every member of the Webb orchestra is a Fulton taxpayer; practically every member is a patron of the school; practically every member contributes to the various enterprises in which the schools are interested; practically every member subscribed to the fund with which the athletic park was purchased, etc., etc., etc., but there is not patriotism enough—not public spirit enough to reciprocate and in the only manner possible, by engaging the services of this orchestra for school occasions.

If there was a man, woman or child in the vast assemblage at the prize speaking contest in the Methodist church who would not have enjoyed the exercises better; felt themselves better citizens and the example a better one to the students had a local rather than a foreign orchestra played, The Times will gladly give space to a signed communication from that individual next week. If anyone believes the fragment of a foreign orchestra provided better music than the home orchestra could, The Times will gladly give space for such an expression. If anyone can find a vestige of excuse for the bringing of the foreign orchestra to participate in our school or other festivities, The Times will gladly publish same.

We need a most rigid purification of our own government in its legislative and executive branches—such a purification as is advocated by ex-President Roosevelt, Senator LaFollette, Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Secretary Meyer of the Navy, the Attorney General and the Postmaster General. The Secretary of the Navy has shown that nearly two millions of dollars a year are wasted in the maintenance of absolutely useless navy yards. To burn them up or dynamite them would be an economical and just procedure. The dynamiting process might perhaps shock and awaken the country to the fact that those navy yards have been long and wastefully maintained for the benefit of the members of Congress in whose districts they are situated. There are many military posts in the west and northwest that are uselessly and expensively maintained for the same reasons, and are demoralizing and demoralizing the army. If representative government cannot be relieved of such diseased incubi as these, then so much the worse for representative government.

It is expected that the Lorimer investigation will again be taken up in the Senate this session, and it is expected that the real facts will be brought before this body with a fullness heretofore unknown. The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections which is believed to have "white-washed" the case, will probably not have charge of the present investigation, and it is predicted that Lorimer will be unseated.

The Canadian reciprocity treaty seems to be gaining favor in the Senate and it is freely predicted that it will be favorably voted upon. The present tariff on paper has enabled American paper makers for a long time to keep up high prices and prevent competition from Canada. It is rumored that there will be a congressional inquiry into the affairs of the American paper trust.

President Taft's refusal to grant pardons to Charles W. Morse of New York and John R. Walsh of Chicago, the two most prominent bankers ever convicted and sent to the penitentiary under the national banking law, will doubtless meet with general approval.

CITY HALL BANNER

A National Emblem of More Intrinsic Worth Should Grace our Public Building.

The flag of our country as it wound its folds around a wire from which it was suspended opposite the City Hall on Decoration Day, aroused a feeling of illdisguised contempt—so meagre and cheap a spectacle it presented. The "drapery of glory" which stands for, all that is worth having and saving; meaning so much to every citizen, young or old, that no honor paid to it could be too great As the nation's emblem it should inspire all to be good citizens—to keep the laws, to be obedient to all rightful authority, kind hearted and sympathetic towards the unfortunate, mindful ever of our country, but we contend that the banner which should inspire reverence and honor should also bear evidence of some intrinsic worth.

Why should not our city fathers purchase a flag that could be flung to the breezes of heaven, inspiring the veteran, who is reposing in well-earned quiet after marching and battling, speaking to him so eloquently of days that are gone, of conflicts that are over, of the dearly-bought victories of peace?

Let the Red, White and Blue wave triumphant over a happy and peaceful land and a prosperous community, over our public buildings, floating proudly in every wind under the whole heavens.

"Flag of the sturdy fathers,
Flag of the loyal sons,
Beneath its folds it gathers
Earth's best and noblest ones.
Boldly we wave its colors,
Our veins are thrilled anew;
By the steadfast ban, the clustered stars,
The red, the white and the blue."

SEWERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Public Works, at their office at 8 p. m. on the 12th day of June, 1911, for the following approximate quantities:

8,500 lineal feet of 8 in. vit. pipe sewer.
4,500 lineal feet of 6 in. vit. pipe sewer.
900 lineal feet of 10 in. vit. pipe sewer.
20 manholes.
14 flush tanks.
400 "Y" branches.

All bids must be made on the regular forms furnished by the Board and must be accompanied by a certified check equal to 5 per cent. of the bid.

Specifications and bidding sheets may be had of the City Engineer. Plans may be seen at the office of the City Engineer or copies may be had on deposit of $5.00.

The Board of Public Works reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Address Delivered on Decoration Day, May 30, 1876, at Fulton, N. Y., by Melvin F. Stephens.

A short time hence and in all this broad land, but few, if any, will be able to say truthfully, "I too, have seen a soldier of the Revolution."

Their achievements are of a historic period; the traditions of their lives and times are henceforth to be surrounded with the mists and uncertainties of all human affairs upon which the finger of time has left its impress.

Scattered over the hillsides and valleys of the "Old Thirteen States," are the neglected graves of the heros of the struggle for independence; and save here and there a noted exception, made such by family pride or general fame, there are few or no distinguishing marks to tell us where they rest.

The Government and the people that in this Centennial year celebrate with so much pomp and pride and grandeur the achievements of the Revolutionary soldiers and exhibit to the assembled representatives of the civilized world the glorious results of a hundred years of independence, results made possible by their heroic acts, have done but little to preserve their resting places from desecration, or to make them shrines for the visits of a grateful people.

In the necessary struggle for mere existence, that followed the exhaustion of the Revolutionary war; amid the efforts of the immediate generations that followed, to subdue to their use the material world around them, but little attenion could be given to beautiful surroundings and adornments even of the homes of the living, and much less to the burial places of the dead.

Not many years ago, the grave yards of our country were of all places the most dreary and desolate; the more gloomy the site and the surroundings apparently the more in keeping with the purpose of their use. Neglected and shunned by the living, they seemed utterly given up to the spirit of death and despair.

Gradually there came a change. Legislative acts were passed to protect and encourage associations in their attempts to relieve the grave of something of its gloom. Picturesque sites were selected, large grounds were laid out and beautified, individuals were stimulated to vie with one another in the care and adornment of private lots.

Rural cemeteries were popularized and soon the resting places of the dead became the most beautiful places in the land; and instead of being avoided, as formerly, and even passed with shuddering and dread, they became the resorts and communion places of the living.

As an outgrowth of this change, and in keeping with the sentiment of the people, Government took the initiative, in the war for the Union, in caring for the burial of its dead defenders. Wherever its armies camped or battled, those who died of disease, or fell on the "stricken field," were, if possible, buried where their graves could be found by distant friends, and in the midst of the greatest strife of modern times, Arlington and Gettysburgh were solemnly dedicated as National cemeteries, and became, for all time, hallowed and sacred ground.

It is owing to the sentiment of the popular mind to place their departed friends amid beautiful surroundings, and to the reciprocal action of the Government, that the patriotism and gratitude of the people found expression in the institution of the beautiful ceremonies of this day, that the thirtieth of May is set apart by Legislative enactment, as a legal holiday, and consecrated to the memory of those who gave their lives that the Nation might live.

Standing here, today, near the close of the first century of our national life, and the beginning of the new, with regretful knowledge of the neglect of the past, let us in our hearts crown the scattered and untended graves of the Fathers and Mothers of the Revolution, with wreaths of grateful memory, decorating them, in thought, with laurelled honors of gratitude and veneration, for their sacrifices and devotion to liberty and rights of man, a hundred years ago.

Knowing that each living generation is greatly responsible for the sentiments, the character and the acts of its immediate successor, let us resolve that the observance of this day, and its ceremonies, shall be perpetuated; that amid the hurry and strife and turmoil and selfishness of the workaday world, the romance and poetry and beauty and broad charity of this day and its associations, shall not die out or be forgotten.

Will you, fellow citizens, so act in the time that may be yours, that as the years roll on, and the events of the late struggle for national existence become more and more a matter of history and tradition your children, and your children's children, following your example, shall gratefully strew the springtime flowers of hope and promise upon the graves of their country's defenders, re-awakening in their minds patriotic thoughts and high resolves; keeping alive in their own hearts feelings of charity and good-will, learning to emulate whatever was good in the sleepers' lives and deeds, learning and remembering the lessons of their sacrifice?

For us, Comrades, this is an occasion of unusual interest. We are today, for the first time, to place our floral offerings upon the grave of one who, since the first institution of this rite, has heretofore participated with us in its observance, and been foremost in recognition of our dead comrades' claim upon the grateful remembrance of their countrymen. The death of Comrade Daniel F. Schenck has left a void in our ranks that can never be filled. Remembering, as we well do, his kind heart, his worth and virtues as comrade, soldier, citizen and man, the flowers we place upon his grave today will be the heartfelt offerings of respect and esteem.

May we so live that, when in turn, our hands are idly folded in the grave, never again to offer our tributes of respect and love to others, we also, may be remembered as worthy to receive such tributes.

CROSSED WIRES

Mrs. Brown, telephoning to a friend one morning, happened to say:

"I have such a bad sore throat, I'm afraid I cannot go to that dinner-party to-morrow night."

Just then something went wrong with the connection, and she heard a strange voice break in:

"Gargle your throat with cooking-soda, and I think you will be able to go to your dinner."

"Who is this speaking?" asked Mrs. Brown, startled.

"Oh, that you will never know," answered the voice.

Mrs. Brown was greatly amused and decided to try the remedy. Her throat improved, and she went to the party. During dinner, she chanced to overhear the gentleman opposite say to his neighbor:

"I had an amusing experience the other morning. I was telephoning, and the wires became crossed. I suddenly heard a lady's voice say: 'I have such a bad throat, I shan't be able to go to that dinner-party.' Just for fun, I broke in and said: 'Gargle your throat with cooking-soda, and you'll be all right.' The lady's voice in reply sounded rather surprised, 'I wonder if she took my advice.'"

Mrs. Brown was greatly tempted to reveal her identity as the heroine of the episode, but she decided she could get more fun another way. She made careful inquiry of her hostess as to the gentleman's full name and address, and next morning called him up. When he answered she said:

"I just wanted you to know that I took your advice, gargled my throat with cooking-soda, and was able to go to the dinner."

"Who—who is this speaking?" came an astonished voice from the other end of the wire.

"Oh, that you will never know," answered Mrs. Brown, laughing, and rang off.—June Lippincott's.

LET FULTONIANS ASK

Am I a benefit to anyone but myself?

Am I a credit to the community?

Is the world better because I live in it?

Is Madison cleaner and more beautiful because I have helped to make it so?

The above is a spring catechism proposed to the citizens of Madison, Wisconsin, by a newspaper of that city.

The paper continues: "To plant a tree, to grow a flower, to make your lawn beautiful to paint your home, are suggestions we would make in this regard. Did you ever stop to think as you stroll about the city or country how much you owe to the men and women who grow flowers? You occasionally pass little plots where carefully tended flowering plants bloom and send forth their fragrance throughout all the long summer months. Very likely every day as you go back and forth to your work you pass beauty spots of this character. Did you ever stop to think how much the fellow who is so carefully nurturing these flowers is contributing to your pleasure?"

WHAT JOURNAL COSTS

Supervisors Pay $1,508.88 for Printing and Distributing the Books

The cost of printing and distributing the journal of the Board of Supervisors for the annual session of 1910 was $1,508.00. An order for this amount was drawn upon the County Treasurer this morning by Clerk Mahaney of the Board of Supervisors. The journal was printed this year by the Corse press of Sandy Creek, publishers of the News.—Palladium.

Music of the Drum.

All musical authorities have agreed that when used in a proper way the drum is thoroughly musical. The common snare or side drum is freely used in musical composition. A large number of drummers performing simultaneously out of doors produce good music. In this connection Berlioz, the composer, pointed out that a sound that was insignificant when heard singly, such as the clink of one or two muskets at shoulder arms or the thud as the butt comes to the ground at ground arms, becomes brilliant and attractive if performed by a thousand men together.

Memorial day was ideal and vast numbers of strangers were in Fulton. Crowds took the trolleys to Stop 28, and that popular resort did a thriving business all day.

Prizes in the speaking contest at Mt. Pleasant on Friday evening were awarded to the Misses Pauline Hale and Merle Bartlette; Messrs. Carlton Stone and John Moore.

Mr. J. R. Sullivan of Providence, R. I., is the guest of his cousins, the Messrs. J. R. and D. M. Sullivan of the west side. This is Mr. Sullivan's first visit to Fulton in twenty years.

The freight departments of the three railroads running out of Fulton will close at noon, commencing with Saturday, giving the employes a half holiday during the Summer season.

Sunday was another scorching hot day, the temperature soaring as high as 96 1-2 during the afternoon. Storms in the vicinity brought relief from the heat to Fulton during the night, but no rain.

The Misses Alice Brannan, Grace Gore and Eva Frawley of this city, who started to walk from their homes to Fredonia last week, were compelled to abandon the project at Avon on account of the extreme heat which prevailed. They took the train for the last fifty miles of the trip and are visiting Miss Brannan's sister in Fredonia.

Much praise and many compliments have been showered upon the Misses Ethel Mackin and Leta Ingalls, instructors in the Oak street school, for the May pole dance and other exercises given by their pupils on Friday afternoon. The exercises were held out of doors and the little tots did themselves and their instructors proud in their work. Each girl and each boy has a garden plot all their own to tend and they are doing good work in the out of doors.

The William Avery, a small tug from Oswego, used by the H. P Burgard company, sank into the water on Saturday from some cause not known to the owners. The supposition is that the tug came in contact with the big dipper of the dredge or else it struck a rock. A diver from Oswego on Sunday made the necessary arrangements to raise the sunken boat. The crew on the tug had no difficulty in making shore.

Last week United States Express Agent Charles Lockrowe received a case containing 53 homing pigeons from the Holyoke, Mass., District Pigeon club. Mr. Lockrowe was requested to take the birds to an elevation on Sunday morning and release them, wiring the secretary of the club the hour of their release. A number of Fultonians accompanied Mr. Lockrowe to the "hogsback" where the birds were liberated. They flew straight into the air for over a hundred feet and then started east. The time and conditions of their arrival home will be noted with interest by local enthusiasts.

UNDER ADVISEMENT

A Chicago lawyer tells of a newly elected squire in Minnesota, who was much elated by his honors, but not quite sure that he could sustain them gracefully. So for some time previous to his assumption of the office, he hung about the courts to get a tip now and then as to legal procedure. One phrase struck him particularly, and it was not long before he had an opportunity to utilize it.

When, sitting in judgment on his first case, the testimony was all in and the arguments made, His Honor cleared his throat and delivered himself of the following:

"The court takes this case under advisement until next Thursday morning, when it will render a verdict in favor of the defendant."—June Lippincott's.

ORWELL SITE NOT FAVORED

The Oswego County Medical Society at its semi-annual meeting held in this city recently, adopted unanimously the following resolution:

The Oswego County Medical Society in semi-annual meeting assembled, learns with regret that at a recent session the Board of Supervisors of Oswego county adopted a resolution determining upon the selection of a site in the town of Orwell for the proposed county tuberculosis hospital.

Now, therefore, the Oswego County Medical Society, having in mind only the best interests of the people who will be served by the aforesaid tuberculosis hospital, the success of the undertaking comprehended in its establishment, and being free, individually and collectively, from any bias, prejudice, local pride or self interest, is constrained to view with great disfavor the above action of the Board of Supervisors.

The proposed location has no commendatory features which can ever offset its many disadvantages, notably its remoteness from lines of public travel and centers of population. Altitude, while desirable, is not alone sufficient to induce a spirit of contentment, which is all important, in the unfortunate ones who may be compelled to avail themselves of the proposed health-restoring institution. Environment and accessibility are important and must be considered in the selection of a hospital site. If any or all of these features are not observed in the selection of a location for the hospital, the ends to be obtained will have been made subservient to motives less worthy than the fundamental principles which should underlie and actuate such selection.

The Oswego Medical Society, therefore, respectfully represents to the Board of Supervisors of the county of Oswego that a reconsideration of the resolution selecting Orwell as the site of a tuberculosis hospital, would meet the approval of the public generally and avert the criticisms suggested above, and we respectfully pray that such action be taken.

The sentiment expressed is in full sympathy with the sentiment throughout the county.

The Hanging Oak

"Colonel, that settles it and Uncle Josh wants all the lower Zion colored Baptists to understand that he's reformed and ain't gwine out nights pretenin' he's on possum hunt no mo'. Colonel, I suterny is going to try and do right, but you will I hope remember that I comes of a distinct and different class of society from what you all do; we's what the white folks of Virginia calls niggers and no good for anything but work for them and get jus' enough fat back and corn meal to keep long an' they don't 'low us to learn to read and keep track of what we earns. Our families is ragged and the children have to go barefoot summer and winter and that's whats led up to our not doing jus' the honest way all de time."

"Uncle Josh, if you will rise above doing any dishonest act I think the white folks of this locality would soon see you meant to reform."

"Colonel, it's mighty hard for the poor nigger, as we's called, to reform when we is having to go almost starved and every bad 'swasion that can be thought of by the white man used to drag our wives and daughters down. It just puts bad thoughts in our minds and some time we gets feeling mighty queer towards the white folkes."

"Uncle Josh, I am aware of the fact that there are some bad men not only in this community but throughout all the South, but that does not justify you in doing wrong, much less in taking things not belonging to you."

"Colonel, it's the conditions under which we's been obliged to live thats dragged the poor nigger down to what we is today; we knows how we's cheated an how our children is kept from being just what they ought to be. It is not the colored folks what's doing us this great wrong, it is the white men's what goes to church and protens great things. Colonel, we knows all about that kind of honorable men and some times we just about biles over—and thems the times we gets reckless and forgets our 'ligon and steals from them—then you all say, 'dam the nigger, you can't make a man out of a nigger, he never was intented to be anything but a servant; and right here Colonel, I wants to ask you if the treatment and consideration they gives us is likely to make us good and honest; is being dishonest with us and leading us to do wrong likely to make better folkes of us? You know, 'Colonel, jus' as well as I do what and who has degraded the poor colored folks to what they is today. It's the morally degraded white man who's best boast is to say I comes of the best blood that courses in the veins of the old Virginia aristocracy.' He never tells you that I am his half brother."

"Uncle Josh, your remarks if heard by some of the neighbors might give offence; might be considered personal. It might be well for you to be a little more guarded in what you say."

"Colonel, I'se heard that saying that the truth should not be spoken at all times but when I gets to thinking of the blasted lives of some of my family I can't help saying jus' a little 'bout the cause of our being low down dishonest niggers, as we's called. If I'de had the chance to earn an honest living and my family the privileges of a school education we wouldn't been what we is today. Colonel, I believes you's an honest man and of big enough mind to see we poor niggers is not altogether to blame if we has some times taken things that didn't belong to us, when we was almost starving."

"Uncle Josh, I can see some mitigating sides to your statement but dishonesty can not be justified under any circumstances; it would of been far better if you had begged and even now, Uncle Josh, it will be better for you when in distress and need to go to your neighbor and tell your wants."

"Colonel, you's the only white man in this magisterial district that would do any good to ask for a quart of meal. These high bred Virginia families 'haint got no meal to give or lend to us poor niggers if we is almost starving. It's a fact Colonel, most of them needs all the meal they can get.

"Uncle Josh, it has never occurred to me that you might be in need."

"Well, Colonel, we some times near most starved and I can't do very much hard work to earn money and so we has to get along with kindy poor living."

"Uncle Josh, when you come up from the field with the salids let me know you are here and I will have some meal put in a bag for you to take home."

"I thanks you, Colonel, and Halsy and I surely gwine to remember you to the Lord fore we goes to bed tonight.

This thoughtful generosity of the Colonels brought not only a feeling of security but a real feeling of happiness; there was a friend to turn to when all other resources failed. That season Uncle Josh through the advice of the Colonel, raised quite a crop of corn and made quite an amount of cider during the fall from apples picked up in a neighbors orchard, this he readily sold to his white neighbors and this enabled him to buy a moderate amount of sugar and coffee but as winter came on an alarming condition confronted them; there was no more apples to make cider of and all the corn and fodder they had would no more than carry them and the mule through the winter but struggle as best they could was the only thing in sight. From time to time the Colonel would send some one of his help over to see how Uncle Josh and Aunt Haley were coming on. Generally the report would be, they seem to be all right, they setting by the fire place smoking their pipes but the fire wasn't very good and the cabin seemed kindy cold like. A few days after this last report the Colonel sent his overseer to ascertain just what condition they were in and if they had wood and enough to eat. As the overseer rapped Aunt Haley came to the door exclaiming as she opened it, "Lor, bless you, Mr. Gordon, you's the last man I'de looked for to come see us poor niggers but I'se awful glad to see you. Come right in and take this big chair and sit right down by the fire place and fill this bran new pipe and have a smoke with Joshaway and me."

After getting the smoke agoing, Mr. Gordon said, "Aunt Haley, you seem to be pert and I hope happy?"

"Yes, I'se fus' rate well but somehow Joshaway don't seem to get along like he used to. Ever since he got that awful scare the night the old hanging oak was cut down and he escaped by crossing the Jordan ford he's never been quite hisself since."

"Aunt Haley, what have you attributed it to?"

"Well, I'se not sure, but I'se reverance in his system. What he thought he got so much of that tole about when he got here that night. Joshaway used to be what they called a 'friskey nigger' but 'dare 'aint a frisk left in him; is there Joshaway?"

"Mr. Gordon, Haley done tole you 'bout the frisky part of my life being a thing of the past. Well, Mr. Jordan, jus' let me tell you I was nearer to the Lord that night when I come up out that crossing of the Jordan Creek than you knows about. It seemed like something said to me, 'Joshaway, get home quick as you can, blow out the lights and pray the Lord to blind the eyes of the night doctors if they try to find me,' and Mr. Gordan, I'se been storing up reverance since that very night to meet the Lord with."

"Uncle Josh, how are you off for the necessarys of life? Have you meat, fish and flour, have you any tea, sugar and coffee? Just speak up, the Colonel has sent me to find out what your needs are and to see that you are provided for."

"'Squse me, Mr. Gordan, but I wants to call Haley's 'tention to what I tole her las' night when she said, 'Joshaway, We's suterny gwine to starve' and I said, 'no, Halsy, the Lord will provide.'"

"Uncle Josh, this time the Colonel will do [illegible] providing so when you meet him just return your thanks to him."

"Mr. Gordan, We's going to pray for him all the rest our lives and thank him besides."

"Aunt Haley, you make a list of what you would like to have and will see that you get it."

As time went along Uncle Josh failed in health. When the time came for pitching crops the old man had become too feeble to hold a plow. This was reported to the Colonel and a team sent over to do the plowing so in that way a crop was made possible for that season but Uncle Josh continued to fail. Before long the Colonel's sympathy and interest became so great that he often rode over to see him. On one of these visits he found the old man more than usually depressed, no cheering words the Colonel could use seemed to have any effect to brighten him up. After a silence of some minutes Uncle Josh said, "Colonel, I'se often heard you singing as you ride along on your horse that song about the poor old slave that had done gone to rest and when you come to that part where you say disturb him not but let him rest in his grave it makes the tears come to the old mans eyes. Colonel, you knows I'se been a slave most all my life and I'se thought so many times if you would just sing that part of the poor old slave song when I'm put in my grave I feels like I could rest quietly in it until the resurrection day."

"Uncle Josh, I am hopeful that you will regain your health and strength and be useful for years yet but if I outlive you and am able to attend your funeral I will sing the piece entitled 'the poor old slave', over your grave."

"Colonel, there is one more request I wants to make of you and that is that Haley and I may be buried side by side, when we dies, in your colored burying ground."

"Uncle Josh, I will see that your wishes are complied with whether I am alive or not."

With this the Colonel rose saying, "try to cheer up, Uncle Josh, you may be better and I hope well enough to ride up to where you got ready to burn the old oak and so on down through the pines and across the Jordan ford of the big creek."

"Colonel, I knows you is the best friend I'se got in this world but some how I'se always kindy thought you knew more 'bout that night doctor business then yous ever tole us poor niggers."

With a broad smile the Colonel mounted his horse and rode away. During the Summer months Uncle Josh regained a little strength but as the cold weather came on he began to fail and by Christmas time he was unable to leave his room. The Colonel saw to it that every want and care was provided for the poor old man. Just as the flowers were blooming in May Aunt Haley came in saying, "Joshaway, the violets has done come and I'se gwine out to pick you some."

"No, Haley, you wait a few days and then put them on my grave."

A few days later Uncle Josh had ceased. At his burial the Colonel stood at his grave, Aunt Haley in deep mourning beside him. As the coffin was lowered to its final rest the pastor waving his hand for silence said, "by special request of the deceased the Colonel will sing the beautiful words 'that poor old slave has gone to rest, disturb him not but let him rest.' As the words of the Colonel's echoed through the pines nearby the sobs of grief from poor old Aunt Haley brought tears to every eye within hearing. As the Colonel turned to lead her away we saw him wipe a moistened eye. Aunt Haley was taken over to the Colonel's to live.

The next Spring as the May flowers bloomed the Colonel, accompanied a feeble old colored woman to a little rural cemetery on his plantation, there to find a mound that marked the grave of Uncle Josh. Beside it in silent respect the Colonel stood while Aunt Haley knelt and in accents of love prayed God to have mercy on her poor dear Joshaway.

Rising she reverently placed on his grave a little bunch of flowers and softly said, "sleep on my loved one, 'er long I'll rest beside you."

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes, and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

Astrology With Risks.

Formerly they had rough and ready modes of testing claims to supernatural powers.

"Dost thou know where thou wilt pass Christmas?" asked Henry VII. of an astrologer. He could not tell.

Whereupon the king's grace, which did love a merry jest, made answer, "Then I am wiser than thou, for I know that thou wilt spend Christmas in prison."

John Galeazzo, duke of Milan, is said to have made even merrier at the expense of an astrologer who foretold him that he would die early.

"And how long do you expect to live?" he inquired of the prophet.

"My lord, my star promises me a long life."

"Never trust to your star, man; you are to be hanged today," and the duke took care that his own prediction should be fulfilled.

DIX-MURPHY AGREEMENT.

Governor Appoints Tammany Grand Sachem.

SAID TO BE PART OF DEAL.

Charge Made That Governor Gave Tammany Chieftain What He Wanted in Return For the Confirmation of Two of Mr. Dix's Personal Friends to State Office—Insurgents Fall Right Into Line.

Albany, May 30.—Tammany Democrats are delighted at the re-establishment of the close personal relations between Governor Dix and Charles F. Murphy, temporarily suspended during the closing days of the United States senatorial deadlock. The Cohalan episode is instanced as the positive proof that Governor Dix and Mr. Murphy have once more joined hands and that the bargain or coalition includes executive approval to Tammany legislation and the support by Tammany of John A. Dix as the Democratic presidential candidate in 1912. It is said to be understood that Governor Dix shall be permitted to indulge in a certain amount of "highbrow talk for public consumption only," just to throw dust in the eyes of the progressives who are shouting the praises just now of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, but that he will do nothing to interfere with the Tammany legislative program or with Mr. Murphy's continuance in the Democratic state leadership.

Mr. Murphy Well Satisfied.

It would seem that Mr. Murphy had good reason to feel satisfied with present prospects at least. He is now firmly established as Democratic state leader. He has secured a United States senator who has served as grand sachem of the Tammany society, and he has forced the Democratic governor to elevate the present grand sachem of Tammany to the supreme court bench. Such a record never was equaled by any other Tammany leader, not even John Kelly or Richard Croker. Never before has a Tammany sachem sat in the United States senate, and no Tammany leader ever before attained absolute state leadership of his party.

With William H. Fitzpatrick, the new Democratic leader in Erie county, and Patrick E. McCabe, the undisputed Democratic leader in Albany county, as his firm allies; with John H. McCooey as the Tammany deputy in Kings county and James A. O'Gorman in the United States senate, Mr. Murphy fondly imagines he has an impregnable Democratic machine. Murphy, Fitzpatrick, McCabe and McCooey together send and control enough delegates to a Democratic state convention to sway it absolutely. This may explain why Governor Dix is so willing to acknowledge Mr. Murphy as the Democratic state leader, even if in so doing he alienates the independents who contributed so largely to his election last fall. Without Mr. Murphy's approval Governor Dix cannot hope to be presented as New York state's presidential choice to the Democratic national convention of 1912 or even to be renominated as governor.

The Bargain Consideration?

Whether these are the impelling reasons underlying the Dix-Murphy-Cohalan bargain or whether the governor yielded on Cohalan to secure the confirmation by the Tammany senators of his personal friend, George C. Van Tuyl, to be state superintendent of banks and of his personal friend, James A. Holden, to be state historian, at all events Cohalan was appointed half an hour after Van Tuyl and Holden were confirmed, just as the Tammany senators said would be done before the session of the state senate opened that day.

Moreover, Governor Dix took a personal hand in securing Justice Cohalan's confirmation, even going so far as to urge his friends among the "insurgent senators" to vote to confirm Cohalan for the supreme court after they had pledged themselves never to vote for him for United States senator. And three of the insurgent senators did vote for confirmation, making the twenty-six needed senatorial votes.

"Rules" Now In Charge.

Now that Majority Leader Smith of the assembly has succeeded in placing the "rules" committee on guard in the lower house and thus handed over all legislation from now to the end of the session to Assemblymen Foley, Oliver and himself of Tammany Hall, Mr. McCooey's representative, Mr. Donnelly, and Speaker Frisbie, it is to be expected that the legislative machine will move forward with dispatch and that any one who gets in the way will be bowled over.

The powerful influence of "rules" can be exerted with telling effect on the senate, where the political parties are more nearly divided and where from time to time from two to four Democratic senators betray signs of independence and rebel against the Tammany whip. Local legislation of senators can be held up in the assembly by "rules" until the mutineers yield submission. "Insurgency" in the senate is expected by the Tammany senators to disappear from now on.

CHURCH ADVERTISING PAYS

Another Montclair Congregation Uses Big Space and Display Type

Montclair, N. J.—Another church has been added to those in Montclair that believe in advertising to promote attendance. The latest to use the columns of the newspapers to boom itself is the Cedar Avenue church. It is of the Presbyterian denomination and one of the smallest in the town. The congregation, through its trustees, uses a ten-inch triple-column advertisement to attract attention to its services. The advertisement is illustrated with cuts of the church and the manse. The Rev. Thomas Morgan is the pastor.

The trustees of one of the churches that have gone in for display advertising in the newspapers say the increase in the plate collections at the Sunday services alone exceeds the cost of advertising, and a number of new members have been enrolled through the same medium.

JOHN ROBINSON'S SHOW

It Takes a Wise Man to Play the Fool in a Modern Circus.

"It takes brains to play the fool."

So the equestrain director of the John Robinson Shows said when asked concerning clowns and clowning.

"I have been in the circus business all my life, and during that interesting period have, like an actor, played many parts. I have made a close study of the profession and particularly the clown department, for there is nothing to a circus without a clown.

"It has come under my observation that the brainest performers always make the best clowns and produce fun that is not only wholesome, but makes the man, no matter how discontented with the world, forget his troubles temporarily and dissolve his hardened features into a grin. When you compare the actor with the clown the latter has a handicap regarding his methods and his facilities of bringing forth laughs.

"The actor has the author to thank nine times out of ten for some 'fat' part. Then, too, he is enabled to say things that produce fun and which are not his own. But take the man behind the whitened face and he has nothing to help him but his gestures, his nimble legs and his art of so contorting his face as to bring forth mirth. Its real work to make them laugh without any aid whatsoever excepting the few items I have mentioned. Furthermore, a clown must be born, he is not made or manufactured.

"For instance, take Marco, the premir 'joey' of the Robinson Shows, and he would be the last person in the world you would pick out as a professional jester. He is the soberest appearing cuss you ever saw on the street. Yet he has but to walk from the dressing top to the big show and I laugh. There is something about that stride that is funny, and when he allows the toy balloon to get away from him and sail through the air, crying after it, I have seen the spectators almost fall off the seats with laughter. Out West I remember one old lady could hardly be stopped. Now you let some else try that same trick, and it's not funny at all."

All the funny clowns will be here with the John Robinson Shows on Friday, June 9, 1911.

WILLING TO TAKE A CHANCE

There was recently hauled into an Alabama court a little Irishman to whom the thing was a new experience. He was, however, unabashed, and wore an air of a man determined not to "get the worst of it."

"Prisoner at the bar," called out the clerk, "do you wish to challenge any of the jury?"

Whereupon the Celt looked the men in the box over very carefully and with a skilled eye.

"Well, I tell ye," he finally replied, "Oi'm not exactly in trainin', but Oi think Oi could pull off a round or two with thot fat old boy in th' corner."—June Lippincott's.

DEATHS

Dominick Markey, for 12 years a resident of Fulton, died on Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Norman Pullen. He had been ill some time with heart disease. The funeral services were held on Monday morning from the Catholic church. The immediate survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Pullen, and the Misses Anna and Leontine Markey of Syracuse.

Phoenix Register, Thursday: Mrs. Adell Bowman, wife of A. J. Bowman, died at her home in Pennellville, Tuesday night, aged sixty-four years. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Blanche Hirt of Pennellville, and two sons, George Bowman of Fernwood and Frank Bowman of Fulton. Funeral services will be held at ten o'clock tomorrow. Burial will be made at Fulton.

The death of Mrs. Mary E. Knight, aged 79, and for 70 years a resident of Fulton, occurred on Saturday evening at her home near Kenyon Hill. The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon and burial was made in Mt. Adnah. The survivors are two sons, Joseph of Pittsfield, Mass., and George H., of Middletown, N. Y.; and five daughters, Mrs. Maria J. VanBuren of Fulton, Mrs. Carr L. Conner, Mrs. Florence E. Hinkley and Mrs. Bertha N. Johnson, all of Syracuse; and Mrs. T. E. Walrad of Niagara Falls.

Jeanette, wife of Mr. William Hutchins, and a daughter of Mrs. Dora Vickery of this city, was taken suddenly ill in the Central station, Syracuse, on Sunday, May 14. She was removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Emma Campbell, where she died soon after. The remains were brought to the home of her mother and the funsral services were held on Tuesday afternoon from the home. Burial was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are two children, the mother, and two sisters, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Brimfell, both of Syracuse.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The Board of Directors of the First National Bank at a meeting held last week adopted the following resolutions on the death of their late Vice President, F. E. Weeden:

It is with deepest regret that we are called upon to record the death of our friend, Vice President and associate, Mr. F. E. Weeden. For three years he was with us. Possessed of excellent judgment and a conservatism that was ideal, also with a manhood that commanded the respect of everyone with whom he came in contact, he made a Director with whom it was a joy to associate.

We express in this way our deepest sympathy with those whom he has left behind, and it is hereby

Resolved, That we spread this tribute of our friendship and esteem upon the minutes of our Bank and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Weeden.

Board of Directors of the First National Bank.

By Thomas Hunter, President.

KILLED BY FALL

Watertown, May 15.—Frank M. Bosworth of this city, a well known business man and brother-in-law of Senator George H. Cobb, is dead here as the result of a fall sustained Saturday morning. Mr. Bosworth had been subject to spells of vertigo and he was seized with one while crossing a street. He struck heavily on the back of his head, fracturing his skull.

He was taken to his home by Senator Cobb and after an examination was taken to the City Hospital where he died late Saturday afternoon without recovering consciousness.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

For the first time in Syracuse the Empire Stock Company will offer all of next week with matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, "A Woman's Way" a comedy that gave to Miss Grace George one of her most gratifying and artistic successes.

The play tells the story of a witty and clever woman, who after being married to a Yale college man finds the affections of her husband drifting inevitably towards a comely and vivacious young Southern woman, who takes great pleasure in the young man's attentions. Through lack of sympathetic interest in their pursuit of happiness, the young couple have found a serious flaw in their domestic relations. He has become interested in all manner of sports, and she has taken to winning eminence in society. Neither finds the other's ambitions of any personal interest, and the breach is gradually widened until an estrangement is threatened. And then the little wife, discovers the Southern beauty. The latter, through her grace and vivacity, has fascinated the husband into a dangerous admiration, and it taxes the wife's ingenuity to its utmost to find a way in which the husband's interest might be diverted back to herself. A "joy ride" that is participated in by the Southern lady and the husband, furnishes the final distressing detail. The auto is wrecked in a collison, the joy riders are discovered and the next day the papers are filled with a threatened scandal. Then comes a wild confusion of inquiring reporters, the situation becomes more intense and the families of the wife and husband decide to take a hand. Right there, the little woman decided that disaster must be prevented. "We fight to get our husbands," she says, "Why not fight to keep them?"

And so she arranges a family dinner to which the Southern belle is invited. The wife brings her imagination and wits into an effort by which the Southern belle is invited. The wife brings her imagination and wits into an effort by which she means to show her erring husband the full extent of his foolhardiness, and she does it so cleverly and with such a display of ready wit and humor that not a single thing is left to be desired by the audience. The full strength of the Empire Stock Company will be seen. Mr. Kellard will play the role of Howard Stanton originally played by Frank Worthington while Miss Mabel Frenyear will be seen as Mrs. Stanton originally played by Miss Grace George.

The usual bargain matinees will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at which the prices will be 15 and 25 cents. At night the prices 15, 25 and 50 cents. Seats are now on sale for all of next week's performances.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will clear the sour stomach, sweeten the breath and create a healthy appetite. They promote the flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing good digestion. Sold by all dealers.

Supper was served at the Grange Saturday evening and a Decoration Day programme was given.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

PETER PINDAR'S RUSE.

It Enabled the Astute Author to Drive a Good Bargain.

Some time about the beginning of the nineteenth century Peter Pindar (Dr. John Wolcott) drove a good bargain with the publishers, Robinson & Walker. While negotiations were under way the author developed an attack of asthma, which was always at its most distressing stage whenever the publishers were present. He was only fifty-seven then, but the publishers decided that their chances were good and agreed to pay him a annuity of £250 instead of a lump sum for his work.

Soon after the bond was signed the doctor went to Cornwall, where he recovered his health, and returned to London without any cough, which was far from being a pleasing sight to the persons who had to pay his annuity. One day he called upon Mr. Walker, the manager for the parties, who, surveying him with a scrutinizing eye, asked him how he did. "Much better, thank you," said Wolcott. "I have taken the measure of my asthma; the fellow is troublesome, but I know his strength and am his master." "Oh!" said Mr. Walker gravely, and turned into an adjoining room, where Mrs. Walker, a prudent woman, had been listening to the conversation. Wolcott, aware of the feeling, paid a keen attention to the husband and wife and heard the latter exclaim: "There, now, didn't I tell you he wouldn't die? Fool that you've been! I knew he wouldn't die."

Peter Pindar survived both the partners.—New York Post.

CAUGHT ON THE BOUNCE.

The Parson's Second Barrel Play on the Wounded Ducks.

When the night wind whines about the gunning cabin nestled in the beach hills the hearts within grow reminiscent.

"The best canvasback shooting I ever had was down off the mouth of Crazy inlet," said the parson. "A ripping northeaster was blowing, and I was out on the end of the point alone. The ducks came down wind along the edge of the shoal, and they were so far away that it was just impossible to kill them outright. I could have had a hundred shots that day, they came so thick, but I let a lot of them go by. At dark I had picked up twenty-two birds. Not one of them was dead when I dropped them as they wheeled by; but, boys, I didn't have to shoot a single cripple in the water."

Curley gave the parson a long look, filled and lighted his pipe, then snorted in disgust, for he was an old hand, and he knew that one needed more than a pinch of salt to capture a wounded canvasback in open water.

"Suppose you hypnotized those birds you couldn't kill dead into coming ashore for you to wring their necks?" he grunted.

"No," said the parson slowly; "they were going so fast that when I knocked 'em down they'd hit the water and bound up ten or fifteen feet. Then I'd kill 'em on the first bounce with the second barrel."—Outing.

The Name Tibet.

Many forms of the name Tibet sprang from the Chinese T'ubar (fifth century) through the variations of Tuebet, Toboet, Thibet (1165), Tebet (1298), to Tibet (1730). The origin of the name has been variously accounted for, but the weight of historical evidence indicates that the word is derived from Tubat, a famous family name proper to several ancient Tartar dynasties, extensively used in the sense of "chief." Hodgson asserts that before the arrival of Indian teachers the people had no name for themselves or their land, and, though the present name is not, as some say, unknown in the country itself, the modern Tibetans call themselves Bod-pa and their land Bod-yul. Bod being a Buddhist appellative suggested by the Sanskrit b'ot, or bat, so working back to the Tartar name.—London Spectator.

Kean and Macready.

When Edmund Kean and Macready, intense rivals, played in the same pieces at Drury Lane it was usual to consult them in the course of the evening as to what they would appear in next. One night when the prompter was sent to ask Mr. Macready what he would play with Mr. Kean the great tragedian frowned upon him till he blushed. "Sir," he roared, "how should I know what the man would like to play?" The prompter retired to seek the desired information from Mr. Kean. "Sir," said Mr. Kean sharply, "how should I know what the fellow can play?"

Analogies.

"I understand your friend Jenkins has resigned that city clerkship he held."

"Resigned? H'm!"

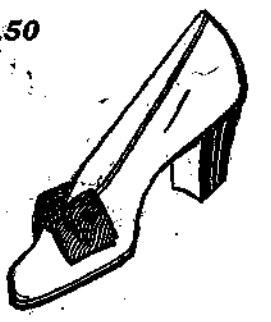
"Oh, wasn't it voluntary?"

"Well, it was just as voluntary as his contributions to the campaign fund were."—Philadelphia Press.

The Riddle.

"Woman is a riddle," remarked the Wise Guy.

"Yes," agreed the Simple Mug. "She keeps us guessing, and we hate to give her up."—Philadelphia Record.



Waiting.

"De man dat puts in too much time learnin' to wait patiently," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to git out o' practice fob doin' anything else."—Washington Star.

Time ripens all things. No man is born wise.—Cervantes.

TIMES PLANT FLOODED

Water From Defective Plumbing in Flat Above Office Does Much Damage During Night—Typesetting Machine Put Out of Commission and Other Equipment Ruined

Wednesday morning, when the Times force opend the office preparatory to commencing the day's work, they found that during the night defective plumbing in the flat over the Times office, occupied by Assistant Chief and Mrs. Rude, had burst and everything in the west end of the office was deluged. It is presumed that the water had been running from midnight until 5 o'clock in the morning when it was discovered by the tenants of the flat, although they did not notify the proprietor of the Times at any time.

The linotype junior installed a little over a year ago, had received the major portion of the water and it was encrusted with rust, the finely tempered steel wires and sections being in most deplorable condition and water standing in every depression on the entire machine.

Fortunately Editor Bradt's typesetting machine was in running order and he kindly came to the assistance of the Times so that the paper reached its readers on schedule time. Mr. Bradt's residence in Brooklyn was summoned by telegraph and he was on the scene early on Thursday morning. Damaged parts for the machine were hurried by telegram and express and on Monday morning work was resumed in the Times office, although there is much yet to be done to the plant and the damage is heavy.

WEARS HONORS MEEKLY

Mr. Fred Sweet, captain of Hose Company No. 1, wears a new uniform with a gold stripe on the sleeves. The stripes were bestowed upon him by the Board of Fire and Police last week as a reward for five consecutive years service in the fire department. The service has been faithfully given and with good cheer. His many friends congratulate him upon this badge of merit and trust that he may serve the city as well until he wears many more gold stripes together with the one he now wears.

The marriage of Mr. William Murphy to Miss Jessie R. Sutton of Oswego, was solemnized in Oswego on Thursday. After an extended western trip Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will rseld in Fulteon.

At the First Methodist Parsonage, 235 Oneida street, Wednesday, May 31, Freeman Martin and Miss Vena May LaPoint both of Fulton, were married by Rev. C. L. Peck. They were attended by John D. LaPoint and Miss Jennie Winks.

Mr. Charles E. Hammond and Miss May L. Rice were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, June 3. After a bridal trip which will include several Canadian cities, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond will make their future home at No. 212 Gansvoort street, this city. Mrs. Hammond is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rice and has many friends in this city where she has lived all her life. Mr. Hammond is a carpenter in the employ of Contractor Drury. The Times extends best wishes.

The marriage of Miss Mary Burke and Mr. Thomas Devaney of Third street, occurred at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at Zion Episcopal church, Rev. George C. Wadsworth officiating. The best man was W. R. Burke of Prince Edwards Island and the bridesmaid was Miss Gertrude H. Devaney. T he immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present.

Mr. George Dennison and Miss Emma Tuerk were united in marriage on Thursday morning at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Samuel Tuerk, inT hird street, the Rev. George Wadsworth officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Eloise Dennison and the best man was Mr. Fred Tuerk. The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting couple. After congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Dennison and their attendants automobiled to Syracuse where supper ws enjoyed at the Onondaga. T he bridal trip includes New York city and other eastern points.

DESERVES RE-ELECTION

Last week County Superintendent of the Poor, C. Adelbert Stone, of Scriba, formally announced his candidacy for re-nomination on the Republican ticket. Oswego county has perhaps never been served more intelligently nor faithfully by a county official and Mr. Stone's unanimous nomination is confidently expected at the coming Republican county convention.

Mr. Stone has served for three years as superintendent and his administration has been commended by the Board of Supervisors on their annual visit. Many improvements to the building have been made.

There are 62 inmates in the County House about equally divided between male and female, and ten of whom are in a well appointed hospital connected with the institution. Adjoining the building over which Mr. Stone presides is a farm of 65 acres which is worked by the inmates and which makes it not only possible for them to live on the best but it yields a profit to the county besides.

Mr. Stone is a member of Aeonian Lodge 679, F. and A. M., Ontario Lodge, I. O. O. F., and also of the Grange.

Employes of the trolley company commenced tearing up the pavement in First street, corner of Cayuga, preparatory to laying rails for the extension of the road. Work on the bridge was commenced last week. It is today stated that cars will be running to Oswego by September 1.

The Republican County Committee does not propose to call the primaries in this county until after the legislature adjourns.

The equipment of the McDermott Connecting company is being removed from the canal bed preparatory to opening the canal. The equipment will soon be sold by the court.

FULTON REPUBLICANS CONFER

Friday evening nearly fifty of the working Republicans in Fulton met in conference relative to candidates for the various county offices and as to the best methods to be employed in gaining the greatest good for the party at the coming election. Several of the candidates were present and the enthusiastic friends of all the other candidates. Speeches were made by prominent Republicans and all breathed a spirit of getting together for the strengthening of the party all along the line. Reports from several towns were received and they partook of the same general spirit.

Congressman L. W. Mott was the guest of honor of the evening and he pleaded for party harmony andexpressed himself as being in perfect accord with the sentiment expressed by the conference.

Messrs. G. M. Fanning, candidate for District Attorney and M. A. Stranahan, candidate for Sheriff, were both present and addressed the conference along general lines. It was the unanimous sentiment of the gathering that both candidates for county office in Fulton should receive the delegates and that they should be instructed for both, to the end ly popular and both are hard workers and entitled to recognition. There has never been more determination on the part of Republicans to secure an office for Fulton and it is fully believed that they will be successful in their quest.

The supreme court justiceship matter was touched upon but it is too sensitive a matter with most Fultonians to stand much pressure. The friends of Messrs. Hubbs and Bartlette are very active and very determined so that no decisive action could be taken at the gathering. Mr. Hubbs the next morning announced himself as delighted with the outlook and Mr. Bartlette announced himself as satisfied. Both candidates had friends at the conference.

HAS GOVERNOR OVERREACHED?

Presidential Bee Said to Buzz In Dix's Bonnet.

MR. MURPHY IS IN IT.

Tammany Leader Said to Have Secured Cohalan Appointment Upon Promise That Governor Dix Shall Head New York State Delegation to Democratic National Convention of 1912.

Albany, June 6.—It is current rumor here that Governor Dix's latest surrender to Mr. Murphy and Tammany Hall in the Cohalan episode was influenced largely by the buzzing of the presidential bee and a promise by Mr. Murphy that the governor would be permitted to head the New York state delegation to the Democratic national convention in 1912 and also have the support of the New York Democracy as the Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination next year.

If presidential aspirations impelled the surrender of the governor on Cohalan it looks as if Mr. Dix had overplayed his hand and would be hoist by his own petard. The Baltimore News has this to say of the Cohalan incident and its bearing on the future of Governor Dix:

"It is odd that the governor of a state like New York does not understand what a serious blow he strikes at public respect for the courts when he enters into such a deal as that by which Daniel F. Cohalan was made a member of the supreme court.

"The deal was the more shameful and inexcusable owing to the fact that the public knew it was being made in order to secure Tammany's assent to the naming of a high class man for bank superintendent. It bitterly resented the arrangement. It warned Governor Dix that he was letting Tammany know his price, that he could not afford to prostitute the courts to such a purpose, but the warning went unheeded.

"Governor Dix has succeeded finally in alienating from himself all independent support. The country would not so much mind the disappointment he is proving to those who permitted capable man. But the people everywhere are concerned in the acts of a governor which further intensify dissatisfaction with the methods of selecting members of the bench. When the country is busily engaged in seeking to prevent the spread of the recall of judges it is a bad time for the governor of the largest state in the Union to give such a handle to those who are urging this scheme for the reform of the judiciary."

THEY LIKE THE CHANGE.

United States Fidelity Company Increases Business Under Democratic Regime.

There is one institution that is well pleased at the change in the state administration, and that is the United States Fidelity and Guarantee company. Why? Because its bonding business in state departments, banks that are depositories for state funds and in the excise department has increased nearly $2,000,000 since the Democrats took hold at Albany. It expects a monopoly of the state bonding business as soon as existing contracts with other bonding companies expire and have to be renewed.

While it may be only a peculiar coincidence, it is a fact that State Treasurer John J. Kennedy was up to the time of his election the Buffalo vice president of the United States Fidelity company, and among its chief agents today are a son of Mr. Kennedy, Charles M. McGuire, brother of former Mayor James K. McGuire of Syracuse and close to Tammany Hall, and Charles F. Murphy, nephew of Leader Murphy of Tammany Hall. Whether these agents are better talkers than the representatives of bonding companies which formerly divided the business, it appears that they are able to present sufficiently forceful arguments to induce banks and others who have business with the state to drop their former bondsmen and take out policies with the United States Fidelity company. The latter concern is well pleased. Its rivals—well, they are not expressing opinions for publication.

Will They Ever Finish?

Albany, June 6.—When will the legislature adjourn? That is a question frequently asked, but there is none more difficult to answer. Five months of continuous session breaks the record in a generation, but the end is not in sight yet. None of the big legislative measures promised by Governor Dix in his first message have made their appearance yet, let alone enacted into statute. It may be well into July before final adjournment comes. All that has been accomplished practically up to date is the election of United States Senator O'Gorman, the selection of Daniel F. Cohalan as supreme court justice and the perennial visit of William Jennings Bryan to the state capitol.

PURE FOOD LABELS.

They Were Used In Palestine as Early as the Year 850 B. C.

Professor George A. Reisner of Harvard university discovered among some specimens of earliest Hebrew writing in the excavations of the city of Samaria, in Palestine, a most interesting record of the first pure food laws in history. He also found ancient writings dealing with the first instance on record of the keeping of wines in a government warehouse under bond.

Dating back to the period of King Ahab, 850 B. C., these inscriptions are considered to be one of the greatest finds of the Harvard Palestinian expeditions which delved into the city of Ahab and Omri for three years. They found labels on wine and oil jars. These mention the year in which the wine was laid down in the cellars of the palace storehouse, and they state the vineyard from which the wine came, important facts that are recognized equally well by vintners today.

On the oil jars the label runs, "A jar of pure oil," with the mention of the district from which the oil came. The bits of pottery on which the descriptions were written were not parts of the jars, but were evidently intended to be attached to the necks of the receptacles, just as are labels or seals at the present time.—New York World.

WOOL, SILK AND LINEN.

Tests That Will Determine the Quality of the Fabrics.

If you wish to find out whether the material sold to you as all wool or all silk is really so make a 5 per cent solution of caustic potash and in this boil your sample of silk or wool. If the entire sample is consumed in the boiling your material is what it pretends to be: if there is a residue that residue is cotton. The caustic solution consumes the animal fibers.

If you wish to find out whether the silk that seems to be heavy silk is weighted with mineral burn the sample and the ash will show you how much mineral weighting there is. The pure silk will be wholly consumed.

In buying supposed linen goods of toweling or suiting, dip your sample into concentrated sulphuric acid for two minutes and wash it out carefully. The cotton will have been consumed, the linen will have resisted the action of the acid. This test is one that should be made with precaution, as vitriol is not a thing to be tampered with.—Mary Heaton Vorse in Success Magazine.

Right and Wrong Exercise.

The word "exercise" covers a multitude of sins. It is a very loose term [illegible] dumbbells. To say "Exercise is beneficial" is a very inaccurate remark and a very dangerous belief. It is necessary to distinguish between right and wrong exercise. As often as not big muscles in arms, chest or legs are a calamity, for they actually shorten life unless the vital organs are proportionately developed to take care of them. Men are constantly wearing out their hearts and arteries with some form of violent work they call "exercise." If continued they would die of arteriosclerosis. A pretty good general rule for these men to go by is to take no form of exercise after they are grown up that they cannot keep on with until they are old men.—J. Edmund Thompson in National Magazine.

Needed the Money Badly.

A newspaper man of Washington was approached one morning by a friend who wanted to borrow $5. The newspaper man, assuming an expression of great sorrow, pulled 20 cents out of his pocket and remarked:

"I'm sorry, old man, but you've struck me just before pay day, and I'm broke."

Having made this crafty excuse, he, mentally speaking, pinned a gold medal on himself for having evaded the prospective borrower.

"When is your pay day?" asked the friend.

"Tomorrow afternoon," replied the newspaper man.

"All right," said the friend. "I'll come around then."

And he did.—Popular Magazine.

Merely a Test Case.

A burly negro came to the doctor of a West African missionary settlement, dragging his reluctant wife with him.

"Doctor, pull one of my wife's teeth out," said he.

The doctor examined the woman's mouth and found only sound teeth.

"Say, that makes no difference," said the interested negro. "Pull one anyway. If it doesn't hurt her too much then you can pull my tooth that is aching."—Success Magazine.

The Borrowing Neighbor.

"Say, John, yer haven't been over ter my home since my birthday gatherin', jest a year ago termorrer."

"It ain't that I have hard feelin's ag'in you, but you have so confounded many things what belongs ter me that when I come it kind o' makes me homesick."—Pittsburg Times.

Mistaken Identity.

Walking down St. James' street, Lord Chelmsford was accosted by a stranger, who exclaimed, "Mr. Birch, I believe?"

"If you believe that, sir, you'll believe anything," replied the ex-chancellor as he passed on.—"A Book About Lawyers," by Jefferson.

DATE FIXED BY TROLLEY COMPANY

Monday, June 12th, will mark the opening of the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern Railroad between this city and Oswego. This statement was made by representatives of the I. M. Luddington Sons' Company, which concern will have the Oswego portion of their contract completed within three days. Between Oswego and Minetto only one track has been laid, with three switches, these being located at the Johnson and Bennett farms and the third about one-half mile North of Minetto. The road is all double-tracked from Fulton to Minetto. Since Sunday nearly 4,000 yards of cinders have been placed in the roadbed. The overheadwork is completed with the exception of about one-half mile coming into this city. Until the tracks over the bridge are laid, the present cars in Oswego will be operated.

Essentially the Same Today as When Established by Napoleon.

In the United States there are many universities which are free from state control, but in France there is only one university, and it is an absolute instrument of the state. It is true that there are schools of higher learning, which were founded in 1870 as universities, but five years afterward the title was withdrawn, and they are now called "instituts." They are five in number and are located in Paris, Lille, Lyons, Toulouse and Angers.

But the University of France is an entirely different organization. It is the official school. It is centralized in Paris and has under it a vast multitude of establishments, faculties, college and primary schools, distributed over the whole surface of the country. Directly or indirectly they all depend on the government.

The university was established by Napoleon, and in spite of certain modifications which it has undergone during years it is the same today in its essential elements as the day he founded it. Just as he established the entire civil administration, with its prefects, subprefects, judges, ministers of finance, so he created in that vast educational organization, with its countless professors, who control the entire intellectual training of France.—America.

His Complete Triumph.

"Uncle Rastus, I thought they had sent you to jail again on the usual charge."

"No, suh; I's vindicated dis time. De jedge couldn't quite make up his mind, an' he turned me loose an' said I mustn't do it again."—Chicago Tribune.

Not Much.

Two Classes.

The world is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something and those who sit still and inquire, "Why wasn't it done the other way?"

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 264, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALL OF ONE NAME.

So They Had to Tag Each of the Many Tom Hazards.

[illegible] ratic fancy than did the early settlers of Narragansett, R. I., of whom W. S. Weeden tells in "Early Rhode Island." There were so many of one name that the bearer must have a descriptive prefix lest he be lost in a concordant multitude. Mr. Updike cites thirty-two Tom Hazards living at one time and thus illustrates a few:

College Tom, because he had been at college. Bedford Tom was his son and lived at New Bedford. Barley Tom, because he boasted how much barley he raised from an acre; Virginia Tom, because he married a wife there; Little Neck Tom, from the farm of that name; Nailer Tom, the blacksmith; Fiddle Head Tom, an obvious resemblance; Pistol Tom, wounded by an explosion of that arm; Young Pistol Tom, his son; Short Stephen's Tom, the father low, against Long Stephen's Tom, the father tall; Tailor Tom needs no explanation.

The Georges were not so numerous, but they were distinguished as Beech Bird George, of little legs; Shoestring George, an opponent of buckles; Wig George, Dr. George and Governor George.

Refined Procrastination.

"I must say that man annoys me by his extreme delicacy about going right to the vitals of the matter."

"He unquestionably does a great deal of red tape."

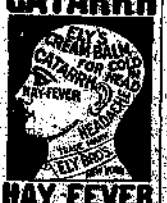
"He doesn't even use red tape. He uses pink ribbon."—Washington Star.

Flexible Statistics.

"What do those statistics of yours tend to prove?"

"I don't know," answered the mathematical expert. "I'm just getting up the figures for this man. I don't know which side of the argument he intends to use them for."—Canadian Century.

Fishbone Arrows.



The serrated spine of the rayfish is used by the Indians of the Amazon to arm their arrows.

LOCK TENDERS NAMED

List For All But the City of Fulton is Announced

Canal Superintendent Hartnett last week announced the following appointment of lock tenders:

Barge canal lock, No. 1, Phoenix —Frank Kinne, Mentor Woolf, Card Rawson, Anthony Pepper.

Lock 6, Hinmanville — Emory Smith, Orville Cross.

Lock 7, Morsemens—John M. Johnson, Joseph H. Johnson.

Lock 11, Orchard lock — Joseph Moseo, Barney Caffrey.

Guard Lock 4, Battle Island — Charles Burch, V. VanBuren, Edward Durfey.

Lock 12, Butler lock, Seneca Hill —H. H. Harrington, Loren Surdam, William Springer.

Lock 13, Minetto—A. G. Congdon, John Haines, Charles Grantier.

Lock 14, Abby lock — Thomas Murray, Michael Riley, William Lennon.

Lock 15, High Dam—Michael McNamara, George Clibford, George Burns.

Lock 16, Little lock — John Brophy, James Hennessey, John O'Hara.

Lock 5, Oswego Guard lock — A Cavalier, Edward Timon, John Dillon.

Lock 17, Deep lock—Edward Maloney, John Hamilton, Solomon Garno.

Lock 3, New Barge Canal lock — John Goodwin, William Burke, John Comerford, John Cloonan.

Varick Canal lock—George Davis.

There have been no appointments yet made for Fulton locks, Superintendent Hartnett is waiting for a decision from the State before he announces the lock tenders for Fulton. The hold-up regarding the Barge Canal work has made his announcement for Fulton later than the rest.

APPOINTED BY CONGRESSMAN MOTT

DeWitt Peck, of Clayton, who is now in an Annapolis school studying preparatory to entering the Unitpolls, will receive his appointment to the academy from Congressman L. ed States Naval Academy at Anna- W. Mott, of Oswego. It was expected that the young man would receive an appointment at large, but owing to the fact that his father, the late Captain Frank H. Peck, did not serve in the regular army after graduating from West Point, the appointment will come through Congressman Mott instead of though the President—Palladium.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

OBJECT TO SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Claimed Third District is Not Compact and First District is Too Small

Pulaski, June 2.—Just at present there seems to be no little interest manifested in this vicinity as to the outcome of the appeal taken by the citizens of Phoenix from the arrangement of the supervisory districts which was made at the joint session of the Oswego County Board of Supervisors and the school commissioners of the First, Second and Third districts, which was held in Oswego on April 19. The papers in the action for the appeal were recently served on L. Carl Sargent of Sandy Creek, school commissioner of the Third district, who was the clerk of that board.

It is contended by the appellants that their district, the Third, under the proposed new order of arrangements, is not compact, and they also take particular exception to the First district, on the ground that it is not large enough. However it is quite noticeable that the longest distance across their district is practically the same as the distance from the West side of Sandy Creek to the East side of Redfield, in the First district. The appeal has created considerable discussion in the districts affected.

CAPTAIN McKAY'S BIRTHDAY

Captain R. H. McKay, father of John A. McKay, formerly of Fulton, and now publisher of Town and Country, one of the big New York weekly publications, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday at his home in Wellington street, Kingston, Saturday.

The Kingston Whig says: S. A. Baldwin, of Fulton, N. Y., eighty-seven years of age, who made a bicycle trip from Fulton to Watertown last week, covering a distance of seventy-seven miles in eleven hours, is an intimate friend of Captain McKay. The two are about the same age, and the activity of both these almost nonagenarians is remarkable. Captain McKay is not a bicycle rider, but he would think nothing of getting abroad a steamer and enjoying a long ocean voyage.

TWO CANDIDATES

Contest for State Scholarship to Cornell University.

Nelson D. Morrow, of Oswego, a graduate of the Oswego High school, and Carl R. Tellers, of Mexico, were the only candidates at the examination for a State scholarship in Cornell, which was held in the offices of the Department of Education, Oswego, on Saturday. The test was in charge of Superintendent Richards and Superintendent Fairgrieve, of Fulton. Each county is entitled to one scholarship, providing anyone gets on the eligible list. Sometimes also, others get scholarships, provided there is no eligible list in some of the counties of the State.

CLARKSON SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY

Director Aldrich, of the Clarkson School of Technology, of Potsdam, N. Y., is visiting the High schools in our vicinity to explain the aim and scope of the Institution and its work as a College of Engineering for the training of men. Owing to the greater dependence of our industrial developments upon the higher technical education of those taking the lead, the Clarkson Tech. has organized four courses leading to the degrees of B. S. in Chemical, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering. These courses require a four years' High school preparation, and it is the purpose of Director Aldrich's visitation work, now authorized by the Board of Trustees of the Clarkson Tech, to set forth the close connection between the High schools and the Institution which he represents. Both are under the direct organization of the University of the State of New York so that the High school diploma admits to the Clarkson Tech. The degree mentioned is also conferred by the Regents of the University of the State of New York (under whose charter the Institution is organized) and the Board of Trustees of the Clarkson Tech. The relations of this school of Technology to our industrial life are very close, as will be apparent upon a casual glance at the work of the graduates now scattered throughout our country, and holding many positions of trust and responsibility. These include the Federal, State, and Municipal appointments, through Civil Service examinations; steam and electric railroad work; electric light and power developments; manufacturing industries, including chemical, electrical and mechanical branches; and in many lines of work looking to the economic utilization of our natural resources, such as drainage, reclamation, and kindred lines, the outgrowth of the conservation movement. In all of these lines Clarkson Tech. men are rapidly coming to the fore to meet the demand for trained engineers and managers in industrial works.

FULTON POLISH EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY

Albany, May 30.—A certificate of incorporation of the Young Polish Men's Amateur Educational Society, of Fulton, has been filed with the State Department. The directors for the first year are Louis Romas, Walter Ruta, Michael Rachwat, Joseph Kendra, John Chwalek and Paul Kubaska, of Fulton.

SAVED HIS WIFE'S LIFE

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

OLD DEEDS FILED

Two very old deeds were filed in the County Clerk's office last week. One was made November 17, 1846 and the other December 21, 1848. The property conveyed was located in the Town of Volney and is a part of the Austin estate. The property has been sold by Henry A. Austin et al. to Nelson S. Whitaker and Orin S. Bogardus and Cora Austin Bailey to U. S. Austin and the old deeds were filed to show the title.

THE SICK LIST

Former County Superintendent of the Poor A. S. Guthrie, who has been critically ill, is getting a little stronger, although one side of his body is partially paralyzed.

SUMMER INSTITUTE

A summer institute is to be held at Sandy Creek at the farm of Mr. A. T. Blount on the morning and afternoon of Saturday, June 10, 1911. The morning session will commence at 10:00 o'clock and the afternoon session at 1:30. Mr. Fred E. Gott, Conductor of Farmers' Institutes in Oswego County and a successful orchardist, will have charge of the meeting and will discuss questions of importance to farmers in your vicinity. He will be assisted by Mr. E. H. Dollar, one of the foremost dairymen in the State.

Last year a limited number of summer institutes were held in the State with great success. These meetings although coming at a busy time in the year, yet are at a time when agricultural problems are most in mind. No farmer should remain at home who can possibly attend as the suggestions which he may receive should greatly help him in his work.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1911.

The United States is close to that postal Utopia, a one-cent sealed letter rate. For the first time in thirty years the post office department is not only self-supporting, but is bringing a large revenue to the government. When we remember that only two years ago there was a deficit of more than seventeen millions of dollars and that there is now a surplus of three millions, involving a change of twenty millions, we can have some appreciation of what Postmaster General Hitchcock has accomplished. He can do much more if Congress will but second his efforts, and by the establishment of a parcels post 99 per cent. of the people of the United States will be benefited and the federal government will turn what has heretofore been a losing business into one of great national profit. At the present time there is besides the three million dollars turned back to the Treasury, a full million in the national post office and, unless the expenses during this month should prove extraordinary, the surplus will be still greater for the fiscal year. Let it not be forgotten that the present administration, inherited a deficit of more than $17,500,000 the largest in the history of the postal service. This deficit was soon changed after Postmaster General Hitchcock took charge, in the past it always has been the custom for the government to set aside at least the general postoffice, but Mr. Hitchcock found that he would not have to use any part of the amount and sent it back to the Treasury. An accounting plan was adopted about a year ago, which insures the prompt deposit in the Treasury of postal funds not required for disbursement at post offices, and to this reform in the financial system of the post office department the present much desired condition is in part indebted.

The Attorney General stated yesterday that the Department of Justice in its efforts to control all unlawful combinations in inter-state trade, would bring criminal charges under the Sherman law against responsible persons. The Attorney General gave this information in his testimony before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice. He then declared that as a result of the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases decisions, juries will now be disposed to convict and judges to impose sentences under the penal provisions of the law. Representative Beall of Texas had asked the Attorney General why there had been so few criminal convictions under the Sherman anti-trust law. The Attorney General answered that in the past juries had shown a reluctance to convict and the courts to impose prison sentences. He attributed this to the uncertainty as to the import of the law, now made clear by the Supreme Court decisions.

To be able to send a sealed letter for one cent will mean some thing to almost every man, woman and child in the country. To large business organizations which spend thousands of dollars yearly for postage stamps, it will mean a great saving, but it is not at all improbable that the goverment will make more through the one-cent postage and its effect in largely increasing correspondence than under the old system. Now, let us have the parcels post. Of course, there will be a swarm of lobbyists opposing it, headed by the Express companies and the railway companies and all who have stock in them, but 99 per cent. of the people of the United States, while they may not now know it or foresee it, will be greatly benefited by the parcels post.

There has been no little interest in an apparent fight within the democratic House majority, concerning the tariff on wool in the new bill which Mr. Underwood is expected to present early next week. Mr. Bryan has been in Washington and has tried to influence the Ways and Means Committee in favor of free wool. Mr. Underwood holds that a small tariff on wool is necessary for revenue. The contention was waxing warm and Mr. Bryan has been criticized for his interference. Mr. Underwood pointing out that when Bryan was in Congress he voted for the Wilson bill, which levied a tax on wool. It is expected that the Democratic caucus will approve the Underwood measure and that Mr. Bryan will as usual be defeated.

DEATHS

Rev. Warren C. Hubbard

The remains of the Rev. Warren C. Hubbard, who died at his home in Brooklyn on Wednesday, was brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mason in First street, this city, on Saturday. On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock a large concourse of members of the Masonic fraternity from this and other cities, and relatives and friends, gathered in Zion Episcopal church, where the father of the deceased was the first child to be baptised in the parish, to pay a last tribute of respect to his memory. Few men were ever better known to the Masonic fraternity in this State than the deceased, he having at the time of his death Grand bility and trust in many branches of the ancient and honorable order; being at the tmie of his death Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery of the State of New York, and Grand Lecturer of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York. Mr. Hubbard was also a thirty-third Degree Mason, having taken all the degrees possible to take, and having occupied all the chairs in the various branches of the order.

The deceased was a graduate of Falley Seminary and returned many times every year to the city of his nativity, where he was widel known and admired. He was modest and unassuming notwithstanding his vast knowledge. He was dignified in manner, accessible and communicative, yet superior to familiarity, by such means inspiring and preserving the love and respect of all who knew him. Feeble is the language of eulogium when applied to a character of sueh uncommon worth.

The beautiful Episcopal service was conducted in Zion church on Sun Richfield Springs, the church choir rendering appropriate selections. The floral tributes were magnificent and were from many points of the compass, perhaps the most magnificent piece ever in Fulton being sent by the Consistory of Rochester. Hiram Lodge, F. & A. M., attended the services in a body and they were accompanied by large delegations from Lake Ontario Commandry, Oswego, who also acted as an escort to the body; Syracuse Lodge, Knights Templar; Cyrene Consistory, Rochester, and others. The impressive Masonic ritual was invoked at the grave by Right Worshipful Master Charles Loomis of Phoenix, the ceremony being under the auspices of Hiram Lodge.

Prof. Schofield at the organ played the Dead March from Saul at the conclusion of the services in the church as the bearers, Messrs. G. G. Chauncey, G. S. Piper, L. C. Foster, E. A. Putnam, J. R. Fairgrieve and B. C. Brown, bore the casket to the vestibule of the church where friends looked for the last time upon the familiar features so pleasing always in life.

The procession formed and proceeded to Mt. Adnah where the body was laid to rest with others of his kin, the flower embanked grave receiving its charge as the ritual of the Mason order, which he so dearly loved, was invoked in the presence of a vast concourse.

The immediate survivors are two sisters, Mrs. S. H. Coombs and Miss Harriet Hubbard of Brooklyn; an aunt, Mrs. C. H. David of this city, and a neice, Mrs. A. H. Grant of Richfield Springs.

Brooklyn Eagle, June 1, 1911—"The Rev. Warren Calhoun Hubbard, who for thirty-five years has served as rector and assistant rector of various Episcopal churches in Brooklyn, and was prominent for the same length of time in Masonic circles in the state, died Thursday, June 1, of diabetes at his home, 144 Halsey street, Brooklyn. He had been an invalid for a long time Mr. Hubbard was born in Fulton, N. Y., in 1847, and was ordained to the priesthood at Seneca Falls in 1874. His first charge was at Holy Trinity church, Rochester. He attracted immediate attention by his pulpit eloquence and was called to various churches, but declined, until 1876, when he came to St. Paul's Episcopal church, on Clinton street, where he remained for thirteen years. He then returned to Rochester, where he served as rector for several churches, later becoming the assistant rector at St. Luke's Episcopal church for ten years from 1896, and at the time of his death was assistant to the Rev. Frank W. Norris of the Episcopal church of St. Matthew. Mr. Hubbard's Masonic career was notable. He was raised in Altair Lodge, F. and A. M., in 1882; twice served as its worshipful master, made a grand chaplain in 1892 and served for six years. He was made a Chapter Mason and a Knight Templar in Rochester. In the latter order he was chosen eminent commander of the State of New York in 1905, of which he was repeatedly chosen the grand prelate. He was also grand chaplain of the Grand Council of the Cryptic Rite. In the Aurora Grata bodies of the Scottish Rite in the Valley of Brooklyn he was prominent, and was a member of Kismet Temple, Mystic Shrine. In 1889 he received the thirty-third degree in Masonry, the highest honor obtainable in the order. He was, in 1907, elected grand lecturer for the Masonic fraternity, and was known and beloved throughout the State. He was a widower and leaves no children. Funeral services were held at St. Matthew's Episcopal church, McDonough street and Tompkins avenue, Brooklyn, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock."

Saturday night at her home in this city occurred the death of Mrs. Matthew Frawley, a long time and well known resident of the west side. The funeral services were held from the late home at 9 o'clock and from the Catholic church at 9:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Burial was made in St. Mary's. The immediate survivors are the husband, Matthew, of Fulton; four sons, Patrick and John of Fulton, Michael of Palermo and Daniel of Syracuse; and four daughters, Mrs. Bridget Scanlon of Granby, Mrs. Catherine Murphy of Schenectady, Mrs. Mary Nailos of Waterloo and Miss Mary Frawley of Fulton.

The death of William Guernsey occurred at the Lee Memorial hospital on Sunday following a severe operation. The body was removed to the family home at Bowens Corners from where the funeral services were held this Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Marshall, aged 49, died suddenly from heart failure at her home on the west side on Sunday. The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Two daughters, Addie and Cora, and one son, George, survives.

George Green, aged 26, died at his home in Hannibal on Tuesday. Mr. [illegible] Green of this city was a brother.

SOUGHT ONE, FOUND TEN, IMBECILES

Striking evidence of the prevalence of feeble-mindedness in this state was furnished in Broome County the other day. An imbecile had escaped from the county farm and a general alarm was sent out to town officials to be on the look-out for a strange feeble-minded man. As a result reports of strange feeble-minded men were received from all parts of the county. No less than ten cases were investigated. In each case, however, the imbecile reported was not the one wanted. The eleventh report resulted in the capture of the right person. It would be interesting to know how many of those ten feeble-minded men in Broome County are the fathers of children. Strength is given to the movement for the segregation of feeble-minded persons, by the situation so strikingly revealed in Broome County.

Still, after those Americans meet the queen, they are not at liberty to call upon her any time they happen to be in town.

SUPERSTITIONS OF CIRCUS FOLKS

The vagaries and superstitions of theatrical folk are almost traditional, and many of the stars in the histrionic firmament have a set of 'what to do' and 'what not to do' from which to vary would cause a constant dread of misfortune. The divine Sarah Bernhardt will never put her left foot on the floor first when arising in the morning. Oscar Hammerstein would have a fit if he caught anybody counting the number of people in his theatre. John Drew will never carry an umbrella in its case, while Anna Held will never sit on the bedside to put on her hosiery. James K. Hackett will never meet a stranger in his dressing room, and so it goes down the long list of theatrical people with whom the world is acquainted they all have their peculiarities. Nearly every one of them regard Friday and the '13th' as an off day, the unsolicited acquaintance of a black cat a good omen, and the figure "7" as an offset to the unlucky "13". The raising of an umbrella in a theatre is regarded as an irreconcilable omen to disagreeable fate, while the twisting of a chair will produce misfortune to the member of the family who unconsciously twists it. Every actor and actress has his or her set beliefs that are not shared by others, but there are many superstitions that are general among theatrical people, and all are acquainted with those cited above.

Circus folks have them, but they differ from those of theatrical folk, while some are in direct opposition to them. Recently, while discussing this interesting phase of circus life "Governor" Robinson of the Robinson Ten Big Shows which exhibits in Fulton, Friday, June 9 said:

"We don't care how many umbrella you raise in our tents, but we will not have any black cats around. They are bad luck, and the good ones are the black tigers in one of our cages. Whoever would believe that counting an audience would bring bad luck? Why wouldn't they say that counting tickets would do the same thing? Of course I believe that to allow a cross-eyed person to be first to enter the tents would bring bad luck as would permitting the holder of a complimentary ticket to be the frist one in. Both are sure hoodoo's.

There are lots of things that outsiders would consider superstitious when theyr'e not. For instance the John Robinson will never allow the parade to pass through a block on which is a death if it can be avoided. If the parade is compelled to pass a home with crepe on the door, the bands will never allow the parade to pass before or through a funeral cortege. No bad omens about these rules, but simply marks of respect. Only necessary work is permitted on Sunday, not a superstition, but a mark of respect for the Sabbath.

"What do I think is the greatest hoodoo in the circus business? Well, all have our own personal ideas, but one thing that no showman will ever do is use a black and white date. I mean the date of the show's exhibition printed on white paper in black ink. That will surely bring bad luck.

"Ever notice a bareback rider in the circus ring before mounting the horse. They would not think of jumping on the horse's back until they had patted the animal three times on the back. Watch the aerial people closely. They always cross their arms over their breasts before going up into the rigging. Watch the lion tamer and see him drop his handkerchief outside the steel arena before he enters for his performance. I don't know whether this is a superstition or a habit, but if it is a habit you willfind that every trainer has the habit. If it is superstition then they all think alike.

"I know a number of performers who always wear some little trinket to ward off bad luck. They imagine that they are safe from misfortune if they have them about them. May be they are, but I would never tell them they are not.

"I remember a little girl who appeared in a casting act with a family of aerialists. She always wore a tiger claw around her neck as a mascot. One afternoon she went out as usual to go through her performance, but left the little mascot in her dressing tent. She concluded her performance with a double somersault from the hands of one member of the family to the other, both having swing knee-holds from their bars. Before she darted from her lofty perch she felt for her mascot, but was soon swinging from the hands of her partner preparing for the 'double'. She made it all right, but missed the hands of the waiting member of the family. I never want to see another in a act.

"At her funeral the little mascot was placed around her neck, and let us hope it brought her luck in the end."

Forecasts of 1912 are premature, but it is safe to predict that the Standard Oil company will vote the Democratic ticket.

THE WEEK

Continued conservatism, combined with growing confidence appears in trade reports. The fact that one after another of perplexing uncertainties is passing and that crop prospects are increasingly favorable, creates the distinctly better business sentiment prevailing, although curtailment, readjustment of prices and moderate purchases in satisfaction of immediate wants still characterize the actual trade movement. In Europe, while commercial operations are generally active, the crop outlook is uncertain. In the United States reverse conditions prevail—trade is slow, but crop prospects are very good, and if this promise holds, the resulting agricultural prosperity should quicken the pace of business here to keep step with that abroad. The most active trade movement is at present in exportation to foreign lands and this constitutes a strong situation. The fact that in Canada business is moving briskly is also a good augury. Railroad gross earnings during three weeks of May were 0.5 per cent. better than last year, while important systems report large net gains, showing to what extent wholesome economies are practised. The announcement of a Great Northern-Burlington consolidation, with a $600,000,000 mortgage, is a gratifying proof of a willingness to undertake big things, and it has had a good effect on the securities market.

Price reductions are unsettling the iron and steel trade, but these are usually the precursors of better and more stable conditions. Not in many years has there been such curtailment of production as now exists in cotton manufactures, but the reports from the dry goods trade generally appear somewhat better. There has been a more active movement in copper, particularly for export. The big increase in cotton acreage is one of the best developments of the situation.

Significant developments in iron and steel are still confined to the matter of prices, and recent events in this respect have tended to accentuate the feeling of uncertainty. Announcement of reductions ranging from $1 to $4 per ton on various classes of finished products closely followed the lowering of quotations on steel bars, but this has appeared buying. Considerable activity, however, is noted in the structural division and total contracts placed in May are estimated at about 100,000 tons, altough some very low figures have been reported. Demand from the railroads for bridge and other construction made up less than half that aggregate, but the rail mills have secured additional orders for 20,000 tons of standard sections, and a contract for double that amount is pending. Export business is more satisfactory.

Cotton goods are holding the slightly higher values recently established and more business is passing. Curtailment has become drastic, probably more than representing the decreased volume of distribution and consumption and is due mainly to the disparity between the cost of production and selling prices. Dress goods trade is very quiet. Men's wear orders locally are of a hand to mouth character, but at eastern centers there is a better demand for quick shipment and some mills are pushed for delivery. Fall silk orders thus far are exceptionally light. Despite some adverse factors merchants in the dry goods trade manifest a larger measure of confidence in the future than they did a month ago. There is a good business in wool at Eastern centers, though trading is checked by the higher prices demanded, quotations being advanced all around in sympathy with the higher level for the new clip.

Improvement continues in footwear, but wholesalers display conservatism owing to the many styles offered. The leather market gradually improves, although the buying is still largely for current needs. Sole leather is well established at the recent advance of 1c., and owing to the increasing costs of hides, higher prices are talked of by tanners.

With the expiration of the May option wheat prices should now be governed more fully by legitimate influences. Urgent short covering advanced the price of that delivery at Chicago to nearly $1.05 per bushel, but the distant positions made little response. Crop advices continue to promise bountiful harvests. World's stocks are diminishing, although domestic visible supplies showed an increase for the first time since February.—Dun's Review, June 3.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

An odd case of "interference" came up recently in a game in the Southern league. Paul Sentell scored on a throw to the plate. He was safe and to spare, and as the ball came bounding in he "speared" it for a joke and tagged himself with it, thus preventing the catcher from taking the tardy throw. Umpire Carpenter called him out for interference which was technically correct.

QUAINT MARRIAGE NOTICE.

William Cullen Bryant Broke the News Gently to His Mother.

The following letter from William Cullen Bryant to his mother, quoted by Professor Chubb in "Stories of Authors," indicates that the author of "Thanatopsis" could enjoy his little joke on occasion:

"Dear Mother—I hasten to send you the melancholy intelligence of what has lately happened to me. Early on the evening of the eleventh day of the present month I was at a neighboring house in this village. Several people of both sexes were assembled in one of the apartments, and three or four others, with myself, were in another. At last came in a little elderly gentleman, pale, thin, with a solemn countenance, pleuritic voice, hooked nose and hollow eyes. It was not long before we were summoned to attend in the apartment where he and the rest of the company were gathered. We went in and took our seats. The little elderly gentleman with the hook nose prayed, and we all stood up. When he had finished most of us sat down. The gentleman with the hooked nose then muttered certain cabalistic expressions, which I was too much frightened to remember, but I recollect that at the conclusion I was given to understand that I was married to a young lady of the name of Frances Fairchild, whom I perceived standing by my side and whom I hope in the course of a few months to have the pleasure of introducing to you as your daughter-in-law, which is a matter of some interest to the poor girl, who has neither father nor mother in the world."

SHIELDED THE LADY.

A Tactful Head Waiter Balked an Offensive Hotel Guest.

To illustrate an incident that occurred in a hotel uptown the other night, where, if you are not known, you have to produce some sort of patent of absolute respectability, construct a rectangle, lettering the imaginary diagonal corners A, B, C and D:

A represents a solitary male person dining. B represents a comely person of the opposite sex seated at another table with a party. C represents a head waiter and D a group of the unemployed waiters. Let the line AB represent an admiring look that travels continuously. BA represents a look of annoyance. CA and CB are comprehending glances directed by the head waiter.

The point C moves toward D, making a triangle. After a whispered direction a figure which may be termed O, because it represents a particularly rotund waiter, moves from the point D until it reaches a point on the line AB. O moves back to position.

A finds that his ogle stops at O, which he cannot see through, and calls O to take an order. Thereupon C motions toward D, when another waiter, traveling on the line DA, effects a junction with A and goes off at a tangent. A cranes his neck, stretching to one side or the other, but it cannot get past O. The result is that A finally sees what is up, finishes his coffee in sheepish disgust and leaves the room.—New York Sun.

Getting the Exact Spot.

An emergency call from a policeman for a tape measure kept two women waiting in the dressmaker's parlor for five minutes. There were other tape measures there which the dressmaker might have used, but she was too busy pondering the circumstance that had suddenly converted her into an ally of the police department. Presently the policeman returned the tape.

"What did you want it for?" she asked.

"To help find the right place to shoot a horse with a broken leg," he said. "The vital spot is just three inches above that little swirl in his forehead where a dozen crowns seem to meet. I am not very good at guessing, so we thought it safest to find the exact spot with a tape measure."—New York Sun.

ROBINSON'S SHOW

The Western country has given up its most prized treasures to the John Robinson 10 Big Shows Combined to perfect the organization of the Wild West department of this gigantic organization which will be here on Friday, June 9. Ever since shows have been shows and tented aggregations have been the chosen caterers of amusements there has been a distinction between ring shows and the wild west shows. With customary progress and again as a criterion for the others Manager John Robinson has this season successfully cemented the two great American attractions. For the first time in history patrons of the John Robinson show will be permitted to enjoy the most diversified program that was ever arranged for their entertainment, by the presence of the the wild west and the unequaled circus performance under adjoining tents and to enjoy both of which there will be no change of seats nor any advance in the price of admission. So gigantic has been this undertaking that other show men have shuddered and made all kinds of predictions but they were wrong and Manager John Robinson was more than right for the inovation has not only been a success as an added department but has more than given satisfaction to the thousands of patrons who have enjoyed it.

The wild west show as given with the John Robinson show has all of the features that have made all other exhibitions of this nature popular. Both the old and the new western country will be seen as it used to be and as it now is. The struggles of the early settlers to the western eldorado and in doing which so many lost their lives will be truthfully portrayed. Many of the battles fought then will be fought over again for your entertainment. The Indians, cowboys, Mexicans, and soldiers will let you see how the war was waged on the frontier. The sports, pastimes, games, contests and vocations and in fact a day's life in the west of the present will be shown by the cowboys, cowgirls and western characters generally.

The John Robinson has with it over one hundred Indians, cowboys, cowgirls, scouts, plainsmen, pioneers and western characters and the performance they give is not only interesting but decidedly instructive as well as educating. Many of the Indians are chiefs who have made Indian history famous. They are the true Indians and not these who have lost their individuality in civilization. One of the appreciated features is the Indian settlement where the Indian and his family may be seen as he truly is in all of his grandness and just as Remington has so often pictured him. In the settlement will be seen the Indian and his squaws, his cute little papooses and modes of warfare and house-life if such can be designated to these tent dwellers.

In the wild west arena he is seen in buffalo hunts, battle, as a trapper and woods man. Little can be learned of the Indian from the tales of fiction for he must be seen to be fully understood. It is doubtful if a better opportunity was ever afforded than with the John Robinson show for there has been nothing left undone nor overlooked in order to truthfully show Indian life and customs. It would not be out of place to say here that the wild west show is but one of the many departments with the John Robinson show and it is part of the one great program and to see which there is no extra charge for it is given in connection with the other departments and one ticket admits the holder to every department of this big show.

A Philadelphia physician says that everybody ought to practice daily the healthful exercise of yawning. If so everybody ought to read the Congressional Record, daily.

A Famous Paris Sign.

Paris is a city of curious signboards, one of the most remarkable ones representing a tobacconist's sign at 55 Rue du Chateau-d'Eau, which has been here ever since 1870. It is riddled with holes made by the bullets of the Prussians, and the occupant of the shop states that so far as he is aware it is the only public relic of the Franco-Prussian war in evidence in the streets of Paris today.

"My sign," he added, "brings me plenty of customers. You have no idea, monsieur, of the number of English and American tourists who pass this way and drop into my place for a cigar or a box of matches merely in order to have a word with me about my bullet riddled enseigne. I wouldn't part with it for anything."—Wide World Magazine.

INSINCERITY IS THE NEW WORD

Latest Coinage In Democratic Vocabulary.

ITS LATEST APPLICATION.

Democrats Have Been Promising "Direct Nominations" and "Commission Plan of Government For Cities" If Given Control of the State Administration and Legislature—Now That They Have Both They Are Trying to Sidestep on Promises.

Albany, June 6.—"Insincerity" is another word to be added to the vocabulary of the Democratic leader and legislator. Insincerity used to be the unpardonable attribute in a politician, but today it seems to be the cardinal trait in the makeup of the average Democratic legislator and political leader.

A great hue and cry has been raised by the Democratic press for several years about the desirability of "direct nominations," and those in charge of the legislature were decried and abused because they did not accede at once to this western innovation. In their platform last fall the Democrats promised the direct primary advocates that if Governor Dix and a Democratic legislature were elected a direct primary law would be the first to be placed upon the statute books. To be sure, they forgot to mention that the Tammany legislators were the most rabid opponents of direct nominations at Albany, but let that pass.

Five months have elapsed since the Democrats took charge. Is a direct primary law upon the statute books? Not that anybody can see. It is whispered about legislative halls that a direct nominations bill will be passed which will preserve the party conventions, but that is to be coupled with a provision for personal enrollment and personal registration in the rural districts and the threat that if the rural Democrats do not accept that and also agree that the Tammany state superintendent of elections shall send scores of his deputies up state to boss the elections at a large added expense to the taxpayers there will be no direct nominations legislation whatever enacted at the session of 1911.

Juggling the "Commission Plan."

"Commission plan of government for cities" is another western innovation for which the Democrats have been shouting—when out of power. Senator Burd, a Democratic insurgent from Buffalo, early in the session introduced a bill to give such a form of city government to Buffalo, but he has only just succeeded in having it reported from cities committee and has not been able to get it on the calendar for debate or passage.

The reason for this delay is said to be that William H. Fitzpatrick, Mr. Murphy's Erie county lieutenant, and his men in Buffalo have been encouraging the commission plan advocates publicly and even helped to elect a Democratic legislative delegation from Erie county pledged to support such legislation. Secretly they have tipped the word to Murphy that they really want none of the commission plan, and the Tammany leaders at Albany have been instructed to throttle the Burd bill.

MUCH CRY, LITTLE WOOL.

Taxpayers' Money Wasted In Effort to Remove $1,200 a Year Official in Niagara County.

Albany, June 6.—Democratic state leaders and legislators are moving heaven and earth in an effort to oust Commissioner of Jurors Berdell of Niagara county, a Republican official appointed by the board of supervisors of Niagara county and indorsed by the supreme court judges and the bar of the county.

This little matter has employed more or less of the time of the legislature since February and has cost the taxpayers of the state no inconsiderable amount. First a bill was put in to abolish the office. This aroused a storm of nonpartisan opposition from the locality. This did not worry the backers of the bill, which includes Deputy State Treasurer George W. Batten, Democratic state committeeman for the Niagara-Orleans district, but it was discovered that the general law would permit the board of supervisors to recreate the position. Then that bill was withdrawn and another substituted to amend the general law. This interfered with other counties, and their legislators put up a protest. After being reported from committee this was dropped and another put which provided that counties with a population less than 90,000 should not have a commissioner of jurors. This was discovered to conflict with other laws, and last week still another bill was put in providing that boards of supervisors may create the position "except where it has been expressly abolished by statute." This is clearly intended to affect Niagara county only.

All these bills have to be printed, referred to committees, where hearings are held, and reported to the legislature, where debate is had. Surely it is costing the taxpayers of the state a pretty penny to get rid of a $1,200 official in Niagara county, to say nothing of the violation of the sacred Democratic principle of "home rule."

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Phillips ar eat Old Forge where they will spend some time in quest of health.

The heavy rain fall on Sunday night and Monday brought a much-ly needed soaking to the parched ground and will assist vegetation greatly. If the downpour had been divided into more time and less weight it might have done more good, but the decision did not rest with the gardeners.

A temperature drop of over 20 degrees from Sunday night to Monday morning brought furnace fires into vogue again on Monday. It would appear that residents of this clime this season must either be binding ice upon their heads or shovelling coal into their furnaces all the time. Which do you prefer?

Miss Mary Phillips has accepted a position as instructor in English in the High school department of the State Normal school at Geneseo. This is one of the very best positions to be procured in the State and was one of the many excellent ones tendered Miss Phillips during the past school year. BENEFIT OF FARMERS

Congressman L. W. Mott Will Be Pleased to Send Bulletins and Valuable Statistical Matter to Constituents Who Will Address Him at Washington.

Congressman Mott has been particularly interested since going to Congress, in the work which is being done for the farmers of the country. Many farmers are not aware of the great amount of work which is being done for their benefit. Investigations of various sorts are carried on by the best experts in the country for the benefit of the farmers and the results of these investigations are published by the government and used for the benefit of those who will study them. These reports and bulletins are not the technical ones, which cannot be understood by the average man, but are written in plain, common sense English, so that all may comprehend.

Congressman Mott has secured a large number of these bulletins for the use of his constituents and would be very glad to send any on application to him at Washington. There is no charge, but if actual benefit is gained, the Congressman would be glad to hear from those who receive the literature. A list of the bulletins will be sent free to any resident of the District from which to make selections. Because of the limited supply, applicants are urged to select only the bulletins of special interest to them. In asking for them it is necessary to give the numbers only.

A BRAVE RESCUE

The friends of Allen V. Madden of this village believe that Frederick A. Miller of Cayuga street is deserving of a Carnegie medal for his brave rescue of young Madden in an unconscious condition from a perilous situation at Fulton a few days ago.

Madden, who is employed by the Seneca River Power Company of this place, was painting a large vat nine feet below the floor of the electric power station at Fulton when he was overcome by paint fumes. He was unconscious for nearly an hour before being discovered. Miller, with a rope tied about him, was lowered into the vat and brought the unconscious form of Madden out, being himself overcome by fumes just as he reached the surface where he was caught by the men above. Madden was taken to the Fulton hospital and revived after hours' of skillful work by Drs. Hall and Fox of Fulton. Miller regained consciousness in a few minutes after being taken out into the fresh air.—Baldwinsville Gazette.

There are times when Senator La-Follette is tempted to suspect that something like a joker can make its way even into a Supreme Court decision.

Possibly those city councilmen in Kansas who stayed away from a meeting called by the lady mayor were merely bashful.

TIMES POSITION APPROVED

Editor Times: I read with much interest your editorial in last week's Times, "Patronize home organizations." It was a just and timely criticism of the fashion of going out of town to obtain music for our High school entertainments while we have a most excellent orchestra and composed largely of patrons of our schools. You well say "that instead of the treatment which they merit every excuse is taken to bring a foreign orchestra into Fulton at an exhorbitant price to provide music for occasions", your readers generally will fully agree with you that the point was well taken in calling attention to this unfair and unnecessary treatment of our home orchestra. The Times is to be commended for its timely warning.

SEARCHLIGHT RAYS.

The Effect When the Beams Penetrate a Foggy Atmosphere.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the beam of a searchlight and knows why the beam is visible, while light itself cannot be seen unless it strikes the eye, its visibility being due to particles in the air which really do reflect the light to the eye. On a foggy night, if one will notice, the beam seems to come abruptly to an end if the light is pointed upward. It does this instead of gradually fading away into nothing, as it does pointed horizontally on a uniformly foggy night.

The thing is rather puzzling to one first seeing it, but the reason is not far to seek. Where the end of the beam seems to be there is the place the fog ends, for the beam cannot be visible to us unless there are small particles in its path. This is of great help to sailors in judging of the state of the weather, for they can tell exactly how thick the frog is, or, rather, how deep it is. They can also tell by throwing the light horizontally whether the fog is universal or occurring only in patches, for if extending to a great distance the beam gradually gets dimmer and dimmer, but if in patches the beam is lighter in patches, and if it goes through a place with no fog at all that part of the beam is black or invisible. —New York Tribune.

RAILWAYS AND DOGS.

Alike in One Respect in Sardinia, That Both Are Perils.

Sardinia is an island of many perils. One of them, we gather from the experience of Mr. Crawford Fitch, the author of "Mediterranean Moods," is the railways. "The engine," he says, "is continually making frantic dashes for the scenery. On the line to Torteli I made four journeys and had three accidents. On one occasion, after a car had been wrecked, the various employees gathered round the wreckage and spent the remainder of a sultry afternoon in bitterly disputing the proper apportionment of blame for the accident. As it was impossible to proceed that evening I spent the night at the railway station and enjoyed a comfort that I found nowhere else in the island."

Another peril is the dogs, who do not hesitate to attack a stranger, even when he is walking peacefully upon the highroad. "The breed is particularly ferocious, and it is said that the peasants have a way of stimulating their ferocity by tying a bladder filled with blood to the neck of a dummy man and encouraging the animal to spring at the neck and tear open the bladder."

FRIGHTFUL TROLLEY ACCIDENT

Passenger Trolley Collides at Baldwinsville With Work Train on Wednesday Afternoon — Thirty-seven Injured—Miss May Gardner, Mr. E. R. Redhead and Foreigner of Fulton Suffered Worst Injuries — Carelessness of One Train Crew Probable Cause for Accident.

The communities of Phoenix, and Fulton were inexpressibly shocked on Wednesday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock when telephone messages brought news of a head-on collision between the passenger trolley leaving Syracuse at 4:35 o'clock, at the curve by the Snell butter factory at Baldwinsville, with a work train loaded with brick and stone and that every passenger had been injured. The first report reaching Fulton was that Miss May Gardner and Mr. E. R. Redhead were instantly killed.

The S. L. S. & N., trolley company had been double tracking the roadway between Syracuse and Baldwinsville and all day signals had notified the passenger train crews whether or not the track was clear. At the time of the accident there are conflicting reports as to whether the signals were set or not and whether the motorman on the passenger trolley passed the signals without heeding them. The passenger car was running at the rate of over 35 miles an hour and the moving and the stationary objects came together with terrific force. Every seat in the passenger car was torn from its fastenings and the passengers were tossed about like so many straws. The motorman, as his car rounded the curve, saw the work car standing on the track and he jumped from the platform into the car, shouting the danger to the passengers. Had he remained at his post he must have been instantly killed.

It was but an instant after the obstacle was discovered before the terrific impact took place and the injured, conscious and unconscious, were in a heap, bleeding and with broken bones and many cuts and bruises.

Those on the car who were more or less painfully hurt were:

Miss Alice M. Gardner, Fulton taken to Fulton hospital, skull fractured, cut about head and face.

Tony Pontono, Fulton, head injury At Fulton City hospital.

E. R. Redhead, paper manufacturer, collar bone and one rib fractured.

O. M. Reilly, Phoenix, attorney, leg hurt, face cut and numerous bruises.

William R. Sullivan, Baldwinsville, attorney, head bruised, left side, elbow and leg bruised.

Charles O'Brien, Baldwinsville, law student Syracuse university, side injured.

William H. O'Brien, Baldwinsville, canal superintendent, teeth loosened and face bruised.

Ralph Quackenbush, Freezee Milling company, Baldwinsville, legs cut.

Charles Holmes, Baldwinsville, bartender, nose, face and wrist cut.

John Westfall, bartender, Baldwinsville, body bruised.

Mrs. Nellie Schenck, wife of William Schenck of Plainville, face cut, ribs and legs bruised.

Mrs. Edward Turner, Plainville, sister-in-law of Mrs. Schenck, shoulder and back bruised.

Mrs. Charles Travor, Baldwinsville, shoulder, left side and right leg bruised.

Mrs. William Mackey, Baldwinsville, wrist and face bruised.

F. C. Cook, Fulton, bruised.

Miss Kate Fox, Phoenix, bruised and suffering from shock.

Harvey Hewitt, Fulton, bruised.

Walter A. Bliss, Baldwinsville, assessor, one rib broken, head bruised, leg injured.

Miss Mary Wells, nurse, No. 211 Worth street, Fulton, bruised.

Edward Pontono, Fulton, face cut and bruised.

William Davis, Baldwinsville, teeth loosened and face hurt.

J. E. Bicknell, Fulton, extra motorman, head injured, cut over eye.

Henry Oberlander, Empire State hotel, Baldwinsville, bruised.

Rufus Northrup, Baldwinsville, former keeper of County home, shoulder injured.

Ruth Sennett, Baldwinsville, schoolgirl, aged 9, suffering from shock.

Mrs. Edward Madden, Baldwinsville, bruises on left side.

G. W. Fulver, Baldwinsville Electris Light company, slightly injured.

William Talmage, farmer south of Baldwinsville, lower teeth loosened, face and mouth cut.

Newton Smith, Baldwinsville, leg injure.

John Charles Miller, Syracuse, electrical goods dealer, ankle hurt.

Conductor R. K. Sawyer, Syracuse, bruised and shaken up.

Motorman William Dewey, Syracuse, bruised, shaken up and suffering from shock.

John Thomas, East Syracuse, side and leg bruised.

Miss Katherine Fox, Phoenix, business college student, bruised and suffering from shock.

Miss Florence Johnson and Miss RoseT ilden, both of Fulton, badly shaken up and bruised.

Miss Marie Wallace, West Fourth street, bruised and suffering from concussion of brain.

Physicians from Baldwinsville rushed to the wreck and rendered all possible aid to the injured, many who were able being taken in automobiles to nearby houses to await transportation facility to their towns. Dr. L .F.J oy of this city was called by one of the passengers to attend Miss Gardner who was bleeding profusely from ears and mouth and who was thought to be dying. The trolley leaving Fulton at five o'clock was pressed into service to make the trip to Fulton with the injured and it was after seven o'clock before this city was reached. In the meanwhile the trolley station had been besieged with people who expected friends to be on the wrecked car. The ambulance met the car at Broadway and Miss Gardner was removed to the Lee Memorial hospital where Dr. Gladman cared for her injuries, calling Dr. Jacobson later in the evening in consultation over her grave condition.

Mr. E. R. Redhead was rendered unconscious by the collision but had revived sufficiently before reaching Fulton to walk to his home, calling Spartan determination into action to climb the hill with his collar bone and several ribs fractured and the muscles throughout the shoulder and upper portion of the trunk, torn and bruised. Dr. H. M.D oane was called to care for Mr. Redhead's injuries and she called Dr. Jacobson in consultation in the case on Friday to confirm her diagnosis.

Tony Pontono was carried to the Lee Memorial hospital and Dr. H. P. Marsh called to attend his severe injuries. Later Tony was removed to the home of his brother on the west side. His injuries are not as severe as was at first feared.

With the exception of Miss Gardner and Mr. Redhead, the other Fultonians injured are progressing nicely toward recovery. Several of them will carry scars through life to remind them of their proximity to eternity at this time. All are suffering from shock and fright.

At this time it is impossible to say positively whether or not Miss Gardner will recover. She has regained partial consciousness at intervals and has recognized friends although she believes herself to be in Boston, from where she returned a few days prior to the accident. Her wounds and bruises are healing nicely but effects of the fractured skull and concussion of the brain, as well as the awful shock, are causing her physicians and friends the keenest anxiety.

Mr. Redhead's injuries are more serious than even he knew until the effects of the shock commenced to wear off. He suffers a great deal from difficulty in breathing, from shock and bruises. It will be a long time before he will be able to resume business duties again although his ultimate and complete recovery is expected.

The trolley company have been busily engaged in trying to ascertain the cause for the accident although they have given nothing for publication as yet. It is the first accident of any magnitude experienced by the company since opening the road between this city and Syracuse.

KILLED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Payton C. Halsey, a Richland farmer, aged about 60 years, while crawling through a fence at his farm to shoot crows, caught the trigger of his gun on the fence and discharged the weapon, his hand being blown to pieces by the shot and a hole as large as a silver dollar being torn in his chest. The shot also perforated a lung. Death followed the accident within a few hours. Mr. Halsey was one of the best known and most highly respected residents of that section of the county.

FULTON VISITED BY SEVERE STORMS

Rain, Hail, Thunder, Lightening and Wind Do Much Damage in This Vicinity—Man Killed at Hannibal—Rain Enough for Now.

The extreme heat of Saturday was broken on Saturday night by one of the most severe electrical storms ever witnessed in this vicinity. A high wind prevailed and the rain fell in torrents while for hours the heavens were brilliant with electrical display and the thunder was continuous. The storm finally passed over but the temperature was not materially lowered by it.

During the height of the storm lightening struck the house of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Foster, 906 Fay street, passing through their pantry and kitchen. Every clock in the house was stopped, the dishes were thrown from the pantry sheives, window frames and panes were shattered, but the house did not catch fire nor were the occupants more than shocked. A house on Schuyler street belonging to Teller C. S. Hall of the First National bank and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Day was struck by lightening and damaged to the extent of $200. The family was not at home at the time. Fortunately the building did not catch fire.

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock a more violent storm than the first passed over this city. Hail fell and the wind blew a gale. A bolt entered the O. & W., station damaging the switch board and causing the employes ceaseless work to prevent the sparks from igniting the woodwork. It caught in several places but the flames were subdued promptly.

Bernard Halstead, twenty-three years old, a resident of the town of Hannibal, was struck by lightening and instantly killed at seven o'clock last night. He and his wife had been living with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curtis, near Fairdale for the last few weeks. They were all together in the living room during the electric and rainstorm, when young Halstead recalled that the windows in the barn were not closed and despite the protests of the others, he went out to care for them.

A moment after he left there was a crash and the family in panic started to rush from the house, believing that it was struck. As Mr. Curtis opened the front door he almost stumbled over his son-in-law's body. Coroner Vowinkel, who viewed the remains said that the young man died instantly. His neck and right cheek were burned. There was nothing to show that the bolt had struck anything else, but in the rear of the house a couple of clapboards were torn off.

Mr. Halstead had been married two years and leased a farm near the Curtis place. He was a son of Phineas C. Halstead, of Fulton, who, with his wife and one sister, Sarah Halstead, of Fulton, survives.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON CITY BILL

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Fulton, N. Y., will meet at the Common Council rooms in the City Hall at 8 o'clock, p. m., on Saturday, June 17, 1911, and will afford an opportunity at such time and place for a public hearing on Assembly bill No. 1213, entitled, "An act making an appropriation for a portion of the cost of a bridge to be constructed by the City of Fulton over the Oswego river and barge canal, at such city, and regulating such construction."

Dated June 13, 1911.

JOSEPH H. CONNERS, Mayor.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

DEATHS

The remains of Julius Dominick, who died on Thursday morning in Rome, were brought to this city on Friday for burial in Mt. Adnah. Three sisters and four brothers survive.

The death of Mrs. Jane Bailey, aged 86, a well known resident of Fulton, occurred on Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Butler in Third street, after a were held from the late home on long illness. The funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. G. W. Weilburn officiating. Burial was made in the family lot in Mt. Adnah.

BOY KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Dr. Edward LaPorte In a Serious Accident

Gloversville, June 11. — John T., the four-year old son of Clarence A. Willy of Binghamton, was struck and instantly killed by an automobile owned and driven by Dr. E. E. LaPorte of Amsterdam, on the highway leading from Amsterdam to Broadalbin, this afternoon.

Mr. Willy is a contractor engaged on the construction work of the Gloversville sewage disposal plant. He was engaged in making some repairs to his car, and in attempting to pass the disabled car the machine driven by Dr. Laporte struck the little fellow and the car passed over his body. Death was instantaneous.

Dr. Finch of Broadalbin decided that the boy's death was purely accidental, after examining several witnesses.

Dr. Edward LaPorte is a son of Mrs. Olive Laporte of this city.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The annual meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held with Miss Alice Schenck on Monday, June 12.

We were delighted that our Regent, Mrs. Bacon could be with us, also Mrs. Eggleston. The yearly reports were given. A communication from the Columbus, Ohio, Chapter was read requesting our chapter to take action against the use of fire arms and explosices in the celebration of the Fourth of July. We are glad to put ourselves on record as favoring this action.

The following officers were duly elected: Regent, Miss Elizabeth J. Osgood; vice regent, Mrs. Anna H. Harvie; second regent, Mrs. Fannie A. Goodjon; recording secretary, Mrs. Charlotte Foster; corresponding secretary, Miss aJne F. Osgood; treasurer, Mrs. Bertha S. Hinsdale; registrar, Miss Lois Schenck; historian, Miss Alice A. Schenck; chaplain, Mrs. Lena V. Sears.

MEETING WITH SPLENDID ENCOURAGEMENT

Mr. M. A. Stranahan, Fulton's candidate for sheriff on the Republican ticket, is meeting with splendid success in his canvas of the towns and wards in Oswego county. From every town he visits come strong endorsements of approval of his manner of campaigning and of his evident fitness for the office.

Strong, too, is the sentiment throughotu the county of the rightousness of Fulton's claim upon the office this year. We have been off the political map, so to speak, for so many years that even the remoter towns feel that we are entitled to this recognition and to theo ffice we seek for a Fulton citizen and Republican.

In Fulton every ward is loyally desirous of aiding in the good work and it is a safe bet that every ward will send delegates to the county convention instructed for Mr. Stranahan for sheriff and Attorney George M. Fanning for District Attorney.

KILLED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Payton C. Halsey, a Richland farmer, aged about 50 years, while crawling through a fence at his farm to shoot crows, caught the trigger of his gun on the fence and discharged the weapon, his hand being blown to pieces by the shot and a hole as large as a silver dollar being torn in his chest. The shot also perforated a lung. Death followed the accident within a few hours. Mr. Halsey was one of the best known and most highly respected residents of that section of the county.

FULTON VISITED BY SEVERE STORMS

Rain, Hail, Thunder, Lightening and Wind Do Much Damage in This Vicinity—Man Killed at Hannibal—Rain Enough for Now.

The extreme heat of Saturday was broken on Saturday night by one of the most severe electrical storms ever witnessed in this vicinity. A high wind prevailed and the rain fell in torrents while for hours the heavens were brilliant with electrical display and the thunder was continuous. The storm finally passed over but the temperature was not materially lowered by it.

During the height of the storm lightening struck the house of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Foster, 906 Fay street, passing through their pantry and kitchen. Every clock in the house was stopped, the dishes were thrown from the pantry shelves, window frames and panes were shattered, but the house did not catch fire nor were the occupants more than shocked. A house on Schuyler street belonging to Teller C. S. Hall of the First National bank and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Day was struck by lightening and damaged to the extent of $200. The family was not at home at the time. Fortunately the building did not catch fire.

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock a more violent storm than the first passed over this city. Hail fell and the wind blew a gale. A bolt entered the O. & W., station damaging the switch board and causing the employes ceaseless work to prevent the sparks from igniting the woodwork. It caught in several places but the flames were subdued promptly.

Bernard Halstead, twenty-three years old, a resident of the town of Hannibal, was struck by lightening and instantly killed at seven o'clock last night. He and his wife had been living with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curtis, near Fairdale for the last few weeks. They were all together in the living room during the electric and rainstorm, when young Halstead recalled that the windows in the barn were not closed and despite the protests of the others, he went out to care for them.

A moment after he left there was a crash and the family in panic started to rush from the house, believing that it was struck. As Mr. Curtis opened the front door he almost stumbled over his son-in-law's body. Coroner Vowinkel, who viewed the remains said that the young man died instantly. His neck and right cheek were burned. There was nothing to show that the bolt had struck anything else, but in the rear of the house a couple of clapboards were torn off.

Mr. Halstead had been married two years and lived on a farm near the Curtis place. He was a son of Phineas C. Halstead, of Fulton, who, with his wife and one sister, Sarah Halstead, of Fulton, survives.

MACNAMARA'S

THE WEEK

Such change as has taken place in business is for the better. The advance in confidence is slow, and the growth in activity even slower, but both are advancing and growing. Reports from different sections and trades display much irregularity; at cities close to the great agricultural regions there are signs of the encouraging effects of the excellent crop prospects. The Governmental crop report this week, in spite of the injury done to winter wheat by the recent drought, holds forth the largest prospects of a combined winter and spring wheat yield far in excess of last year. The report on the whole was very favorable, especially as there has been rain since its results were completed. Interest in the growing crops is taking place of anxieties over the long pending economic controversies, and the possibility of a record-breaking wheat crop begins to arouse enthusiasm in quarters where that stimulus has been badly needed. Bank clearings this week at cities outside New York shows a gain over the past two years, and increases being 9.6 and 15.3 per cent., respectively, at New York the losses are 5.5 and 6.9 per cent., respectively. Railroad earnings during four weeks of May were only 0.1 per cent. under last year, while leading systems report gains in net earnings—the result of more economical management. The iron and steel trade has experienced only a very moderate increase in demand as a result of the recent cuts in prices, and further curtailment of production is taking place in pig iron. Agricultural demand, as might be expected, has somewhat improved. Curtailment in cotton goods production also continues, but there is a growing feeling that the industry has about reached the end of its long lane of depression and that improvement may soon be expected. From three large northwestern cities come reports of a much more active distribution of dry goods. Even in woolens, which are between seasons and which are held back by tariff discussion, a more hopeful feeling is indicated. Leather is stronger and domestic hides make for higher prices. The increasing balance of trade in favor of this country, with the large American credits abroad, continues to attract attention and causes talk of possible gold imports, although there is an ample supply of money now in this country for present business requirements. Foreign commerce at New York during the latest week amounted to $30,736,123, as compared with $30,326,296 in 1910 and $24,602,160 in 1909; the imports were $18,224,826 and showed up larger than in the recent past as compared with former years.

The improvement in demand following the recent cut in steel prices, is not general. The activity in bars is in response to larger buying by agricultural implement makers and rail orders are coming in more freely. New business in rails includes two purchases of about 25,000 tons each, and important inquiries are in the market, notably that of the Harriman system for 40,000 tons. In pig iron it is estimated that production is now close to if not under consumptive requirements.

Without sign of price weakness the cotton goods markets are quieter, with jobbers still disinclined to anticipate in any active way. The converting and manufacturing trades have covered some part of their future requirements, but curtailment of the output is increasing, the feeling at the mills being that the worst has been seen and that when demand revives it quickly become active. In woolens and worsteds the attention of the trade is focussed on the tariff discussion at Washington and trade is very slow. At eastern centers leading factors are buying with greater freedom, shipments of wool showing a sharp increase, and at the West competition for the new clip continues keen.

The movement in footwear is fair, but not up to expectations, wholesalers buying conservativley until they are more certain regarding styles. The leather markets are stronger, tanners insisting upon an additional 1c. increase in sole

A rather marked deterioration occurred in the condition of winter wheat last month, but spring wheat on the other hand, has a decidedly high average and the official report placed the acreage above all previous records. The two crops combined promise a bountiful yield. World's supplies largely exceed last year's, and latest offerings by surplus nations were in excess of 16,500,000 bushels. Western receipts again surpassed those in 1910, 2,898,962 bushels comparing with 1,885,604 while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 1,548,839 bushels against 491,084 in the earlier period. Corn moved in sympathy with wheat, fluctuations being irregular. Arrivals of 6,129,973 bushels at primary points compared with 4,080,053 a year ago, and Atlantic coast shipments of 475,399 bushels were larger than the 147,210 sent abroad in 1910. Another bullish government weather report sent the distant cotton options into new high ground, but a sharp reaction occurred later.—Dun's Review, Saturday, June 9, 1911.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

HAS COMMENCED WORK

Albany, June 12.—Ex-Deputy Attorney-General Charles N. Bulger, who will investigate matters relating to the Health Officer of the port of New York, as Governor Dix's special commissioner, was at the Executive Chamber today. He said he would begin the work of investigation Tuesday and that his headquarters in New York city would be at the Knickerbocker Hotel.

It is also said that his chief examiner will be from the metropolis, a man who is thoroughly conversant with the affairs of the office that he is going to inquire into.

Many requests from Catarrh sufferers who use atomizers have caused us to put up Liquid Cream Balm, a new and convenient form of Ely's Cream Balm, the only remedy for Catarrh which can always be depended on. In power to allay inflammation, to cleanse the clogged air-passages, to promote free, natural breathing, the two forms of Cream Balm are alike. Liquid Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 75 cents, including spraying tube. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

There is still a lot of room at the top of the strawberry boxes for the good strawberries this season.

VOLNEY

Miss Elizabeth Collins spent the week with friends in Syracuse.

Messrs. Roscoe and Louis Cornell spent Tuesday at their Scriba home, attending the wedding of their sister, Ethel Cornell.

The Ladies Aid held at the home of Mr. J. B. Atwater, was one of the most successful Aids of the season.

Children's Day service was postponed until June 18.

Mrs. Atwood and daughter, Mrs. Storms, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rowe.

Miss Wilson was the over-Sunday guest of Miss Laura Greene.

Mrs. H. Collins and sister, Mrs. Sayles, spent a few days with friends in Pennellville.

Mrs. H. Mace spent Thursday with friends at North Volney.

Mrs. Margaret Vant closed a very successful term of school Friday. The school gave the play "Country School" at the Town Hall Wednesday evening, each part was well taken and showed tact and perseverence on the part of the teacher, also talent in the school. The large attendance proved the appreciation on the part of the people.

The Volney farmers are not asking for any more electrical storms.

RECRUITING STATION IN OSWEGO

A Navy Recruiting Station will be opened in Oswego, N. Y., from June 14th to 24th, 1911, in the Post office building.

Applicants for enlistment as machinist, boiler-makers, copper-smiths, firemen, coalpassers, apprentice seamen and men for the hospital and clerical branches will be examined for the service.

All recruits on first enlistment will be furnished a sixty dollar out fit of clothing, transportation expenses will be paid by the government after being accepted.

Booklets and circulars regarding the naval service will be given to all who will call or write to the Recruiting Station.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Glie, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged "property described in said mortgage substantially as follows:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

PAYING IN STOCK

Albany, June 7. — The Butler Pharmacy, Inc., of Oswego, has certified to the Secretary of State that one half of its capital stock, had been paid in. The directors include F. A. Wiley and C. W. Butler.

A "school of smiling" for girls has been opened in Boston. But is it needed during the season of ice cream and weddings?

WOMEN HELPED

By Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for Kidneys and Liver.

Disorders of women are the result of general bodily weakness. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a strength builder and for women it has proved of great value. Thousands testify to this. A sick woman almost always has kidney trouble, which causes pain in the back, headache, nervousness and other distressing symptoms. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helps the Kidneys and Liver to act properly, purifies the blood and gently moves the bowels, striking at the cause of Kidney, Liver, Blood and Bladder troubles.

For over 30 years it has enjoyed steady and merited success, for it is an honest remedy and has stood the test of time. Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. Y. for a free sample bottle and valuable medical booklet. Large bottles $1.00 at all Druggists.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1911.

Representative Lewis of Maryland has introduced a bill to merge the express companies of the United States into the postoffice system with the object of reducing the rate over one-half on small parcels and about one-third generally, and to extend the system to the country districts by help of the rural delivery, which he proposes to extend further. Mr. Lewis says, "There are two main reasons why postal express is necessary: first, the express company service does not reach the country and the farms, and second, the contracts of the express companies give them an average rate of three-fourths of a cent per pound on parcels with the railways, while the government is paying the railways four cents a pound for carrying mail. In order to get this comparatively cheap transportation rate for the carriage of parcels, I propose that the express companies' contracts with the railways be acquired by condemnation, on the doctrine of the right of eminent domain, and that bonds be issued by the government to raise the necessary funds." Mr. Lewis fully explained his plan in an address in the House. He showed that the charge for carrying express packages in the United States is sixteen times as much as for carrying freight, while the average in other countries is only five times as much. He said that the express companies were making 50 per cent. profit on capital actually invested.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire will make another effort to have the Rockefeller Fountain of over one hundred millions of dollars incorporated under a government charter, and a bill has been introduced in the Senate by him for that purpose. The incorporators named are John D. Rockefeller, John D Rockefeller, Jr., F. T. Bates, S. J. Murphy and C. O. Heidt. It will be remembered that about a year ago Mr. Rockefeller made an effort to donate this immense sum for charitable education, and other beneficent purposes, but that there was objection by someone in the Senate that such an immense sum of money might in time be used for purposes subversive to the government. Senator Gallinger is of the opinion that the language of the new bill, which reposes in Congress the right to amend the charter at any time, will avoid the objections formerly urged.

The great sums of money donated by Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Carnegie and other multi-millionares marks an epoch in the history of donations. There is nothing in former times to compare with them, either in munificence or in intelligent beneficence.

The Democratic woolen tariff bill which has been so bitterly opposed by Mr. Bryan, who is in favor of free wool, is now under debate in the House of Representatives. Victor Murdock, knowing the worsted trust, surgent, spoke against it on the ground that it afforded protection to the so-called "worsted trust." He especially attacked the 40 per cent. duty on wool cloths which the bill contains, urging that it afforded protection to the monopoly that controls the worsted output. "I cannot see how any man here," said Mr. Murdock, "knowing teh worsted trust, knowing its gross and cruel brutality in the fabric field, can back it up while it continues to twist its long tangling fingers around the throat of the American consumer. I cannot see for the life of me how any man in the American Congress can aid the worsted trust by putting a tariff on worsted, either as a frankly avowed measure of protection, or under the pretense of a tariff for revenue.

The friends of reciprocity with Canada it now appears are in the majority in the United States Senate. The Senate Committee on Finance reported on the Canadian reciprocity on Tuesday. The bill contained the Root amendment relating to print paper and wood pulp. Othre amendments offered by Senators Nelson and Gallinger relating to the duties on foreign products were voted down. In the committee a motion to report the bill favorably was voted down, also a motion to report it adversely failed on a tie vote. The bill therefore will go to the Senate without recommendation. A canvass indicates that after long debate the bill will pass precisely as it passed the House and in due course receive the signature of the President.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

For their third offering at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, commencing with the preformance Monday evening, June 12, the Empire Stock Company will present Willie Collier's breezy comedy "Caught in the Rain," which has been aptly described as a downpour of laughter in three showers. That this comedy was the best vehicle that Mr. Collier ever had, is a well known fact.

The play is distinctively funny from start to finish and there will be no dull moments at the Empire Theatre this week.

The scenes of the play are laid in and near Denver, and no better depiction of the Western financier, who boasts that when he sets out to get a thing, he gets it, has ever been seen on the stage, than "Jim Maxwell." The same is true of all the other characters; we have known them all, and recognize that they could not exist anywhere outside of our own country.

Briefly the story of the play is as follows:

Colonel Dick Crawford, who with James Maxwell has discovered a vein running through the adjoining property belonging to Mr. Mason.

Maxwell holds a mortgage over Mason's head and determines to use his power to get the land. Crawford is a woman-hater, but owing to a sudden thunderstorm is forced to take refuge under an awning under which Muriel Mason, Mr. Mason's daughter, has also fled. She is very much frightened by the thunder, and though she does not know Crawford she clings to him for protection very much to his embarrassment. The curtain descends with them sitting side by side under the awning, the rain pouring down around them.

The second act is in Mason's home. Crawford is in love with Muriel and she with him. She discovers his identity, but he thinks she is Nellie Gardner. The other Miss Mason, a blase young woman from the East, he thinks is Muriel and detests her.

Maxwell arrives and tells Mason that he will have to sell him the land but Mason informs him that it belongs to Muriel and cannot be sold until she is twenty-one or married. Then Maxwell tells Crawford that he will have to marry Muriel. Crawford is horrified and asks Muriel for her advice, telling her that though all the time believing that he has discovered her identity, though all the time believing that she is Miss Gardner. Mason soon agrees to the marriage, but Crawford tells him that he does not love his daughter. Muriel overhears him, and when Maxwell himself proposes, instead of Crawford, she accepts him.

The last act is in a fishing and hunting club near Denver. Crawford who has been Easts has discovered his mistake and hurriedly returns. Maxwell, alone, has been unable to work the mines and has been forced to sell most of his shares which Crawford bought up. He gets Maxwell to give up his intention to marry Muriel and in the end marries her himself. There will be the usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at which the prices will be 15 and 25 cents. Night prices 15 to 50 cents. Seats are now on sale for the remainder of the week.

WAGNER'S FLING AT ROBERT EARL

Senate Leader Sneered at Highbrows.

"WE'RE NOT ACQUAINTED."

Tammany Leader In His Anxiety to Justify Highway Commission Patronage Grab Covertly Assails Memory of Hill, Flower and Earl—Democratic Majority In Senate Put to It to Defend the Dix-Murphy Bill.

Albany, June 13.—"We of the militant Democracy have no acquaintance with Mr. Earl."

With this contemptuous fling at a nephew of the renowned Democratic jurist, Robert Earl, and who himself was selected as the first Democratic member of the state highway commission, Democratic Leader Robert F. Wagner proceeded to jam through the state senate the Murtaugh bill to abolish the aforesaid highway commission and to turn the state roads over to Tammany Hall. Incidentally the enactment of the Murtaugh bill into law will retire Commissioner Earl, whom many of the very Democratic senators who today voted to oust him eulogized two years ago as a representative of the finest type of Democratic gentleman when nominated by former Governer Hughes. Senator Wagner's fling at Robert Earl must mean that the latter is not of the Tammany strain of Democracy and that the new Democratic era recognizes not the Democracy exemplified in David B. Hill, Roswell P. Flower and Robert Earl.

It has taken months of unremitting work by Mr. Murphy and his lieutenants to secure the needed votes to pass the Murtaugh bill, but at last Governor Dix yielded and promised to appoint Mr. Murphy's choice as state superintendent of highways, and the party lash drove the stubborn senators into line. Even Senators Burd and Loomis of the much heralded insurgents voted to oust the highway commission. Senator Roosevelt stood out and voted no with the Republicans.

While Senators Murtaugh, Wagner and Ferris tried to defend the bill, they were cornered at every turn by Senators Hinman and Brackett of the Republicans, who riddled their arguments. Senator Frawley, Tammany chairman of the senate finance committee, could not deny that when the original highway bill was passed he and his colleagues in the senate signed the report and voted for it on the express understanding that so long as minority representation was granted the new plan should represent the policy of the state for all time.

Senator Hinman cited Highway Commissioner McClintock of Massachusetts, a Democrat, in commendation of New York state's commission and its work. He also criticised the Murtaugh bill, which, he declared, never was drawn by the man whose name it bears, as a misnomer in that it sought to convey the impression that it reorganized the highway commission, whereas in reality it abolished it and created a single headed body, dominated absolutely by the governor, inasmuch as its membership is to be composed of two appointees of the governor and one elective officer, all of whose terms expire coincidently with that of the governor. Senator Hinman criticised the Murtaugh bill as an effort to destroy the continuity and efficiency of the highway work by making its life that of the governor who created it, whereas the present plan contemplates that no one governor may destroy its personnel altogether.

Senator Ferris sought to convey the impression that the present commission is extravagant, but Senator Brackett refuted this from his own figures. "Republicans have been charged with eagerness for political patronage," he said; "but, while this may have been true at times, it must be conceded that we were frank about it. We did not seek to cloak a patronage grab by a pretended desire to conserve the public interests."

Several of the Democratic senators averted their heads as they faced about in their vote of two years ago, but so strong was the pressure from Governor Dix and Mr. Murphy that they dared not voice the courage of their convictions.

Tammany's Election Law.

Albany, June 13.—Just as predicted, Tammany Hall intends to extend its grip all over the state. The assembly judiciary committee—Levy of Tammany Hall as chairman—has reported an election law which compels personal registration in the rural districts, creates a state board of elections of three members to have control of all elections in the state and creates a bipartisan board of elections in each county to be chosen as are the papers to publish the session laws. These boards of elections are to have charge of all caucuses instead of the city and county clerks. With hundreds of Tammany deputy superintendents of elections sent up state it is expected that honest voters may be intimidated and kept from the polls.

SURROGATE'S COURT

Objections were filed in Surrogate's Court to the probate of the will of Cornelius J. Miller of Fulton, who died April 22. The contestant is G. Jeth Miller, a son, and he claims that at the time the will was made his father was not of sound mind and that the will was made under undue influence and duress.

Under the terms of the will the property, all personal, valued at $2,800 is left to a daughter Ida Miller, and she is made executive. Mr. Miller states in the will that his daughter "has taken good care of me and deserves all that I can do for her."

The will was witnessed by Frank E. Fox and Fred G. Spencer, both of Fulton. Their testimony was taken without prejudice to the contestant.

A petition for letters of administration on the estate of Sarah Cook, late of Fulton, was filed by William H. Cook. Value of estate, $500 personal.

Letters of administration were applied for on the estate of George H. Green, late of Hannibal by Charles H. Green.

A tax law of $19.70 was levied on the estate of Frances Green and against Charles Green of Volney under the transfer tax law.

The appraisal of the estate of Francis Green, Fulton, and George A. Baker, Volney, show their net values to be respectively $5,286 and $2,266.84. Both are divided among their families.

B stands for BREAKFAST, a meal
That's supposed to be easy to get,
But it's up to you when you sleep too late
And you have to hustle, you bet:
When haste is the thing that's most urgent,
You will value a gas range the most:
Touch a match to the burners, and presto!
It has made you your tea and your toast.

COFFEE AND TEA.

The Bean Improves With Age, While the Leaf Deteriorates.

Coffee beans improve with age. Five year old coffee is better than the new crop and fetches a higher price in the market. In two years coffee will lose 10 per cent in weight, but it will increase more than 10 per cent in price. Coffee should be used quickly after roasting. If the brown beans appear oily the oil should be dried off in a quick, hot oven; otherwise it will undergo a chemical change which will affect the flavor.

While coffee beans dry with age, teas absorb moisture even when in zinc lined chests. Tea likewise deteriorates with age. It doesn't lose strength so much as it does its drawing quality, which is another name for flavor or bouquet. So careful are the tea packers to insure an entire absence of moisture from the tea when being placed in the zinc or lead lined chests that they have the tea leaves sun dried and then heated before packing. The tea goes into the chests too hot to handle with bare hands and is sealed up in air tight packages before it has time to cool and before the slightest suggestion of moisture reaches it.—New York World.

The Mystic Seven.

A certain food father sent his son to the University of Pennsylvania last fall. As a farewell piece of advice he told the young man that "his success was almost assured, since both the word success and your name contain seven letters." The midyear examinations, however, proved to be his doom, and he was compelled to return home.

"Well," said his father, "didn't you keep in mind what I told you about the seven letters?"

"I did that, father," answered the boy, "but you must remember that there are also seven letters in failure."—Philadelphia Times.

E. V. Babcock, Esq., of Pittsburg, Pa., a son of Mr. Lehman Babcock of Fulton, enjoys the distinction of having been selected by Governor Tener of Pennsylvania, with eight other reputable citizens, to serve as Councilmen until January, 1912, when their elected successors will take office. Mayor William A. Magee of Pittsburg, commenting on the selections, stated that the Governor had appointed nine splendid men for the duties with which the Council is charged under the laws. It is confidently predicted that the appointees will justify their reputations and give a business-like administration of public affairs, far removed from political considerations, to Pittsburg.

The Children's Day exercises at the Presbyterian church were held last Sunday and were pronounced equal to those of any preceding year. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. Especially interesting were the action songs given by the primary department and the cradle roll exercises. The highest praise is due to the ladies who trained the tiny children to give such a pleasing performance. The report of the Junior Endeavor society was an especial contribution by one of the members and showed that this organization is thriving and energetic. Pleasing part songs were given by different classes of girls, one of the classes forming an excellent three-part chorus, which gives every promise of being a valuable acquisition to the musical services of the church.

Miss Hazel Guile was the guest of honor at a china shower given by Mrs. Joseph Rosenbloom on Monday evening. The luncheon table at which a three course repast was served, was decorated most attractively, red and white being the color scheme throughout. The place cards dipicted cupid under an umbrella—most appropriate to the "showers" with which the bride was treated later in the evening. The favors were tiny candle sticks containing red candles. The table was lighted with the candles as the guests entered the dining room. Red roses were used in profusion in the table decoration and red hearts showered from an immense heart on the chandelier. At the conclusion of the luncheon the bride-elect was blindfolded by her hostess and placed on a divan in an archway and under a huge Japanese umbrella. As she was seated ribbons attached to the umbrella were pulled and Miss Guile was showered with red and white rose petals. A basket was then placed in front of the guest of honor which contained gifts of beautiful china from the guests. The event was one of the most delightful of the many functions wet given for Miss Guile.

FRANKNESS WAS REFRESHING

The frankness of Majority Leader Smith on the floor of the Assembly one day last week was refreshing, even though somewhat startling. The bill under consideration was Assemblyman Gould's—a petty measure, designed simply to oust from office a Republican commissioner of jurors in Niagara County. The bill has been amended several times, in order to accomplish its purpose without interfering with the same office in other counties, and as it now stands discriminates grossly in that it makes Niagara County the only one in the state which may not have such an official if so determined by the Board of Supervisors of the county. The Democratic majority made strenuous efforts to jam the bill through, and when charged by Minority Leader Merritt with violating every principle of home rule by preventing the people of Niagara County from exercising the right which every other county of the state has in this regard, Leader Smith, for the first time be it said, lost his temper and in his plea to stands discriminates grossly in that the majority to pass the bill he disclosed the real object of the measure. "Pass this bill now, members of the majority" said Mr. Smith, "and if the next Board of Supervisors of Niagara County is Democratic and this Assembly is also Democratic next year, we'll give this law back to them as it stands at the present time."

The incident si related simply to show the real underlying purpose of nearly all the alleged reform measures being jammed through by the present Democratic majority in the Legislature.

PEOPLE TELL EACH OTHER ABOUT GOOD THINGS

Seventeen years ago few people in the world knew of such a preparation as a powder for the feet. Today after the genuine merit of Allen's Foot-Ease has been told year after year by one gratified person to another, there are millions abroad and in this country who would as soon go without a dentifrice as without the daily use of Allen's Foot-Ease. It is a cleanly, wholesome, healing, antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, which has given rest and comfort to tired and aching feet in all parts of the world. It cures while you walk. Over 30,000 testimonials of cures of smarting, swollen, tender, prespiring feet. It prevents friction and wear of the stockings and will save in your stocking bill ten times its cost each year. Imitations pay the dealer a larger profit, otherwise you would never be offered a substitute when you ask for Allen's Foot-Ease, the original powder for the feet. It gives a restfulness and a springy feeling that makes you forget you have feet. Allen's Foot-Ease is the greatest comfort discovery of the age and so easy to use. It prevents soreness, blisters and puffing. Don't go on your vacation without a package of Allen's Foot-Ease. Sold everywhere, 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Sample sent Free. Address, Allen S. Olmstead, LeRoy, N. Y.

SWEET BILL PASSES SENATE

Albany, June 9. — Assemblyman Sweet's bill authorizing the State to pay part of the expense of constructing the proposed new Phoenix bridge, passed the Senate yesterday.

A BIT OF ADVICE TO PARENTS

"Parents, treat your children kindly, but firmly. Set before them morning, noon and night the example of Christian living. Tell them that no nation is greater than its men and women make it. That the constant buffeting of any immorality gradually wears down the finest physique—that if they hope to be credited with the manhood, courage and bravery of their ancestors, they must live as did their ancestors.

"As for myself, give me the paternity of the son who can smile over a cradle, weep over a tomb, knock a loafer from the path of a woman, sight a gun on an invader, toss a coin to a beggar, marry a woman and live with her, and I will give to the nation a man who will rear altars to the god of justice and burn incense at the feet of Mars."—Surrogate Sexton of Oneida County

SAVED HIS WIFE'S LIFE

"My wife would have been in her grave today," wrteis O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

LOCAL ITEMS

Mr. Edward Henderson spent the week-end with friends in Syracuse.

Between the elements and the revolutionists Mexico isn't faring very well.

Mrs. E. R. Redhead has been confined to her bed by illness for several days.

Mr. Robert Paddock of Syracuse was the Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio A. Allen.

Dr. H. P. Marsh, who is convalescing from a severe illness, is spending some time at Old Forge.

Mrs. E. A. Bond of Albany has been the recent guest of Miss Franc French and other Fulton friends.

Miss Elizabeth Fassell has been enjoying a well merited respite for a few days from her duties in the local post office.

Mr. E. R Redhead has so far recovered from the shock of his recent injury as to take a short automobile ride on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter are enjoying an extended western trip, during which they will visit the Hunter Brothers sheep ranch in Montana.

Ex-County Treasurer Thomas Moore of Oswego was last week elected a member of the Council of Administration, at the State Encampment, G. A. R.

Captain C. A. Taylor, who was thrown from a moving train while enroute from Fulton to Oswego last week, is reported as doing nicely at the Oswego hospital.

Secretary H. P. Allen of the State Board of Governors of the Ogdensburg hospital for the insane, is attending a meeting of his Board at Ogdensburg this week.

It is rumored that Hiram Lodge, F. & A. M., will purchase the First street residence of Miss A. M. Gardner. The location is ideal, the property in splendid condition and the society could not make a more advantageous selection.

The vacant store in the Langdon block has been leased by Mr. Silverman, who has conducted a store on the west side for several years. Mr. Silverman took possession of the Langdon store on Tuesday.

Justice DeAngelis, who was operated upon in a Utica hospital for appendicitis May 19th, is out. Thursday he took a short automobile ride and is improving rapidly, which his friends will be glad to hear.

Messrs. William Hunter, V. W. Shattuck and Elmer Taylor were among the Fulton cattle owners who attended the sale of Holstein-Frisian cattle at the State Fair grounds last week. In all 250 head of cattle were sold bringing a total sum of $83,000. One 9-months old bull calf brought its owner $10,000.

The Order of United American Mechanics recently elected the following officers: Councilor, A. H. Parke; vice councilor, Adrian Guyer; secretary, B. G. Boigel; trustee, 18 months, B. S. Slauson; delegate to State Council, M. Foster; alternate, M. Fish; inductor, B. Slauson; examiner, G. Dutton.

The birthdays of Messrs. T. D. Lewis, Thomas Hunter and Orrin Henderson fall on the same day and it has been the habit of the men for years to spend their anniversaries together. This year Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter and Mr. Henderson will accept an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bond to celebrate the anniversary in Albany. The new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bond will be completed by that time it is expected.

An unusual number of drunken men were noticed upon the streets on Monday.

A son was born on Saturday to Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Grant Edick at Pulaski.

Mr. Albert Gardner is critically ill at his home in Fifth street with gastric ulcers.

Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Keller are enjoying a two week's automobile trip through the State.

"Enough! No More!" say the farmers, merchants and pleasure seekers about the severe rain storms of the past week.

Dr. C. C. Teall was in Philadelphia, Pa., last week where he read a paper before the Pennsylvania Association of Osteopaths. He returned home on Tuesday.

Wednesday evening following the Commencement exercises, a dancing party will be given in Church's hall by a High school bunch of young men, Messrs. Allen Foster, Winifred Perry, Theodore Foster and Ernest Pollard.

Manager Harry A. Walldorf of the O. Henderson & Company store, has tendered his resignation to the firm to take effect soon. Mr. and Mrs. Walldorf and son, Dan, will remove to Michigan where Mr. Walldorf will take a partnership with his brother in an established furniture and undertaking business, the vacancy having been caused by the death of the brother's partner. Mr. Walldorf has made very good in building up the business of the firm and the departure from Fulton of Mr. Walldorf and family will be regretted by their many friends. Mr. Walldorf's successor in the store has not been decided upon as yet.

SOUTH GRANBY

Just a Matter of Utility

This is the best time of the Coal season. You are thinking about the Coal bin, for in a few months you are sure to require a little more heat to make the home or store more comfortable. And we are planning to supply your requirements. We are now at the present time filling our bins with fresh mined Lehigh Valley Coal, the best money can buy. From now to the first of July is the time to secure your Coal at the lowest prices for the season.

Our Satisfied Customers Are Our Best Advertisement

We do not expect to please everybody, that is impossible. But we do say that there are no better black diamonds sold by any one than can be purchased of us at the following prices per ton: Egg and Stove Coal, $6.00; Chestnut Coal, $6.25; Pea Coal, $5.00, where it can be chuted into your bins. (Carrying in baskets, 25c extra per ton.)

We would be pleased to have you call and see us, we will do our best to please you.

Yours respectfully

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Fulton, N. Y., June 6, 1911.
Meeting of the Common Council.
Present — Mayor Conners, Aldermen Johnson, Wolcott, Smith, Malone.
Absent — Aldermen Palmer, Newton.
Minutes of last meeting read and approved.
The following communication from the Chief of Police received and referred to the City Attorney.
Aye — Alderman Johnson, Wolcott, Smith, Malone. —Carried.

Fulton, N. Y., May 27, 1911.
The Board of Aldermen,
City of Fulton, N. Y.,
Dear Sirs: I would respectfully call your attention to the fact that the law regarding the speed of automobiles in this city cannot be enforced on account of your Honorable Body not conforming to the provisions of the law in regard to posting suitable notices as per Section 238 of Motor Vehicle Laws of 1910.
I would respectfully ask that the necessary action be taken, so that the police force to have at its comtion to enforce the law. At present the law is being broken daily, and the force under my command, is helpless to stop it. If the practice of high speed is kept up, it will only result in loss of life or serious accident. In connection with this I will say, it will be necessary for the Police Force to have at its command a motor cycle with a speedometer attachment, to get the necessary proof.

Very truly yours,
W. H. Ross, Chief of Police.

Fulton, N. Y., June 3, 1911.

J. H. Conners, Mayor.

Once again Tammany comes into its own through the grace of Governor Dix. Grand Sachem O'Gorman takes a seat in the United States Senate; Grand Sachem Cohalan goes to the Supreme Court bench; Grand Sachem J. Sargeant Cram enters the New York Public Service Commission. Cohalan has been for years known as the "Brains of Tammany Hall," while Cram has been known as "Charlie Murphy's Social Mentor." Scarcely one of the leading newspapers of New York city failed to ridicule this last appointment, that of Cram for the Public Service Commission. "Absurd" and "Unspeakable" were the mildest terms used. And most undignified is the spectacle presented by the Governor of this great state, in daily interviews apologizing for Cram's appointment and at the same time urging its confirmation by the Senate.

In opposing Cram's appointment in the open Senate, one of the New York Senators had this to say: "Cram, as Dock Commissioner of New York city, acting as the instrument of others, locked up every dock in New York so no independent ice company could get a foothold. One of the greatest scandals that ever shocked New York. Morse is in prison. Van Wyck was driven from public life, and Cram is appointed by the governor to a place as Public Service Commissioner".

BUFFALO BILL TO RETIRE

Many Interesting Features Will Be Presented

Considerable interest has been aroused in this vicinity through the Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East at Oswego, N. Y., June 23rd, 1911.

Col. Wm. F. Cody, the original and only "Buffalo Bill," travels with the big exhibition and positively appears at every performance, rain or shine, but this will be his farewell appearance in this section as he is soon to retire. Arrangements have been made with the railroad officials to run excursions at special rates from the various stations along the line and there will be special provisions for the accomodation of those who wish to visit the exhibition. To the small boy and grown-up "Buffalo Bill" will be the chief attraction, for his fame is not dimmed by the years which have elapsed since he helped write the story of the west through heroic deeds. One of the principal contests of the red men, in which he took active part, will be pictured in the open-air melodrama, the Battle of Summit Springs, an engagement in miniature introducing more than one hundred Indians and many cavalrymen and soldiers. Contrasted with this scene will be an oriental spectacle which will picture the gorgeous beauties of the Far East, its pageantry and people, pleasures and pastimes and its strange costumes and customs. Turning again to American history, there will be an Attack Upon an Emigrant Train and A Holiday at "T-E" Ranch. Rossi's Musical Elephants will be a particular feature of the Far East scene, and as an individual feature of the Wild West section of the exhibition Ray Thompson's Trained Western Range Horses will be shown in feats of grace and equine skill. Sharpshooting by Johnny Baker will be a particular attractive feature, and a bunch of bucking broncos will furnish the principal comedy element of a truly exhilarating and strenuous exhibition.

STATE FAIR COMMISSION

Prize List for the Dairy Products Department of the New York State Fair is now being distributed from the State Fair Office. Copies of this list may be obtained from the Secretary of the State Fair, Syracuse, N. Y., or the Department of Agriculture, Albany, N. Y.

In preparing for the State Fair this year the Dairy Products Department officials have made an effort to have every important phase of New York's sixty million dollar dairy industry represented. The Dairy Building, one of the best of its kind in the country, is well adapted to the exhibition of all kinds of dairy products, the demonstration of scientific tests and the display of dairy machinery. The butter, cheese, milk and starters sent to the fair this year to compete for money prizes will doubtless exceed any previous exhibit ever before made in the State. Last year there were 276 exhibits of butter, 360 exhibits of cheese, 40 exhibits of milk and cream, and 16 exhibits of starters. This was an increase of about 100 exhibits over the previous year and the total amounted to about 700 exhibits. This year 1000 exhibits are expected and in addition to the number of exhibits of dairy products a large number of competitors will enter the classes provided for butter making, cheese judging, essays and farm accounts.

The tests to be demonstrated in the building will include the determination of moisture in butter, salt in butter, fat in milk and bacteria in milk. The dairy machinery exhibit will represent thousands of dollars in value and be displayed in attractive booths by the different companies who send representatives to the fair to give explanations concerning the machinery to visitors. Any one who wishes to make comparisons between different machines can easily do so first-hand in the dairy building, which will enable him to select machines which exactly fill his needs without depending on catalogues.

Butter will be made in the large amphitheater which seats over 500 people, and entertainment will be provided at intervals for those watching the butter making contests. Charts will be displayed on the walls of the building with important suggestions to dairyman. Experts will be present at all times to answer questions.

The great exhibit of dairy products will be judged the week previous to the fair and during the fair the name and county of the successful exhibitors and scores obtained will be displayed on the exhibits. Also each of the different classes will be labeled. The many kinds of cheese exhibited will make this feature particularly interesting to the general public. After the fair the judges' score card will be sent to each exhibitor with suggestions for improvement.

Three thousand dollars ($3,000) in prize money will be distributed in this department. Nearly all of the prize money is on a pro rata basis and the value of each prize will depend on number of points obtained above a reasonable standard; thus many exhibitors will obtain prizes. In addition to this the exhibits are sold at best prices obtainable and the money returned to the owners. Butter of good enough quality to win points will be paid for at market rates on the day of the sale.

Dairymen are beginning to realize that they need to know what their products score each year at the fair to maintain the high standard of dairy products securing the top prices in the city markets. On this account the exhibits in the Dairy Department are increasing each year.

The Dairy Department is becoming a gathering place for those interested in the dairy industry because of the opportunity afforded for dairymen to hear the latest developments and talk with experts.

Raymond A. Pearson, Commissioner of Agriculture, is in charge of this department. Associated with him are the Messrs. George A. Smith, Geneva, Supt.; Webster E. Griffith, Madrid; Horace A. Rees, Lowville; Dr. Harris Moak, Brooklyn, and Superintendent, and Royal Gilkey, Albany, Dutton, So. Otselic, Asst. Superintendent clerk.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William G. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, as executors, recorded in said Clerk's office in Liber 219 of Deeds, page 123; at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law offices of Wilson & Rice, 17 South First street in the City of Fulton, Oswego County, New York, on the 9th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES

Fulton High School Seniors Present Play Two Nights—Other Exercises Given—All Reflected Credit Upon Themselves, Their School and Their Instructor, Miss Lounsbery.

The Class Night exercises as presented by the Senior class of Fulton High school were most enjoyable and were witnessed by houses crowded by relatives and friends on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The class will, prophecy, essay and other class papers were original and pointed, bringing forth round after round of applause from the audience.

Christopher Junior, the play selected for presentation, was given with a spirit and action well suited to actors far removed from the amateur class. The careful training of Miss Daisy Lounsbery had brought forth results readily appreciated by the audience and the students did themselves and their instructor credit. The innovation of two evenings for the exercises was appreciated as all residents interested in the students could then have the opportunity to see the production. In former years many have been prevented by the lack of room.

This Wednesday evening Commencement exercises will be held in the First Methodist church when the student life in Fulton High school will close for a large and unusually bright class of young men and women the members of this class holding the proud distinction of having passed every subject they tried at the June examinations. Following is the program:

DRUGGISTS GENEROSITY APPRECIATED

Albert Lindley Lee Memorial Hospital Benefited by Donation of Proceeds From Hill's Soda Fountain

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Albert Lindley Lee Memorial hospital realized $55.50 from the use of the soda fountain generously donated to them by Druggist G. L. Hill a week ago, and the sum will be applied to the various needs of the institution.

Mrs. Victorine Lee presented the ladies with $20 to be added to this sum and the result of Mr. Hill's generosity was material benefit to the hospital.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT

State Senator Sage has introduced a bill making immediately available the balance of the appropriation of $50,000,000 authorized by the state for good roads. In presenting the measure Senator Sage said that it demonstrated the sincerity of the Republican party in promoting the fulfillment of the state policy of highway improvement, adding that it would clear the way for much needed highway improvement in every county of the state.

Senator Sage also introduced a concurrent resolution to increase the debt limit from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 in order to enable the state to provide funds for the construction of all the highways, both state and county, which have been apportioned to the various counties.

Both measures were advanced to third reading.

CHURCH FREE FROM DEBT

July first will be a Red Letter day at St. Mary's church, Oswego. On that day the last obligation of the parish will be wiped out and the church and the property will be free from indebtedness. That is practically true now, for the money is in hand, but the obligations will not be cancelled until the date above mentioned.

Honorary Mention in Elocution

William J. Hayes, James Fay Newton, Ernest L. Pollard, Clarence A. Roy.

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING

Amid Palms, Daisies and Surrounded by Friends Miss Hazel Guile and Mr. Reed Cady Will Plight Their Troth Tonight—Magnificent Gifts Received

This Wednesday evening at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Guile, No. 505 Broadway, will be solemnized the marriage of Miss Hazel May Guile and Mr. Reed William Cady. The Rev. C. L. Peck, pastor of the First Methodist church will be the officiating clergyman and the ring service will be used.

The home has been artistically decorated with ferns, ground pine, palms and yellow and white daisies and presents a beautiful appearance. The color scheme throughout will be yellow and white. The Webb orchestra will play the wedding march and will furnish music during the reception and supper hours.

The ushers will be Messrs. Gardner Dunham of Syracuse and Russel Guile, a brother of the bride. The best man will be Mr. Harry C. Smith of Weedsport.

The bride, who will be given away by her father, will be gowned in white silk poplin, entraine, with bolero of handsome lace, and with pearl garnature. She will wear a tulle veil and carry a shower boquet of bride's roses and valley lillies. She will be attended by her sister, Miss Elsie G. Guile as maid of honor. She will be gowned in white novelty silk with lace trimmings and will carry a boquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids will be the Misses Jane A. Guile, a sister, and Ruth E. Switzer. These maids will be gowned in yellow silk with trimmings of chiffon and ribbon, and they will carry arm boquets of white roses.

Following the ceremony and congratulations a bridal collation will be served and the young couple hope to elude the vigilance of their friends and start on an extended trip to make their future home at Seneca Falls.

The bride is one of the most popular of the young society girls in Fulton. She is a musician of rare ability, her voice having charmed all who have heard it. For some time past she has been soloist in the Presbyterian quartette. She is a member of the Schumann club of this city and will be greatly missed in church, social and musical circles in Fulton where her sweetness of disposition and charm of manner have won her many friends.

The groom is a graduate of Syracuse University, class of 1907. He is a member of the honorary engineer society, Tau Beta Pi, and is very successful as a Civil Engineer in the employ of the State. He was at one time a member of the local corps of barge canal engineers and was very popular throughout the city. In the congratulations being showered upon them the Times most sincerely joins.

Among the out of town guests who will be present at the nuptials will be Mrs. L. M. Cady, Troupsburg, N. Y., mother of the groom; Miss Abigail E. Weeks, Oscelo, Pa., Mr. J. A. Sloat, Weedsport; Mr. H. E. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Draper, Mr. Gardner Dunham, Miss Mildred Dunham, Miss Clara Allen, Mrs. Floyd L. Marvin, Miss Eva Taylor, Miss Ruby M. Barrus, Mr. and Mrs. C. Elmer Goodjon, Mrs. Holden Pratt of Syracuse; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Peckham, Adams; Miss Anna Loomis and Miss Blanche Sweet, Phoenix; Mr. and Mrs. W. Maurice Dunham, Greene, N. Y.; Mrs. Thomas R. Tetley, Jr., Northville, N.Y.; and Rev. F. W. Dunning of Williamstown, N. Y.

WHY BILL WAS VETOED

Albany, June 15.—Governor Dix in his veto of Assemblyman Sweet's bill relative to compensation of subordinate clerks in the office of the County Clerk of Oswego does not mean that the relief asked is not to be obtained. In commenting the following memorandum:

"I have before me now for approval a general bill amending the County law, conferring upon Boards of Supervisors the right to fix the salary of every county official or employe except County Judge and Surrogate. Under the general bill the purpose sought by this bill can be accomplished and for that reason the bill is disapproved."

The measure of Assemblyman Sweet provided that the salary of the Special County Clerk and Index Clerk should be $840 per year instead of $720 per year as is now paid. If the Supervisors who recommended the measure desire they will be able to make the increase at their next regular session if the amendment referred to by the Governor becomes a law.

COMPLAINT DISMISSED

Dr. E. L. Hinman, of this city, as President of the Ontario Chemical Company, went to Binghamton yesterday and personally conducted the defense for the company in the matter wherein the United States Government charged the company with the violation of the Pure Food and Drug law in that they used the word "cure" in labeling their product Cholerol.

The Government lost its case, it being decided in favor of the Ontario Chemical company.

Dr. Hinman, when seen by a reporter in reference to the matter, said: "Judge Ray in giving his decision stated that the evidence and decisions already submitted would give the defendant full permission to use the label complained of."—Palladium.

OSWEGO VINEGAR SEIZED

Providence, R. I., June 17.—Chief United States Inspector F. B. Raynor of the New England district yesterday seized eighty-one barrels of cider vinegar which arrived here in transit from Oswego, N. Y., shipped from the M. H. & M. S. Place company.

The ground upon which the seizure was effected was that the vinegar was a compound, and not the pure article which its labels represented, because it was asserted the barrels contained a large amount of distilled vinegar.

FAMILY WILL MOVE TO WATERTOWN

President W. H. Taft will tomorrow become the guest of the Hon. L. W. Mott, President of the New York State Bankers Association, at the convention at Manhattan Beach.

COURT DECISION

An appeal to the Appellate Division was filed by the defendant from a judgment of $359.10 in the case of H. A. Allen vs. E. J. Cusack, of Fulton.

If Spains political conditions should develop a crisis Diaz may find it hard to refrain from taking a hand.

so much at stake in the line of negligence cases for them, they are not taking any risks with the bridge nor neglecting anything to make it perfectly secure for their passenger traffic.

BRIDGE PIER WEAKENED

There is no argument relative to the weakened condition of one of the east piers at the lower bridge, but there are many arguments between the city, the state and the [illegible] the city believes that the pier was weakened and damaged by the blasting in the improvement work of the manufacturers while the manufacturers claim the pier was unsafe long before they had any blasting done.

The matter of repairing the damage must be given immediate attention and the travelling public says, do the work and fix the responsibility for the cost after.

COMPETING RAILROADS ACTIVE

The New York Central railroad company has a well defined intention to cross the Oswego river and run a spur to the American Woolen company's plant on the west side to accomodate the company and to secure their business. It is also expected that the railroad may continue to the lower milling district over leased ground.

The Ontario & Western railroad is also figuring on running a spur to the lower milling district, the ground already having been surveyed for the line and practically all of the consents over private right of way having been secured.

The outlook now is for greatly increased industrial activity in Fulton.

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William G. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five, and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, as executors, recorded in said Clerk's office in Liber 221 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

State League of Savings and Loan Associations to Meet There

Ogdensburg, June 17.—The annual convention of the New York State League of Co-operative Savings and Loan associations was brought to a very successful close this afternoon. Newburgh and Oswego presented invitations for the convention to meet in their cities in 1912. The Oswego delegates presented a more urgent call, saying they had several associations and they would be greatly benefited by a gathering of the State convention there. On roll call Oswego was chosen for 1912.

When it comes to prosecuting the Tack Trust will the Supreme Court be brave enough to sit down on it?

OSWEGO COUNTY POMONA GRANGE

The quarterly session of the Oswego County Pomona Grange was held with the Bowen's Corners Grange Tuesday, June 13. A large attendance was present from all parts of the county, the reports from the members occupying a good portion of the morning session. These showed the thirty-seven subordinate granges to be in a generally prosperous condition with a growing membership. The remainder of the morning session was devoted to the transaction of business affairs pertaining to the order. A recess was taken at the noon hour during which dinner was served by the ladies of the local grange. The afternoon session was begun with a memorial service for these members deceased within the past year. The session was then placed in the charge of the Lecturer under whose direction an interesting program was given among the features of which was a paper on the Farmer's Avocation by J. A. Turner, Master of Scriba Grange, and an address on The Home by Mrs. F. E. Alexander, Ceres of the New York State Grange, a pleasing recitation by Miss Leah Wilbur of Bowens Corners and an address by State Grange Overseer, W. H. Vary, on the Mission of the Pomona Grange and the work of the subordinate grange. The fifth degree was conferred in full form at the evening session on a class of over fifty members. The remainder of the session was given up to social entertainment and the presentation of a literary and musical program. The September meet Grange.

MISS SENNETT SETTLES WITH COMPANY

In Municipal Court at Syracuse on Friday of last week, Ruth Sennett of Baldwinsville, secured a judgement against the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern railroad company in the sum of $350 for personal injuries.

Miss Sennett was one of the most seriously injured of the several Fulton and vicinity people on the lake shore car that collided with a construction train at Crooked Brook on the evening of May 31.

GETS DEGREE NEXT WEEK

Stuart L. Peebles, son of H. J. Peebles, the clothier, returned to Cornell University, where he will this week graduate from the institution as a civil engineer. Mr. Peebles won a Cornell scholarship in competition, gaining 321 points, the highest ever gained by any Oswego candidate. He has accepted a position with the American Bridge company and will be connected with the Elmira plant. He has been visiting his parents in East Sixth street.—Palladium.

FITTING PLACE FOR RELICS

A large force of men last week moved the relic case in the County Clerk's office to the State Armory, where the battle flags and other valuable antiques in the collection will hereafter be kept. It was decided some time ago to make the transfer, as the Armory is believed to be the appropriate place for the collection, few people in fact knowing that it was in the Clerk's office.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., in Liber 221 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated at Fulton, New York, this 17th day of May, 1911.

STATE OF NEW YORK, SUPREME COURT, County of Oswego—Patrick H. Ward, plaintiff, vs. John Harding, Helen Pettengill, Carrie Green and Ellen E. Ward, defendants. Action for partition.

To the above named defendants:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and, in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

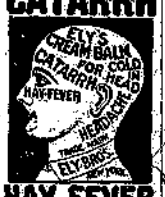
Trial to be held in the County of Oswego.

Dated this 4th day of Jan. 1911.

WILLIAM S. HILLICK,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
Office and Post Office address, 19 South First street, Fulton, N. Y.

To John Harding and Carrie Green:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuantnt to an order of Hon. Louis C. Rowe, Oswego County Judge, dated May 1st, 1911, and filed in the Oswego County Clerk's office with the complaint, at the city of Oswego, N.Y.



WILLIAM S. HILLICK,
8-8 Attorney for Plaintiff.

ANSWERED THE QUSTION

An Iowa editor was asked, "Do hogs pay?" He replied, "a good many do not; they take the paper several years and then have the postmaster send it back marked 'refused' or 'gone west.'"

If the Supreme Court could only enforce the "rule of reason" upon chaffeurs.

Just a Matter of Utility

This is the best time of the Coal season. You are thinking about the Coal bin, for in a few months you are sure to require a little more heat to make the home or store more comfortable. And we are planning to supply your requirements. We are now at the present time filling our bins with fresh mined Lehigh Valley Coal, the best money can buy. From now to the first of July is the time to secure your Coal at the lowest prices for the season.

Our Satisfied Customers Are Our Best Advertisement

We do not expect to please everybody, that is impossible. But we do say that there are no better black diamonds sold by any one than can be purchased of us at the following prices per ton: Egg and Stove Coal, $6.00; Chestnut Coal, $6.25; Pea Coal, $5.00, where it can be chuted into your bins. (Carrying in baskets, 25c extra per ton.)

We would be pleased to have you call and see us, we will do our best to please you.

Eternal Vigilance

by the Gas Company, is the price of Satisfactory Service to its patrons.

Whenever anything goes wrong this company wants to know it at once, in order that the trouble may be adjusted.

To that end the Company welcomes complaints, and we get them, sometimes a good many, though their ratio to the total number of customers is small. A careful analysis of all complaints received shows that a very large per cent. of them are due to the wearing out of some appliance or fixture, long in use or to the lack of proper adjustment or regulation of lamps and burners.

Whether trivial or serious, every complainant receives the same prompt, courteous and careful attention.

This is a very important part of our work.

We are proud of the fact that our service makes friends.

The Manager's constant aim, instead of offering excuses, is to, first of all, make a good uniform quality of gas, and then see that every customer gets his gas delivered, metered and consumed in such a way as to leave no room for just criticism.

We will make mistakes, and so will you. When we do, lets "get together" make right the wrong, and then, "forget it."

We want to sell 100 Gas Ranges in Fulton, before July 15th.

Just look at these prices, $66.00 Baby Grand Cabinet, sale price $35.00. This is one of the finest Gas Ranges made, combining a large capacity, and wide range of usefulness in a very small space.

Another High Oven Range, is the Acorn Short Cabinet, 2-ovens, 4-burners, and a broiler. A $48.50 Gas Range for $25.00. This range is only 41 inches long. Measure and see if it will not just fit that place in your Kitchen, where you want us to set it.

Our No. 400 Acorn Cabinet Gas Range, 2-ovens, 4-burners, broiler and a warming oven; another $48.00 one is on sale at $23.00 After this sale, this range will not be sold for less than $33.00.

We have 3-oven, 4-burner ranges as low as $14.00. Single oven, 3-burner Cookers at $9.50.

These stoves are all new, and were selected from the samples at the factory, by the Gas Companies Manager personally. Every one is perfect, and they are of the latest patterns.

They are of the kind that we men folks would all use if we had to do the cooking.

Come in and see them. The Gas Office will be open evenings for this sale, during the balance of this month, and until July 15th.

Commencement Exercises

We are all young tonight as we assemble to listen to the commencement exercises. Those of us with whitening locks may smile to remember that somewhere in the archives at home, lying with a diploma, is an essay long laid aside.

Tonight we are to listen to the sweet girl and dear boy read their essays; age will be forgotten for the time being and all will be young again in the presence of youth.

We don't care a rap tonight if the young man does stare stolidly at his shoes as if he never saw them before, or fixes his eyes on the moulding on the ceiling. He is all right—or he means to be. And whether the sweet girl graduate sings, or recites, or reads us from a carefully prepared essay, tied with yards and yards of white ribbon, and wears a bewitching, fluffy costume, and has a tremulous little catch in her voice, we believe all we hear—we don't hear very much; but we know it's all right. We know that she is telling us in the cleverest way she can what she intends to do with life,—how it should be lived to make the soul beautiful and the world better.

May she never have cause to confess she has failed—God bless her! May her ideals, planted high enough now, be reached by her slender young hands! May she forever enshrine her innocence! May she guard it—for its wonder will not last! For new woe and fresh wisdom will lay their stamp upon her brow, and the former music of her joyous laugh may conceal a dirge.

We are forgetting our past failures our false hopes,and those old dreams that have someway come too late We are all young again, and life is bright with hope, and Success is just over there. It is so close that we have only to put out our hands, with the veins showing plainer than awhile back, to close upon that subtle thing called Success. Time has turned back the hands of life's clock some steen years, and we are blushing and smiling, albeit a trifle pale, and smelling our roses to hide the confusion of the tumultuous applause.

We stumble out of the hall, full of people laughing and talking, with something more than moisture in our eyes. We are thinking we should give much again with such fail the best 1 ed! To f appointme yet to be

The practice should be stopped.

POPULATION OF IRELAND

The steady decrease in the population of Ireland, which has been going on for the past sixty years, has been checked at last. This is indicated by the latest census figures for the Emerald Isle just published. There is still a decrease for the first decade of the century, but it is only 76,824, or1.7per cent. the smallest since 1841.

The gross decrease is divided among the creeds as follows: Roman Catholics, 70,005; Protestant Episcopalians, 5,600; Presbyterians, 3,400; Methodists, 200. The Hebrews show an increase of 1,208.

The present population of 4,381,951 is composed of 3,238,656 Roman Catholics, 575,49 Protestant Episcopalians, 439,876 Presbyterians, 61,806 Methodists, and 5,600 Hebrews.

Because of this showing there is rejoicing among the people of Ireland, especially among those who maintain a hopeful view of the country's future. They are looking forward to see the next decade show an increase in population with a general improvement in conditions of business and the people.—Ex.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS' BUSINESS INCREASING

Washington, June 19.—A total of $390,666 has been deposited in the forty-eight postal savings banks during the five months in which they have been in operation, according to a statement issued by the post office department today. For the forty-five additional depositories which were opened on May 1, the receipts have been, in the one month of their operation, $76,749. Of the original 48 post banks Leadville, Colo., led, having 513 separate accounts, totaling $61,897. Bisbee, Ariz., leads the division of banks opened on May 1. For the month it had deposits of $11,770.

The senate didn't start out by boasting that this was going to be a do-nothing session, but it begins to look as if there was a sort of gum-shoe understanding to that effect.

could find no ready market for it.

At the sale on Monday the government fixed a minimum price of $13,800 and it was sold to George Castor of Baltimore. The engines, stills and other personal property were sold with the whiskey. The owners are given one year to redeem the real estate, but must pay 20 per cent. interest to Mr. Castor.

The government loses nothing as the owners had finally managed to dispose of all but 11,000 gallons.

E. J. Cusack has sold property in Park street, Fulton, to Roy E. Reynolds.

INDIANS LOCATE IN CONSTANTIA

A band of Onondaga Indians numbering thirty-five have located in Constantia in deserted houses whose owners are unknown. Why the former settlers have returned to this especial hunting ground is an enigma to the residents of that town, but that they have located to stay unless compelled to move on is a foregone conclusion.

They eke out a living by making and selling baskets and they seem to be very poor.

TO PAY EXPENSE OF CONFERENCE

Albany, N. Y.—The bill of Senator White of Schenectady has just been reported favorably from the Senate cities committee, authorizing the common council of second and third class cities to appropriate annually, not exceeding $100, to pay the necessary expenses of maintaining the annual conference of officials of second and third class cities. The bill has been progressed to the order of third reading by the Senate.

In the new Lorimer inquiry ie is expected that the committee will know a fact for that it is worth when they uncover one, and will not shy under the expression that it is some strange wild thing that is going to bite.

C'S a symmetrical letter
And stands for Cookies or CAKE,
Not baked in the way that the ones were
That your mother so oft used to make,
But baked in such ease and comfort,
And baked in just half of the time,
For now-days that treasure, the gas stove,
Is made useful in most ev'ry clime.

This week Friday the opera Faust will be presented, two reels beautifully colored throughout, will be shown, and Miss Florence Johnson will play the special opera music. Mr. W. LaFurney will give the special lecture accompanying the pictures. This will be one of the finest programs ever presented in Fulton and should interest all citizens fond of opera. The pictures were first presented a week ago.

Mr. George E. Mason's signature to checks in the sums of $29 each have been forged and discovered twice within a week. The check charmer seems to be a "lady" and one not very well versed in the gentle art of forgery as the checks are crude affairs and readily spotted and refused when presented at the bank for payment. They were both drawn on the Citizens bank. The first one was refused by a Phoenix merchant and the second one was cashed by Mr. Amos Wolever, strangers having in both instances presented them in payment for merchandise. If the forger can be found she will be made considerable trouble both by Mr. Mason and by the unfortunates who accepted the checks

The H. P. Burgard Construction company is pushing the work on the large canal contract with energy, three gangs of men working eight hours per gang, are engaged in the work near Manbattan villa and the result is that there is something doing all the time. About 2,400 cubic yards are being excavated daily.

On Monday evening Mr. William MacNamara, through his attorney, Mr. G. M. Fanning, served an injunction on Attorney F. G. Spencer restraining him from interfering in any way with Mr. MacNamara's block in First street. The injunction grew out of trouble over a property line, Mr. Spencer occupying property belonging to Mr. MacNamara and not at all necessary to Mr. Spencer. The matter will probably be carried to the courts.

Marion, the 13-year old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Goodjon of this city, being left alone at home on Saturday and being lonesome, decided to accept an invitation she had received to attend a birthday party in Minetto at a friends home, and departed without leaving word as to her whereabouts. When she did not return at night Mr. and Mrs. Goodjon became very much alarmed and called the police department into the case, fearing that foul play had befallen the child. After a night of anxiety the search was renewed on Sunday, many relatives and friends joining, and it was thought advisable to drag the river as Marion was last seen in the vicinity of the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper mill. Every possible clue was run down and it was not until Mrs. Goodjon thought of the Minetto friends and the party that the child was located safe and having a very merry time with her young friends She was restored to her home in safety.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely clean the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. Be mild and gentle as they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

THE WEEK

Business activity now awaits the outcome of the growing crops, and as crop reports continue to favor large harvests there is a noticeable improvement in business confidence, with some gain in actual trade transactions, although purchases are still conducted with conservatism, and there is moderate buying for future needs. For the first time in many weeks there are signs of recovery from the depression in the iron and steel trade, and while pig iron continues very dull, there are increased orders for finished steel, notably in the structural and wire divisions. The railroad demand is also looking up, which promises well for the future. A leading trunk line has authorized the purchase of sixty locomotives. In dry goods there is more improvement in sentiment than in activity, and the increased confidence is based upin the strength imparted to the situation by the low stocks and upon the effect of bright crop prospects. The actual demand is much below the normal point but gives evidence of some expansion. The foreign trade is, however, largely in excess of last year; and this is, next to favoring agricultural conditions, the brightest spot in the whole business situation. The most notable event of the week was the foreign commerce exhibit for May, during which the excess of exports over imports amounted to $22,583,525—a notable gain over the two preceding years—while during the eleven months ending May 31, the excess exports amounted to the inspiring total of $501,759,316, so that the record of the fiscal year to end with the current month will be one of the largest in the history of American commerce. The figures for the latest week show exports from New York of $18,753,628, which is about $6,000,000 more than in either of the two preceding years and is $5,571,289 in excess of imports. The bond market continues active, with much interest manifested in the new Panama Canal and Chinese loans.

The recent cut in iron and steel prices has been followed by a considerable expansion in new business and sustained recovery is now anticipated in the trade. Steel manufacturers are receiving an increased number of orders, and with few exceptions, specifications against contracts are coming in more freely. Among the railroads interest has revived to an appreciable extent and there is strong prospect that a large buying movement of rails will soon commence. In structural material and sheets greater activity is also apparent and daily bookings of the leading producers are now better than for some time past. An improved demand for steel bars is noted in the eastern district, while both specifications and new orders for wire products are somewhat above the average for this season of the year. Extension of local transit facilities will require a large amount of steel for construction work, the probable needs for this purpose being estimated at from 250,000 to 300,000tons.

The strong statistical position of stocks in first hands and the notable curtailment in production which still prevails in dry goods lines, confirms the feeling of confidence in the future, although present business is very quiet. Stocks in China are reported down to 40,000 bales, while at Fall River stocks of print cloth are less than 1,000,000 pieces. Exports of cotton goods for the year to date aggregate about 140,000 bales as against 102,000 bales last year. Demand for future delivery is slowly increasing and selling agents are making ready for openings of new spring lines in woolens, worsteds and underwear. The firm maintenance of values, despite an acknowledged sub-normal demand in retail and jobbing departments, is becoming a more noticeable feature.

Supplementary fall orders for footwear in the hands of shoe manufacturers are of fair volume, but new business is slow in developing. There is a steady trade in both sole and upper leather, which in the aggregate improves from week to week. Undoubtedly more business would be consummated if tanners would make concessions from the advanced prices asked, as a number of buyers are holding off at the full increase demanded.

Another sharp decline has occurred in wheat, prices falling nearly seven cents a bushel in two days. Speculative conditions were chiefly responsible. Winter wheat is practically made and spring wheat continues to thrive, although there were some complaints of deficient moisture in scattered sections of South Dakota. A heavy shrinkage appears in visible supplies, abroad, but world's stocks are still much larger than a year ago. Western receipts of 2,379,474 bushels compared with 1,916,025 in 1910, while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 1,211,711 bushels against 687,664 last year. Corn was generally firm in response to some adverse weather reports. Arrivals of 5,629,801 bushels exceeded the 3,253,287 shown a year ago, and Atlantic Coast exports were 348,028 against 198,044 in the earlier period. Liquidation caused a sharp break in cotton, the selling movement being prompted by showers in some of the dry sections of the belt. Domestic exports last month increased about 65,000 bales and were also somewhat larger than in the same period of 1910.

Liabilities of commercial failures for June to date amount to $5,743,287, of which $3,219,504 were in manufacturing, $2,282,001 in trading and $291,776 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 221 in the United States against 219 last year, and 25 in Canada compared with 24 a year ago.

NEW YORK TUBERCULOSIS LAW

Physicians in This State, in Increasing Numbers, are Complying With the Law Requiring Reporting of Living Cases of Consumption.

New York, June 19.—The effect of the Law requiring the reporting of all cases of tuberculosis passed by the New York State Legislature in 1908 has been far-reaching. According to a statement issued today by the National Association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis, twenty-five states now require a report to health authorities of every living case of tuberculosis. The laws in many of these states are modeled after the New York State Law. Several of them have been copied verbatim.

The Tuberculosis Committee of the State Charities Association which drafted and secured the enactment of New York's registration law says that the effect of this legislation has been largely to increase the number of reports of living cases of tuberculosis. The following table shows the comparsion of the number of reported living cases and the number of deaths outside of Greater New York:

	1907	1908	1909	1910
Reported Cases	2756	3310	6908	5957
Deaths	5410	5449	5351	5357

In 1907 the year before the registration law went into effect, the number of deaths exceeded the number of reported living cases by 2654. This figure was cut down to 1139 in 1908 the year the law went into effect. In 1909 the number of reported cases of the disease exceeded the number of reported deaths by 1567. In 1910 the number of living cases exceeded the deaths by 600.

"While the number of reported living cases of tuberculosis in rural New York is not so large as it would be if physicians complied more generally with the law," says Dr. Livingston Farrand, Secretary of the National Association, in discussing New York State's law, "nevertheless, these figures indicate very clearly that knowledge of the law and the observance of it are spreading rapidly among physicians. We may assume that the increase is larger for the advanced cases than for the incipient cases, because the disease is more easily recognized in the advanced stage than in the incipient stage. This makes the lack of hospital provision for advanced tuberculosis more keenly felt. If all the reported cases of advanced tuberculosis could find hospital care in county institutions such as have been authorized in seventeen counties, experts tell us that we could look for a very decided fall in the death rate from the disease in the next ten years.

The other states that have registration laws similar to the one in this State (he Connecticut, District of Columbia, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

EQUALLY GOOD FOR OSWEGO COUNTY

Congressman Mott has received the notice sent out for the Cape Vincent caucus to be held with the other towns of Jefferson county on June 30th. The notice is sent to every Republican in the town and urges them to go to the caucus. Among other things it said: "Let us not be divided on account of grievances either imaginary or real, for it has been said no man is perfect, and perhaps the other fellow is not wholly to blame." The following verses are also inclosed to each Republican, and they seem to apply as well in Oswego county as in Jefferson:

Hi Somers was the durndest cuss
Fer catchin' fish—he sure was grea
He never used to make no fuss
About the kind of pole or bait,
Er wather, neither; he'd jest say,
"I got to ketch a mess today."
An' toward the creek youd see him slide,
A-whistlin' soft, an' walkin' wide.
I says one day to Hi, says I,
"How do you alway ketch em, Hi?"
He gave his bait another swish in,
An' chucklin', says, "I jest keep fishin'."

Hi took to readin' law at night;
And pretty soon, the first we knowed,
He had a lawsuit, won his fight,
An' was a lawyer! I'll be blowed!
He knowed more law than Squire McKnab,
An' though he had no "gift of gab"
To brag about, somehow he made
A sober sort of talk that played
The mischief with the other side.
One day, when some one asked if Hi'd
Explain how he got in condishin,
He laughed an' said, "I jest kept fishin'."

Well, Hi is Gov'ner Somers now;
A big man 'round the state, you bet—
To me the same old Hi, somehow:
The same old champeen fisher, yet.
It wasn't so much the bait or pole,
It wasn't so much the fishin' hole
That won for Hi his big success;
'Twas jest his fightin' on, I guess.
A cheerful, stiddy, hopeful kind
Of keepin' at it—don't you mind?
And that is why I can't help wishin'
That more of us would jest keep fishin'.

BOYS AT STATE FAIR

An unusual opportunity is offered farm boys of New York State as the result of the adoption by the State Fair Commission of Commissioner of Agriculture Raymond A. Pearson's plan to have 100 boys at the Fair this year as guests of the State The purpose of this innovation is to make the benefits of the State Fair more widely known throughout the State, to assist in extending the educational value of the Fair to the farms of the State, and to stimulate a greater interest in improved agriculture.

After returning to their homes the boys will be expected to write essays on what they saw and learned at the State Fair, which is to be held at Syracuse September 11 to 16, and these will be judged in competition, the best ones being awarded prizes of value such as pairs of pure bred calves, sheep, pigs and chickens and the less meritorious ones will receive recognition in the form of selected corn seed. With the sons of New York farmers educated in the most approved methods in agriculture and awake to the opportunities in the farming business in this State, much progress will have been made in the movement to give life to unused farm-land, it is felt by State officers.

Every county in the State will be represented in the company of 100 boys. Selections will be made by counties and in each county by a committee composed of the Master of the Pomona Grange. If there is one, and the county deputy of the grange together with the school commissioners or superintendents. The county secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. will be members of the committees in counties where Y. M. C. A. rural work has been organized.

Boys to enjoy the privileges of Commissioner Pearson's trip to the Fair must be of good character and at least sixteen years old and not more than nineteen years of age. Candidates must be living on farms or actually engaged in farm work, having a genuine purpose to make farming a life work and desiring to learn the best methods of agriculture. All of the expenses of the trip including railroad transportation will be met by the State Fair Commission.

The executive committee of the State Grange is co-operating in the movement, and headquarters will be in the magnificent new grange building on the fair grounds. The state and county committees are also to co-operate with the commission and will have general supervision of the boys throughout the fair, and this supervision will be of the co-operative kind with a view to assisting the boys in making the most of their visit to the fair.

The company of boys will be divided into groups and each group will be assigned work one-half of each day. The balance of the day will be allowed for visiting places of interest on the fair grounds. The daily routine will be somewhat on a military order and, as far as possible the arrangements will be conducted as in any well organized club.

Lectures upon important features of the fair or exhibits at the fair will be given from 8 to 9 a. m. each day begining Tuesday and the boys will be expected to take notes. The speakers will include prominent teachers of agriculture and grange officials. Many of the exhibits at the New York State Fair are equal to those shown at national and international exhibitions. The State Institutions Building, live stock, fruit, dairy, farm machinery and countless other exhibits are of great interest and have great educational value.

The exhibits on the grounds, the attractions of the midway, the events on the race-track should profitably fill the half days allowed the boys for recreation. A visie will be made to the Ka-noo-no Karnival ,the evening entertainment provided by the merchants of Syracuse for visitors to the Fair.

DEATHS

The death of James Brooker, a brother of Mr. G. W. Brooker of this city, occurred at a Syracuse hospital on Monday. The deceased was a resident of the west side and the body will be brought to Fulton from where the funeral will be held.

After a painful illness of but three days Henry Sherman, aged 85, died at his home in South Second street. He was one of the best known residents of this vicinity where he had resided the most of his life. The funeral will be private at the home and burial will be made in Omar Cemetery. The immediate survivors are four daugters, Mrs. Henry Workman, Mrs. Frederick Blanchard of Clayton, Mrs. Ira Gadbow of Oswego and Mrs. William Estes of of Parish, and one son, Frank, of this city.

The death of Lulu A., aged 30 years, wife of Fireman George Rebeor, occurred at her home in West First street on Saturday evening after a long illness with tuberculosis. The funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. C. L. Peck officiating, and interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the husband; two sons, Arthur G. and Leonard R. Rebeor; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Baudon, and three sisters, Mrs. Genevieve Huntley and Mrs. Lottie A. Sions of Fulton and Mrs. Lena LaBeouf of Syracuse.

NUFORM, Style 123. For average or full figures. Low bust and low under arms. Made with new broadened abdominal support clasp, which gives the fashionable flat effect. Very long over hips and back. Exceptional quality coutil or batiste, finished with embroidered edging. Hose supporters. Sizes 18 to 30. Price $2.

W. B. Reduso Corsets and Nuform Corsets can be had in any Corset Department in a variety of styles that will insure perfect fit for every woman.

In Corsets O'Brien's Has Achieved a Notable Distinction

That the attainment of fashionable apparel depends primarily upon the correct shaping of the corset is recognized by all modistes, whose efforts influence the development of new models. A new style conception remains in the realm of the ideal until the corsetier's skill makes possible its material projection.

We will not be satisfied should you entrust your appearance to us, merely to give you a corset that will "look all right"—it must FEEL all right. It must fit you so perfectly that it will hold its shape and that your figure won't "full" or "flatten" here and there after you've worn the corset a while.

Expert skill and the right Corsets (W. B.) is our program —Try it.

PUBLIC BAND CONCERT

Citizen's Band to Express Appreciation to Business Men By Giving Open Air Entertainment in Business Section—Magnificient Descriptive Fantasie to Be Heard for First time.

The Citizen's Band, in recognition of the generous donations of prizes made by the business men and merchants when holding their concerts and promenades last winter, propose to give an open air concert in the business section on Monday evening, July 3rd, at which time the following programme will be played by the full band which now numbers twenty-five pieces and ranks as one of the best in the State.

March—Ministrel King.
Medley Overture—All Alone.
Selection—Chocolate Soldier.
Ballet Music—William Tell.
Intermezzo—Kisses.
Grand Descriptive Fantasie—The Death of Custer, or Battle of Little Big Horn.

Synopsis

1 Sioux Indian War Dance, the night before the battle.
2 Bugle calls in Custers' camp before forming the line of march.
3 Custers' cavalry on march to Sioux's camp, the sound of horses hoofs in the distance.
4 Approach of cavalry with band playing national airs.
5 Battle of "Little Big Horn," June 25, 1876, in which our Great General lost his life.
6 Indians rejoicing over the victory with scalp dance.
7 Arrival of reinforcement, General Bentine and cavalry.
8 Custers' burial; volley of shots; muffled drums; and bugle sounding the last call over our great generals grave.

Finale—Nearer my God to Thee.
March—Richelieu.

Owing to the fact that several of the members of the band are engaged with the orchestra which plays at Stop 28 on the same evening for dancing, the concert by the band will commence promptly at 7 o'clock.

Particular attention, of the public is called to the Grand Descriptive Fantasie—The Death of Custer—which is one of the wonders of modern day music writing, being from the pen of that noted writer of Indian and Negro melodies, Lee Johnson—and it is said that the different numbered divisions of this selection, depicting in music the battle, are extremely real.

The Citizen's Band certainly have exhibited a very popular manner in which to show their appreciation of the efforts of the merchants to assist them in their undertaking of last winter, in giving this concert, and there is no doubt but that a large number of our citizens will be on hand promptly at 7 o'clock so that every number of the excellent program as announced may be heard.

The membership of the Citizen's Band consists of cornets, Edward Pooler, Berne Wilcox, Albert Tilden, Frank Rice, George Groves; clarinets, James Brooker, Jr., J. Henry Begne, Lino Scusa, Harold Reid, Irving Allen, Frank Wadsworth; Flute, Homer Smith; piccolo, Frank G. Barnes; altos, Claude E. Guile, H. Freeman Johnson, Frank Bolbear, Edward Pooler, Edward Miner; trombones, Thomas Earnshaw, Thomas Fitten, Russell Rogers; basses, Edward Evans, L. A. Richardson; drums, W. J. Furness, James Reboer, Albert Pare; baritone, Albert Buell. Director, Edward Pooler; assistant director, Frank G. Barnes.

Taft was the guest of Mr. Mott and at the request of the Congressman addressed the assemblage on the important financial questions of the day. Mr. Mott took an active part in the proceedings of the convention and introduced the president.

At the banquet in the evening CongressmanM ott was at the right of President Taft and at the latter's left was the Right Rev. Mgr. E. W. McCarthy. Others nearby at the table were Attorney General Wickersham, United States Treasurer Lee McClung, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Police Commissioner Waldo and Comptroller Pendergast, of New York. W. A. Bennett, President of the American Exchange National ban of New York, was elected President of the State Banker's Association to succeed Mr. Mott.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION WILL SETTLE NIAGARA POWER DISPUTE

Commission Will Give Hearing in City Hall on Thursday, July 6, to Settle Question of Niagara Falls Power Entering This City.

An adjourned hearing in the matter of the petition of the Oswego River Power Transmission Company, under section 68 of the Public Service Commissions Law, for permission to begin construction of, and for approval of exercise of a franchise for poles, wires, subways, etc., for transmitting and furnishing electricity to the public in the city of Fulton will be held in the City Hall, this city, on Thursday morning, July 6, at 9:30 o'clock.

The above statement will be read with interest by practically every resident of Fulton as the hearing will undoubtedly settle beyond peradventure all question as to whether or not Niagara power will be permitted to enter Fulton to the final absorption or extermination of the home plant, the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company.

Certainly no better place, so far as the interests of the local company are concerned, could be selected by the Public Service Commission for the holding of the hearing, as the Commissioners can look over the situation as it is today, without prejudice or the withholding of any fact on the part of either side to the controversey, and the unbiased belief of many of our citizens is that the verdict will be unalterably in favor of the pioneer company who invested much money and took all the risk when Fulton was yet an untried field so far as electricity was concerned. The case should be decided upon its merits and at the present moment the advantage is all with the home company, rather than those seeking an entrance here.

The new power house in the northern section of the city belonging to the local company, is fast approaching completion. It will be ready next month for any and all business possible to secure, 2,000 horse power in addition to their present capacity of the juice, to be available for distribution at this time.

Another feature of the agitation over which political fights have been waged, friendships of life long standing dissolved and much bad feeling engendered, is that many who started out to extend the glad hand to Niagara power and the foreign corporation, have fallen away from the new love and are now unalterably opposed to the entrance of the Niagara people. In some instances this change of front has been brought about by the awakening of a spirit of justice on the part of the corporation or individual. The fact has become established that the local company can and will give the best service possible to attain anywhere and at a reasonable price. This fact established in many minds has done away with their demand for the entrance of the foreign company. Then again, the home company can be compelled "to deliver the goods," as it were, and they are showing every intention of doing it.

It is unnecessary to state that the agitation has begotten some good for Fulton in that the local company, in the midst of the barge canal construction work which menaced their plant; the demand of the foreign corporation for admission to Fulton with the outcome all in doubt, became perhaps careless and apparently indifferent to enlarging its plant to the capacity necessary to care for future generations who might care to use the power in Fulton. All this has been changed by the threatened locating of a rival corporation here who must of necessity suck the very existence from the old company or be itself put out of existence, as Fulton is not large enought—the demand for power and light is not sufficient, to sustain two electric companies, and consolidation with all its attending raising of rates and other undesirable features, including litigation during which period the public must suffer, would surely result should the commission decide in favor of the foreign company.

The hearing on Friday will undoubtedly be attended by a large number and the case will be thoroughly threshed out. It would appear that but one verdict could in fairness be rendered by the Commission.

BOLD BURGLARS ESCAPE

Sunday morning early burglars entered the pawn shop of A. Cohen in Oswego, effecting an entrance by the aid of stolen tools, and secured jewelry, watches, etc., to the value of $1,000. The men made a good getaway and headed toward Fulton with their booty in suit cases. They cunningly misappropriated two suits of clothes and left their old togs in the store they had burglarized, thus aiding in their own identification as one of the coats was recognized as belonging to Amos Parker of this city who had lately served a jail sentence for burglary.

Chief Ross was notified by Oswego's chief of police and the local force were on the sharp lookout for the men. At 2 o'clock a 12-year old boy named Holmes told Chief Ross that he had seen two men on the canal bank looking over suit cases full of jewelry. Patrolmen Dyer, Norton and Fox were detailed on the case and saw the burglars just ahead of them on the canal bank as they crossed the river. As soon as the patrolmen approached the two men opened fire on them and ran toward the swamp in that section. The officers called them to halt and shot into the air to frighten the fleeing men, who always out of distance, rapidly returned the fire of the officers.

The patrolmen exhausted their ammunition and could not expect empty handed to take the desperados who disappeared into the swamp and have not since been seen, although numbers of armed men hunted until night fall in the swamp for them.

ROOT AMENDMENT DEFEATED

Washington, June 26.—The Canadian Reciprocity bill tonight emerged unscathed from its first consideration in the Senate. The Root amendment proposing a modification of the wood pulp and print papers section of the agreement was defeated after seven hours of debate by an overwhelming vote. The friends of the amendment were so satisfied of its defeat that a roll-call on the vote was not demanded.

SUDDEN DEATH IN PHOENIX

Phoenix, June 26.—Miss Mary Morris, a cook employed at the Phoenix Hotel, died here suddenly yesterday afternoon in her room, at one o'clock. She has been a resident of Phoenix since June 17th, having been secured by Proprietor Creamer through an employment agency in Syracuse.

Coroner Vowinkel of Oswego, who was called, attributed death to valvular disease of the heart and acute dysentry.

CORNELL AGAIN VICTORIOUS

Ithacans' Champion of Country

Poughkeepsie, June 26.—Cornell, king of the Hudson! Sweep swinging champion of the country!

Again has Charles E. Courtady, rowing mentor of the Ithacans, proved he is the "Daddy of 'em all."

Stroke, brains and endurance of Ithaca oarsmen were put to their severest test today—a test that caused "Old man" Courtney to fear the outcome. But the result indicates anew his almost infallible judgment in the selection of oarsmen and his skill in rigging a boat.

Cornell won the 'varsity four mile event as the Columbia delegation was shouting itself hoarse in acclaim of its sterling crew. Columbia practically led Cornell, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin from the boom of the cannon until three miles and a half had been traversed. But Cornell had forced the New Yorkers to row themselves "dead;" and forced them to extend themselves to the limit of endurance.

The victory was witnessed by a joyous crowd of 25,000 persons.

OFFICERS OF PAPERBOARD CORPORATIONS INDICTED

Charged With Restraint of Trade in Fixing Prices and Limiting Production

New York, June 26.—Officers, agents and members of the various paper board manufacturing corporations and co-partnerships included in the membership of the Eastern Box Board Club were indicted by the federal grand jury today for conspiracy in restraint of trade.

This is the second prosecution conducted by the Government. The indictment alleges that the Eastern Box Board Club agreed to fix all prices for straw boards sold in the country. In pursuance of a concerted plan, it is alleged the various companies restricted production to cause an "artificial shortage" and then advanced the price of the raw material four dollars a ton.

The Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper company is a member of the club and was one of the corporations indicted.

TO DEAL IN FRUITS AND CEREALS

Albany, June 21.—The corporation styled "Charles A. Windholz, Inc.," of Parish, has been incorporated with the Secretary of State, with a capital of $20,000, consisting of shares of $100 each, to deal in fruits, vegetables, cereals, etc. The directors for the first year are as follows: Charles A. Windholz, of Parish, and Harry B. Steckel and Robert K. Dykes, of Syracuse.

GOV. DIX REMOVES SECRETARY ALLEN

Takes Advantage of Technicality and Appoints Mr. Allen's Successor to The Board of Governors of the Ogdensburg State Hospital—Two Vacancies on Board Filled from Ogdensburg—Oswego County Without Representative.

Wednesday Governor Dix, taking advantage of a technicality in the appointment laws under his jurisdiction,

H. PUTNAM ALLEN.

summarily appointed a successor to Secretary H. Putnam Allen on the Board of Governors of the Ogdensburg State hospital, thus establishing a precedent never before established by the State executive of whatever political faith. Mr. Allen, who was not only secretary to the Board, but was also chairman of the executive committee, was appointed by Gov. Hughes to membership on the Board to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation. Mr. Allen's term would have expired on Dec. 31, 1912. During his term of office Mr. Allen has been most active and interested in the work and has given unlimited time to the discharge of his duties. The State, the Board and the institution have lost a valuable man in Mr. Allen's removal.

The Times received the following telegram from Secretary John A. Mason, in explanation of the Governor's act:

Fulton Times: Section forty of public offices law provides that terms of persons appointed during the recess of the senate expire twenty days after commencement of next meeting of that body. Mr. Allen appointed July 18, 1910, term expired Jan. 24, 1911.

MACNAMARA'S

THE WEEK

The actual volume of business continues below producing capacity, and such improvement as is in evidence is slow; yet the trend is unquestionably for the better and the movement promises to quicken as the crops approach nearer to harvest. Meanwhile underlying conditions are strong, such as low stocks of merchandise, the large supplies of available credit and the outlook for excellent crops, in which the interest of the business situation now chiefly centers. As is customary at this time a varied assortment of crop rumors appear every day, and there have been apparently exaggerated reports of damage to spring wheat due to lack of moisture; this damage, however, is confined to a small section of the wheat belt, and there is an ample margin for deterioration and still leave a large harvest. Rains in the cotton belt have materially improved the outlook for that great crop. It is noticeable that the most optimistic trade reports come from those centers close to the main agricultural sections. An event of the week was a most favorable statement from the chairman of the leading steel producer whose percentage of output has recently increased. Increase of output has recently increased in this trade at this time, even if small, is most notable. The dry goods trade in its various branches, both cotton and wool, is quiet, with purchases still made for immediate necessities only, and yet there is a better tone to the market, due to increased confidence and the knowledge that the trade as a whole is, by reason of the drastic curtailment in production, in a strong position to avail itself quickly of a turn in the general business situation, such as might be expected to follow the absolute assurance of good crops. The shoe market shows some improvement, notwithstanding the higher prices for leather and hides. The copper market is firm, with a somewhat cheerful statement from the leading producer. Railroad earnings in the first two weeks of June decreased 2.6 per cent. as compared with last year, but the latest report as to idle cars showed a reduction. Bank clearings this week show up well as compared with 1910 and 1909, being, outside New York, 6.3 per cent. and 12.8 per cent. better, respectively, while in New York there is a gain of 17.1 per cent. over last year and a decrease of 9.1 per cent. from 1909. Retail trade in various sections, and particularly at western points, shows a very fair volume of distribution. The export trade remains one of the best features of the situation, but in the latest week the exports from New York did not maintain the recent volume, being $14,67,568, against $15,693,972 in 1910 and $13,128,455 in 1909; imports were $18,692,682, against $15,773,967 in 1910 and $15,412,306 in 1909.

Further improvement appears in iron and steel at a time when quietness usually prevails, and the bookings of the leading producer are steadily increasing. The betterment in trade has extended to pig iron also, which has heretofore made a poor showing. A steel plant at the South has resumed operations and it is estimated that the mills of the United States Steel Corporation have now fully 66 per cent. of their ingot capacity active. Considerable animation is noted in fabricated and structural steel, with large purchases in prospect, while additional orders for about 20,000 tons of rails have been placed, although individual contracts are small. Further readjustment of prices includes a cut of $2 per ton on wire products.

The trend of business in dry goods is again toward supplying only immediate needs, the lack of anticipatory buying by jobbers tending to increase the volume of curtailment by mills. Fall River sold about 10,000 pieces5 of print cloth last week and stocks held at that point are down to 950,000 pieces. Prices are firm, and on fine count bleacher cotton advances have been named on some lines. The paucity of stocks in first hands is a noteworthy feature of the dry goods situation. Export trade is still in excess of a year ago. Many new lines of merchandise for the spring of 1912 are being shown. At eastern centers the wool market is more quiet, but there is still considerable business negotiated in a quiet way.

Further slight improvement is noted in footwear, though most wholesalers still operate conservatively. Manufacturers are confronted with a higher leather market, but as yet no readjustment of prices on a higher basis is noted. Tanners complain that leather values are all out of proportion to the hide and calfskin markets, but the closely sold up condition of raw stocks keeps the situation strong all around. There is a regular demand for shoe leathers to meet current requirements, but for most descriptions of sole and upper present trading is not active, although the markets have shown a gradual improvement for some time past. The domestic hide markets continue in strong position, but at the higher quotations tanners are holding off, with the result that trading in both packer and country hides has been of much smaller volume than for several weeks past. Foreign hide markets are stronger.

Grain prices show considerable strength, while cotton has rapidly declined. Sensational reports of damage to spring wheat caused a sharp advance in that cereal, although the deterioration has thus far been confined to a limited area. Western receipts have diminished, although the 2,186,068 bushels moved compared closely with the 2,134,872 reported last year, while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 793,893 bushels, against 281,594 in 1910. Continued reports of deficient moisture sent corn values to new high levels, with the firmness in wheat also exerting a bullish influence. Arrivals at primary markets are still larger than a year ago, 5,363,889 bushels comparing with 2,773,546 and Atlantic Coast shipments were 397,866 bushels, against 110,556 in the earlier period. Recent pressure against cotton was accentuated when good rains fell in many parts of the belt, and belief in a large crop is spreading.

Liabilities of commercial failures for June to date amount to $9,507,181, of which $5,637,856 were in manufacturing, $3,753,637 in trading and $335,688 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 215 in the United States against 219 last year, and 22 in Canada compared with 30 a year ago.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

Commencing Monday evening and continuing for the week with the usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, the Empire Stock Company at the EmpireT heatre will present Augustus Thomas' great military drama "Arizona." The play has just been released for stock and the management of the Empire Stock were quick to secure it. It is generally conceded that Augustus Thomas who will be remembered as the author of such great successes as "In Mizzouri;" "Alabama;" "The Witching Hour" and the recent New York success, "As a man thinks" accomplished his greatest dramatic success in "Arizona." This play had long runs at the Herald Square Theatre and the Academy ofM usic in New York, at the Grand Opera House in Chicago, and in London, England. The action of "Arizona" passes near the Mexican border on a ranch, and at a United States military post. A prosperous Westerner named Canby owns the ranch. His elder daughter strella, has married Colonel Bonham commanding officer at the post. The colonel is a fine fellow, but a little advanced in years to be the husband of a young a vicious girl. At any rate, that is what Estrella is sometimes tempted to think. The regimental captain, Hodgman, noted Estrella's discontent and he does everything he can to aggravate it. He is good looking and he succeeds in making Estrella fancy herself in love with him.

The "affair" reaches a point where an elopment is planned. A letter from Hodgman, telling Estrella of the arrangement for the flight, is intercepted and given to young Denton, the colonel's lieutenant, who is in love with Estrella's sister Bonita.

He comes upon Hodgman and Estrella at a final meeting at which Estrella gives her lover her jewels to defray expenses. Then Denton "cuts in" and makes the game three-handed giving Hodgman his choice between relinquishing his ignoble plans, and death. He tells Estrella how Hodgman has wronged a young girl. odgman lies, but Estrella's instincts tell her that it is true. She awakens to her folly and Hodgman is sent about his business.

Hodgman's revenge is swift. He meets the Colonel suddenly returned from a journey, and tells him that Denton is with Estrella. The Colonel finds them together and asks for an explanation. Both Denton and Estrella, however, find explaining very embarrassing. Denton is silent for Estrella's sake and the Colonel forces him to resign from the service. Denton gets a position on Canby's ranch. This throws him much with Bonita, and the two eventually become engaged. The regiment or part of it, visit the ranch, and the colonel feels it his duty to tell what he believed to be true of Denton. Bonita and Canby have too much faith in Denton to distrust him, even when he refuses to "explain" things. Estrella has at last found that she really loves her husband and she tells the real circumstances that led the colonel to find her with a lover. The colonel is hurt, and for the moment, unrelenting. He is about to set out on an expedition, and before he goes he indicates that when he returns all will be forgiven and forgotten. Hodgman is shot by a young Mexican who is in love with Lena, the girl he has wronged.

All these events take place among picturesque environments and it is promised that the play will be given an elaborate mounting. Mr. Kellard will be seen in the role of Lieutenant Denton; Miss Frenyear will play Bonita Canby; Mr. Joy will have the role of Captain Hodgman and Miss VanBuren that of Estrella. The balance of the company will be cast in congenial roles and the usual artistic and finished performance may be looked for, which this excellent company always gives. Seats are now on sale for all performances. Matinee prices 15 and 25 cents. Nights 15, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

It would be hard to prove that the Sugar Trust violated the Sherman law. The trust seems to have been organized to manufacture stock certificates, and it hasn't any monopoly on that industry.

Since it is estimated that 60 of the 91 votes in the Senate are safe for reciprocity, why waste 30 days on Senatorial courtesy and construction?

With LaFollette running for President, Borah and Cummins for Vice President and Bristow for Postmaster General, the Insurgents don't look so strictly non-partisan.

Wouldn't you give a few dollars to see J. Pierpont Morgan dressed up in a velvet cape with a plumed hat, bowing down to an alleged king?

PELLEY COMPANY LOSES CASE

Chief Justice Aiken Finds for the First National Bank of Fulton, N. Y., in Its Suit to Recover on Notes.

Chief Justice John A. Aiken of the superior court yesterday found for the plaintiff in the suit brought by the First National bank of Fulton, N. Y., against the Pelley toilet tissue company of Springfield to recover $3300 on four promissory notes made payable to William G. A. Pelley of Springfield by the Pelley toilet paper company of Fulton. Judge Aiken awarded full damages and interest amounting in all to $370.46. The Pelley toilet tissue company took over the business of the Pelley toilet paper company in August, 1910, giving three of its shares for two of the toilet paper company. The plant was then moved to Springfield. The notes in question had been issued to Mr. Pelley by the Pelley toilet paper company and they were assumed by the new company. All of the four notes were indorsed by Mr. Pelley to the First National bank. Mr. Pelley is president and a member of the board of directors of both companies. An assignment was made by the toilet paper company for the benefit of its creditors to Charles H. Beckwith on January 21. No evidence was taken by Judge Aiken, the lawyers in the case having submitted an agreed statement of facts. George A. Bacon respresented the Fulton bank and Mr. Beckwith represented the Pelley company.—Springfield, Mass., Republican, June 21, 1911.

IF YOU HAVE NO ICE

The July Woman's Home Companion contains a great variety of practical housekeeping suggestions. Here is one for the housekeeper who gets along without ice:

"Obtain a large, common flower-pot and seal the hole in the bottom with plaster of Paris. Place in the pot the bottle containing milk, or a covered crock containing butter, and fill the pot with water to as great a depth as possible without the bottle or crock floating. Cover the pot with a board or a plate and set out in the open air, away from the direct sunlight, and preferably where there is a current of air. The evaporation of the water from the surface of the porous pot will keep the contents several degrees colder than the outside air, when there is the slightest amount of air stirring. The higher the wind, or the drier the air, the greater will be the cooling effect."

John Duke and his confederates will be apt in the end to find in the latest decision of the Supreme Court that it was rather strong tobacco it put in their pipes.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

THE DENCHFIELD TIGER.

The following incident illustrates William Gardner Gage's force of character and sleuth hound perseverance. In the Rivereide Mills he aimed at a high standard of excellence and thoroughness in everything. He was one of the first to adopt the patent roller process in manufacturing flour. After using it a short time he was called upon at his office by a stout, well dressed gentleman with a shrewd business air and good address and almost as bald as an American eagle. He approached Mr. Gage with courtesy and stated that he was interested in flouring mills and had been informed that he was using the patent roller process and would like to see his mill in operation. He was shown through, Mr. Gage taking considerable pains to entertain and instruct him. After reaching the office again the gentleman turned to Mr. Gage and said, "we observe that you are infringing on the Denchfield patent in your roller process, which we represent. You can pay us thirty thousand dollars or we will try litigation." Mr. Gage gave him a searching, withering look and replied: "We have spent nearly half a day with you, now this is your terminus, you bald-headed son of a sea cook, you — thief and robber. You get out of this office this instant or I will throw you through one of those windows into the canal." The agent withdrew.

Then the tug of war commenced. he sued Mr. Gage and two other parties in town. After a time they withdrew, paying a certain amount and Mr. Gage continued the fight for a few years alone when the millers through the United States formed a combination, deciding to make this a test case, electing Mr. Gage president with a capital stock of some eleven million of dollars behind him. Several citizens of Fulton going on his bond. He traveled thousands of miles and employed lawyers. Judge's reversed their decisions and he went to Chicago to attend the National millers convention, travelling on his indomitable will and courage, his body racked with pain, when he ought to have been at home in bed. He became known throughout the country as the 'Denchfield Tiger.' Mr. Gage fought the case through the courts twelve years winning in the end and the Denchfield people concluded that they had barked up the wrong tree and many persons that had taken stock in the company were ruined.

Sir Fowell Buxton, a distinguished Englishman once said: "The longer I live, the more certain I am that the great difference between men, between the feeble and the powerful, the great and the insignificant is energy—invincible determination —a purpose once fixed, and then death or victory; that quality will do anything that can be done in this world, and no talents, no circumstances, no opportunities will make a two-legged creature a man without it."

QUEEN'S GORGEOUS CORONATION DRESS

Made of Rich White English Satin and Fashioned in Princess Style —Emblems of England, Ireland, Scotland, India and the Imperial Seas Worked in Dull and Burnished Gold.

London, June 22.—The dress worn by Queen Mary at the coronation was worthy of the occasion both for its beauty and magnificence. Made of rich white English satin, it was fashioned in princess style. A narrow border of oak leaves and acorns in dull, deep gold ornamented the hem all around, and above this, with a small blank interval to emphasize the effect, was a deeper border of broken lines of bright gold, representing waves and intended to symbolize the imperial seas. A locus lily, the Indian symbol of long life and happiness, and its foliage were embroidered in the centre of the waves. Higher up the skirt, in the centre, the Star of India was raised in gold, with the five points set in a guard of flames, representing the motto of the Indian empire—"Heaven's light our guide."

A striking and handsome design typifying the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland rose at each side of the skirt, showing Tudor roses in bright gold, thistles partly in dull and partly in burnished gold, and shamrocks in rich dead gold, with the foliage of each intertwining in light gold threads. This embroidery was continued up the bodice, in the centre of which stood out a Tudor rose, with two thistles head downwards below. The low neck was bordered all round with a design of shamrocks in dull gold, and there was a wide flicker of filmy gold lace over white silk tulle.

The sleeves were embroidered with thistles and shamrocks in the same design as those on the skirt, and gold lace was utilized to cover the openings. The back of the bodice, which was hidden by the long train, was also richly wrought in gold. The skirt was very full and the train round. A wide box pleat opened like a fan from the waistline, later merging in the train.

The train of purple velvet, ermine and gold was perfectly regal. It was attached to the dress at the shoulders by rich gold cords with tassels. It was lined with ermine dotted with black tails. Round the outer edge was a borded of ermine and then a single line of burnished gold embroidery, while a second border was of acorns and oak leaves raised in dull gold, intercepted at frequent intervals by medallions bearing the rose, the thistle and the shamrock in turn. At each side of the train where it was turned at the bottom was a larger medallion and thre more of the same size in the centre at the end.

Over the train at the shoulders the Queen wore an ermine cape which reached not quite to the waist.

The design of roses, shamrocks and thistles raised in dull and bright gold was carried out all over the train, enriching the effects of the purple velvet. Near the centre were also worked in old English lettering the Queen's cipher in dead gold and this was transfixed by a slender Latin cross with a trefoil at each end in bright gold. Above this was the crown in gold.

Altogether the robe presented an appearance of great magnificence, and all present agreed that the picture of queenly dignity was complete when her majesty wore her crown after the ceremony of anointing.

EVERY HUMAN BEING NEEDS A CHANGE

There is much truth in the following, taken from a practical article on vacations in the July Woman's Home Companion:

"Last summer I met on the street a girl from Virginia. I knew her well. She had always lived in the country. The day was almost insufferably hot. I was worn and city tired; she was as fresh as a rose. 'My dear,' I said, 'how can you look so fresh and delightful on a day like this?' 'And you! How can you notice the heat,' she said wonderingly, 'when you have the glorious sky-scrapers to look at, and the shop-windows, with their wonderful fashions and colors, and the people —the people! and those blessed little townecked victorias' (a drabbled-looking, little, low victoria was being driven past by a typical red-faced cabby), 'and those delightful high-heeled hansoms?'

"These things were to her what hills and valleys and river and wood and field would have been to me at that moment, and the sight of them was quite as refreshing, fully as invigorating. They were new, they were different, they gave the mind change and recreation.

"For after all, it is not necessarily woods and fields that we need, but change—that primarily. It is not often our work itself, but the dull monotony of work that wears us out; not the duties of the day, but the dulling repetition of these duties, the same things over and over and over, until the mind sickens or grows dull, perhaps, without knowing why. You are not well; you have lost interest in everything; you go to a doctor and pay him to tell you—what? That you need a change. I could have told you as much without a fee. It is what most of us, excepting a very, very few need."

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 28, 1911.

It is the judgment of Representative Mann, the Republican minority leader of the House, that quite serious debates would precede the adoption of measures emanating from Democratic "smelling committees" for use as campaign material. It is further stated that if these various investigations were being seriously conducted, and were free from peanut politics and from rivalry among the Democratic leaders, the Republicans would not be disposed to criticise their expenditures, but when a large committee summons numerous witnesses and wastes several days investigating an item of $18.44 for repairs to a privately owned motorboat—and this after the Secretary of the gain an equal amount of publicity, the Republicans believe they have good ground for criticism.

DEATHS

John H. Boshart, aged 60, died on Sunday at his home in West Fifth street. The remains were taken to Pikin, N. Y., this Wednesday for burial. The widow, one son and five daughters survive.

The only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Williams ate the heads of matches at the family home north of Fulton on Monday and was beyond medical aid before it was found that he had done so. Undertaker E. S. Brown took the remains to Syracuse on Tuesday from where the funeral was held.

Angeline, aged 57, wife of Mr. William Kerr, died at the home in Granby on Thursday morning. The funeral services were held from the late home on Sunday with burial in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the husband, William Kerr, one daughter, Mrs. George Huggins of this city, and two brothers, William and Grant Gifford of Fulton.

On Saturday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Lee Sheldon, in North Fourth street, occurred the death of Mrs. Marlette Foster, aged 88. The funeral services will be held from the late home this Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. C. L. Peck officiating. Interment will be made at Mt. Pleasant. The deceased is survived by two children, Mrs. Harry T. Seymour and Mr. Arnold D. Foster, both of this city.

Edgar L. White, aged 54, a well known resident of this section, died at his home in Seneca street on Monday afternoon after a lingering illness. The deceased was born in Volney and had never lived outside of this city and that town. The funeral services will be held from the First Methodist church this Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. C. L. Peck officiating. The survivors are his widow, two sons, Ollie of Syracuse and Charles, of this city; one daughter, Mrs. Inez Wilmer of Syracuse; his mother, Mrs. Eliza White of Volney; two brothers, Willis, of Oswego and Walter, of Volney, and three sisters, Mrs. Rose Bader of Baldwinsville, Mrs. Nellie Dunmore of Volney and Mrs. Henry Hine of Palermo.

MARRIED

Announcements have been received in this city of the marriage of Mr. Henry Comock, a former resident of this place, to Miss Jennie Whitesell of Middletown, Ohio. The wedding took place on June 15, at the M. E. parsonage in Middletown.

This Wednesday at high noon at the home of the bride's father, Mr. L. B. Babcock, on Babcock road, occurred the marriage of Miss Lena B. Babcock and Mr. Alfred Morehouse of Volney. The wedding was a very quiet affair, owing to the poor health of Mr. Babcock, and the ceremony was solemnized in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting couple. The home decorations were pink and white carnations, roses forming the major portion of the decorations. The Rev. J. G. York, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman and the ring service was used. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. J. G. York sang very acceptably two bridal solos. The ushers were Messrs. Morehouse and Babcock, son of the groom and brother of the bride. The bride, who was unattended, was magnificently gowned in white marquisette over poie de soie, with elaborate garmature of Irish crochet, and she wore a necklace of diamonds and pearls. At the conclusion of the ceremony and congratulations a bridal luncheon was served and Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse left on the afternoon train for the Adirondacks where they will spend their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse will make their home at the Babcock homestead. Mr. Morehouse is one of the best known re-white with tulle veil and she carried bride's roses. Immediately following the ceremony a dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller, West First street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bassett left for an extended bridal trip. Upon their return they will make their home in this city. Mr. Bassett is a master mechanic and he is deservedly popular and highly respected by his associates. Mrs. Bassett is one of the best known and most popular of Fulton's young ladies. For several years she has been the efficient secretary to the superintendent of schools and in that capacity she has displayed intelligence and a disposition sweet and winsome, making her a prime favorite not only with the Board of Education, faculty, but with all who habe been thrown in contact with her. She is devout and active member of the Catholic church, having taught for a long time in the Sunday school. The best wishes of a large number for the prosperity and happiness of the young couple attends them.

DEMOCRATS TAKE FIGHT TO COURT

Injunction Proceedings to Be Argued at Lowville

(Oswego Times, Saturday.)

The factional fight within the ranks of the Democracy over control of the Oswego city committees, which was to have come up in Justice Merrell's special term on the return of an injunction in the Fifth ward committeeship matter was not aired this morning. Frank Lavere who was accused by the executive committee of the county committee as a member from the first district of the Fifth ward and who secured the injunction from Justice Purcell last Wednesday was represented by his attorney John R. Fidgeon.

The defendants A. S. Barker, et al and James H. Driscoll, the successor to Mr. Lavere, have retained Judge C. N. Bulger as their attorney but he was unable to be present this morning and Thomas L. McKay acted for him. After a consultation with Justice Merrell it was agreed that the matter should be held open for one week.

The proceeding was adjourned until Thursday or Saturday of next week at Lowville.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES

The Number to the County and Other Conventions Will Not Be as Large as Last Year

Chairman C. W. Taft, of the Republican County Committee, announced that the number of delegates in the coming Republican conventions will be only 201 this year, against 231 last year. The representation from the various wards and towns is based on the vote in the last State campaign. Each district is given five delegates for the first 250 votes and one delegate for every fifty votes or major fraction thereof. Oswego city will lose six delegates and the towns having a loss include Richland, Albion, Constantia, Mexico, New Haven, Schroeppel and Scriba.—Palladium.

Rev. Father Dooling's church in Phoenix will hold a lawn festival this Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ryan in Phoenix. A large number fromF ulton will attend.

Mr. Francis E. Bacon has purchase an interest in a business in Los Angeles, Calif., has erected a handsome home and with his wife will make the golden State his permanent residence.

Mr. M. A. Sranahan suffered a slight accident while out of town on Monday, in which he sustained a badly sprained ankle. He manages to attend to business, although the member is very painful and swollen.

The weakened bridge abutment is to be repaired by the city, and a friendly suit will be started to determine whether the manufacturers association or the city stand the cost. The work will be temporarily done at present.

Chief Waugh of the Fire Department desires to call attention to conditions that may be remedied, thereby lessening the chances of a fire occurring during the celebration of and prior to the Fourth of July. Cellar and attic windows should be closed and all loose paper, excelsior or litter of any sort removed to a place of safety.

Help the W. C. T. U. by buying a flag from them on July 4.

Anyone so contemptable as to steal into the baseball park at Stop 28, to witness the progress of a game, deserves that his name should be published. Yet it is reported that every Sunday men and boys in large numbers take advantage of the game without paying a penny for the privilege.

A number of the larger stores in the city have entered into an agreement to give their clerks a half holiday during July and August and their stores will therefore be closed every Friday afternoon from noon until Saturday morning. There is some dissatisfaction expressed with the arrangement on the part of some of the merchants but nothing satisfactory can ever be accomplished here until the retail merchants form an association, thresh out the pros and cons in executive session and then stand by their agreements.

Mr. Ernest Raymond, compositor in the Times office, will leave on Saturday for a fortnights vacation with friends in Rochester.

Miss Eva Dyke has returned to her home in Mexico, having finished her millinery season in the O'Brien millinery department.

Miss Myrtis Gilbert on Friday evening entertained at her home in Third street in honor of Miss Blanche Morse, who will become a July bride.

A free-for-all fight at Seventh and Erie streets on Sunday noon made necessary the presence of Chief Ross and Patrolman Dyer, and also Dr. E. J. Cusack, the wife of one of the contestants being overcome with fright at the melee. The principle was conveyed to the city jail.

The Gas Office will be open every evening, from 7 to 9, during the special stove sale. Stoves can be delivered, and connected the same day purchase is made.

Prompt service is one of the rules of the Gas company.

Miss Verna Hunter of Wellsley college, is spending the Summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter.

The fire department was called on Friday to Erie street where a merry blaze had started in an Italian's house. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Four of the big scows used by the H. P. Burgard company have been dry docked to permit of repair work. Dawson, Pyles & Putschkey are doing the work.

Mr. W. M. Dunham, Jr., left on Monday for the Adirondacks in quest of health. His many friends in Fulton trust he may be successful in finding it.

James Myers, crane man for the H. P. Burgard company, went to a Syracuse hospital last week to undergo treatment for injuries received while engaged at his work on the steam shovel.

Miss Kate Gilbert, who recently graduated from Smith college, is spending the Summer at the home of her father, Mr. A. G. Gilbert. Miss Gilbert, it is reported, will teach in Wolcott next year.

Two brothers, Fulton boys lately removed to Ithaca, took the two Cornell scholarships in the examinations held last week, Lawrence M. Perkins taking the State scholarship and his brother, Harold Perkins, taking the second scholarship.

Messrs. Allen Benedict and Erie Boorman, who are spending the Summer in the Adirondacks for their health, are steadily improving and are rapidly gaining in weight and strength although actively engaged all the time.

Dawson, Pyles & Putschkey are doing excellent work for Contractor Walter Bradley in constructing the coffer dam at the head of the hydraulic canal. The State dredge will soon be set at work at this point removing the old cribs of former dams with which the river bottom is thickly strewn.

The gas company's manager, Mr. Bower, set his stake at one hundred gas ranges to be disposed of in Fulton before July 15. From the pace at which they are moving off its a safe bet that the stake will have to be set further along than one hundred or the company's salesmen will have to slow down. They certainly are showing some A1 bargains.

Mrs. J. B. Dix, 9 S. Second street, opposite O. & W., depot, does splendid work with the hair, treating the scalp and hair in a manner to preserve the hairbulbs and to produce healthy, lustrious hair, a something desired by every woman. Mrs. Dix also makes hair goods and keeps a full line of switches, puffs, braids, etc., always on hand. She can match any shade of hair from a sample.

From the number of occupants of the city jail on Sunday night one might glean the information that this is the saloon man's harvest time. Strange that so many men prefer to enrich the liquor dealer during the year to taking a vacation for a month with ones family at some lively spot far removed from noise or carking care. The fool is not the man who sells the stuff.

A young man by the name of LaVeck in attempting to light a fire in his stove with kerosine last week, was horribly burned about the face by oil exploding. A physician to whom he was taken cared for his wounds and swathed the face in medicated cottons and bandages. Later in the day LaVeck in lighting his cigarette, ignited the coverings on his face and but for the heroic work of Amos Wolever in extinguishing the flames, he would have suffered still more painful injury.

If you order a gas range before dinner, you can cook supper on it, the same day, if your house is piped. Prompt service is promised by,

Contractors Cuhningham & Woodard last week secured permission from the State to transfer their steam shovel to another location quicksand preventing their working in the section in which they were located. Work on the dyke will be pushed with vigor from now on.

It is to be hoped that spinal meningitis may not gain a foot hold in Oswego county; two deaths within a week having occurred from the dread and deadly disease. W. M. Wadsworth, aged 54, died suddenly in Minetto from it on Friday and on Sunday a 2-year old child died suddenly from the same disease in Oswego.

Proprietor Galusha of Dreamland will show as a special on Friday of this week, afternoon and evening, "Enoch Arden," one of the most beautiful stories ever reproduced in moving pictures. On Tuesday afternoon and evening, July 4, at Dreamland, the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," in allegory, will be a feature, most appropriate and patriotic. These reels were first shown on June 30, and come to Fulton on July 4. Every man, woman and child should see this magnificent moving picture production and hear the special lecture which accompanies it. At the Theatorium on July 6, will be seen the motion picture reproduction of the 500-mile sweepstakes automobile race at Indianna, Ind., on May 30. The bill of specialties for the coming week is certainly varied enough to please the most exacting taste.

Approved this 24th day of June, 1911.

Joseph H. Conners, Mayor.

Jack Johnson isn't boasting. That isn't his way. Modesty is his long suit, and it can also be used as a summer overcoat, but he thinks that in a square standup fight he could lick the King.

Wisconsin Progressive Leaguers have given Senator LaFollette a dinner nomination for President. Mr. Taft, however, is several dinners ahead in the race up-to-date.

We tremble to think what would happen if Jack Johnson's automobile collided with Westminister Abbey.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So gentle and mild do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold by druggists. Price 25 cents.

PLANT CULTURE.

Don't Do the Watering Act in the Evening Just Before Dark.

The following article was prepared by representatives of the national council of horticulture to stimulate interest in gardening:

While plants can stand great extremes in temperature, corresponding extremes in moisture surely will tend to ruin if not to kill the strongest of them. Water should be given only when needed, then in such quantity that the soil is soaked. Soft stemmed plants, especially those with large leaves, need much more water than hard wooded, slow growing varieties, and, while the former kind easily recover from drought, the latter usually suffer permanent injury from extremes.

Heavy clayey soils sour easily, while light loamy soils dry out quickly, and unless carefully watched the plants in such soil soon will wilt. In either case it is better to water thoroughly and only when needed than to water sparingly and often.

The season and time of day should be considered in watering. Plants not in active growth should be watered sparingly until they have regained their foliage. Watering in the evening, just before dark, will greatly aid the growth of fungous diseases, as the foliage will continue wet through the night. It also causes "damping off" of young cuttings and plants. Never water during heavy, cloudy weather.

PHYSICAL STRAINS.

Men Over Forty-five Should Take No Excessive Exercise.

The physical decay of men over forty must be more frequently mentioned lest we forget the fact that our physique was evolved for only thirty-five or forty years of strenuous use, says American Medicine. It was not so long ago that forty-five was extreme old age—counting time in the large way of evolution. Lengthening of life has been possible only because civilization has let up the physical strains, so if we continue them we must expect to break as of old.

Athletes stop their efforts merely because they are beaten by younger men, but the nonathletic seem to think that it is necessary to keep up excessive exercise, though the tissues simply cannot stand it. There is, then, no mystery in the large number of damaged hearts now being found, and they will continue to increase in number and severity until the medical profession succeeds in impressing the lesson.

Let us repeat it over and over again until every man over forty or forty-five realizes that he has lived his allotted time of physical vigor and must ease up the strains to retain his health. There is no reason except abuse why so many men break at fifty-five or sixty. They should be healthy until seventy or seventy-five, and it is our duty to show how.

DIX-MURPHY IN COMBINE.

Scheme to "Tammanyize" New York State.

DEMOCRATS INCONSISTENT

Governor's Original Claim Was That Terms of All State Officers Should Expire With That of Chief Executive, but Now New State Election Board is to Hold Over Until 1915 and Control All Up State Elections.

Albany, June 27. — "Inconsistency" must now be added to the Democratic vocabulary. In his first message and in all his spoken or published utterances so far Governor Dix has contended as one of the reasons for legislating out of office the state highway commission and other state officers holding over from a previous administration that the entire policy of the state should be reconstructed so that the terms of all appointive officers at least should expire with that of the governor. The theory was that each governor should be held responsible for his administration and that he should be vested with power to select his own subordinates. This principle was sought to be exemplified in the Dix-Murphy highway bill. The term of the new state superintendent of highways is fixed at two years, while his associates on the proposed new commission, the state engineer and state superintendent of public works, hold office coincident with the governor.

However, the highway bill is the only instance of Dix-Murphy legislation where this principle has been applied or retained. Take the proposed election law amendments. Together with the present Tammany state superintendent of elections, who is retained and continued in office, two commissioners to be appointed by the governor are to constitute a state board of elections, with power to appoint a horde of deputies who may be sent for duty into any county in the state. These state election commissioners are to hold office until 1915, and their successors are to be appointed for four year terms. In other words, if a Republican governor, or a new Democratic governor, for that matter, were elected in 1913 he could not change the personnel of the state board of elections during his two year term of office and Tammany Hall would continue to control the elections all over the state.

It is also proposed that the three "commissioners of conservation" to be appointed under the proposed Dix-Murphy conservation bill shall hold office for six years or through the term of three governors. It is given out in inner circles that next year the highway commission law will be amended so that the state superintendent of highways will hold office six years at $8,000 a year.

There is another point in connection with the Dix-Murphy plan for a state board of elections. While it is proposed to have bipartisan boards of elections in the sixty-one counties of the state, the state board of elections, which controls the county boards, is to be made up of three members, and no provision whatever is made for minority representation on this board, either among the commissioners at $6,000 a year or the five chief deputies at $4,500 a year. It is further hinted that as soon as the Dix-Murphy plans are in working order the law will be further changed so as to do away with bipartisan boards of election in Erie, Monroe, Onondaga, Albany and Rensselaer counties and have only a chief deputy and corps of minor deputies from the state bureau in charge of elections in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany and Troy.

Tammany makes no bones of its intention by enactment of the Levy amendments to the election law to absolutely dominate and control up state elections in the future, to the end that up state shall be made as completely into a Tammany annex as has Kings county, where Mr. Murphy has reduced the once strong and powerful Democratic organization built up in Brooklyn by the late Hugh McLaughlin to a borough annex of Tammany Hall.

They Fooled Themselves.

Republicans who voted the Democratic ticket last fall and made its success possible did so mainly for two reasons, because they were mad or because they believed the stories which were told them about the high character, the firmness, the business ability and the independence of John A. Dix. A man always does fool things when he is mad, and he is even more foolish when he believes that the Ethiopian can change his skin or the leopard his spots. Tammany Hall will be Tammany Hall always—the worst and most tyrannical organization of political greed, graft, extortion and dishonesty that the country has ever known. When its boss controls a convention as Murphy controlled the Rochester convention he doesn't mean to make any mistake in nominating state officers whom he can control and use, and he rarely, if ever, does make such a mistake.

Boss Charles F. Murphy nominated John A. Dix for governor. He thought he knew his man—and he did.—Cortland Standard.

WHO IS MURPHY?

"He is It," Say All Legislative Leaders in Albany.

[Special dispatch from Albany to the New York World, which supported John A. Dix for governor last fall and protested strenuously that Murphy never would have any weight or influence with the Dix administration.]

Albany.—Some of the members of the legislature do not agree with Mr Murphy that "he is not a member of the legislature." The shining lights of the minority are inclined to think that while not personally a member of their club in good standing, Mr. Murphy holds a first, second and third mortgage on it.

Here are a few of the comments made by leaders on both sides:

Minority Leader Merritt—So Mr Murphy says he is not a member of the legislature? It is to laugh! He may not be a member, but he's the whole majority. There never was a legislature more thoroughly bossed than this, and Brother Murphy is it!

Deputy Minority Leader Phillips—So Mr. Murphy says he is not a member of the legislature? I suppose that is why he spent so much time here electing a senator. He's the boss of the whole state government, the boss of bosses.

Democratic Insurgent Leader Roosevelt—Mr. Murphy's declaration is very interesting. I thought he was said to be without a sense of humor.

Senator Thomas Francis Grady, leader of the People's party—Mr. Murphy has certainly not sent me any orders. If he has, somebody flagged them on the way.

Majority Leader Wagner—Adhering closely to his long established policy, Mr. Murphy has not attempted to influence the legislature in any way.

Minority Leader Smith—Mr. Murphy is quite correct in his statement. I do not believe he is any more concerned in the deliberations of the legislature than any other good Democrat. He does not issue any orders because that is not the Democratic way. We leave that to the Republicans.

When the attention of Governor Dix was called to Mr. Murphy's statement he merely smiled and shook his head. Yet all Albany is asking tonight, "If Murphy is not a member of the legislature, what is he?"

The universal answer is, "He's it."

More Tammany Trickery.

Albany, June 27.—Bret Harte's historical "heathen Chinee" is outdone by the Tammany leaders in the legislature, especially in connection with the Levy bill to amend the election laws so as to Tammanyize up state. Not one amendment has appeared in the printed bill as Mr. Levy gave it out to the press. Last week it was announced that Tammany had receded and would permit voting machines to remain where now in use if the people so voted next fall. When the amendment came out it was discovered that it would be necessary for a clear majority of registered voters in a given community to cast affirmative votes, not a majority of those voting at the election, if machines were to stay. For example, if there were 500 registered voters in a given precinct it would be necessary that 251 come out to the election and vote for machines. If 350 persons voted and 249 voted aye on the machine proposition the machines would go out notwithstanding that a supervisor or alderman might be chosen by identically the same vote

Mr. Murphy Not Wanted.

We are told by the Sun that leading Tammany men in New York now assert that Senator James A. O'Gorman will be one of the few delegates at large to the Democratic national convention next year and that Norman E. Mack of Buffalo and Charles F. Murphy of New York will probably be slated to fill two of the vacant places, with possibly Governor Dix, to make up the few delegates from this state. Mr. O'Gorman's selection would be satisfactory and natural, and so would Mr. Mack's and Governor Dix's. But for the fourth member we would suggest almost any other name than that of Charles F. Murphy.—From the Utica Observer, Edited by That Fine Old Democrat of the Cleveland School, E Prentiss Bailey.

To Republican Credit.

By a tie vote in the senate a bill reducing from three years to one year the time in which a man convicted of violating the excise laws may have his license restored was defeated—a very good thing to do, and there is satisfaction to Republicans in the knowledge that this result was brought about by the solid vote of representatives of their party, who, combining with a sufficient number of the Democrats, were able to decide the result. This effort of the new power in the saddle to make things easy for liquor dealers who defy the laws is of a piece with some other exhibitions during the present session, and it is a good thing to see some of them frustrated.—Gloversville Herald.

Mr. Murphy Overruled Judge Cullen

Albany, June 27.—A few days ago a Brooklyn paper asked, "Is Boss Murphy to overrule Chief Judge Cullen?" The question was asked in connection with the Brooklyn "ripper bill" to oust the Kings county commissioner of jurors. This position was created by a law drawn by Judge Cullen when a justice of the supreme court. The question was answered last week when the legislature passed the "ripper bill" at Mr. Murphy's direct orders to make place for a Tammany ally in Brooklyn. Republicans did their best to prevent this action, but Mr. Murphy's influence was too strong.

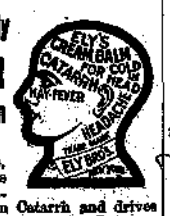
A Word For Sugar.

Pure candy is good for children. Pure sugar is good for grown people. Of course there are exceptions to every rule. If the doctor prescribes a diet and orders a patient to refrain from sweets the patient is bound to obey his adviser. What is the use of calling a physician and paying him for suggestions if the latter are treated with indifference? People in ordinary health need not be afraid to gratify an appetite which craves sweets. Those who have looked into the matter have been telling us lately that soldiers on the march hold out better if they have rations of sugar than if their food omits this useful commodity. Fondness for sugar is often a defense against the temptation to use alcoholic stimulants. The inebriate does not care very much about pure sweets.—Christian Herald.



Lightning Kills Few

In 1908 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Musical Sounds and Notes.

It is a curious fact that musical sounds fly farther and are heard at a greater distance than those which are more loud and noisy. If we go on the outside of a town during a fair at the distance of a mile we hear the musical instruments, but the din of the multitude, which is so overpowering in the place, can scarcely be heard, the noise dying on the spot. To those who are conversant with the power of musical instruments the following observations will be understood: The violins made at Cremona about the year 1600 are superior in tone to any of a later date, age seeming to dispossess them of their noisy qualities and leaving nothing but the pure tone. If a modern violin is played by the side of one of those instruments it will appear much the louder of the two, but on receding a hundred paces when compared with the Cremona it will scarcely be heard. —London Globe.

Mrs. J. M. Brown and family have removed to Albany where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Austin of Jersey City, N. J., have been the guests of friends in Fulton and vicinity.

It is very pleasing for Mr. Lawson Woodbury's friends to learn that he is improving in health in the North Woods.

Mr. Will Tucker, who has been the guest of his sister, Miss Grace J. Tucker, returned last week to New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Brainard and son, David Edward, of Syracuse spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Forsyth, Jr.

Mrs. C. R. Lee and Mrs. May Willard attended the State convention of bankers in session at Atlantic City last week.

Miss Helen O'Brien has returned to this city where she will enjoy her respite from studies with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. O'Brien.

Mrs. M. B. Hargrave, who suffered a relapse last week and was again confined to her bed under the care of a trained nurse, is improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gilkey of this city were in Clyde last week as guests at the marriage of Mr. Fred G. Boeheim and Miss Lettie Ameda Taylor.

Foreman W. H. Klein of the Observer office is convalescing from a severe attack of gall stones. His many friends are pleased to see him about again.

Mrs. R. B. Hunter left on Saturday for a three months sojourn on the continent. Mrs. Hunter will accompany a party of friends from Syracuse.

R. E. Holly, a former clerk in Miller's grocery store has opened a grocery store in Emory street. He erected a store of his own and will carry a full line of groceries and provisions.

A novel educational feature is planned by Commissioner of Agriculture Raymond A. Pearson for the New York State Fair this year in the way of a practical demonstration of how to care for milk and use it in nurseries, with nurses feeding babies in cribs and pointing out the dangers to which many infants are subjected through carelessness.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Dee Ewall have been entertaining Mrs. Arthur Blauvalt and children of Port Byron.

Deputy Postmaster J. T. Hargrave enjoyed a short vacation last week, visiting relatives in Watertown for a short time.

Blacksmith Perkins is treating his block in First street to a new coat of paint, adding vastly to the appearance of the block.

Last week Asa Rice met with a dislocated right shoulder as the result of a vicious horse throwing him Dr. Fox was called to attend the sufferer.

President E. J. Penfield of the Chamber of Commerce is convalescing from a painful illness. He is still confined to his home in Academy street.

Mrs. H. P. Marsh, Olive Marsh and Elizabeth Marsh spent the week-end with Dr. H. P. Marsh at Old Forge. Dr. Marsh is improved in health after a very serious illness.

Messrs. J. D. McIntyre and Aurie Palmer spent a portion of last week fishing at Constantia. Postmaster Hughes was remembered by them with a fine large wall-eyed pike on Thursday night.

Miss May Gardner has sufficiently recovered from her painful experience in the trolley accident at Crooked Creek to be removed to her home in First street. Her friends rejoice at her improved condition.

Hiram Lodge, F. & A. M., has adjourned for vacation until Sept. 19. Preparations for incorporating the lodge are under way and recently Messrs. E. E. Hart, F. G. Spencer and W. H. Hornibrook were elected trustees for terms of one, two and three years respectively.

George Williams was the first violater of the ordinance prohibiting the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks to be arrested this season. Judge Fanning let him off easy with a fine of $1, but stated that he would give the next offender before him the full extent of the law, or $10 fine.

A foreigner while engaged at her duties as weaver in the woolen mill last week, in some manner caught her hair in one of the machines and she was nearly scalped before the machine could be shut down. Drs. Fox and Cusack were called to care for her and they found quite severe scalp injuries although she will recover.

Federal representatives last week inspected the Fort Stanwix Canning company's plant and watched the canning of berries, cherries and peas. It is a safe guess that they found everything glit edged and strictly conforming to the most rigid rules governing the pure foods law. No better canned goods can be procured at any price than those prepared by the local company.

Nearly one-quarter of the term of Gov. Dix has passed and his party still shows no inclination to "make good." The great reforms promised to the people have developed into a vicious race for bigger salaries for party favorites and easier opportunities to feed the hungry hordes of Tammany Hall. Democratic government in this state has so far been a dismal failure and a costly one, both in money and laws.—Ex.

Some rascal who should be peeking from behind prison bars, last week wantonly broke the thermometer at the W. C. Morgan jewelry store. Mr. Morgan at considerable expense provided the thermometer for the information of his patrons, the article registering and recording the highest or lowest temperature for the preceeding 24-hours, and it was visited frequently by our residents interested in temperature. It was visible by day and night and is missed. If the fingers of the law could clutch the miscreant he should be taught to leave property belonging to others alone.

OGDENSBURG'S NEW INDUSTRY

The Meerschaum Company of America with headquarters in New York, has decided to locate in Ogdensburg. They will employ 100 hands at the start. Fifteen families and thirty carloads of machinery will go to Ogdensburg at once.

It is no wonder Berger likes his job. It is quite a change from $30 a week as a newspaper man to $7,500 with "extras."

Now that the sane Fourth is well established, some one should start a sane Millinery movement.

SAYS THAT WOMEN NEGLECT MEN IN THE SUMMER

In the July Woman's Home Companion, Margaret E. Sangster, writing on "Meeting Summer's Problems," says that in the average American family the men are neglected. She says, in part:

"In the meantime, the husband, left alone at home, has a weary time of it. One man whom I remember wrote to his wife that in the morning when he was dressing he could hear the flies walking on the ceiling, the house was so forlornly still. No one should be left entirely alone in a house at night. There is always the possibility of sudden illness—and the possibility of weakness too great to reach a telephone.

"Young men obliged to peg away in the office should have a mother or sister to stay with them, to give the home feeling and the home care; and if there are no women in the family who can thus take turns in ministry, an arrangement should be made by which the comfort and well-being of the grown-up boy will be provided for. The custom of leaving the men of the household in solitude during the summer does not commend itself as either sensible or safe.

"There are countries in which it would almost seem that the man of the house is too much considered; but, in ours, he is far too often practically looked upon as the man who pays the bills and furnishes the luxuries that have grown to be indispensable in the opinion of his wife and daughters. If it be true, as more than one observer has said to me, that American men prematurely break down under the strain of their bread winning and that many of them do not survive their fifties, it behooves the women to whom they are dear to discover the weak point in the machinery of living and apply a remedy."

A DISORDERLY HOUSE

The members of both branches of the Legislature are becoming loud in their demands for adjournment. They have drawn the limit of their salaries and object to staying in Albany at their own expense. One of the reasons given for the length of the present session is the dilatory manner in which both houses are operated. It is said on perfect authority that not once during the present session has either house convened at the exact time set. It will be recalled that during Speaker Wadsworth's rule in the Assembly every session started promptly on the minute set for reconvening. Much criticism of Speaker Frisbie's acts as speaker is also heard. It is claimed that if he had had proper control of the house, the disgraceful scene enacted last week, when a burly sergeant at arms threw Assemblyman Goldstein bodily into his seat, could not have occurred. Mr. Goldstein's brother Jews in the Assembly were righteously indignant at the treatment he received at the Speaker's order.—Oneida Dispatch.

MRS. WARNER'S NINETIETH YEAR

Former Fulton Resident, Mother of Mr. A. L. Warner, Toasted and Feted by Western Friends on Anniversary—Grateful Recipient of Favors Shown.

Mrs. Irene M. Warner, mother of Mrs. L. A. Cooper, celebrated her ninetieth birthday anniversary Sunday and observed the occasion Monday afternoon when a reception was held at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Guy F. Downing, North Washington avenue. A family dinner was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Cooper.

Mrs.W arner is a wonderful and most interesting woman. Although ninety years of age, she is youthful and vigorous to a degree which would be notable in a woman half her age. She is in the best of health. her sight is excellent, and her mind as keen as that of youth. She recollects events of half and three-quarters of a century ago with ease. When the Barnum & Bailey circus was in Lansing last week she attended the afternoon performance, walking to and from the grounds, a distance of twelve blocks. On the same evening she attended the High school commencement exercises to the Gladmer theatre to see her great granddaughter, Miss Norma Taylor, receive her diploma. At the end of the strennous day she was as chipper as ever. At the close of the three hours reception Monday afternoon she was not at all weary and could hardly be prevailed upon to return home—she wanted to go calling. In the evening she recevied a caller and, as though she had just returned from a rest instead of from a three hour reception which is wearying to even the youngest, she chatted gayly about events of her childhood and other moments in her life. Her descendants, by whom she is greatly beloved, are fearful that she will overtax her strength but she gives their fears little provocation. She believes and practices the rule "Early to bed, early to rise." She is up with the birds in the morning and insists upon helping about the house all the day long. She is fond of walking and does a great deal of it.

She attended the carnival two weeks ago, went into the shows and stood for her picture to be taken She attends the Universalist church every Sunday. In short, her life is one that might be marvelled at in a woman thirty years her junior.

Last October she came from Kirkville, N. Y., alone and walked into the home of her daughter without even notifying her that she was coming on that certain day. Twelve years ago, when she was seventy-eight years old, Mrs. Warren went to Texas alone, to visit her brother, and from there to Denver, Colo., and back to Kirkville, unaccompanied on the entire journey. It was her second trip to Texas in recent years.

Mrs.W arner has four children, Mrs. L. A. Cooper, of this city, A. L. Warner of Fulton, N. Y.,Clinton D. Warner of Los Angeles, Cal., and Irving N. Warren of Provo, Utah. She has five grandchildren, among them being Mrs. Dora E. Taylor and Mrs. Guy F. Downing of this city, and four great grandchildren, including Miss Norma Taylor of this city. She has a sister, Mrs. Anna Wilcox of Krikville, N. Y., who has reached the age of eighty-six years, and a brother, Olive Mable, of Kirkville, who is eighty-four years old. Mrs. Warren's mother lived to the age of 93 years, while all of Mrs. Warren's brothers and sisters, there being eight in the family, lived to good old age.

Mrs. Warne was born in 1821 in Onondage county, N. Y. She has been a widow for 37 years. Thirty years ago she came to L aning to years ago she came to Michigan to visit and has visited in Lansing and through the State frequently since then. Last October she came to Lansing to make her home with her daughter. Between the years when she was 40 and 50 Mrs. Warner suffered with stomach trouble, but when she reached the age of 50 the trouble disappeared and she seemed to take on new life. She has been in the best of health since that time.

At the reception Monday afternoon there were about 45 guests. The daughter and grand daughters of Mrs. Warner received with her. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers. The hostesses were assisted in the dining room and through the parlors by Mrs.R obert Smith, Miss Minnie Chapman, Mrs. Rudolph Shoemaker, Mrs. L. D.W hitney and Miss Norma Taylor.

The gifts received by Mrs. Warner were numerous and beautiful and included postal cards from one end of the continent to the other, a box containing 90 new pennies, quantities of flowers, and numbers of letters. One letter in particular which Mrs. Warner received she thought bespoke the spirit manifested by her friends. It read: "Dear Mrs. Warner: Y our friends extend to you congratulations upon the occasion of your 90th birthday. It is a rare distinction, indeed to have attained this age, and while you have been spared to add still another score to the three score years and ten alloted by the psalmist, your friends wish for you many more happy returns of this day, continued good health and kindly consideration in the blessed eventide of your life."

A more grateful and deeply apreciated recipient could not be imagined than is Mrs.W arner. Each and every gift she ponders over and feels deeply the spirit which prompted the sending of it.

CELEBRATES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Very Rev. Dean M. Barry Sunday Celebrated Fiftieth Anniversary of Work in Oswego—A Patriot and Beloved By All Who Know Him—Impressive Services Held in Commemoration.

On Sunday the Very Reverend Dean M. Barry rounded out fifty years of labor in St. Paul's Catholic church, Oswego, and the event was made an occasion for appropriate and impressive ceremonies in which Bishop Ludden and other of the church dignitaries in this section participated. The venerable priest, who is over eighty years of age, is dearly beloved by all who know him.

Rev. J. L. Lindsman of this city was present at the ceremonies.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TAKES VACATION

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce is taking vacation until September when it will resume activities again. Its officers however, are all the time on the job relative to the advancement of Fulton and her interest so that no opportunity to locate industries in Fulton will be neglected, while the members are not called upon to attend regular meetings during the heated term.

President Penfield is a very active and interested head to the organization and he is already planning work for the Chamber next season. The year closed with 175 active members and the prospects are that it will open in the Fall with an even 200 members.

READY FOR REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

Various Candidates for Office Willing That Caucuses be Called Soon and Issues Clearly Defined by Decision of Electors—Legislature May Continue in Session All Summer and No Important Changes in Election Lews Probable.

The various candidates for county and district nomination on the Republican ticket have expressed themselve as perfectly willing to have the primaries held at the earliest possible moment and they will be satisfied with the decision of the electors. It is due them that the "strenuous life" of daily interviewing electors to the neglect of business interests be reduced as much as possible during the heated term and by no way other than the holding of the primaries and conventions can this be done. Ceaseless activity on the part of the candidates is necessary until a choice is made as between the various contestants for the several offices to be filled.

The dilatory methods employed at Albany have lengthened out the term far beyond the one hundred day limit for which the legislators may draw salary, and the end is not yet in sight. Because it is a matter of principle and not owing to any lack of interest on his part, Assemblyman T. C. Sweet is devoting his time to legislative duties and neglecting to push his own candidacy for re-nomination. He is without opposition, however, and strong indeed with his constituents. His unanimous return to Albany by the electors is practically an assured fact.

Attorney's Bartlette, Hubbs and Powell, candidates for the Supreme court justiceship, are waging relentless war for victory with the ermine as the prize. Worthy indeed of the effort is the result to be attained, but the decision rests with the electors.

In Fulton the fight is to land a county office for Fulton and to regain for this city some of the prestige she has been denied during the past few years. With this end in view this city is presenting to the electors of the county two candidates for office, Shoe Dealer M. A. Stranahan for sheriff and Attorney G. M. Fanning for district attorney. Both candidates are popular and both are perfectly qualified for the office to which they aspire. In every ward in Fulton the delegates will probably be instructed for the local candidates and it is firmly believed that a spirit of fairness will prevail throughout the county and that Fulton will come into her own. Self preservation is the first law and Fulton means to contest every inch of the ground in the interest of her candidates.

The apathy of the Republican electors last Fall and the deflection of the vote from the head of the ticket, loses Oswego county thirty delegates in the conventions, 201 delegates being entitled to recognition this year as opposed to 231 last year. This will make some difference in a contest where it is close, but it is hoped that the victors will so far outdistance their competitors in the primaries as to make the difference in the number of delegates unnoticeable. It is now up to the Republicans of the county to win back the delegates they have lost by standing strong for the ticket at the polls in November.

Following is the list of towns and wards in the county and the number of delegates each is entitled to in the conventions:

Albion, 5; Amboy, 5; Boylston, 5; Constantia, 7; Granby, 5; Hannibal, 5; Hastings, 6; Mexico, 8; New Haven, 5; Orwell, 5; Oswego Town, 7; Palermo, 5; Parish, 5; Redfield, 5; Richland, 10; Sandy Creek, 6; Scriba, 6; Schroeppel, 8; Volney, 5; West Monroe, 5; Williamstown, 6; Fulton, first ward, 5; Fulton, second ward, 5; Fulton, third ward, 5; Fulton, fourth ward, 5; Fulton, fifth ward, 5; Fulton, sixth ward, 5; Oswego, first ward, 7; Oswego, second ward, 5; Oswego, third ward, 8; Oswego, fourth ward, 7; Oswego, fifth ward, 5; Oswego, sixth ward, 6; Oswego, seventh ward, 5; Oswego, eighth ward, 5. Total 201. Necessary for choice, 101.

STATE ADMINISTRATION ARRAIGNED

Thomas Mott Osborne Speaks Plainly His Opinion of Gov. Dix and Present Executive Bodies—Was Appointed to State Commission by Governor But Resigned.

In a letter to J. K. Sague, vice chairman of the Democratic league, Thomas Mott Osborne says plainly what he thinks about Gov. Dix and his silent partner, Murphy, in their joint conduct of the affairs of State. So clearly and unmistakably true does Mr. Osborne set forth the facts that they are herewith reproduced for the benefit of the thousands of Republicans who made the elevation of Dix and Murphy possible, when they granted their right of suffrage to them at the polls in November. Food for thought is contained in the following paragraphs:

"Two years ago the fortunes of the Democratic party in this State were far from bright. Long continued ignorance, stupidity and lack of character in our party organization had done their inevitable work."

"During that (last fall's) campaign the charge was repeatedly made that the success of the Democratic ticket meant the domination in state affairs of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. This was indignantly and explicitly denied by the Democratic candidate and speakers."

What Murphy's leadership stands for according to Mr. Osborne:

"It stands for ignorance. Mr. Murphy knows nothing and cares nothing for anything in politics which does not inure to his own political benefit. State issues and national issues are alike a matter of indifference. It is the perpetuation of his own power for his own material advantage that he is after."

"It stands not only for lack of knowledge, but for lack of intelligence; it is not only ignorant, but stupid, not only does it not know, it cannot learn; when it is told the truth, it does not recognize it. Only one word can characterize its treatment of legislation—imbecility!"

"But more subtly dangerous than ignorance and stupidity, although necessarily related to both, is corruption. In truth the most serious fault of the present party leadership is that its motive is not political but commercial."

"Ignorance may be pardoned, and stupidity can be helped—but when political parties are governed by the financial interests of its leaders instead of by genuine politics, then rottenness and dire corruption are certain to flourish unchecked."

Mr. Osborne sums up the work of Murphy's Legislature:

"Today the end of the Legislature approaches and what is there but broken pledges, promises unredeemed and general disgust and apathy? Today finds the Democratic party facing disintegration and defeat."

SHOULD BE REPEATED

The superb program given by the Citizen's Band on Monday evening was marred by roughs with fire crackers and horns, so that the people who cared to listen to the music were unable to hear it to any advantage.

If the program might be repeated at some more favorable season hundreds of our citizens who were prevented by the heat and the noise from hearing it would gladly avail themselves of the opportunity.

There is no chance that King Tom will mark down his crown to $3 after the coronation.

ADVERTISING AS A GUARANTEE

When a business concern invests a large sum of money in a handsome store and equipment for retail merchandising, the public feels a certain degree of confidence that the concern has goods worth examining. People argue that unless they had established a reputation for fair dealing and unless they had goods that they knew filled a need, they would not dare spend so much money.

Advertising, likewise, acts as a guarantee of substantial business character. When a firm spends money freely on this necessary form of salesmanship, the public concludes that it must have goods back of it that have demonstrated their worth, or the firm would not have set apart this sum of money for selling them through the newspapers.

A concern that does not advertise impresses the public as merely an experiment. The fact that it may have been in existence for many years does not help it so very much. The public may even look at their existence for a long term of years as a disqualification, indicating preference for old time methods. It takes advertising to prove that you have confidence in your goods.—Ex.

SAME OLD STORY

Guy H. Clark, one of the most highly respected citizens of Earlville and cashier of the bank, last week disappeared from his home leaving a shortage at his bank of $34,000. As soon as the cashier's defalcation became known a run was started on the bank but it proved able to withstand the strain and confidence in the institution has been re-established.

All effort to locate the missing man has been unavailing so far and it is believed that he is dead. An invalid wife, a daughter dying at Saranac with tuberculosis, and two sons, are bearing up as well as possible under the shame and anxiety.

Clark lost money in speculation and then took from the bank and from private trust funds to cover his losses.

SUPT. HOWARD INJURED

Superintendent of Highways E. A. Howard had his right arm painfully bruised while cranking his automobile at the Denton garage Thursday morning prior to starting on an inspection trip to Orwell and Richland. The crank failed to catch and the quick return caused the accident.

Mr. Howard's arm was examined by Dr. J. K. Stockwell and no bones were found broken.

SOLDIER'S MONUMENT IN PARISH

A soldier's and sailor's monument was unveiled in Parish on July 4, in the presence of a vast concourse of people. The monument was presented by S. M. Mills, of that village, and Nathan A. Petrie, of Ashton, Ill., both natives of Parish. Grand Army men and members of the Sons of Veterans camps throughout Oswego county were present.

DR. SWITZER RE-ELECTED

The second annual meeting of the Central New York Veterinary Medical Association met in Syracuse last week and Dr. W. H. Switzer of Oswego was elected secretary and treasurer. Doctor Baldwin, of this city, read a paper.

FULTONIANS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Sad Fatality at Unprotected Rail Road Crossing on Saturday Snuffs Out Lives of Three Members of Family of Four—Community Shocked When News Became Known—Triple Funeral Held on Tuesday—Survivor in Hospital Unable to Attend Rites.

Albany, July 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Newell, of Trenton, N. J., and their son, were instantly killed early this evening when the automobile in which they were riding from Trenton to Syracuse was struck by a Boston & Albany east bound passenger train at Post Roads Crossing, about twenty miles east of this city.

Mr. Newell was driving the car, Mrs. Newell was caught by the cow catcher of the locomotive and dragged for a distance of about two hundred feet before the train could be brought to a stop. Her body was reduced to a pulp. Mr. Newell was caught under the overturning machine and crushed to death. His son Clifford was thrown in front of the railroad train. The wheels of the locomotive cut off the right leg of the son, who died soon after being removed to a baggage car.

The impetus of the car at the moment of the collison threw the fourteen-year-old daughter beyond the railroad track. She was badly bruised about the face and body, and suffered a deep gash over the spine. She is expected to recover. The train that caused the accident was in charge of Thomas Davis, engineer, of Springfield, and left Chatham at 5:42 o'clock. It was said to have been running ahead of time in order to give a clear way for the Boston & Albany Twentieth Century Express. The latter train was pressing so close behind that it was brought to a stop within thirty feet of the place where the accident occurred.

The Newells were to be the Fourth of July guests of A. A. Barber of Syracuse, a brother-in-law of Mr. Newell.

Mr. Newell was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Zaccheus Newell of this city, having lived here until a few years ago, being a valued employe of the woolen mills company. When the Nary & Swartz mill was started at Trenton, N. J., Mr. Newell with his family removed to that place, he taking a co-partnership and the superintendency of the Princeton worsted mill at that place. He was born in England. The automobile in which the trip was being made to Fulton had been in the possession of Mr. Newell but three weeks. Mrs. Newell's mother, Mrs. Wybron, contemplated making the trip in the touring car to Syracuse with them, but at the last moment changed her mind and came by train.
